

POLICY MANUAL FOR MEMBER CLUBS

GAME OPERATIONS
2024 EDITION

2024 SIGNIFICANT UPDATES

There are several significant policy changes that will take effect starting with the 2024 season. The below are just summaries of the noteworthy changes, and you should carefully review each policy in full.

1. Automatic External Defibrillator (AED) devices are required to be provided in the primary home and visiting player locker rooms and the primary Game Officials' locker room.
2. The League will install compliance cameras inside all coaches booths for visibility and regulation in these areas. This will require a Recording Notice to be posted in each coaches booth.
3. The deadlines to submit field-level seating requests for League approval have changed.
4. Printers are no longer part of the Sideline Viewing System \(SVS\) and are not permitted to be used on game day.
5. Clubs are permitted to use 20 SVS tablets on the sideline. In addition to the 20 devices for club use, one additional monitoring tablet will be provided by Microsoft for use by the sideline support technician.
6. NFL Football Technology will provide one C2P tablet for each club to use on game day, which will be used to monitor and support C2P helmet modules.
7. Each coaches booth will be provided one League-issued analytics tablet, delivering League-approved data.
8. The number of game footballs with tracking devices and the number of autograph footballs provided to each club have been reduced.
9. For all postseason games, if the home club plans to use a climate control unit in the bench area, the visiting club must be offered an identical unit and quantity at the home club's expense.
10. The "Crowd Noise Policy" has been renamed to "Club-Controlled Sound Policy."
11. The Mandatory Replay policy no longer requires clubs to show in-stadium replays of automatically reviewed plays (i.e., touchdowns, safeties, and turnovers).
12. The policy prohibiting clubs from conducting pregame workouts on the game field with practice squad players and those that will not be on the Active List applies to regular season and postseason games (no longer applicable in the preseason).
13. The Football Operations Representative's ring down phone must now include a direct line to the Security Event Day Command Post/Stadium Operations Center.
14. There are new requirements in the Broadcast Presentation Policies.
15. Players are permitted to wear a Guardian Cap over the helmet in-game, provided that the approved Guardian Cap pinnie is worn over and affixed to the Guardian Cap and contains all required helmet decals and markings.
16. PTZ cameras are now approved for use in coaching video acquisition. Please see the Club Video Policy for information about implementation and use.

DEFINITIONS

All-22	Camera angle that is specifically framed to capture all offensive and defensive players at the same time.
All-29	Camera angle that is specifically framed to capture all offensive players, defensive players, and game officials at the same time. (League office use only)
Art McNally Gameday Central (AMGC)	The League's officiating center, located in the League office, from which members of the officiating department monitor every game and consult with on-field officials when a review is initiated.
Bench Area	The trapezoidal area between the 25-yard lines, up to the broken yellow border. See diagram in Appendix G .
Coach-to-Coach (C2C)	Coaches' communication system which allows coaches on the field and in the booth to communicate with each other.
Coach-to-Player (C2P)	Communication system that allows the offensive and defensive play callers to communicate to the designated player on the field.
C2P Components	Module, speakers, and battery that comprise the C2P system within a designated player's helmet. Allows a coach to communicate with a player.
Club Game Exchange (CGE)	The League-operated centralized hub for the submission and exchange of game and network footage between all clubs.
Dirty Network Feed	This feed is provided directly from the television truck, which minimizes the lag relative to live action on the field.
Field of Play/Playing Field	The area within the boundaries of where a player is considered in or out of bounds.
Field Phones	Phones with a direct line to the Sideline Communication cart in the team bench area.
Football Operations Representative	A League employee serving as the on-site communication liaison between the game site and NFL Game Operations. This individual is located in the press box during the game.
Game Day Assistant (GDA)	Personnel employed for several different positions to support game day functions at each stadium. A majority are appointed by the League, while some are appointed by the clubs. A chart of all GDAs is listed in the Game Operations Manual.
Game Day Operations Center (GDOC)	The League's Game Operations center, located in the League office, from which members of the NFL Game Operations Department monitor every game. Point of contact for issues that may arise on game day.
Game Day Medical Radios	Radios used by medical and athletic training staff to communicate on game day, including team physicians, athletic training staffs, UNC's, AMP, ERP, and AT Spotters. These radios are distributed by IVR Operators.
Game Day Radios	Radios used by game day personnel to communicate on game day, with assigned channels for each group. The groups that utilize these radios include NFL Security Representatives, Football Ops Representative, Instant Replay staff, AT Spotters, Teal Hat, Green Hat, Purple Hats, Yellow Hats, and EFCs.
Hawk-Eye Technology (Sony)	Game day video replay solution used by NFL Officiating and NFL Health & Safety to support game day video needs.
K-Balls	Footballs used exclusively for kickoffs, safety kicks, punts, field goal attempts, and extra-point kicks during the game.
Live Network Broadcast Feed	Often called the network return feed. Similar to the dirty network feed, but with a slight delay based on the transmission path. This is the feed that the television viewing audience receives.
Official Team Warm-Up Period	The pregame period that begins at least 60 minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff and must be at least 40 minutes in length.

GAME DAY ASSISTANTS

PROVIDED BY NFL OFFICE

C2P Cutoff Operator – 1 per game – located in the Press Box. Responsible for cutting off C2P communication via the cutoff switch device.

Certified Athletic Trainer Spotter (AT Spotter) – 2 per game – located in the IVRS booth. Responsible for observing play on the field and monitoring the broadcast feed of that game to identify players who may potentially be injured on a play, with an emphasis on concussions and other head and neck injuries. If the AT Spotter observes a play that may have resulted in a concussion or head/neck injury, he or she may stop the game by calling a Medical Timeout.

C2P Techs (Orange NFL Shield Hats) – 2 per game – located on each sideline. Responsible for overseeing the functionality of the C2P system on game day.

Enhanced Audio Technicians – 2 per game – NFL Films trained technicians who install and operate the enhanced audio mics that are embedded in the pads of two interior offensive linemen, per team, in every game.

Event Frequency Coordinators (EFC – Orange EFC Hats) – 2-3 per game – located on the field or in the Press Box. Specialists tasked with monitoring for and clearing up interference caused to any NFL equipment during a game. EFCs will track and manage frequencies to keep the “in-stadium” frequency-dependent devices operational, such as the C2P & C2C systems, and account for interference from sources outside of the stadium, such as TV stations and other special events.

Football Technology Representative (FTR – Gray Hat) – 1 per game – located on the field. On-site technician provided by Bexel stationed behind the visiting sideline during the game. Responsible for the proper operation of all sideline technology.

Game Clock Operator – 1 per game – located in the Press Box. Responsible for operating the game clock.

Hawk-Eye Technician – 1 per game – located in the Instant Replay booth. Technician responsible for pregame setup and configuration of the Hawk-Eye replay systems for NFL Officiating and NFL Health and Safety. The technician will also act as a support liaison to technical troubleshooting and a resource on all operational best practices for end users of the technology.

Injury Video Review Operators (IVR – Blue Hats) – 4 per game – 2 located in the IVRS booth and 2 located on the field (1 per sideline). Responsible for operating the IVR system, tagging plays at the direction of the AT Spotters, and supporting club medical staff when reviewing injury video.

Instant Replay Assistant – 1 per game – located in the Instant Replay booth. Assists the Replay Official with instant replay-related matters, including verbalizing the game situation, verifying pertinent information prior to every play, and assisting with other administrative duties.

Instant Replay Field Communicator (Teal Hat) – 1 per game. The Field Communicator at each game is the communication link between the replay booth and the on-field Game Officials. The Field Communicator moves with the line of scrimmage in order to maintain communication with the Game Officials and has radio communication from the field to the Instant Replay Booth, the Football Operations Representative, and other League representatives in the press box. In an emergency situation, the Field Communicator is the communication link from the Football Operations Representative to the Referee.

Instant Replay Field Operators (Maroon Hat) – 3 per game – located on the field, one at each 20-yard line and one at the Field Review Station. During an instant replay review, the Operators provide the tablet and headset to the Referee to view the replays and communicate with the Replay Official and Officiating personnel in AMGC.

GAME DAY ASSISTANTS

Instant Replay Technician (Gray Hat) – 1 per game – located in the Instant Replay Booth. Responsible for ensuring that the Dirty Network Feed is functional on game day and confirming that both coaches booths have the correct video feed.

Integrity Representative – 1 per game – Responsible for compliance with the League's Gambling Policy and monitoring all sports wagering activities.

Network Technician (Blue Hat) – 1 per game – Sets up and supports Wi-Fi for Sideline Viewing System (SVS) as well as provides general network support for the game day areas.

Orange Sleeves – 1 per game – located on the field. Network sideline commercial coordinator. Along with the Green Hat, responsible for coordinating television commercial breaks with the Referee.

Play Clock Operator – 1 per game – located in the Press Box. Responsible for operating the play clock.

Security Representative – 2 per game. A League office security representative from the home city on-site at each game to facilitate communication with local emergency and law enforcement agencies, and to assist, verify, and assess as necessary.

Sideline Television Coordinator (Green Hat) – 1 per game – located on the field. Direct liaison with the network's sideline coordinator (Orange Sleeves). Responsible for coordinating TV commercial breaks with the Referee.

Still Photo Techs (Purple Hats) – 4 per game – 2 located outside the coaches booths and 2 on the field (1 per sideline). Responsible for overseeing and servicing the still photo printing equipment and sideline viewing system on game day.

Unaffiliated Neurotrauma Consultants (UNCs – Red Hats) – 3 per game – 2 on the field (1 per sideline) and 1 in the IVRS booth. Responsible for evaluating every player that is suspected of having a concussion before they are permitted to return. Each UNC must be an impartial physician, independent from any club. The Booth UNC may contact the club physician and Sideline UNC by radio if they observe a player clearly unstable or displaying signs of concussion.

Uniform Inspectors – 2 per game – located on the field and/or the Press Box. Uniform Inspectors ensure that players from both clubs comply with the League's uniform rules and notify clubs when a player is in violation of the uniform policy, both during the Official Pregame Warm-Up Period and in game.

Video Operator – 1 per game – located in the Instant Replay booth. Responsible for general functions of the instant replay operation and management of the all-29 camera.

PROVIDED BY CLUB

Airway Management Physician (AMP – Red Hats) – 1 per game. Scheduled by the home club but must be neutral. Required to be certified in rapid sequence intubation.

Coach-to-Coach Technicians (C2C – Yellow Hats) – 3 per game. Provided by the home clubs with NFL Football Operations department approval. Required to set up, test, support, and break down the C2C system on game day. The visiting club's technician will preside over the technician assigned by the home club to the visitor's bench area.

EMT (Emergency Medical Technician)/Paramedics – The home club is responsible for scheduling two certified crews of paramedics and Advanced Life Support (ALS) Ambulances. Authorized to go onto the playing field after being notified by the club's Head Athletic Trainer, physicians, or Football Operations Representative to remove an injured coach, player, Game Official, or game day personnel.

Emergency Response Physician (ERP) – 1 per game. Responsible for overall leadership of any and all emergency treatments and situations involving NFL players on game day.

COMPETITIVE ASPECTS OF THE GAME

A. INTEGRITY OF THE GAME AND ENFORCEMENT OF COMPETITIVE RULES

The NFL has always regarded the integrity of the game and competitive fairness as its highest priority. This has been a consistent focus of Commissioners, owners, and teams for decades. As a League, we continue to embrace that standard today, especially with the proliferation of legalized sports betting in many states. To ensure that the competition on the field is and continues to be above question, we have adopted policies and safeguards designed to promote integrity and fair competition. The terms integrity of the game, fair competition, and competitive rules are references to the overarching policies that involve all aspects of the game, on and off the field. The Game Operations Manual, Official Playing Rules, the NFL's Constitution and Bylaws, the Anti-Tampering Policy, and many other League policies all invoke these overarching policies. Any violation of this Manual that has a competitive impact as determined by the League office will constitute an integrity of the game violation.

The NFL Rule of Equity is referenced in the annual Integrity of the Game certification form and is one of the underlying policies contained in the Game Operations Manual. The home club, under its responsibility as the club in control, is obligated to grant the visiting club all practical equity in any consideration that could affect competitive factors on game day. This includes, but is not limited to: locations, equipment, conveniences in the locker room, the bench area, the coaching booth, and the video filming positions. It also applies to day-before-game workouts and pregame warmup procedures. A home club's failure to fully meet these obligations constitutes a violation of this Manual and will result in League accountability measures.

1. OBLIGATION OF CLUBS

The home club is responsible for its game day operations, and clubs must provide this Manual to the appropriate third-party stadium management personnel (when and where applicable) and review the relevant game day policies with them prior to the club's first home game of the season.

The obligation to adhere to the League policies contained in this manual belongs to all clubs. On game day, that obligation extends to other entities and personnel who: (1) are under the control and supervision of a participating club; and (2) have a role on game day that could invoke the policies contained in this Manual. Such personnel may include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Personnel working for club-owned/affiliated media groups;
- Freelance personnel under the supervision of a club (e.g., stadium game presentation personnel);
- Seasonal/temporary game day employees; and
- Stadium operations personnel, including third-party management who are not directly employed by the home club.

Accordingly, each club must provide this Manual and any necessary policy education to personnel who are working on behalf of or at the direction of the club on game day.

2. VIOLATIONS AFFECTING COMPETITIVE ASPECTS OF THE GAME

Clubs should be aware of the language in Section 8.13 (A)(4) of the Constitution and Bylaws concerning violations affecting the competitive aspects of the game:

Disciplinary Powers of Commissioner
The Commissioner shall have complete authority to:

In cases involving a violation affecting the competitive aspects of the game, award selection choices, and/or deprive the offending club of a selection choice or choices and/or cancel any contract or agreement of such person with the League or with any member thereof and/or fine the offending club in an amount not in excess of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000)...

To further clarify Section 8.13(A)(4), violations of any of the policies and requirements set forth in this Manual may result in the imposition of accountability measures including fines on the club, fines and/or suspensions of persons involved, and/or the forfeiture of a draft choice(s), including for first offenses. Ignorance of a policy or rule set forth in this Manual will not be considered a mitigating factor with respect to the assessment of accountability measures. Moreover, those with previous violations of League policies or rules may be subject to enhanced accountability measures when compared to a first-time violator. The League office retains the authority to determine that the actions of a club have violated the competitive aspects or integrity of the game, even if not explicitly outlined within this manual, and to assess accountability measures accordingly.

3. DUTY TO CERTIFY COMPLIANCE WITH LEAGUE RULES

The Chief Executive, President, General Manager, and Head Coach will be required by March 30 of each year to certify in writing: (1) that the club has reported all violations of integrity of the game policy and competitive rules of which it was aware; or (2) that the club was not guilty of any such violations during the preceding year. Any of these club employees who leaves the club prior to March 1 shall be required to make the certification as of the last date of his or her employment at the club. Specifically, the certification includes, but is not limited to, the following: violations of the equity rule relating to game day facilities or tampering with the use of any equipment properly available to an opposing team, or unauthorized use of computers or electronic equipment on game day; interference with a team's or stadium's game day communication systems, or unauthorized use of game day frequencies; unauthorized recording on game day or of practices, meetings, or other organized team activities; unauthorized and/or unreported game day use of mics on players or other forms of electronic eavesdropping; unauthorized entry into locker rooms, coaches booths, meeting rooms or other private areas; violations of the anti-tampering policies; violations of player personnel or eligibility rules; tampering with any game day clocks or timing equipment; tampering with other game-related equipment; or artificially increasing crowd or other noise levels in a stadium.

Further, each signatory will be required to certify that he or she has no knowledge of any NFL player, club personnel, or personnel who are working on behalf of or at the direction of the club:

- betting on NFL games or any aspect of an NFL game; betting on NFL players; improperly influencing or attempting to influence any aspect of a game; failing to give best effort in a game; sharing non-public information without authorization; accepting a bribe or other offer to manipulate or influence a game or share non-public information; failing to report a bribe, offer or request for non-public information; failing to report incurring gambling debt greater than $10,000 to any person or gambling-related enterprise; failing to report a violation of the Gambling Policy for NFL Players or the Gambling Policy for NFL Personnel; or associating with known or problem gamblers in a manner that discredits the NFL.
- violating the bounty rule, including but not limited to: the offer, payment or acceptance of a bonus of any sort for on-field misconduct; play that incentivizes or may result in injury to opposing players; pay for performance or for team performance against a particular player, position group, or team.
- promising, announcing, or providing any form of non-contract consideration to a player in violation of the Constitution & Bylaws or Collective Bargaining Agreement.
- gaining or attempting to gain unauthorized electronic access to another club's intellectual property, such as playbooks, signals, game plans, personnel files, databases, etc.
- being involved in an arrest or other incident that was not reported to the League as required under the Personal Conduct Policy.
- failing to promptly share with the League material information concerning a matter being investigated under the Personal Conduct Policy.
- being involved in the sale, use, or distribution of substances prohibited by the NFL Policy on Performance-Enhancing Substances. (No club will be deemed to have violated this aspect of the certification merely because a player violates the Policy.)

- making any agreement or understanding with another club or club personnel that affects, or attempts to affect, the competitive aspects or integrity of a game. This includes, but is not limited to: agreements regarding players (e.g., which players will play in a game, when they will play, or for how long they will play); play calling on offense, defense, or special teams (e.g., mix of runs or passes, one or two-point try, punts vs. fourth down tries, defensive alignment); scoring (e.g., margin of victory, tie in regulation or overtime); or any other competitive matter. (This does not prohibit independent decisions on any competitive issue, provided that such decisions are made in accordance with existing rules.)
- any other action or inaction that could affect the integrity of the game or be considered detrimental.

Failure to file the certification in a timely manner, or the filing of a false certification, shall be considered conduct detrimental to the League and will subject the offending club and responsible individual(s) to appropriate discipline.

Owners and other senior executives are recommended to require others in the organization who may have relevant knowledge to certify their compliance with League rules and that they have reported any violations. See Appendix A for the Integrity of the Game certification form.

4. DUTY TO INVESTIGATE AND COOPERATE

At the League's discretion, actual or suspected violations will be thoroughly and promptly investigated. The club is required to give its full support and cooperation in any investigation conducted by the League office and/or a League-designated third party. Failure to cooperate in an investigation shall be considered conduct detrimental to the League and will subject the offending club and responsible individual(s) to appropriate discipline.

5. DUTY TO DISCLOSE

The Chief Executive, President, General Manager, and Head Coach each shall have an affirmative duty to promptly report any actual or suspected competitive violations to Troy Vincent or Dawn Aponte. When self-reporting, the club's report should include: a detailed description of the violation and how it occurred; and a detailed statement of corrective action taken by the club to ensure that the violation does not occur again. Failure to report an actual or suspected violation shall be considered conduct detrimental to the League and will subject the offending club and responsible individual(s) to appropriate accountability measures.

A club or individual reporting a violation is expected to report in good faith, to have a reasonable basis for believing a violation occurred, and to produce (or identify) evidence substantiating the claim. In the event it is determined that a claim was made in bad faith, is frivolous, or is not supported by credible evidence, the League will impose appropriate accountability measures.

6. STANDARD OF PROOF

The standard of proof required to find that a violation of League rules has occurred shall be a preponderance of the evidence. This is the degree of evidence that is of greater weight or more convincing than the evidence offered in opposition. It means that, as a whole, the conduct sought to be proved is more probable than not.

When a violation is proved under this standard, discipline will be imposed based on all relevant facts and circumstances, including the nature and materiality of the violation, the prior record of the party committing the violation, prior treatment of similar violations, the extent to which the club and relevant individuals cooperated with the investigation, and, insofar as possible, the actual competitive impact of the violation.

7. CONFIDENTIALITY

Confidentiality must be maintained when conducting an investigation and when reporting information to the League office. Clubs are required to take appropriate steps to ensure that information concerning actual or suspected violations is reported and remains strictly confidential, and that no inadvertent or intentional disclosures are made to unauthorized persons. The effectiveness of this policy rests largely on adherence to maintaining the confidentiality of information; therefore, any unauthorized disclosures will result in disciplinary action where appropriate.

Similarly, any actual or threatened retaliation against a person who makes a report in good faith will be grounds for disciplinary action.

B. GAME DAY DESIGNEES

Each club is required to designate one person to oversee the club's game day functions and serve as the point of contact between the League's Football Operations department and the club on game day. The Game Day Designee is responsible for addressing any field, stadium, or other club football operations issues. Each club is also required to appoint a Game Day Designee to serve as the on-site point of contact to address game-related issues when it is the visiting team. Clubs must designate individuals for these roles who are accessible by phone throughout game day, including in-game. Each club must communicate the name of its home and visiting game day designees to the NFL Football Operations department prior to the start of training camp each season.

C. GAME DAY TECHNOLOGY LIAISON

Each club is required to designate one person to oversee the club's game day football technology functions and serve as the point of contact for all technology-related issues. This position ensures that game day technology issues are effectively communicated and addressed with all relevant stakeholders (applicable game day assistants, coaches, club staff, NFL Football Operations, and NFL Football Technology). This position requires the individual to be a full-time employee who operates from the club facility during the week, who meets with the coaching staff, and is designated as bench area personnel for home and away games. Each club must communicate the name and contact information of their Game Day Technology Liaison prior to the start of training camp each season.

D. GAME DAY CERTIFICATION

Each year, clubs will be responsible for requiring the following individuals to successfully complete a game certification program related to relevant game operations policies: Game Day Designee, Road Game Designee, Game Day Technology Liaison, Coach-to-Coach (C2C) Technician (Yellow Hat), Game Presentation Director, Stadium Manager, Field Manager, and Equipment Manager. Each individual must certify that he or she understands all relevant policies and that they have reviewed these policies with the applicable club and stadium staff, as clubs are responsible for ensuring that all game day staff understand and comply with these policies. NFL Football Operations strongly encourages clubs to require additional personnel (e.g., part time, seasonal, game day specific, etc.) to complete the certification.

STADIUM FACILITIES

A. STADIUM CHECK

Home clubs are obligated to check on all facets of game operations sufficiently in advance of kickoff to ensure that items necessary for staging an NFL game are in the proper working order. These include, but are not limited to, the following:

CLOCKS

- Game clock indicator or time-of-day clock (required in all locker rooms)
- Game clocks
- Play clocks

LOCKER ROOMS

- Locker room security – Home, Visitors, Officials (including female locker rooms, if in use)
- Locker room signage
- Locker rooms – Home, Visitors, Officials (including female locker rooms, if in use)

MEDICAL

- Ambulance
- Medical carts
- Medical tents
- Oxygen
- Other medical equipment
- X-ray equipment

FIELD

- Availability and proper use of field covering and other field equipment, including snow removal equipment
- Bench area setup
- Chains (including a spare set), chain crew vests, ball crew vests, kicking ball pouches
- Climate control benches/units (e.g., torpedo heaters, cooling fans)
- End zone and kicking nets
- Field condition
- Field markings
- Field wall padding and non-slip surfaces
- Goal posts, extensions, ribbons & clamps, pads
- Sideline marker set and pylons

TECHNOLOGY/COMMUNICATIONS

- Coaches sideline viewing system components
- Coaches' wireless communication system/Coach-to-Player System
- Game Officials' phone
- Injury Video Review System
- Instant Replay equipment
- Next Gen Stats technology
- Official-to-Official communication system
- Referee's microphone (including audio in the coaches booths)
- Ring down phones
- Television monitors in coaches booths

If any items necessary for staging an NFL game are not in proper working order, the home club is responsible for taking any actions necessary to rectify the issue as soon as possible. Any additional expenses incurred should be considered day-of-game expenses.

B. STADIUM WALKTHROUGHS

The visiting club has the right to work out at the stadium on the day before a game provided it has given the home club reasonable advance notice of its request for access. If the field is used for the home club's workout, it must also be made available to the visiting club. The home club may not deny access unless there is a reasonable basis, such as the effect of adverse weather conditions on the playing field. If the home club feels that a visiting club's workout would cause significant deterioration of its playing field, it should notify the NFL Football Operations department, who will determine whether the workout may occur. The home club must have a field crew available during the visiting club's workout. The home club is under no obligation to make its in-stadium public address system available to the visiting club for a day-before-game workout. If a visiting club's workout is scheduled, the visiting club's equipment manager should inform the home club at least seven days in advance of the game of their needs for towels, water, Gatorade, and ice.

The workout may occur between 26 hours prior to kickoff and 22 hours prior to kickoff. For example, if kickoff is on Sunday at 1:02 p.m., the visiting club may have practice time for no more than two hours on Saturday between 11:02 a.m. until 3:02 p.m. The home club has the choice of practicing early or late within the time period, but if it chooses to go early, the visiting club has the right to practice no later than one hour after the end of the home club's practice. For competitive considerations, the home club and the visiting club must set their workout schedules so that both clubs are not on the stadium grounds (which, if applicable, includes the home club's training facility attached or adjacent to the stadium) at the same time during the four-hour window. A practice time that falls outside the above period is also permissible, subject to mutual agreement of the participating clubs. If the visiting club no longer intends to conduct a workout at the stadium, they should make best efforts to notify the home club of the cancellation at least 12 hours in advance of the scheduled workout time.

At least six weeks in advance of any regular season game, the home club will provide, upon request, suggested alternate practice sites available to the visiting club. If the visiting club works out in the home club's stadium without prior approval, the visiting club may be subject to League accountability measures.

For neutral site games (e.g., Hall of Fame game, International Series, Super Bowl, etc.), each club may request a one-hour walkthrough at the stadium the day prior to the game, subject to approval by NFL Football Operations.

C. REGULATORY SIGNS

Home clubs are responsible for posting the following League-supplied signs in the following areas of their stadium, training camp facility, and practice facility:

ENTRANCE TO LOCKER ROOMS	PA ANNOUNCER BOOTH
Notice	Club-Controlled Sound Policy
LOCKER ROOMS (HOME AND VISITOR)	COACHES BOOTHS (HOME AND VISITOR)
Electronic Device Policy	Electronic Device Policy
Uniform	Positively No Visitors
Player	Recording Notice
Values
Game
OFFICIALS' LOCKER ROOM(S)	INSTANT REPLAY BOOTH
Positively No Visitors	Positively No Visitors

D. LOCKER ROOMS (HOME AND VISITORS)

Admittance — No persons except authorized club and League personnel are permitted in the locker rooms prior to the game. Only media personnel with proper press credentials are to be admitted after the game. The home club is responsible for assigning security to each locker room to ensure compliance.

Alcoholic Beverages — Alcoholic beverages, including beer, are prohibited in locker rooms, team charters, and other club-controlled areas on game day and any time when traveling on team charters during the preseason, regular season, or postseason.

Towels — The home club is responsible for providing both clubs with an adequate supply of towels for the postgame media session.

Photocopiers — Photocopiers and/or printers are not permitted in or directly outside of the locker rooms or coaches booths (home or visitor). If coaches would like to make photocopies at halftime, they may use the photocopiers in the press box area only if the home club Communications Director grants permission to use the photocopiers. The home club is not obligated to grant permission for the use of the press box photocopiers because such activity by the visiting coaches may interfere with the production and distribution of play-by-play sheets and game notes in the press box. The visiting club is not permitted to transport a photocopier and/or printers on game day.

Locker Room Video — All clubs are required to either install a camera or allow a handheld camera in the locker room prior to the team leaving the locker room for introductions. The home club shall have control over collection, editing, and distribution within their stadium of all locker room footage.

Game Clock Indicator or Time of Day Clock — All clubs are required to install clocks in all locker rooms that display either the time of day or the countdown until play begins/resumes.

Wireless Internet — The home club is responsible for providing two secure wireless networks with internet access, in both the home and visiting locker rooms. They must be equitable, including network speed and bandwidth capacity. Club IT should validate the authentication and performance of the networks before the start of the season. One network is intended for use by team medical personnel only (network “M1920”) with the password provided by the League. The other network is for general locker room usage. The “M1920” network will have the same password in the locker room, bench area, and other designated medical areas for use by the medical staff. Any use of Internet for competitive purposes (on either network) will be considered an integrity of the game violation.

Automated External Defibrillator (AED) — All clubs are required to provide an AED in the primary home and visiting player locker rooms. Each AED must be properly maintained and checked by the home club prior to each home game day to ensure that the battery is fully charged, and that the device is in working order.

Accommodations for Female Football Staff — Clubs are responsible for providing adequate and separate, private spaces for female football staff from the home club and the visiting club. Dedicated female locker rooms are required to have equitable amenities and facilities to the main locker rooms. Clubs are not permitted to temporarily repurpose an alternative space. Head coaches may not be displaced from their assigned locker rooms to meet the requirement for female locker room space. The designated female locker room space may not be shared with any other game day staff or be repurposed to accommodate a head coach. If the space is not being used on game day, it cannot be repurposed to any other club, stadium, or entertainment personnel. The locker room space must include lockers, shower and restroom facilities, and it must be stocked with towels, appropriate feminine hygiene products, toiletries (e.g., shampoo, soap, etc.), and bottled water. Female locker rooms must be set up to accommodate the number of female staff working on game day and must be near their teams’ locker rooms and the field. If the designated space is located within an existing locker room where areas of privacy are exposed (e.g., urinals, showers, changing area, etc.), pipe and drape is recommended to provide a private pathway to each space.

The home club must assign a locker room attendant and security personnel to each female locker room space, when in use. It is the responsibility of the home club to confirm with the visiting club if traveling female staff require a locker room. If a visiting club makes a late request on game day for the home club to accommodate a female staff member, the home club should use best efforts to do so. If a visiting club does not travel with a female staff member requiring a locker room, the home club cannot utilize the designated visiting team space for any other personnel.

E. VISITOR'S LOCKER ROOM

Equipment Arrival — The visiting club is responsible for informing the home club of the arrival time of the team plane and the approximate time the equipment should arrive at the stadium. The home club must make every effort to have the visiting locker room available the day prior to game day for equipment storage. If access to the locker room is not feasible, the home club must provide an alternate storage space with the same security measures described below. If no space is available within the stadium, the home club must make every effort to stage the visiting club's equipment truck as close to the confines as possible and supply the same security measures described below.

Security — Special care must be taken to protect the visiting club's equipment once it arrives at the stadium. If the visitor's locker room has one entrance, a stationary guard should be posted overnight outside the locker room door. It is suggested that overnight security be posted inside the locker room if the locker room has multiple entrances. Clubs are required to use throw-bolts on the inside of all visiting team locker room doors that have outside access. The home club is required to provide hardware that allows the visitors to attach their own chains and locks to the locker room doors after equipment is unloaded. These procedures are at the home club's expense.

Facilities — Each club shall take reasonable steps to ensure that all visiting team locker rooms contain the following minimum facilities as required by Article 39, Section 10 of the NFL-NFLPA Collective Bargaining Agreement: six urinals, four toilets, twenty showers, and one private medical examination room. These facilities must be available within the player area of the locker room. The private medical examination room must be a separate room within the team locker room area. However, if a separate room is not available, an area within the team locker room may be made private by ensuring that area is cordoned off (temporary wall, pipe and drape, etc.).

Supplies — At least seven days prior to game day, the visiting club equipment manager should notify the home club equipment manager of their game day needs beyond the following standard allotments:

- 600 bath towels*
- 150 small sweat towels
- 150 wash cloths
- 500 pounds of ice
- 3 cartons of gum
- 1 large pot of coffee
- 15 cases of bottled water (8 oz.-12 oz. bottles)
- 10 jugs of water (5-gallon jugs)
- 10 cases of Gatorade
- 3 dozen bananas and 3 dozen sliced oranges for halftime

Home clubs must also supply toiletries (body wash, shampoo, deodorant, shaving cream, disposable razors, etc.), two dry erase boards, two 6-foot folding tables, two stationary bikes (one for the locker room, one for the sideline), Will Call envelopes, flip cards, and pregame timelines. Female toiletries and hygiene products are required in the female locker rooms. There will be no charge made to the visiting club for the basics; if the additional supplies exceed $100 in cost, the visiting club may be billed the amount.

*In the event of inclement weather, the home club must make a reasonable increase in the visiting club's towel supply at no extra charge to the visitors.

Clubhouse Attendants — The home club must assign a minimum of four clubhouse attendants and one security staff member to the visiting club, and one additional security staff member to the visiting female staff locker room, when in use. Fees for the visitor's locker room attendants will be paid by the home club.

Clubhouse Admittance — The visiting club should assign a club representative to the front door of the visiting locker room(s) to identify club staff members permitted to enter to ensure security in the locker room(s) on game day.

Telephone — The visitor's locker room must have a direct telephone line capable of placing and receiving calls to and from outside of the stadium. This phone line is for use by the visiting club to update family members and/or ownership on the status of an injured player. Any use of this phone for competitive purposes will be considered an integrity of the game violation.

Buses — Because many visiting club buses load adjacent to network TV compounds and other working areas, clubs are asked to minimize or eliminate the amount of time buses idle on game day, especially in stadiums where buses unload and load indoors. Venues with exhaust ventilation systems should be diligent in using them. Buses should be parked with exhaust pipes pointing away from working areas when possible. Further, stadiums should consider having carbon monoxide detectors to monitor buses idling indoors. As this is a worker health and safety issue, each home club's stadium manager must work with the visiting club and their local bus companies that handle visiting club transportation to discuss the reduction of postgame idling time. Visiting clubs must work with their contracted bus companies for road games to determine the least amount of idling time that allows the bus to be at an optimal temperature without unnecessarily running for an excessive period.

F. OFFICIALS' LOCKER ROOMS

Accommodations — The Officials' locker rooms must be private and not shared with any other team or stadium employees. There must be adequate locker space, shower and restroom facilities, and amenities (food, drinks, towels, toiletries, etc.). Every stadium must designate a private locker room to accommodate female Game Officials that is in close proximity to the male Officials' locker room. If no female Game Official is present, the space may not be repurposed to any other club, stadium, or entertainment personnel. Both Officials' locker rooms (male and female) must be stocked with the following:

- Advil, Tylenol, Aleve, Bayer, and allergy medication
- An exercise bike in good condition
- Appropriate male and female hygienic products
- Black/white athletic tape
- Pedialyte
- Two foam rollers, two stretching bands, two lacrosse balls, and two tennis balls
- Warm Skin and hand warmers for cold weather games
- Stretching mats

Athletic Trainers should be available to assist with taping, if necessary. The NFL may require adjustments/improvements to locker room facilities, equipment, and/or amenities that are deemed to be inadequate.

Game Day Meals — During the pregame, halftime, and postgame periods, the home club is responsible for supplying fresh, high-quality food and beverages that support the nutrition, hydration, pregame preparation, and postgame recovery of Game Officials. At a minimum, clubs must provide protein options, fruits and vegetables, whole grains, protein bars, nuts, and a variety of beverage options, set up in a clean and sanitary location (i.e., away from the locker and restroom areas).

Security — The home club is responsible for assigning security personnel to be posted outside the Officials' locker room (and any locker room designated for female Game Officials, if in use) throughout game day. Any person(s) entering the Officials' locker room(s) during the game must be accompanied by the security attendant assigned to the locker room. The home club must also assign security personnel to ensure that the Game Officials have a clear and safe path to their locker room at halftime and postgame. Security personnel must also ensure safe passage to the Game Officials' bus/cars and see that their vehicles are guided out of the parking area into the main flow of traffic away from the stadium.

Admittance — From the time any Game Official first enters the locker room (including female Officials' locker room, if in use), and until all Game Officials have left it at the end of a game, the door must remain closed and no person other than clubhouse attendants or those invited by the Referee shall be allowed to enter it. This prohibition includes coaches, players, owners, other management personnel, and members of the media. Each club is responsible for posting a regulatory sign regarding admittance to the Officials' locker room. This sign must be posted at the entrance of the Officials' locker room (and female Officials' locker room, if in use) for all games.

Officials' Locker Room Attendant — The home club must assign one locker room attendant to the Officials' locker room and one to the female Officials' locker room, if in use (at the home club's expense).

This attendant(s) should be on duty when the officiating crew arrives at the stadium and should remain at their post until the officiating crew has left the stadium. Officials' locker room attendants should not be granted in-game field access.

Officials/Press Box Phone – There must be a direct, controlled phone line between the Officials' locker rooms and the press box to allow club or League officials to communicate with the officiating crew at halftime or after the game. Locker rooms are also required to have a direct telephone line capable of placing and receiving calls to and from outside of the stadium.

Wireless Internet – The home club is responsible for providing wireless internet access in the Officials' locker rooms (male and female) that has sufficient speed and bandwidth to support game video downloads, game report uploading, etc.

Automated External Defibrillator (AED) – All clubs are required to provide an AED in the primary Game Officials' locker room. Each AED must be properly maintained and checked by the home club prior to each home game day to ensure that the battery is fully charged, and that the device is in working order.

G. REFEREE'S WIRELESS MICROPHONE SYSTEM

On game day, the home club is responsible for the operation, maintenance, and delivery of the Referee's wireless microphone system. The Referee will meet with the appropriate club or stadium personnel to check all necessary electronic equipment. The Referee will meet this designee 2 hours and 15 minutes prior to kickoff. To facilitate this check, the public address system should be turned on and any other adjustments needed at the press box level should be made. Both wireless microphones should be available on the field. At 35 minutes prior to kickoff, the Referee will check his microphone with the broadcasting network.

All equipment used by Game Officials will be in the locker room at the completion of the game and should be picked up by the designated club or stadium personnel.

The Referee's wireless microphone system consists of primary and backup equipment in working condition. If the primary unit malfunctions, it will be replaced by the backup unit at the first reasonable opportunity in the game. The designated club or stadium personnel should have spare batteries for the units and be knowledgeable with the replacement/installation process. The system must connect to the stadium PA, press box PA, TV, Radio, Instant Replay Booth, coaches booths, and clock operators' locations. Shure Axient Digital microphone systems are recommended.

The wireless microphone units (primary and backup) must be wireless systems with the following components:

- QTY 2 – Receivers (rack mountable)
- QTY 2 – Transmitters (bodypacks modified for REF and RSB)
- QTY 2 – RSB switches (Referee Switch Box)
- QTY 2 – Lapel microphones (mic clips and windscreens)
- QTY 2 – Antenna systems (2 directional antennas, coax cables, and antenna splitter if required)

Clubs are required to permanently mount two directional antennas 10 feet apart outside of the Referee's Wireless Microphone Operator's booth. Mounting these antennas outside of the booth and directing them toward the playing field will maximize the signal strength and reduce the potential for radio frequency interference (RFI). Clubs are required to ensure the frequencies are coordinated for use on game day by using the Event Frequency Coordination System (<https://EFC.NFL.NET>).

The press box operator should keep the wireless microphone system live at all times, allowing the Referee to control the system with the Referee switch box (RSB). If feedback does not permit the system to be kept live, the press box operator must be alert at all times to the Referee's signal to turn on the audio from the wireless system. The Referee signal is: Referee's right hand on his right hip, then moving the hand out and back three times.

H. CLUB-ISSUED GAME DAY RADIOS

Clubs must submit for approval a comprehensive outline to NFL Football Operations regarding the use of any radios or walkie talkies used on game day (including for home and away games) accompanied by the justification for such use by July 31. This will include radios used by any club personnel who are located in club-controlled areas (including bench areas, locker rooms, coaches booths), sidelines, press box, club filming locations, and any club football operations booth.

Game day radios cannot be used to communicate any competitive or strategic information. Any unapproved use of game day radios is considered a violation of this policy. Operation of wireless transmitting devices on game day without prior coordination is prohibited. All club personnel utilizing club-issued game day radios must follow the NFL radio frequency coordination process. Failure to follow this process may result in the removal of the equipment from the event and any other sanctions needed to protect authorized and coordinated wireless operations.

I. GAME DAY ASSISTANTS

There are several Game Day Assistant (GDA) positions that support game day functions. The below chart lists which GDAs are appointed by the League and which are appointed by clubs.

PROVIDED BY NFL OFFICE
FOOTBALL OPERATIONS • Uniform Inspectors		OFFICIATING • Instant Replay Field Communicator (Teal Hat) • Video Operator • Instant Replay Assistant • Instant Replay Field Operators • Play Clock Operator • C2P Cutoff Operator • Game Clock Operator
SECURITY • Security Representatives • Integrity Representative
BROADCASTING • Sideline Television Coordinator (Green Hat)		INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY • Network Technician • Instant Replay Technician • Hawk-Eye Technician • Football Technology Representative (FTR – Gray Hat) • Coach-to-Player Technicians (C2P – Orange NFL Shield Hats) • Event Frequency Coordinators (EFCs – Orange EFC Hats) • Still Photo Technicians (Purple Hats) • GSIS Statistics Crew, GSIS Stadium Technician, and GSIS Real-Time Entry Operator

J. MEDICAL

Airway Management Physician (AMP) – The home club is responsible for scheduling one neutral Airway Management Physician (AMP) certified in rapid sequence intubation for each scheduled home game. The AMP will be identified by wearing a red NFL cap and must be located between the 20- and 25-yard lines behind the broken yellow border, to the right of the home team's bench area when facing the field.

Emergency Medical Services – The home club is responsible for scheduling two certified crews of paramedics and Advanced Life Support (ALS) ambulances. The paramedics are required to be stationed as close to the AMP as possible, while not interfering with standard sideline procedures. Each club's Head Athletic Trainer and physicians are required to know their location. At the conclusion of the game, the AMP and paramedics must check with both clubs' Head Athletic Trainer and the Officials' locker room before departing the stadium. If medical transportation is needed to remove an injured coach, player, Game Official, or game day personnel (e.g., ball crew, chain crew member, etc.) from the playing field, the ALS ambulance is authorized to go onto the playing field after being notified by the club's Head Athletic Trainer, physicians, or NFL Football Operations Representative.

The NFL Football Operations department requires all necessary parties (e.g., police, NFL Security representative, stadium management, etc.) to pre-coordinate with the paramedics for immediate transport via police escort or Medevac helicopter to the pre-determined hospital noted in Directory of Club Contacts \(Section C\).

Stretchers and Carts – For each scheduled game, the home club is responsible for providing appropriate spinal boards with stabilizing systems, high-quality stretchers, and motorized carts for both teams. All medical equipment must be of appropriate size to accommodate NFL players and personnel. Additionally, clubs must have adequate backup supply to provide to both clubs, if needed. Clubs must train personnel on the operation and maintenance of any motorized vehicles/carts and must ensure they are fully operational prior to kickoff. The nearest exit to the ambulance, club's locker room, or X-ray room should be used when removing an injured coach, player, Game Official, or game day personnel from the playing field. Sideline medical carts must be positioned in either an end zone tunnel, or at the 30-yard line against the stadium wall. All carts must be at least 30 feet from the inbounds line of the sideline. If a stadium is unable to comply with this requirement (e.g., sideline suites, narrow sideline space, sideline camera route, etc.), please contact NFL Football Operations to review other options.

Emergency Blind – The portable device is intended to provide privacy during circumstances where an individual may be undergoing on-field care for life-threatening medical emergencies or catastrophic injury. Clubs should include the use of an Emergency Blind in their emergency action plans and must identify the method by which the Emergency Blind will be requested (e.g., hand signals, radio communication, etc.), as well as the personnel responsible for retrieving and deploying the device. This information must be reviewed during the 60-minute medical meeting. It is recommended that four members of the stadium operations staff with in-game field access be responsible for deploying the device when required. During use of the Emergency Blind, aerial cameras, whether club or network operated, are prohibited from filming and/or airing the medical procedures taking place on field.

X-ray Service – For each scheduled game, the home club is responsible for providing certified X-ray Technicians and an X-ray machine that is capable of providing immediate X-rays of limbs, joints, cervical, thoracic, and lumbar spines, etc. for both clubs. Each club's Head Athletic Trainer and physicians are required to meet the technicians and know their location. The technicians are required to be available in the X-ray room until both clubs' Head Athletic Trainers notify them that their services are no longer required. The home club is responsible for all costs associated with this service.

Oxygen – For each scheduled game, the home club is responsible for providing two certified oxygen attendants, oxygen tanks, and oxygen delivery supplies (e.g., masks) for each bench area. The attendants are required to be next to the oxygen tanks from the start of the game until the conclusion.

Hard Casts/Special Equipment – Each club's Head Athletic Trainer is required to give the Umpire the names and jersey numbers of players who have casts or special equipment for pregame inspection. These cards should be provided to the Game Officials during the 90-Minute Meeting. A PDF of Cast Cards can be found on the Health and Safety Hub.

Concussion Protocols — Any player with a suspected concussion must be managed in accordance with the NFL Head, Neck, and Spine Committee's Concussion Diagnosis and Management Protocol.

If club personnel has any suspicion about a player being concussed, he should be removed from the game. Always err on the side of caution. In cases where Game Officials witness a player suffering a head impact and he appears unstable on his feet or shows other signs of a potential head injury, the Game Officials should remove that player from the field. The player should be escorted to the sideline by a Game Official and that Game Official must alert the team's medical personnel of the potential head injury.

Clubs should assign a specific coach to assist medical personnel in dealing with abusive or uncooperative players, and to intervene if the player disregards medical advice and attempts to or does re-enter the game.

Sideline Unaffiliated Neurotrauma Consultants — During games, each club will be assigned an Unaffiliated Neurotrauma Consultant (UNC) by the NFL Head, Neck, and Spine Committee and approved by the NFL Chief Medical Officer and the NFLPA Medical Director. Each Sideline UNC shall be a physician who is impartial and independent from any club; is board certified or board eligible in neurology, neurological surgery, emergency medicine, physical medicine and rehabilitation, or any primary care CAQ sports medicine certified physician; and has documented competence and experience in the treatment of acute head injuries. A Sideline UNC shall be present on each sideline during every game and shall be (i) focused on identifying symptoms of concussion and mechanisms of injury that warrant concussion evaluation, (ii) working in consultation with the head team physician and designated Traumatic Brain Injury ("TBI") team physicians to implement the concussion evaluation and management protocol (including the Locker Room Comprehensive Concussion Assessment Exam) during the games, and (iii) present to observe (and collaborate with the team physician when appropriate) the Sideline Concussion Assessment Exams and the locker room exams performed by club medical staff. These unaffiliated consultants also will be available to assist in transportation to an appropriate facility for more advanced evaluation and/or treatment as needed based on the Emergency Action Plan (EAP). These consulting physicians will work with the club's medical staff and will assist in the diagnosis and care of the concussed player. The team physician/UNC unit will be located together for all concussion evaluations and management, both on and off the field. Should the Sideline UNC be unavailable to participate in the sideline evaluation (i.e., the Sideline UNC is treating another player in the locker room), the team physician may request to conduct the assessment with the second Sideline UNC who is present on the opposing team's sideline. The Sideline UNC may present his/her questions or conduct additional testing and shall assist in the diagnosis and treatment of concussions. The responsibility for the diagnosis of concussion and the decision to return a player to a game remains exclusively within the professional judgment of the head team physician or the team physician assigned to managing TBI. The Sideline UNC will also be present for sideline evaluations for neuropraxia ("stingers" or "burners") and other potential neck injuries. Sideline UNC's are required to wear a red hat with the NFL shield.

Booth Unaffiliated Neurotrauma Consultant — During games, a third Unaffiliated Neurotrauma Consultant ("Booth UNC"), selected by the NFL Head, Neck, and Spine Committee and approved by the NFL Chief Medical Officer and the NFLPA Medical Director, will be assigned to a stadium booth with access to multiple video feeds (including the live broadcast feed and audio) and replay to aid in the recognition of injury. The Booth UNC will be located with the AT Spotter (see below). Each Booth UNC shall be a physician who (1) is impartial and independent from any club, (2) is board certified or board eligible in neurology, neurological surgery, emergency medicine, physical medicine and rehabilitation, or any primary care CAQ sports medicine certified physician and (3) has documented competence and experience in the treatment of acute head injuries. Booth UNC's must follow the NFL Concussion Protocol and are charged with monitoring all available video feeds and the network audio to identify players who may require additional medical evaluation.

When the Booth UNC observes a player who is clearly unstable or displays any other Potential Concussion Signs as outlined in the NFL Concussion Protocol following a mechanism of injury (e.g., a hit to the head or neck), he/she will contact the team physician and Sideline UNC by radio to ensure that a concussion evaluation is undertaken on the sideline. The club medical staff will then verify to the Booth

UNC that the evaluation has been performed. The Booth UNC shall note the time of his initial contact with the club medical staff and the Sideline UNC alerting them of the need for further evaluation and also the time of the communication from the club medical staff and the Sideline UNC confirming that an evaluation has been performed. This information is to be conveyed in the Booth UNC report following the game. If the Booth UNC observes a player who he/she has flagged for medical evaluation return to the game prior to receiving the confirmation from the club's medical staff that an evaluation was conducted, he/she shall notify the AT Spotter who shall call a Medical Time Out. For purposes of clarity, this is intended to serve as a redundant communication from the AT Spotter with the team physician or Sideline UNC to confirm that a concussion evaluation has been performed. If no such confirmation is provided, the AT Spotter is required to call a Medical Time Out to ensure the concussion evaluation occurs.

The responsibility for the diagnosis of concussion and the decision to return a player to a game remains exclusively within the professional judgement of the head team physician or the team physician assigned to managing TBI.

Team Physicians — Each club may designate up to two physicians permitted to leave the bench area and move along their sideline and on to the field for evaluation and intervention of potential player injuries. Unless addressing a potential injury on the field or in the bench area, these physicians must remain behind the broken yellow border and between the 10-yard lines. In an emergency situation, access to the end zone is permitted. These physicians will be identified by an NFL-issued photo credential. All other club medical personnel (including athletic trainers) must remain within the bench area, unless addressing a potential injury.

Home team physicians are responsible on game day for the care of the Game Officials. In the event that a Game Official suffers an injury while at the stadium, a home team physician shall examine him/her and determine whether he/she will return to the game. If necessary, the physician will make arrangements for the Game Official to be transported to a medical facility. The physician will provide updates to the NFL Football Operations Representative and the NFL Officiating department on the status of any injured Game Official and his/her ability to return to the game.

Emergency Response Physician — The Emergency Response Physician (ERP) is a board-certified emergency physician licensed to practice in the state of the game day stadium and credentialed at a local Level I or Level II trauma center and/or academic medical center. The ERPs will be retained by the home club and are responsible for overall leadership, in consultation with the home and visiting club medical staffs and other game day medical providers, of any and all emergency treatments and situations involving NFL players which may occur at an NFL game. They will be designated as the "Code Leader" and identified as such at the pregame 60-minute medical meeting. The ERP will also serve as the liaison physician for the visiting club for other medical needs while in the game city both prior to and on game day. A roster of credentialed physicians who have been approved by the NFL and NFLPA to serve as ERPs is maintained at the League office by the Management Council. In the week prior to the game, the visiting clubs will receive the name and contact information of the ERP scheduled for their game. The ERP will be stationed on the visiting sideline near the UNC and can be identified by an NFL-issued photo credential and red hat.

AT Spotters — For all preseason, regular season, and postseason games, two independent certified athletic trainers, or AT Spotters, will observe play on the field and monitor the game using the Injury Video Review System (IVRS) in order to identify potential player injuries, with an emphasis on concussions and other head and neck injuries. All AT Spotters are retained and assigned by the NFL.

AT Spotter must initiate a communication test with the Referee at the following times on game day:

- 50 minutes prior to kickoff
- After the two-minute warning of the first half
- Halftime
- After the two-minute warning of the second half
- Prior to any overtime periods

The AT Spotters will use the Injury Video Review System's monitor and recording equipment to monitor play on the field and review video footage of the game.

When an AT Spotter observes a potential head or neck injury, he or she will communicate with the appropriate medical staff to confirm the player jersey number and situation in which the injury may have occurred. The AT Spotter must speak directly to the head team physician, UNC, or a member of the athletic training staff when reviewing a potential injury. This information cannot be provided to the person who is assigned to answer the bench phones to relay to club medical personnel. An AT Spotter will not diagnose any injuries or advise treatment but will simply alert the club medical personnel to a potential injury.

In addition, an AT Spotter may initiate a game stoppage to remove a player from the field for medical examination in the event an AT Spotter has clear visual evidence that: (1) a player displays obvious signs of disorientation or is clearly unstable; and (2) it becomes apparent that the player will remain in the game and not be attended to by the club's medical or athletic training staff. In those narrowly defined circumstances, an AT Spotter will take the following steps:

- Contact the officiating crew over the Official-to-Official (O2O) communication system to identify the player by his team and jersey number.
 - » In the event an AT Spotter is unable to communicate with the designated Game Official, he or she will utilize the radio and contact the League's Field Communicator ("Teal Hat"), who will relay the team and player's number to the nearest on-field Game Official.
- Contact the medical staff of the player involved and advise that the player is in need of a concussion evaluation.

Upon being called by an AT Spotter, the designated Game Official will immediately stop the game, go to the player in question, and await the arrival of medical personnel to ensure that the player is attended to and escorted off the field. The game and play clocks will stop (if running) and remain frozen until the player is removed from the game. Both clocks will start again from the same point unless the play clock was inside 10 seconds, in which case it will be reset to 10. The team will have an opportunity to replace the player with a substitute, and the opponent will have an opportunity to match up as necessary. No member of the coaching staff may enter the playing field, and no player other than the player receiving medical attention may go to the sideline unless he has been replaced by a substitute player.

Once the player is removed from the playing field, the club medical staff will conduct an evaluation of him as required by the governing protocols before making any decision regarding the player's eligibility to return to play. The return-to-play decision will be made by the medical staff consistent with the protocols. In no instance is this evaluation period less than one play, unless there is a team time out taken, the period ends, the two-minute warning commences, or the injury was due to a foul by an opponent. An injury time out will not be charged to a team that has a player removed during this process.

Any deliberate attempt by a team, staff, and/or player to improperly influence the actions of an AT Spotter will be considered an "unfair act."

IVR Operators – The AT Spotters will be supported by and seated near two IVR booth operators who are responsible for operating the Injury Video Review System. The IVR booth operators are responsible for tagging plays and replays at the direction of the AT Spotters, which could be used by club medical personnel for later review.

When an AT Spotter observes a potential injury, he or she will direct the IVR booth operator(s) to tag the appropriate video clip(s).

If a member of the club's medical staff would like to review video of a potential injury, he or she should alert an AT Spotter via radio, bench phone, or intercom system in the sideline technology cart. When using the bench area IVRS monitor, two members of the club medical staff can communicate with an AT Spotter and the IVR booth operator through a headset. The door covering the IVRS monitor will be opened to enable the club medical staff to view the video. The club medical personnel can direct the IVR field operator to show specific angles, rewind, slow the video, etc.

Only team physicians, the UNC, and a member of the athletic training staff are permitted to use this video equipment. Under no circumstances are coaches, players, or non-medical personnel permitted to utilize or view the Injury Video Review System during the game. At the conclusion of the review, the door covering the IVRS monitor must be closed.

Two IVR field operators (one on each sideline) will be assigned to all games to support club medical personnel when reviewing injury video.

Game Day Medical Radio Communication – The local League-appointed IVR operators are responsible for distributing one case containing fully charged and operational radios with antennas to each club's athletic training staff. The home club has the option to retain possession of its radios. Each club is responsible for providing its own earpieces/headsets. The visiting club's athletic training staff is required to travel with their earpieces/headsets.

The home club athletic training staff and the visiting club athletic training staff will have its own dedicated radio frequency (channel) cleared by the local League-appointed Event Frequency Coordinator (EFC). The League-appointed medical staff will have both home and visiting radio frequency channels on their radios and will always support both channels.

Three hours prior to kickoff, the IVR operators are required to distribute a case containing 20 fully charged radios with antennas to the visiting club's athletic training staff at the entrance to the visiting locker room. It is the responsibility of the visiting club's athletic training staff to return the case with these components to an IVR operator at the entrance to the visiting locker room following the conclusion of the game.

Two hours prior to kickoff, the IVR operators are required to distribute radios with antennas and earpiece/headset to the local League-appointed UNC's (3), Airway Management Physician (1), Emergency Response Physician (1), and the AT Spotters (2). It is the responsibility of each individual to return these components to an IVR operator at an agreed-upon location at the conclusion of the game.

It is the responsibility of the IVR operators to inventory all components at the end of the game. If a radio, antenna, or earpiece/headset is missing from the case, it will be replaced prior to the next home game. The club or League-appointed medical personnel responsible for the lost component will be responsible for the replacement cost.

At the conclusion of the season, it is the responsibility of the IVR operators to return all radios, antennas, earpieces/headsets, and cases to the dedicated member of the home club's athletic training staff. Each club will then be responsible for shipping the equipment to the manufacturer for servicing.

K. COACHES BOOTHS

The NFL Rule of Equity applies to all aspects pertaining to coaches booths. Accordingly, the home club shall provide the visiting club with accommodations in an area where the visiting club's coaches have an unobstructed view of the playing field (such area to be at the same elevation as the home coaches booth) and game/play clocks; unobstructed and private use of telephone facilities to their bench; and audio of the Referee announcements (which must be isolated from other press box/PA Announcements). It is recommended that clubs provide a dedicated 20-amp circuit for each coaches booth.

Home club and stadium personnel are not permitted in the visiting coaches booth, and no one may occupy seats that interfere with the privacy of visiting coaches or with their standard operations.

- TV Monitors – It is mandatory that all clubs provide television monitors in the coaches booths. The visiting team must be provided with the same number and size color television monitors as the home team, and they must be situated in the same respective locations. Each coaches booth must have at least two monitors, one of which must be at least 32 inches. All television monitors must have at least two HDMI inputs and be able to support, at minimum, a 1080p video signal. No additional replay capability is permitted other than that provided by the televising network.

All television monitors in the coaches booths may only show the live Dirty Feed of the game. The feed used in the coaches booths will be supplied directly from the network television truck, minimizing the delay between live play and the broadcast. This feed is identical to the feed used in the Instant Replay Booth. Prior to each game, the Instant Replay Technician will be responsible for confirming that both coaches booths have the correct video feed. If any additional monitors beyond the requisite two are not equipped to receive the live Dirty Feed, they must be kept off for the entirety of the game. Any questions or concerns regarding the game feed in the coaches booths should be directed to the Instant Replay Technician, located in the Instant Replay Booth.

The equity rule applies until kickoff for coaches booth television monitors. If either the home club's or the visiting club's television monitors are not operational at kickoff, the NFL Football Operations Representative must be notified. After verification that equity applies, equity will be enforced relative to the number of operable television monitors until the problem is resolved. If both sets of coaches television monitors are fully functional at kickoff, the equity rule is no longer in effect, and if either club's monitors malfunction, the other club may continue to use its monitors.

- Technology – All League-approved game technology in the coaches booth is installed and certified by NFL Football Technology before the start of the season. Clubs are required to ensure that coaches booths are well-maintained, clean, and organized to support the technical operations of game day technology. Cabling must be labeled and installed securely so they do not present trip hazards.
- Compliance Cameras – Beginning with the 2024 season, the League will install compliance cameras inside all coaches booths for increased visibility and regulation in these areas. Cameras will begin recording prior to kickoff and throughout the duration of the game, including halftime. The cameras will capture video only (no audio). Footage from these cameras will be accessible by League staff only, for the purpose of monitoring policy compliance and other integrity of the game concerns. Clubs that tamper with the compliance cameras (e.g., removing, moving, or covering) will be subject to accountability measures.
- Climate Controls – If the home club chooses to use any special booth climate control devices, it must also offer them to the visiting club.
- Locations – Locations and specifications of visiting coaches booths in all NFL stadiums are outlined in each club's visiting team guide, which can be found on the NFL Football Operations intranet site. Home clubs are required to seek approval from the NFL Football Operations department prior to any renovation or relocation of the coaches booths.
- Security – Home clubs are required to provide at least two security guards to escort visiting coaches between the visitor's locker room and their booths before the game, at halftime, and at the conclusion of the game. Coaches must be given priority access to elevators before, during, and after games. Security guards escorting visiting coaches must be aware of the alternate routes in the event the primary route is unavailable or obstructed.
- Alternate Route – Home clubs are required to plan alternate routes from the visiting coaches booth to the locker room in case the primary route (elevator, staircase, etc.) is unavailable or obstructed. The alternate route may include permitting the visiting coaches to use the same route as the home coaches, with the visiting coaches having priority. Clubs must be able to provide these alternate routes to NFL Football Operations upon request. Failure to plan, execute, or assist with alternate routes will be considered a violation of this policy.
- Transportation – If the locker rooms are a significant distance from the coaches elevators, the home team must provide golf carts to transport all coaches between the locker rooms and the elevator to the coaches booths.
- Privacy – Both clubs' coaching staffs are entitled to a reasonable degree of privacy in the coaches booths. If a coaches booth is located next to another non-football working booth, suite, or other public seating area and has a window rather than a wall separating the two areas, a curtain or frosted glass should be provided up to eye-level for someone seated in the coaches booths but must not create a visual obstruction to any portion of the field. If no curtain, frosting, or similar screening is provided, the coaching staff is permitted to tape paper to the window up to eye-level for someone seated in the coaches booths.

If a coaches booth (home or visitors) is located adjacent to a club executive, football personnel, or club ownership booth/suite, the window(s) must be frosted up to eye-level; temporary privacy measures are prohibited (e.g., curtain, paper, etc.).

Under no circumstances may home or visiting club staff enter the opposing coaches booth on game day without prior authorization from the opposing club. Game Day Assistants (GDAs) or other stadium staff do not have the authority to grant access to the opposing club's coaches booth.

L. COACHING AIDS

The types of information-gathering equipment that may be used by a club as a coaching aid are limited by the NFL Constitution and Bylaws [9.1 (C)(14)] to field phones and Polaroid-type cameras in the coaches booth. Therefore, unless specifically permitted by League rules, the use of any electronic communication devices or video recording/viewing devices, including but not limited to a cell phone, smart watch or similar wearable devices, Bluetooth devices, tablet device, or any type of computer, whether online or stand-alone, in the coaches booths, on the sidelines, in the locker room, or in any other club-controlled area during a game is prohibited. Such devices are prohibited in the coaches booths, in the bench areas, locker rooms, or in any other club-controlled area beginning at kickoff and continuing through the end of the game, including halftime.

Doctors and members of the athletic training staff are permitted to use cell phones outside of the bench area, locker rooms, and other club-controlled areas to communicate player injury information but may not communicate competitive or strategic information.

Club football operations staff members are permitted to use cell phones outside the coaches booths, bench areas, and locker rooms only when handling non-competitive and/or non-strategic communication.

Unless specifically permitted by League rules, software, applications, or similar game planning technology or information is prohibited for use in-game by players, coaches, or other staff members in club-controlled areas (locker room, bench area, coaches booth). Additionally, clubs may not use any of the abovementioned technology in other non-club-controlled areas and subsequently distribute materials and/or information to club-controlled areas.

Any video or audio content captured by pylon cameras, aerial cameras, or any club or stadium-controlled in-house cameras (used for in-stadium production, behind the scenes shows, coaching shows, or any other purpose) is prohibited for use as a coaching aid in-game or for game planning purposes outside of game day. Video filmed from established team video locations, the television broadcast, and any NFL Football Operations-distributed angles are the only video permitted to be used for game planning purposes. Clubs are not permitted to request or review any other game footage that was not part of the televised broadcast. Any misuse of in-stadium camera footage is considered a violation of this policy.

Beyond recording game play on the field from established team video filming locations pursuant to the Club Video policy, video recording of any type, including but not limited to recording of pregame warmups (including individual warmups) or of an opponent's offensive or defensive signals, is prohibited on the sidelines, in the coaches booths, locker rooms, press box or at any other unapproved location during the game. This prohibition includes wearable recording devices, and any other device, tablet or computer that has the capability to record video. Furthermore, no video of the game in progress may be made available to coaches, players, or club personnel for review during the game or at halftime. Use of technology, including but not limited to wireless, digital, network, or other similar connections are prohibited to be used to transfer coaches' video until the game is over. Coaches are permitted to use binoculars in the coaches booths, but coaches and other staff are prohibited from using binoculars in the bench or other field areas during the game.

Clubs are further reminded that the use of any type of camera (including binoculars with recording capabilities and video cameras) by scouts during a game is forbidden. Provisions for scouting upcoming opponents are adequately covered by requiring the home club to grant press box access to visitors, as well as by the exchange of game footage.

Sideline Viewing System (SVS) – Still shots of game action taken by club video cameras at the established filming locations and viewed on an NFL-issued tablet are considered to be within the definition of “Polaroid-type cameras” and are permissible. These stills may be produced within the bench area, at the video director’s filming location, or in the coaches booths, provided no moving video of the game is available to coaches, players or club personnel during the game or at halftime.

Coaches are permitted to view still photos on NFL-issued Microsoft Surface tablets. To eliminate the possibility of the devices being used impermissibly to gain a competitive advantage, the tablets are specifically designed to limit capabilities beyond viewing coaches’ still photos. Any attempts to alter tablet hardware or software without prior League approval is considered an integrity of the game violation. All tablets will have League-controlled game statistics integrated into the tablet for club access. Statistics will originate solely from nflgisis.com and will only deliver club and player-level game statistics for that game. Failure of the statistics functionality will not invoke an equity scenario.

Each club is permitted to use 12 tablets in the coaches booth and 20 tablets in the bench area, with one additional monitoring tablet available in the bench area for use by the sideline support technicians. The home club is responsible for providing all devices and related equipment on game day. League-employed Purple Hat Technicians are responsible for setting up and maintaining these tablets on game day.

Clubs may opt to bring the NFL-issued Microsoft Surface tablets from the field level into the locker room at halftime; however, this is prohibited during the pregame period.

More information on the Sideline Viewing System can be found in the Football Technology section of this Manual.

Analytics Tablet – Each coaches booth will be provided one League-issued tablet, delivering League approved data. This tablet will be hardwired within the coaches booth and will only have access to a Microsoft Excel spreadsheet with imported live statistics (e.g., participation, personnel, and play-by-play data). More information on the analytics tablets can be found in the Football Technology section of the Manual.

M. IN-STADIUM CLOCKS

Game Clocks – Game clocks must be located in both end zones and at each 50-yard line in all NFL stadiums so that the quarterback and Game Officials are able to see the game clock at all times, no matter which end zone they are working toward.

Each 50-yard line clock must be installed in a way that allows easy viewing by television, radio, other media, stat crews, Game Officials, and club video personnel. Clocks should be located near a down and distance display to aid club video personnel who must record game time, down, and distance prior to each play.

Game clocks in each of the required locations may never be turned off during any part of the game (including halftime and timeouts). This also applies to game clocks that are displayed within the ribbon boards. Additionally, to avoid confusion, time-of-day clocks may not be displayed in close proximity to game clocks or play clocks (or other football information).

At 90 minutes prior to kickoff, the NFL game clock operator will set a countdown clock to be displayed in the stadium.

All in-stadium game clock locations are subject to review by NFL Football Operations, and any changes must receive prior approval.

Play Clocks – There are two standard systems of time intervals between plays. For standard plays, the interval is 40 seconds and begins from the time the ball is dead until it is snapped on the succeeding play. The 40-second play clock will also begin after a score and upon the signal by the covering Game Official, provided there are no administrative stoppages or television timeouts. For administrative stoppages (e.g., change of possession, time out, review of scoring plays, injury, measurement, penalty, etc.) the interval is 25 seconds, beginning with a signal from the Referee.

The home club is responsible for having in operation two synchronized play clocks at opposite ends of the stadium that are visible to coaches, players, and fans. The preferred location, to the eye of a set quarterback, is to the right of the goal posts at least 8 feet off the ground. If the play clock is at field level and less than 8 feet off the ground, it must also be duplicated in a location at least 8 feet off the ground, within the same vicinity as the field level clock. Security should ensure that all play clocks at field level are not blocked by on-field personnel. Play clocks in the required locations may never be turned off during any part of the game (including timeouts). However, if one play clock becomes inoperative or experiences technical difficulties, NFL Football Operations will instruct that the other play clock be shut down until the first is restored to service.

To distinguish the play clock, improve visibility, and avoid a quarterback or coach confusing it with the time-of-game clock, clubs must outline the play clock with a strip of white tape (or paint) at least 6 inches wide. No advertisements should be placed in any location that could cause confusion or distractions from the play clock. Play clock numbers must be at least 28 inches in height.

All in-stadium play clock locations are subject to review by NFL Football Operations, and any changes must receive prior approval.

N. SIGNS IN STANDS

On game day, it is the home club's responsibility to prevent the display of temporary signs or banners that obstruct network cameras, sightlines, game clocks, or play clocks; or that are inflammatory, derogatory, or generally in poor taste, as determined by the NFL Football Operations department and NFL Security.

O. FIELD SEATS

Field-level seating is not permitted outside of the players' bench area without written approval from the NFL Football Operations department. This includes any seating configuration that rests on the field level and is assembled in front of or in place of the original stadium field walls (e.g., folding chairs, bleachers, platforms or risers, extensions of permanent seating that protrude into, or rest on, the field level).

Field-level seating must meet the following requirements:

- All field-level seating must be staged against the stadium wall and be enclosed with padded, semi-permanent structures with no expectation of in-game field access beyond ingress and egress to the nearest stadium tunnel. Bike racks are not considered a permissible way to "pen" in a section of field-level seating.
- End Zone Field-Level Seating
 - » There must be a minimum of 3 feet of space from the broken yellow border to the face of the padding of the end zone field-level seating structure to allow for standard field operations to take place, as determined by NFL Football Operations.
 - » End zone field seats must not obstruct or interfere with acceptable low end zone camera positions or restrict access to broadcast junction box connectivity, as determined by NFL Broadcasting.
- Sideline Field-Level Seating
 - » There must be a minimum of 12 feet from the broken yellow bench area border to the face of the padding of the sideline field-level seating structure to allow for standard field operations to take place, as determined by NFL Football Operations.
 - » Sideline field-level seating may not create a pinch point, restrict access to broadcast junction box connectivity, or interfere with network TV camera carts or other sideline personnel moving along the sidelines, as determined by NFL Broadcasting.

- » Drum lines and bands are permitted to perform from a field-level seating area with written approval from the NFL Football Operations department. Field-level seating for on-field drum lines or bands must adhere to the requirements outlined above and meet the following additional requirements:
 - Must be located between the 20-yard line and the end zone.
 - Must adhere to the policy on club-controlled sound.

Clubs must obtain League approval for all field-level seating. Requests must include diagrams of the proposed seating area drawn to scale, including the exact dimensions of the structure and distances from the broken yellow border.

Clubs that intend to install new field-level seating or adjust the size, location, or function of a previously approved field-level seating area must provide written notice to NFL Football Operations by December 31 and must submit final plans by February 28 prior to the season of use.

Requests to renew the use of a previously approved field-level seating area, which is structurally the same size and location and serves the same function for all home games, must be submitted each season, at least four weeks in advance of the club's first preseason home game. Renewal requests must include information about the groups using the field-seating area for each week of the season.

Once approved, field-seating locations and setup may not be changed without additional approval from the League office. Deviations from the approved layout of field-level seating on game day may subject the club to accountability measures and forfeiture of field-level seating approval for the remainder of the season. All approvals are subject to change based on any subsequent League policy updates.

P. END ZONE AND KICKING NETS

Clubs are required to install and maintain end zone nets that minimize balls being kicked into the stands. Clubs temporarily without nets should work with stadium personnel to prevent fan scrambles that might produce injuries or fights.

The home club is also responsible for providing the visiting club with at least one kicking net, in good condition and with no visible branding, for use on the sideline, as well as items to secure kicking nets during inclement weather (e.g., sandbags, weights, etc.). Clubs must use best efforts to ensure that kicking nets and players warming up in-game (i.e., kickers, punters, long snappers) remain as close to the bench area as possible. Additionally, clubs are required to have a security member available to ensure that field credentialed media and staff do not interfere with players and/or club personnel using the net.

Q. STADIUM ACCESS/PUBLIC ACCOMMODATIONS

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) includes provisions regarding physical accommodations that must be made in stadiums and other places of "public accommodation" for the benefit of disabled persons. This requirement applies to all areas of the stadium, including seating, entrances and exits, sound systems, restrooms, concessions, amenities, and parking. All clubs are required to ensure that the facilities they occupy are in compliance with the ADA, whether through appropriate lease provisions with their stadium landlord, or directly in their capacity as stadium owner or manager. Questions and concerns regarding the ADA should be directed to the NFL Legal department.

R. STADIUM VIDEO LOCATIONS

Sideline, end zone, and second end zone filming locations must be available for the purpose of filming each club's coaches video. Each location must have equal vantage points, be enclosed (including in an indoor stadium), and protected from inclement weather. Club filming locations cannot be changed without League approval. The video director, stadium operations, and NFL Football Operations must be notified if filming locations will be used for any other purpose.

The sideline filming location must be an elevated location that is positioned at an angle between 19 and 25 degrees to the near sideline and must not have any obstructed views of field coverage. Both end zone filming locations must follow similar requirements but be positioned between 24 and 36 degrees to the back of each of the end zones.

To ensure the protection of equipment and employees of the clubs' video departments, clubs must follow the below requirements for the video filming locations at its stadium:

- Any doors entering the filming locations within the public seating areas of the stadium are required to be lockable from both the inside and outside of the location to prevent unauthorized access. In addition, the home club is required to provide security at the visiting club's video locations, if requested.
- All locations must have climate control (heat and/or fans). Any heaters and/or fans must be completely operational and produce the intended effect. Heaters that do not produce any heat should be replaced.
- All locations must supply adequate power for each club's technology use (at least two outlets per club). All other connectivity requirements are outlined in the Club Video Policy.
- It is suggested that each filming location provide either countertop space or tables for both clubs.

S. INSTANT REPLAY BOOTH

All clubs must provide an enclosed Instant Replay Booth comparable to the location of the coaches booths, with an unobstructed view of the entire playing field, for operation of the instant replay system. No one other than those specifically authorized may enter the Instant Replay Booth on game day.

In order for a replay booth to be approved by the League office, it must be wide enough to seat four people abreast and deep enough to accommodate the installation of recording equipment behind the replay staff. A counter across the front of the booth will be needed for the placement of television monitors, telephones, and other equipment. Any equipment unrelated to the function of instant replay may not be in the booth on game day. The club and/or stadium will be responsible for providing an alternate storage location for any such equipment. The booth is required to have a ceiling speaker that provides announcements by the Referee for penalties or any other pertinent information.

Home clubs are required to seek approval from the NFL Football Operations department prior to any renovation or relocation of the Instant Replay Booth.

T. DOMED STADIUMS

Retractable Roof and/or Retractable Wall — For purposes of this policy, "wall" refers to retractable end zone walls, doors, or moveable panels. Retractable "roof" also refers to multiple independently operated panels that must be designated as open or closed in full (i.e., cannot elect to open some panels but not all).

The home club will have the authority to determine if the retractable roof and/or the retractable wall will be open or closed for each preseason and regular season game. The home club may choose to open the roof and/or wall on a game-by-game basis and may elect to open the roof and close the wall, and vice versa. The home club must indicate the positioning of the roof and/or wall via the electronic Game Day Administration Report, as well as at the 90-Minute Meeting. There is no requirement for the home club to notify the visiting club or Game Officials of its determination earlier than 90 minutes prior to kickoff. In the event a game begins with the roof and/or wall in the open position and it is closed pursuant to the procedures set forth below, the roof and/or wall must thereafter remain in the closed position for the duration of the game. If the home club elects to set the roof and/or wall in the closed position for the game, it must remain closed for the entire game.

For Wild Card and Divisional playoff games, the Commissioner will defer to the home club's written policy, if reasonable under the circumstances. If, however, the Commissioner determines that the home club's roof and/or wall policy is unreasonable, or in the event the home club does not have a written policy, then the decision is solely at the discretion of the Commissioner. For the Conference Championship games, the Pro Bowl, and the Super Bowl, the decision is solely within the discretion of the Commissioner.

- Pregame Procedures

- » During the week prior to a game and on game day, the League's tarp rule will be in effect if the roof is open (see Mandatory Guidelines for Fields in Inclement Weather).
- » At 90 minutes prior to kickoff, the home club is required to notify the Referee whether the roof, wall, and/or curtains shall be open or closed. The opening or closing must be completed no later than 60 minutes prior to kickoff. (The designated position for curtains will remain unchanged for the entire game.)
- » If the home club elects for the roof and/or wall to be open, the Referee (after receiving input from the Stadium Manager and the NFL Football Operations Representative) has the authority to close the roof and/or wall during the pregame period in the following circumstances:
 - A hazardous condition (lightning, severe winds, etc.) develops or is anticipated that threatens the welfare of participants, spectators, and/or stadium facilities;
 - Precipitation begins.

- In-Game Procedures

- » If a game starts with the roof and/or wall open, the Referee has the authority to decide if the roof shall be closed in the following circumstances (after receiving input from the Stadium Manager and the NFL Football Operations Representative):
 - A hazardous condition develops or is anticipated that threatens the welfare of participants, spectators, and/or stadium facilities;
 - Precipitation begins (this will only apply up to the last five minutes of the fourth quarter);
 - The decision to close the wall in the event of precipitation will be made by the club after notifying the NFL Football Operations Representative.
 - If the fourth quarter ends with the roof and/or wall in the open position, no change will be made prior to or during an overtime period, unless it is closed pursuant to the procedures for hazardous conditions as set forth above.

Play may continue while the roof and/or wall is being closed, subject to the Referee suspending play pursuant to the procedures for emergency situations. If the roof and/or wall is closed pursuant to the above, it must remain closed for the remainder of the game.

For purposes of the Retractable Roof and/or Retractable Wall section, precipitation will be considered a "hazardous condition" in stadiums where the facilities are not equipped to withstand moisture, as determined by the NFL Football Operations department. Only in these limited circumstances may a roof and/or wall be closed in anticipation of precipitation.

Items Suspended from Roof – The minimum height for anything suspended from the roof of a stadium over the playing field is 85 feet above the ground. This includes but is not limited to sound speakers, video screens, scoreboards, and clocks. New designs (suspensions) must receive prior written approval from the NFL Football Operations department.

Pursuant to Rule 7, Section 2, Article 1(p) of the Official Playing Rules, if a loose ball in play strikes a video board, guide wire, sky cam, or any other object, the ball will be dead immediately, and the down will be replayed at the previous spot. If there is not an on-field ruling that the ball struck an object, the Replay Official is empowered to initiate a booth review, even if the event occurs prior to the two-minute warning. If, prior to the two-minute warning, no booth review is initiated by the Replay Official, a coach's challenge is permitted under the established rules for such a challenge.

U. STADIUM LIGHTS

Stadium lights must be turned on in all domed stadiums and in all stadiums with a retractable roof in the closed position and must be at full illumination at least 60 minutes prior to kickoff. The Referee has the final authority when determining if stadium lights will be used at an outdoor stadium, and may consider input from the participating teams, the broadcasting network, and local public safety officials.

If stadium lights are being turned off as part of pregame player introductions, the lights cannot be turned off until both teams have cleared the field following the conclusion of the official team pregame warmups. All stadium lights must be fully illuminated prior to kickoff. If stadium lights are turned off as part of the halftime show, they must be fully illuminated prior to second half kickoff.

FOOTBALL TECHNOLOGY

The League provides and manages critical game day technology and supportive equipment for use by coaches, players, and staff. To ensure that League technology is operational for every game, it is imperative that all clubs store and handle this equipment with proper care and in a way that does not impact its functionality. Additionally, non-League devices (e.g., personal cell phones/devices, batteries, cell phone chargers, etc.) may not be connected to League technology.

Clubs and/or individuals may be subject to accountability measures if the actions of coaches, players, or other club personnel damage League-provided equipment.

A. FOOTBALL TECHNOLOGY CORE (FTC)

The Football Technology Core is the central operating system that powers all game day systems, which includes but is not limited to: Coach-to-Coach Communication (C2C), Sideline Viewing System (SVS), Instant Replay (IR), and Injury Video Review System (IVRS). Critical network and server hardware devices related to all Football Technology systems are stored in this room/cabinet.

- Space — Each Club is required to provide space in its stadium to house a minimum of six racks, with the minimum dimensions of 42" Depth, 85" Height per rack. The racks must be secured to the floor.
- Power — Each NFL rack must have three dedicated circuits with a combination of either 20 AMP/120 VAC or 30 AMP/208 VAC, depending on the equipment in each rack. Costs must be covered by the club/stadium as part of general operations.
- HVAC — The FTC space should be able to accommodate 30,000 BTU while maintaining a temperature of 70 degrees Fahrenheit. Any recurring costs must be covered by the club/stadium as part of general operations.
- Security/Access — A League-approved and managed security camera that faces the racks must be installed in the space where the FTC is located. This space must always be locked, and a key card or key must be provided to select NFL IT Game Day Assistants (GDAs). If a key cannot be supplied, the club must provide an agreed-upon access plan.
- Connectivity — Each stadium/club will need to allow the NFL Core racks to connect into the League-contracted internet/MPLS service provided, which is dedicated to internal Football Technology use only.

B. SIDELINE VIEWING SYSTEM (SVS)

System and Equipment — The League office will oversee the use of a uniform still photo viewing process used by all clubs in all games. The system will consist of a portable rolling rack that will house all SVS system-related hardware (stationed within the bench area), 20 Microsoft Surface tablets at field level and 12 Microsoft Surface tablets in the coaches booth. Printers are no longer part of the Sideline Viewing System, and therefore, are not permitted to be used on game day.

Each stadium has dedicated fiber infrastructure provided by the League office (cabling and enclosures). This is to provide equitable services between each team shooting location (primary and secondary end zone and sideline) and both coaches booths. Use of League-managed infrastructure for services outside of the purposes of League Football Technology is prohibited.

All equipment will be managed by the NFL Football Technology department in coordination with League partners and contracted vendors (Microsoft and DVSport). Football Technology GDAs (Purple Hats) will ensure the equipment is set up and tested each game day. The home club must provide appropriate storage for all the equipment, and the ability for the Purple Hats to access said storage.

Setup and Support — All SVS equipment must be in place 2 hours prior to kickoff. The League office will be responsible for providing a Purple Hat crew at each NFL game to set up and break down the equipment on game day. This crew will also be responsible for assisting in the servicing of the system during the game.

Clubs are prohibited from bringing any SVS tablets into the locker room or any other club-controlled area prior to the start of the game. Clubs may, however, bring NFL-issued tablets into the locker room at halftime, and the tablets may be hooked up to a monitor or projector/document camera. No other club-issued tablets or video of any kind may be displayed at halftime.

The Sideline Viewing System requires a clean and reliable 5 GHz network for optimal performance. Stadium Wi-Fi designs should minimize radio frequency being directed towards the bench area on each sideline during NFL games to avoid interference. Channel plans are coordinated between Stadium/Club IT and NFL IT prior to the start of preseason, and any questions should be directed to NFLIT.WiFi@nfl.com. NFL Football Technology will coordinate the setup of the system 4 hours prior to kickoff with the Network Technicians and provide oversight of the wireless coverage.

Still Shots – Each club is permitted to create a maximum of eight images per play to be viewed on tablets only. Each club independently decides how to use its eight images per play. Images can be viewed in single, double, or quad view. Both the bench area and the booth are limited to the use of 26 user profiles.

Equity Enforcement for System Failure – If, at any point during a game, there is a total system failure of the feed from the Sideline Viewing System, the Purple Hat technician or a representative from the affected club should notify the NFL Football Operations Representative. The following situations will be considered a total system failure requiring the opposing club to discontinue the corresponding use as set forth below:

DESCRIPTION OF SYSTEM FAILURE	EFFECT ON OPPOSING CLUB WHEN EQUITY RULE IS INVOKED
Entire still photo system on sideline and in coaches booth is not operational.	Relinquish use of all tablets on the sideline and coaches booth.
All tablets on sidelines are not operational.	Relinquish all tablets on sidelines but coaches booth can continue use.
Sideline (SL) angle not available on all tablets.	SL angle will be removed from all tablets.
End zone angles (EZ1 and/or EZ2) not available on all tablets.	Impacted EZ angle will be removed from tablets.

A malfunction of one or more (but less than all) tablets on the sideline, or one or more (but less than all) tablets in the booth, or a disruption of League Wi-Fi, will not constitute a total system failure, and the opposing club may continue use of all tablets in its respective area. Upon confirmation of a total system failure, the NFL Football Operations Representative will instruct the opposing club's coaching staff to relinquish all tablets on the sideline and/or in the coaches booth to the Purple Hat technicians until transmission of images (SL, EZ1, or EZ2 angle) from the Sideline Viewing System is restored to the affected club. Once service is restored to the affected club, use of all tablets will resume for both clubs. Wireless connectivity in the bench area does not fall under the equity policy because all devices can be updated through wired syncing if wireless fails.

If devices are not functional at kickoff, equity will be enforced relative to the number of operational devices if less than 20 bench devices or 12 booth devices are functional. If some sideline or booth devices are not operational at kickoff, the opposing team is permitted to use as many devices as the affected team has operational. For example, if Team A has 15 operational devices in the bench area at kickoff, Team B will be limited to the use of a maximum of 15 devices in the bench area. Once Team A confirms that additional devices are operational after the game has started, both teams can increase the number of devices in the bench area until both Team A and B have 20 operational devices in the bench area.

C. COACHING STAFF COMMUNICATIONS (C2C)

The Coach-to-Coach (C2C) system allows members of the coaching staff to communicate within the bench area and from the bench area to the coaches booth. The Sideline Technology Cart serves as the networking hub for C2C communications and must be placed within the bench area at the 50-yard line. The cart must not be obstructed by trunks or other equipment.

- Infrastructure – Home clubs are responsible for the installation and maintenance of the coaches' communication system ("C2C"). The C2C system infrastructure may not be used by other football entities (i.e., high school or college football games).

Home clubs are responsible for maintaining the following fiber paths and equipment, including but not limited to:

- » 24 single-mode fiber strands from the home coaches booth to the Instant Replay booth
- » 12 single-mode fiber strands from the home coaches booth to the home sideline
- » 24 single-mode fiber strands from the visiting coaches booth to the Instant Replay booth
- » 12 single-mode fiber strands from the visiting coaches booth to the visiting sideline
- » 24 single-mode fiber strands from the Instant Replay booth to the outside broadcast compound
- » 36 single-mode fiber strands from the outside broadcast compound to the Football Technology Core (FTC) cabinet
- » 12 single-mode fiber strands from the FTC to the home sideline C2C radio (left or right)
- » 12 single-mode fiber strands from the home sideline C2C left radio to right radio
- » 12 single-mode fiber strands from the FTC to the visitor sideline C2C radio (left or right)
- » 12 single-mode fiber strands from the visitor sideline C2C left radio to right radio
- » 4 Cat-5e cables from the Instant Replay booth to the Coach-to-Player (C2P) cutoff location in the clock operators' position.
- » Terminations of all fiber and Ethernet cables as it pertains to the above.
- » 4 Verizon antennas mounted on the field wall (as close to the 30-yard line as possible). Must be protected from damage during non-NFL events.
 - At no time during NFL game days may equipment be placed in front of or immediately surrounding these 4 antennas.
- » 4 Verizon cell-hub radios, UPS and network fiber transceiver and 120V-20A power available at each location

- Bench Area Equipment – Home clubs are responsible for maintaining the network components and C2C wireless components in each Sideline Technology cart:

- » QTY 2 – Cisco C9300-48UN switches – with 1 fiber SFP
- » QTY 1 – Emerson Single Phase on-line UPS, 1kVA, 120V
- » QTY 6 – Green Go battery chargers
- » QTY 80 – Green Go batteries and 2 Pelican storage cases
- » QTY 1 – C-Tech Sideline Technology Cart and all peripheral equipment
- » QTY 20 – 100-foot etherCon cables
- » QTY 3 – 125-foot OpticalCon cables
- » QTY 1 – Microsoft Surface Pro 7+ tablet, docking station and keyboard

- » QTY 1 – ThinkCentre M900 10AB Tiny Desktop
- » QTY 1 – TRU-VuMonitors SRM-24-MV 24” Sunlight Readable LCD Monitor
- » QTY 2 – AJA optical to HDMI converters
- » QTY 3 – Green Go cutoff client devices for C2P
- » QTY 2 – 30-foot etherCon cables
- » QTY 2 – Repeater cutoff switches
- » QTY 1 – 30 amp GFEP twist lock source for each Sideline Technology Cart
- » QTY 1 – 20-amp GFEP protected twist lock source for Instant Replay Field Unit
- Coaches Booths Equipment – Home clubs are responsible for maintaining the proper operation of the wired network equipment in a securable wall cabinet for each coaches booth. Clubs are required to ensure that coaches booths are well-maintained, clean, and organized to support technical operations on game day. To prevent tripping hazards, cabling must be labeled and installed securely.
 - » QTY 2 – Cisco C9300-48UN switches – each with 2 fiber SFPs
 - » QTY 1 – Emerson Single Phase on-line UPS, 1kVA, 120V
 - » QTY 1 – Input/Output Panel containing 32 etherCon connectors
 - » QTY 3 – ethernet connections to each seating positions (1 for C2C, 1 for SVS, and 1 spare)
- Travel Equipment – The visiting club must travel with the following equipment:
 - Booth Case
 - » QTY 20 – Green Go Intercom beltpacks
 - » QTY 48 – 3-foot flat CAT5e jumper cables
 - » QTY 1 – 48 port Cisco Network Switch
 - Field Case
 - » QTY 20 – Green Go Intercom beltpacks
 - » QTY 4 – Green Go C2P Audio Interface Units
 - » QTY 30 – 4-foot CAT5e jumper cables with Neutrik etherCON connectors
 - Wireless Case
 - » QTY 28 – Green Go Intercom wireless beltpacks
 - » QTY 6 – Green Go 8-port bridges
 - » QTY 6 – USB-C cables
- Sideline and Coaches Booth Technicians (Yellow Hats) – Home clubs are responsible for providing three technicians approved by the NFL Football Operations and IT departments to set up, test, support, and break down the C2C system on game day. These technicians are required to wear a yellow hat with the NFL shield for quick visual identification. Yellow Hats must be present in the bench area of both clubs and coaches booth area in order to conduct the pregame testing at the specified times below, and then must remain near their respective areas beginning at 1 hour prior to kickoff until the conclusion of the game. The visiting club’s technician will preside over the technician assigned by the home club to the visitor’s bench area.

Responsibilities of sideline and coaches booth technicians include, but are not limited to, the following:

- » Set up the Sideline Technology carts in the bench areas 4 hours prior to kickoff. In the case of inclement weather where the tarps cover the field and bench areas, the wireless C2C system must be tested off the field and prepared for when the tarps are removed.
 - » Conduct and complete testing of the C2C wired equipment in each coaches booth 3 hours prior to kickoff.
 - » Conduct final testing of the entire C2C system 2 hours prior to kickoff. In the event there are issues with the C2C communications system, the club must report the issues to NFL Football Operations (212.450.2087) as early as possible and continue to provide frequent updates until the issue is resolved.
 - » Technicians are required to maintain communication for coaches at all times.
 - » Technicians must not have additional duties/responsibilities during game day other than the C2C communication system.
 - » Technicians are required to submit a game day report following the game.
- Beltpacks – Clubs are permitted to use 20 C2C beltpacks in the bench area in any combination of wired or wireless. All coaches booth beltpacks are wired. C2C beltpacks may only be used in the bench area and the coaches booth. Players are permitted to utilize a beltpack for the purpose of communicating with the coaching staff. This would count against the 20 beltpacks available for use in the bench area. Each team is permitted to designate a single sideline technician as a wired or wireless user to support the operation of the system. This user does not fall under the allotment of beltpacks for the coaching staff. This user is prohibited from communicating any competitive or strategic information.
 - Headsets – The League will supply 40 headsets to each club annually for the purpose of the coach-to-coach system. Each club is responsible for providing these headsets for its coaching staff in the bench area and in the coaches booth on game day.
- Clubs are prohibited from creating double headsets by combining two single headsets, allowing for two beltpacks to be used simultaneously. Clubs may not alter existing headsets or request custom headsets for this purpose. Coaches are permitted to wear two standard single headsets at the same time in order to have input from two beltpacks, provided they do not alter the headsets in any way.
- Each club is responsible for providing its own still photo headsets for all games, both home and away. The use of a wired or wireless beltpack in the bench area with these still photo headsets will count against a club's allotment of bench area beltpacks.
- A club may place a label on the headset; however, that label must be placed in a position that is not visible when the headset is worn.
- Clubs are required to notify NFL Football Operations of any malfunctioning coaches headsets prior to shipping for repair. Malfunctioning equipment will be repaired or replaced, if necessary.
- C2C Headset Configuration – Home and visiting clubs are required to provide their own C2C beltpacks and Coach-to-Player ("C2P") audio interface devices for each game. Clubs are responsible for building their intercom configuration as per the requirements of their coaching staff and fully testing the configuration prior to game day. Clubs are required to encrypt all of the C2C units so as to prevent any possible manipulation or eavesdropping of their communication. Any communication issues caused by a club's failure to configure the devices prior to game day would not be considered a total communication system failure.
 - Equity Enforcement for System Failure – If a club experiences a total communication system failure of the C2C system, the technician or a representative from the affected club should immediately notify the NFL Football Operations Representative or Game Day Operations Center (212.450.2087). A total communication system failure is defined as both the wireless and wired communication systems being inoperable between the coaches booth and the bench area. Upon confirmation of a total communication system failure, the NFL Football Operations Representative or the Game Day Operations Center will instruct the opposing club's coaching staff to relinquish all beltacks and headsets on the field and in the coaches booth to the technicians until communication is restored to the affected club. The inability of one or more, but less than all, coaches to communicate via the C2C system between the field and the booth will not constitute a total communication system failure, and the opposing club may continue to use their C2C system.

If the C2C system is not operational, either due to a system malfunction or an equity enforcement, a coach may use a C2P transmit radio (red band labeled "C2P Coach") to make play calls only if the C2P technician can first ensure proper cutoff operation of the play calls.

- Support and Service –The League has contracted with Bexel to provide an on-site technician at every NFL game. This technician, known as the Football Technology Rep (FTR), will be stationed behind the visiting sideline during the game and will be responsible for the proper operation of all sideline technology. FTRs are required to wear a gray hat with the NFL shield for quick visual identification.

Clubs are required to notify the FTR of any malfunctioning C2C equipment immediately. The FTR will be responsible for either resolving the issue locally or replacing the equipment prior to the next home game.

Green Go device service and replacement is provided by Novalume.

D. COACH-TO-PLAYER SYSTEM (C2P)

The Coach-to-Player (C2P) system allows a member of the coaching staff (e.g., head coach, offensive or defensive coordinator, etc.) to communicate from the bench area or coaches booth to one of the offensive and defensive players designated to have the C2P components in their helmet on game day. Each coaching staff is limited to one offensive and one defensive play caller at any given time. All C2P communication is encrypted.

- Helmet Models — Only certain helmet models are certified to meet the National Operating Committee on Standards for Athletic Equipment (NOCSAE) helmet testing standards with the C2P components installed. Equipment managers may reach out to the NFL Football Operations department for installation instructions. Installing the C2P components in a non-certified helmet model is prohibited.
- Radio Frequencies — The League has assigned each NFL stadium four sets of frequencies (Frequency Set 1 ("FS1") and Frequency Set 2 ("FS2") for each sideline. Clubs are prohibited from using both frequency sets at the same time. The home club's sideline technicians are required to work with the League's C2P consultants, Gubser & Schnakenberg, LLC (GSC), and the local League-appointed Event Frequency Coordinators (EFC) to resolve any radio frequency interference (RFI) issues with the C2P system. If, during the game, a club's frequency set is experiencing RFI issues, the affected club may switch to its alternate frequency set under the direction of the C2P technician. Clubs must notify NFL IT and NFL Football Operations if they switch frequencies prior to or during the game.
- Cutoff Devices — There are three types of devices available in the cutoff process – the global cutoff switch, repeater cutoff device, and local cutoff switch. The home club is responsible for storing and connecting the C2P cutoff devices for each game. These devices and connections will also be inspected and tested by the NFL Football Technology Representative, C2P technicians, and C2P cutoff operator.
 - » Global Cutoff Switch — The primary method of engaging cutoff is through the global cutoff switch utilized by the C2P Cutoff Operator, located in the press box. Two cutoff switches are provided for redundancy purposes. A third global cutoff switch must be stored in the Sideline Technology Cart and be available in the event that the first two malfunction or connectivity to the working location fails. This cutoff switch will terminate both the home and visiting club's communication at the same time. Releasing the cutoff will enable communication for both clubs at the same time. Operation of the global cutoff switch is the same whether operated from the press box location or directly connected to the sideline technology cart. All global cutoff devices and working locations must be tested during the pregame period. The cutoff switch located on the field should remain disconnected when the cutoffs in the press box are in operation.

- » Local Cutoff Switch – One switch must be stored in the drawer of the Sideline Communications Cart on each sideline, and an additional spare switch must be stored in the home Sideline Communications Cart. This switch is used and operated by the C2P technician in the event of a total system failure of C2C, and the C2P Cutoff Operator is unable to cut off the repeater from his location in the press box. In the event the RCOs are non-operational, the C2P technician will operate a local cutoff switch per C2P cutoff rules.
- » Repeater Cutoff (RCO) Devices – An RCO device must be installed and tested during the pregame period. The RCO should be operated next to the C2P repeaters in the Sideline Communications Cart to allow cut off of the C2P system in the event a coach is required to use the designated red handheld radio to make play calls. This device must be fully cabled at all times on each sideline to properly cut off the repeater but should not be used without approval from NFL Football Operations. Each sideline has a second RCO that is a cold spare in the event the first one is defective.
- C2P Cutoff Operator – The communication will be cut off by the League-appointed C2P Cutoff Operator via the cutoff switch device when the play clock reaches 15 seconds or when the ball is snapped, whichever occurs first. Communication will resume once a Game Official has signaled that a play is dead or upon the Cutoff Operator's positive knowledge that the play is over. The League requires the C2P Cutoff Operator to be seated directly next to the Game and Play Clock Operators. Home clubs are required to notify the NFL Football Operations department if there is a need to relocate the C2P Cutoff Operator's position.
- C2P Technicians – League-appointed C2P technicians will be provided to manage and report on the stadium's C2P system. These technicians are required to wear an orange hat with the NFL shield for quick visual identification.

C2P technicians' responsibilities include, but are not limited to, the following:

- » Complete the C2P portion of the "Game Readiness Checklist" in real-time.
- » Test and distribute C2P equipment from the secured Sideline Communication Cart to each club's equipment manager 3 and a half hours prior to kickoff. When inclement weather prohibits the placement of the Sideline Communication Carts on the field 3 and a half hours prior to kickoff, the C2P technician may distribute the C2P equipment to each club's equipment manager.
- » Conduct final C2P system testing with each club's equipment manager 2 hours prior to kickoff.
- » Must be present in the bench area of each club 1 hour prior to kickoff and remain throughout the game.
- » Ensure throughout the game that the cutoff device is functioning properly.
- » Secure all transmit radios (red "C2P Coach" and orange "C2P Tech") so that no club personnel has access to them.
- » In the event of a C2C system failure, ensure the play call radios can be cut off before providing a transmit radio (red "C2P Coach") to a member of the team for making play calls. This may include operating the cutoff switch on the field.
- » Submit a game day report following the game.

- C2P Transmitting Radios — If the C2C system is not operational, either due to a system malfunction or an equity enforcement, the play caller may use a C2P transmit radio (red band labeled “C2P Coach”) and select either “OFF” or “DEF” from the channel selection to make play calls only if the C2P technician can first ensure proper cutoff operation of the play calls. The backup C2P transmitting radios labeled “C2P Coach” are under the supervision of the C2P technician. The technician is responsible for safeguarding and distributing the radios. Typically, the radios are kept in the drawer of the Sideline Communications Cart. Use of this radio by anyone other than the offensive or defensive play caller will be considered an integrity of the game violation.

The C2P technician is provided a radio that can transmit without being cut off. This radio has an orange sleeve and orange antenna labeled “C2P Tech.” This radio must be in the possession of the C2P technician at all times. Use of this radio by anyone other than the C2P technician will be considered an integrity of the game violation.

- Cabling and AC Power Requirements — Home clubs are responsible for installing and maintaining the following C2P communication infrastructure for game day use:
 - » QTY 1 – 120V 15A w/ISO ground circuit at the Home Sideline position within close proximity to the 50-yardline dedicated for C2P system.
 - » QTY 1 – 120V 15A w/ISO ground circuit at the Visitor Sideline position within close proximity to the 50-yardline dedicated for C2P system.
- C2P Designees — Players who have C2P components in their helmets must be listed by name, jersey number, and position in the Coach-to-Player Communication section of the Game Day Administration Report, which is submitted through the Game Management System (GMS) 90 minutes prior to kickoff. Only the players submitted as C2P designees on the Game Day Administration Report may wear the C2P components in their helmets. No changes will be permitted after the submission of this report. If your club experiences technical difficulties while attempting to submit the electronic Game Day Administration Report, immediately notify the on-site NFL Football Operations Representative or the Game Day Operations Center. Paper copies of the Game Day Administration Report will not be accepted unless approved by the NFL Football Operations department.

Any player with C2P components must have a green decal displayed on the midline of the rear of his helmet. A team is prohibited from having two or more players on the field at the same time wearing helmets that contain C2P components (module, speakers, and/or battery), even if only one of the helmets is “live” and able to receive communication. This applies in the preseason, regular season, and postseason.

- » Preseason — During the preseason, five offensive players and five defensive players can be designated to have the C2P components in their helmets for each club.
- » Regular Season and Postseason — Each club is permitted to designate three offensive players and three defensive (primary and backup) players who are members of the game day Active List to have the C2P components in their helmets on game day.
- » Offense — The offensive players must either be bona fide quarterbacks or players who are used as backup quarterbacks even though their principal positions are as non-quarterbacks. If a designated offensive player is a player whose principal position is as a non-quarterback (e.g., wide receiver, running back), his backup helmet with the C2P components may not be used until he enters the game as a quarterback. However, bona fide quarterbacks may be in possession of their helmet with C2P components while on the sideline.
- » Defense — If the defensive primary player leaves the game due to substitution, injury, or disqualification, one of the defensive backup designees may receive his backup helmet with the C2P components upon entering the game as the C2P designee. Clubs are required to ensure that a defensive backup player does not use his helmet with the C2P components until he enters the game as the C2P designee. If the defensive primary player returns to the game, the defensive backup player must return his backup helmet with the C2P components to a member of the equipment staff and obtain his helmet without the C2P components.

The defensive backup players are prohibited from wearing or having their helmets with the C2P components unless the defensive primary player can no longer participate in the game or the primary player is not in possession of his helmet with the C2P components, in which case only one defensive backup player may receive his helmet with the C2P components.

If the defensive primary and backup players leave the game due to injury or disqualification, no other player may wear the C2P components in his helmet. Clubs must use other methods to communicate signals to the defensive players.

- » Special Teams – A club may send one of the C2P designees onto the field to participate in special teams plays.
- C2P Listen-Only Radios – Each club will have an allotment of five listen-only radios (blue “C2P Listen”) and earpieces that may be used by the club’s equipment staff, Yellow Hat, and players. Coaches are not permitted to use a listen-only radio. Users of listen-only radios (including players) do not need to be listed on the Game Day Administration Report.
- C2P Helmet Speakers – NFL Football Technology will provide approved C2P helmet speaker options. Clubs may choose to use any approved speaker at their discretion.
- C2P Monitoring Tablet – NFL Football Technology will provide one League-issued C2P tablet for each club to use on game day, which will be used to monitor and support C2P helmet modules. The C2P tablet may only be used by the club’s equipment staff, Yellow Hat, or Game Day Technology Liaison, and is permitted to be used inside the bench area. The C2P tablet can only be utilized for monitoring and supporting C2P modules. Any other use of the tablet is prohibited.

The C2P technician will be the primary support contact for the monitoring tablet. If a C2P tablet fails, the C2P technician should be notified immediately, and a backup tablet will be provided to the affected club. As an additional redundancy, each club is allowed to use the C2C computer in the technology cart to support C2P modules using a USB cable connection.

- Equity Enforcement for System Failure – If there is a total system failure of a club’s C2P system, the affected club must notify the NFL Football Operations Representative. A total system failure will be defined as the complete inability to communicate from the sideline to the designated player on the field through FS1 or FS2 in Simplex and Duplex mode. A disruption that results in the temporary inability to communicate play calls will not be considered a total system failure but will be continually monitored by the C2P technician. Upon confirmation of a total system failure, the NFL Football Operations Representative or the Game Day Operations Center will instruct the opposing club’s equipment manager to hand over the C2P components to the local League-appointed C2P technician until the C2P system is restored to the affected club. Once the affected C2P system is fully functional, both clubs will be permitted to use the C2P system.

If the C2C system is not operational, either due to a system malfunction or an equity enforcement, clubs are permitted to use a handheld transmit radio provided by the League-appointed C2P technician only after the technician has ensured the C2P cutoff is operating properly.

E. ANALYTICS TABLET

Each coaches booth will be provided one League-issued tablet, delivering League-approved data. This tablet will be hardwired within the coaches booth and will only have access to a Microsoft Excel spreadsheet with imported live statistics (e.g., participation, personnel, and play-by-play data). Setup and in-game technology support for this tablet will be provided by Football Technology Game Day Assistants.

Access to the spreadsheet will not be available until 30 minutes prior to kickoff. Once accessible, club staff may use the spreadsheet for notetaking and calculations. At the conclusion of the game, the spreadsheet will lock, preventing further edits, and will be automatically shared with NFL Football Operations and club staff. Any attempts to alter tablet hardware or software without prior League approval is considered an integrity of the game violation. Additionally, clubs are not permitted to download information from this tablet to an external hard drive, USB flash drive, or other device.

F. INJURY VIDEO REVIEW SYSTEM

An Injury Video Review System will be used in all games. This system utilizes Sony Hawk-Eye multicamera system in the Injury Video Review booth and will also include a field monitor in or around each bench area where club medical personnel can review game video in order to address a potential player injury. The system will support the viewing of two different video replays to both sidelines simultaneously.

The intent of the Injury Video Review System is to provide medical information in real time and is not intended for competitive purposes. Any misuse of this system will be considered an integrity of the game violation.

The Injury Video Review System will require the following specifications at all NFL stadiums:

- A private and fully enclosed booth for the AT Spotters, IVR booth operators, and the Booth UNC; no other personnel may be operating out of this booth. Because this system deals with sensitive player medical information, this location must be in a place where the IVRS monitor cannot be seen by other people and the AT Spotters' conversations cannot be overheard. All Injury Video Review System locations must be approved by NFL Football Operations.
- The Instant Replay technician and Hawk-Eye technician will be responsible for ensuring that the system is set up and functional on game day.
- 11 headsets must be provided by the League office to be used for the Injury Video Review System. Two headsets will be used by the AT Spotters, two for the IVR booth operators, one headset will be used by the Booth UNC, and three headsets will be used at each bench area IVRS monitor.
- A phone with the capability to place and receive long distance calls to and from outside of the stadium, as well as direct-dial ring downs to each bench area's field communication cart, and a ring down to the NFL Football Operations Representative location.
- Power and counter space for the operation of the Injury Video Review System.
- An unobstructed view of the entire field, including the bench areas, for the AT Spotters.

G. FREQUENCY COORDINATION

The League has appointed Event Frequency Coordinators (EFCs) to each club to coordinate the frequencies of all wireless transmitting devices used on stadium property. Each club is required to provide two seats with an unobstructed view of the playing field, internet connection, a telephone, and countertop space to accommodate equipment consisting of, but not limited to, a laptop and a spectrum analyzer.

All coordination requests must be made using the Event Frequency Coordination System at <https://EFC.NFL.NET>.

The League requires each club to assign a member from its Communications staff to serve as the Wireless Coordination Contact. This individual will direct all personnel using wireless devices (credentialed media operators, game day entertainment, club video departments, etc.) to pre-coordinate their devices no later than five days prior to game day. Frequency coordination may be requested after this deadline but will receive reduced priority. Frequency coordination is performed by the EFC at least 72 hours prior to the game. The League reserves the right to review service priority for all NFL games and events.

These wireless devices consist of, but are not limited to, wireless microphones, microwave transmission, Interruptible Feedback (IFB), Wi-Fi systems, and radio systems on stadium property. Cell phones and tablets do not require pre-coordination. Any of the above-mentioned wireless devices used at every home game by club and stadium personnel must be coordinated prior to the start of the preseason.

Operation of wireless transmitting devices on game day without prior coordination is not permitted. If an uncoordinated device is being used, the local EFC will determine if a frequency can be assigned to the operator's device. If not, the operator will be instructed to use a hard wire (if applicable). Failure to follow the NFL radio frequency coordination process will result in the removal of the equipment from the event and any other sanctions needed to protect authorized and coordinated wireless operations.

Radio Frequency Interference — Clubs are required to protect the wireless frequencies used by the C2C wireless devices by not allowing 3,650MHz–3,700MHz CBRS installations in the stadium in conjunction with the League’s Event Frequency Coordination program. Use of these frequencies will be subject to conditional coordination by NFL IT, including testing with the NFL C2C system at least 3 hours prior to the scheduled start time of the game. If there are any conflicts with the on-field communications system, the Club is responsible for coordinating the shutdown of the CBRS system. In addition, all 1.9 GHz DECT and 5 GHz Wi-Fi band usage is subject to frequency coordination to protect the NFL O2O system and Sideline Viewing System, respectively.

If a stadium has or plans to deploy CBRS, DECT, or a new Wi-Fi system, NFL IT should be notified as soon as possible by contacting EFCSupport@nfl.com.

H. ZEBRA TECHNOLOGY

Player Tracking Devices — Players are required to wear NFL-issued non-obtrusive tracking devices in all preseason, regular season, and postseason games. The League office will work in collaboration with club equipment managers to install these devices in players’ pads or other equipment. The League-approved tracking devices are manufactured by Zebra Technologies. Clubs are prohibited from using non-League sourced player tracking devices to collect competitive football-related data (e.g., speed, distance traveled, location on the field) in any game. However, up until three hours prior to kickoff, clubs are permitted to use GPS and other player tracking solutions that do not require hardware infrastructure to be installed on and around the playing surface.

The data (referred to as “Next Gen Stats”) captured by the Zebra devices will be distributed to all clubs by the NFL on a weekly basis. There may be instances throughout the season when technical problems result in data from a certain play or plays, or an individual player or players, not being captured by the NFL’s third-party vendor, Zebra. Any limited interruption to data collection in certain games will not impact the distribution of the data for that specific game or any other game during that week. In the event a club deliberately impacts data collection in a game, that club will be restricted from receiving any game data for that week and such actions will result in the club being subject to League accountability measures.

Equipment Tracking Program (Virtual Locker) — Each home and visitor locker room is equipped with a fixed/permanent RFID portal for player equipment tracking. The fixed RFID portal location varies by stadium but is typically located at an ingress/egress point between the locker room doors and the entrance to the playing field. The stadium typically has one home locker room portal and one visitor locker room portal, but depending on the number of pathways to the field, a club or stadium may install additional portals to track the equipment from the locker room to the field and from the field to the locker room at their expense. A RFID fixed portal consists of one RFID Reader, antennas (options include Overhead, Ground Mounted, Wall, and Floor Mat antennas) and ethernet cabling (Cat6) to a club or stadium network switch located within 300 feet of the portal. Floor Mat antennas must be installed and connected/active for each game (preseason, regular season, and post season). The program is supported by each club’s equipment staff whereas the equipment manager serves as the point of contact. Club and stadium IT employees are involved in the initial network configuration as the RFID Portal requires Power over Ethernet (PoE) and an outbound internet connection.

I. ALL-29 CAMERA

The League will designate the use of a full-field All-29 camera to be located in the vicinity of the club sideline filming location at all games. The full-field camera angle will be utilized by the NFL Officiating department and Injury Video Review, and will not be incorporated into the broadcast, nor used during replay reviews.

Clubs are not permitted to utilize video footage from the All-29 camera, nor may they request it. This camera is permanently mounted and will be placed in a “parked” position following each game. A club may, at its discretion, place a League-provided hood on the camera for privacy between games, as long as the hood is removed at least 4 hours prior to kickoff.

GAME AND FIELD EQUIPMENT

A. FOOTBALLS

Under the League's contract with Wilson Sporting Goods Company, each club will receive a standard quantity of game footballs per season with tracking devices, plus a standard quantity of autograph footballs.

All game footballs, including kicking footballs (K-Balls), must include tracking devices designed and manufactured by League partners Wilson and Zebra Technologies. These sensors will be used to collect data regarding the positioning and movement of the football while it is on the field. Footballs with sensors that do not activate or indicate low battery will be removed from rotation.

If, at any point during the game, the Referee determines that some game footballs are in unsatisfactory condition (e.g., due to inclement weather, physical damage, etc.), he can direct that the pre-approved backup footballs be brought into the game. This applies to both team-supplied game footballs and K-Balls.

Once the footballs have left the locker room, no one, including players, equipment managers, ball crew members, or coaches, may alter the footballs in any way. Footballs may never be placed on or inside heated benches or in front of heaters. If any individual alters the footballs, or if a non-approved football is used in the game, clubs and/or responsible individuals may be subject to accountability measures.

- Game Footballs — Prior to each game, a team's equipment manager will prepare 24 footballs from the current season to be used for non-kicking downs. Wilson Sporting Goods will provide appropriate directions and supplies to equipment managers for preparing the footballs. The footballs will have the prior approval of the team's quarterback, who may practice with them mid-week as long as they meet the standard of a new ball when presented to the Referee for approval on game day. No player or any other person is permitted to alter the fundamental structure or surface characteristics of the footballs to be used in a game. Activities such as defacing or reshaping footballs are strictly prohibited.

Two hours and 15 minutes prior to kickoff, both teams will be required to bring 24 footballs that have been activated by Zebra Technologies (12 primary and 12 backup) to the Officials' locker room for inspection. No more than 24 footballs may be activated for each club. Two Game Officials, designated by the Referee, will conduct the inspection, and record the PSI measurement of each football. The NFL Football Operations Representative or Security Representative may observe the inspection process.

Primary game footballs for each team will be pre-numbered. Clubs are not required to submit game footballs in sequential order. Any game football within the allowable range of 12.5 PSI to 13.5 PSI will be approved, and the PSI level will not be altered. Any game football that is determined to be over 13.5 PSI or under 12.5 PSI will either be deflated or inflated to 13.0 PSI. The same procedure will be followed with respect to the backup set of game footballs for each team, which will be pre-numbered by Wilson and recorded as backups. Game footballs approved for a previous game can be submitted, provided they meet the standards of a new football. All game football information will be recorded on the Referee's Report, which will be submitted to the League office. Any changes to ball designations must be approved by NFL Football Operations, no later than 90 minutes prior to kickoff.

Once the game footballs are approved by the Referee, the Game Officials will take custody of and remain responsible for the security of the game footballs, backup footballs, and K-Balls for each club. They will remain in the custody of the Game Officials until 10 minutes prior to kickoff. At that point, the Game Officials, accompanied by the League's Security Representative, will bring the 12 primary footballs to the instant replay field unit. Upon arrival, each club's ball crew will bring their game football bags to their respective bench areas. The backup footballs will remain in the Officials' locker room and will be secured to the satisfaction of the Referee prior to leaving for the playing field. Clubs may not pre-elect to use their backup footballs in the second half; however, if inclement weather is expected or already occurring, clubs may notify the Referee during the pregame period that they may request the use of their backup footballs if the primary footballs are impacted by the precipitation. The use of the 12 backup footballs is at the discretion of NFL Football Operations.

All Haltec machines will be certified prior to each season. Each Referee will be provided with a primary and backup machine by the NFL Security Representative. The same machine will be used for pregame, halftime, and postgame testing. In the event the primary machine becomes inoperative, the backup machine will be used for any remaining inspections, and the use of the backup machine will be noted on the Referee's report. The NFL Security Representatives (primary and associate) will each be responsible for the transportation of a machine to the stadium.

At randomly selected games, the game footballs used in the first half will be collected at halftime, and the NFL Security Representative will escort the Game Officials with the footballs to the Officials' locker room. During halftime, each team's game footballs will be inspected in the locker room by designated members of the officiating and security crews, and the PSI levels will be measured and recorded. Once measured, those game footballs will be secured and removed from play. For these randomly selected games only, the backup footballs will be used for each team during the second half. Approximately 3 minutes prior to the second half kickoff, Game Officials, accompanied by the NFL Security Representative, will bring the backup set of game balls to the instant replay field unit to be distributed to each club's ball crew. Designated Game Officials will alert each team to the use of the backup footballs prior to the start of the second half. At the end of any randomly selected game, each team's footballs will be returned to the Officials' locker room where they will be inspected, and the PSI levels will be recorded.

- Kicking Footballs — Wilson Sporting Goods will deliver six kicking footballs (K-Balls) directly to the officiating crew for all games. The K-Balls will be thoroughly prepared and conditioned by Wilson before leaving the factory. The officiating crew will bring these footballs to the stadium. These footballs are identical to the game footballs used on non-kicking downs, with the exception that they have not been previously prepared by either club's equipment manager. These footballs will be used exclusively for kickoffs, safety kicks, punts, field goal attempts, and extra-point kicks during the game. Each club will be sent 6 additional K-Balls to keep at the stadium should a shipping problem occur with the K-Balls being delivered to the Game Officials. Following the game, clubs may retain possession of their assigned K-Balls but are prohibited from using them in future games.

At 2 hours and 45 minutes prior to kickoff, each club representative should arrive at the Officials' locker room to pick up their respective K-Balls to be prepared in their respective locker rooms. The K-Balls will be branded with a special "K" along with the designated week number. Club representatives and Game Officials will agree on a return time of the K-Balls (60 minutes from the agreed upon start of the process) for inspection. A club's failure to deliver the K-Balls back to the Officials' locker room after 60 minutes, and/or a club's failure to comply with the K-Ball preparation guidelines below, will be considered violations of League policy and will subject the club and/or individuals to League accountability measures. Clubs that violate this policy will be required to use the backup supply of K-Balls provided to each stadium and will not have the opportunity for additional time to prepare the new K-Balls. Preparation of K-Balls should be completed at least 90 minutes prior to kickoff. Each club will be responsible for preparing their own K-Balls. The home club will always be the odd numbers (1, 3, 5), and the visiting club will always be the even numbers (2, 4, 6).

The following actions are permissible in pregame preparation:

- » Applying a wet towel to the football
- » Brushing the football by hand with a new Wilson-branded ball brush, or a team-supplied Wilson-branded ball brush, if verified by the Game Officials that the brush is in acceptable condition and has not been altered in any way
- » Using the side of the brush to soften the leather and remove slickness
- » Using the back of the brush to warm the leather and polish

The following actions are prohibited in pregame preparation:

- » Subjecting the football to high heat (heaters, blow dryers, dryers, etc.)
- » Submersing the football in water
- » Altering the surface of the football (including, but not limited to, use of a buffing machine, attaching a Wilson-branded ball brush to a machine, non-Wilson branded brushes, wire brushes, or other similar tools)
- » Altering the shape of the football (including, but not limited to, kneeling or standing on, bouncing, throwing, using a hard surface, or otherwise exerting excess pressure)
- » Inflating or deflating the football at any point during the process

Each club must identify one person to handle the on-field K-Ball responsibilities, and they are required to wear the “K” vest throughout the game. A member of each club’s ball crew should begin the game with two K-Balls in their possession. The ball crews will be responsible for handing the K-Balls to the Game Officials when needed and will use best efforts to put a ball into play that was prepared by the kicking team.

At the conclusion of the first half, K-Balls must be returned to the instant replay field unit. K-Balls will be returned to the Game Officials’ locker room by the Game Officials, accompanied by NFL Security. A Game Official will confirm that all six K-Balls have been returned to the locker room. If fewer than six K-Balls are returned at halftime, only those K-Balls that have been returned will be permitted for use during the second half. Game Officials must ensure that K-Balls not returned at halftime are not permitted for use for the remainder of the game.

If there is an end-of-half scenario requiring a K-Ball, ball crew members are required to immediately retrieve the K-Ball after the possession has ended and return the K-Ball to the nearest Game Official, or if the crew has left the field, then immediately return the kicking ball to the Game Officials’ locker room. K-Balls will be brought out 3 minutes prior to the start of the second half.

B. STANDARD FIELD EQUIPMENT

All home clubs are responsible for providing playing field equipment required by the Official Playing Rules of the National Football League, including the following:

- Sideline Chain Set — Use of the orange and black sideline chain set is mandatory. The set is composed of the chain unit, official down indicator, auxiliary down indicator, auxiliary line-to-gain indicator, and two orange first-down ground markers. A down marker must be used on both sides of the field (the official indicator being the one on the side of the field with the chains). The home club is responsible for providing a spare sideline chain set in close proximity to the playing field.

The auxiliary line-to-gain indicator is located on the side of the field opposite the chain unit. The orange ground mats, which indicate the first-down target, must be placed on the ground at the forward point to be gained so that players will have a visual frame of reference even when the chain post is moved because of action close to the sidelines. All padded poles must carry a special black and white striping. All chains must be orange in color for clear visibility by the networks and TV viewers. Any foam covering of the chain set, down marker, auxiliary down marker, and auxiliary line to gain marker must be cleared to a minimum of 6 inches from the bottom of the pole. No manufacturer identification may be visible on the chain set.

- Chain Crew and Ball Crew Vests — The home club must provide vests for the chain crew and the line-to-gain camera operator (five black and gold, and one scarlet) and standard navy-blue vests for the ball crews (four with an “X,” and one with a “K”). The visiting club must travel with their ball crew vests. For more information, please see the chain crew and ball crew duties section of this Manual.
- Pylons and Yard Line Markers — A set of eight free-standing orange pylons must be used to mark the four corners of each end zone. Yard line markers for the sidelines (10, 20, etc.), which coordinate with the color of pylons and chain crew markers, are also required. No manufacturer identification may be visible on pylons or yard line markers.

- Goal Post, Goal Post Extensions, Ribbons, and Clamps — All goal posts will be single-standard type, offset from the end line and painted a League-approved shade of yellow. The uprights will extend 35 feet above the crossbar and will be no less than 3 inches and no more than 4 inches in diameter. The crossbar must be 18 feet, 6 inches in length and the top face must be 10 feet above the ground. An orange ribbon, 4 inches by 42 inches, is to be attached to the top of each post, except in indoor stadiums. Goal post sleeves are to be properly padded and placed 6 feet behind the end line in order to accommodate placement of the crossbar in the plane of each end line.
- Goal Post Paint — Goal posts must be painted a League-approved shade of yellow or a League-approved equivalent. The following colors are approved: Saturn Yellow #215-17, Lime Yellow #RG06, and RAL 1016 Sulfur Yellow. Powder coating is permitted.

C. BENCH CLIMATE CONTROL UNITS

If a home club plans to use a climate control unit in the bench area (whether to heat or cool the area), the visiting club must be offered an identical unit and quantity at the home club's expense. If no climate control system is used by the home club or the visiting club wants to use a different system from that of the home club, it may do so at its own expense. If the visiting club decides to supplement the equipment provided by the home club and the home club then opts to supplement with identical equipment in its own bench area, the home club must cover the visiting club's expenses for such supplemental devices.

Temperature Management System:

- Clubs that own the Temperature Management System (TMS) must provide the visiting club with the option of renting the same TMS equipment, but at the visiting club's expense.
- If the visiting club chooses not to rent TMS equipment, the home club must provide an alternative cooling system for the bench area (e.g., misting fans) at the home club's expense.
- If the home club does not use the TMS or an alternative cooling system for their bench area, the visiting club is responsible for the expense of any bench area cooling systems.

By the end of the day on Tuesday preceding a weekend game or Monday night game, or the end of the day on Monday preceding a Thursday night game, if either club intends to use a climate control unit for the game, it must advise the other club of the number of units it plans to use, and any relevant operating information, such as power usage, BTUs, etc.

Climate control systems must be located at least 30 feet from the inbound line of the playing field and must be of a size or design that would not unreasonably obstruct the fans' view of the game or otherwise interfere with normal game operations. Sideline shelters for climate control will not be permitted in the bench area.

All climate control units that the home club provides must be in sufficient working order. If, prior to kickoff or during the game, any of the climate control units on either sideline become inoperative, the home club must use its best efforts to resolve the issue or replace the unit(s) as quickly as practicable. Home clubs that provide climate control units should have backup fuel and/or units kept readily available. Clubs must inform the League office by July 1 if they plan to regularly use a climate control unit in their bench area during home games. This information is provided in the Visiting Team Guides, located on the NFL Football Operations intranet website.

Clubs are prohibited from erecting tents or any temporary structure behind the players' benches or on the sidelines for use during the game except to protect playing equipment or the NFL-issued medical tent.

The shading of players on the bench with portable overhead shading devices is permissible, provided that the shading device is held by club employees and is not a permanent (affixed to the ground or some other object) or freestanding structure. These shading devices must not obstruct the view of TV cameras or fans. Clubs are not required to provide similar devices to the opposing club.

There must be no commercial identification, such as brand names, marks, or logos, on any climate control system equipment or components visible to the stadium or television audience on game day, except as directed by the League office pursuant to an official licensing arrangement.

The use of any club logos, marks, and/or colors are prohibited on visiting club benches. This prohibition applies to the home club placing their own marks on the visiting club benches and the visiting club ordering benches from a vendor with their own marks, logos, and colors on the benches.

For all postseason games, the above regular season climate control policy applies. If the home club plans to use a climate control unit in the bench area, the visiting club must be offered an identical unit and quantity at the home club's expense.

D. MEDICAL TENTS

The purpose of the medical tent is to provide each club's medical and athletic training staffs with an optimal environment to conduct medical evaluations of players during the game. The medical tent may only be raised and expanded temporarily for medical personnel to conduct an injury assessment or triage. Medical staffs will have the discretion to utilize the medical tent to ensure maximum privacy for a player during an evaluation. All sideline concussion testing must be conducted inside the medical tent. Medical personnel should utilize the locker room or training room in the stadium for more extensive medical evaluations or procedures, including further concussion testing required under League protocols.

During a medical evaluation of a player, only essential medical personnel are permitted inside the medical tent. At no time should coaching or non-medical staff enter the tent when it is in use. Team athletic trainers and their staff, equipment managers, team physicians, medical consultants, and the Unaffiliated Neurotrauma Consultants are the only personnel permitted inside the tent with an injured player. If medical personnel require the assistance of the team equipment manager to remove equipment prior to the evaluation, he/she may enter the medical tent only for the purpose and period of time necessary. Once their direct involvement with the equipment removal is complete, they must promptly exit the tent.

The home club will provide one tent for use on each sideline, and one tent will be available as a backup to either club and must be in proper working order. The home club must deliver the medical tents to each sideline 3 hours prior to kickoff. The home club is also responsible for providing an examination table for the visiting club to use in conjunction with the medical tent. The League office will provide the medical tents for use in all League-run games and/or games not played in an NFL stadium. All clubs must procure medical tents from the League-approved vendor in one of the specified sizes and may not have any commercial or club markings. Clubs are prohibited from modifying the shape, dimensions, and design of the medical tent provided to them on game day, and from cooling or heating the medical tent.

Medical tents must be positioned either to the left or right of the team bench (45-degree angle inside of broken yellow border) or behind the team benches. When positioned in either location, the examination table and accompanying medical tent must be completely within the bench area. Prior to game day, the visiting club is responsible for notifying their opponent of the designated position of their medical tent. The tent must be anchored to the base of the sideline examination table so that it may be raised and collapsed quickly. The home club is required to provide identical sideline examination tables for each sideline. Any requests for an exception to this must be submitted to the NFL Football Operations department.

Any other use of the medical tent, including, but not limited to, protecting playing equipment, is strictly prohibited. Any player or club/game day personnel who utilizes the medical tent for a purpose other than what is described will be subject to discipline. NFL Football Operations will closely monitor any time the medical tent is raised and expanded during a game and will permit medical personnel a reasonable amount of time to conduct an evaluation of a player. If, however, the medical tent is raised for a significant period of time, the NFL Football Operations Representative maintains the discretion to require the tent to be collapsed and request that the medical personnel continue the evaluation on the sideline without the use of the tent or in the locker room.

E. KICKING TEES

During any free kick (kickoff or safety kick), kicking teams may use a manufactured tee designed to hold the ball no more than one inch from the ground and approved by the League. The only kicking tee approved by the League is the Ground Zero 1 tee, manufactured by Wizard Sports Equipment, Inc. Altering the kicking tee in any way, including color, is prohibited.

F. NEW PRODUCTS

Clubs must obtain approval from the NFL Football Operations department before any new product can be used by any player or club personnel in a game. The use of any product by a player or club personnel during a game without prior League approval may subject the player and/or the club to discipline if it is determined that the product violated NFL rules.

PLAYING FIELD SPECIFICATIONS

A. PLAYING SURFACES

Each home club is responsible for ensuring that the playing surface of its stadium is well maintained, safe, meets competitive standards, is in compliance with the NFL Mandatory Practices for the Maintenance of Infill/Natural Surfaces for NFL Games, and is suitable for NFL play. The League may require immediate improvements to ensure compliance, and such improvements will be at the club's expense. Failure to maintain a playing field properly is considered a competitive issue, and clubs that fail to do so may be subject to accountability measures.

Clubs are prohibited from changing from one playing surface to another surface during the season without notifying and obtaining permission from the NFL Football Operations department. This includes artificial turf to artificial turf, grass to artificial turf, artificial turf to grass, and grass to grass.

The surface of the entire field of play must be a League-approved shade of green.

Additionally, clubs are responsible for ensuring compliance with the Mandatory Practices for the Maintenance of NFL Practice Fields. Practice fields will include all outdoor and indoor, grass or synthetic surfaces located at the club's practice facility or any offsite venue that the club utilizes for training camp or any other practice sessions.

B. BENCH AREAS

Player benches must be situated within their designated bench area. All benches must be a minimum of 30 feet back from the playing field. Home clubs must notify NFL Football Operations each year of their bench locations for home games. Clubs may not change their bench locations without prior League approval. Visiting club bench areas must be set up (Football Technology Cart, climate control, etc.) 4 hours prior to kickoff. If the League's tarp policy is in effect, the bench areas must be set up as soon as the tarp is removed, with best efforts to accommodate the visiting club bench area first.

Club equipment must be located within the broken yellow border of the bench area on game day. This includes, but is not limited to, medical tents, equipment trunks and bags, technology and communication carts, benches, exercise bikes, folding tables, etc. Additionally, Gatorade carts must be positioned at the 50-yard line. If club equipment is outside of the bench area, NFL Football Operations will request that it be moved.

Clubs are prohibited from stacking trunks and other equipment, using posters, flags, sheets or other similar materials within the bench area or on field in a manner that creates obstructions for the broadcasting networks (including views from the SkyCam). Additionally, all club personnel, including players, are prohibited from standing or sitting on top of the player bench or trunks in order to obstruct the broadcasting networks. Clubs are prohibited from erecting tents or any other temporary structure behind the players' benches or on the sidelines for use during the game, except for the medical tent and protection for playing equipment. Permissible tents or protective structures must be no higher than the team benches.

C. PADDING OF FIELD WALLS AND VERTICAL SURFACES

Field walls and all other vertical surfaces must be padded if they are less than 30 feet from the edge of the playing field. Playing field is defined as the boundary of where a player is considered in or out of bounds, and the distance is measured as 30 feet in any direction from that boundary line. When laid down on a hard surface, the padding must register an impact value of 100 Gmax or less using the Clegg Impact Tester and the 2.25 kg missile. The minimum height for all wall padding is 7 feet. Stadiums with field walls less than 7 feet are not required to extend their walls, but they must be fully padded. Additionally, all other vertical surfaces within 30 feet from the edge of the playing field, such as railings, access panels, and staircases, must be padded (minimum height of 7 feet).

D. HORIZONTAL SURFACES

All hard horizontal surfaces within the field wall (e.g., field tracks) must be covered by a pliable material that provides reasonable traction to a cleated player ("Non-Slip Material"). The surface must not present a significant or abrupt change in grade from the playing surface. Non-Slip Material must reach the field wall in stadiums where tracks or similar areas extend to the field wall. In cases where the track includes a drainage zone against the field wall, the Non-Slip Material must end no more than 18 inches from the field wall. Any drainage areas that require additional space from the field wall must be treated or covered by Non-Slip Material or have prior approval from NFL Football Operations. Horizontal surfaces that fall within the broken yellow border (media line) must register an impact value of 100 Gmax or less using the Clegg Impact Tester and the 2.25 kg missile.

Non-Slip Material must extend at least 15 feet inside field tunnels and must extend to within 5 inches of the tunnel walls. Any instances where the Non-Slip Material is to be laid more than 5 inches from the field wall requires approval from NFL Football Operations. The vertical lip of the field tunnels must be padded (minimum height of 7 feet), but padding is not required inside of the tunnel.

E. FIELD MARKINGS

All home clubs are responsible for having their home field lined, marked, and painted in strict accordance with the diagrams and dimensions provided below and in the most current version of the Official Playing Rules of the National Football League. (See Plan of the Playing Field and Field Markings.)

Clubs should closely supervise the lining of the field so that all markings are clear and distinct. Field markings include yard lines; hash marks; sidelines; solid border (minimum of 6 feet) around the field; second border (broken white border) 12 feet from the playing field sideline; bench area; and the network television zone (sidelines only—3 feet). It is required that there be three feet of operational space within the inside bounds of the broken white border and the broken yellow border. All non-NFL field markings must be "greened out" or otherwise not be visible.

All 5-yard lines, as well as 1-yard hash marks, must stop 8 inches from respective sidelines. Yard lines marking the 5-yard line intervals must extend 4 inches beyond the white 6-foot border along the sidelines.

There must be four diamond-shaped boxes, one located at each 25-yard line on both sides of the field, as part of the broken restraining line(s) that ring the field perimeter. These four boxes should be outlined in yellow, the same color as the restraining line and be 8 inches in width. The inside of each diamond must measure 4 feet by 4 feet.

Field markings or decorations must not cause confusion as to delineation of goal lines, yard lines, sidelines, and end lines. Where large playing field decorations cover yard lines and hash marks, the home club is required to lay down light hash mark outlines through such decorations to assist Game Officials in measurements.

It is required that all boundary lines, goal lines, and marked lines on the playing field be continuous lines. These, and any other official markings on the playing field, including numerals, must be in white, and there shall be no exceptions without authorization by the NFL Football Operations department.

In multi-purpose stadiums where it is challenging to lay a solid 6-foot border during the NFL preseason, there should be a four-inch white line at what normally would be the outer limit of the solid border (6 feet from the sidelines). All other stadiums with qualifying circumstances must send a request to the NFL Football Operations department for approval. However, there is no exception for: (1) the mandatory white broken line 12 feet from the sideline; (2) the mandatory broken yellow border 15 feet 4 inches from the sidelines (sidelines only); and (3) the mandatory broken yellow border 12 feet from the end lines (end zone only). The broken yellow border and broken white border are to be measured from the edge nearest the inbounds sideline or end line.

The broken white border 12 feet from the sideline and the broken yellow border 15 feet 4 inches from the sideline make up the network television zone. It is required that there be three feet of operational space within the inside bounds of the broken white border and the broken yellow border.

The broken yellow borders are to be 2 feet long with a space of 1 foot between them. These yellow lines are to be 8 inches in width.

All white restriction lines are to be 4 feet long with a space of 2 feet between them. These white lines are to be 4 inches in width.

Clubs must provide a reasonable amount of space behind the broken yellow border. There must be a minimum of 12 feet of space from the broken yellow border along the sidelines and behind each bench area border to the face of the padded field wall and 3 feet of space behind the broken yellow border along the endlines to the face of the padded endzone field wall to allow for standard field operations to take place. Measurements should be taken from the outside edge (i.e., the edge closest to the field wall) of the broken yellow border to the face of the padded field wall. Field operations include the movement and positioning of field photographers, operations personnel, game day assistants, broadcast operations, and sideline television carts.

Lines from other sporting events are not permitted on any NFL game fields. All college football hash marks and numerals, as well as all baseball and soccer lines and markings, must be removed or painted green so that they do not conflict with NFL lines.

If a club experiences a snowfall at its stadium that makes the normal field markings indistinguishable from the body of the playing field, it should paint the yard lines and other necessary field markings in a color contrasting with the snow.

Throughout the regular season and postseason, clubs will be required to place an NFL Shield logo on the field. This NFL Shield logo may be placed at the 50-yard line in the end zone(s) or at the 25-yard lines between the bottom of the numbers and sidelines. These 25-yard line logos should be catty-cornered to each other and must be 72 inches tall by 52.4 inches wide. Any deviation to the location of the NFL shields on the playing field must be submitted to the NFL Football Operations department for approval.

Center logos, whether painted or inlaid, may not exceed 1200 square feet nor extend beyond the 40-yard lines. Clubs with inlaid surface logos that exceed these established requirements must reduce the size of the center logo upon installation of a new field surface.

All League initiative logos and messaging must be painted in League-designated locations within the solid white 6-foot border. The application of these initiative logos may not obstruct the inbounds or out of bounds white lines. There are additional cause-related field elements that will be required throughout the season. For more information, contact your marketing department or NFL Social Responsibility (Anna Isaacson or Clare Graff).

Logos of any type on the field or other locations surrounding the field for any NFL games must be approved by the NFL Football Operations department. Any logo(s) or field markings on the field from other events must be removed prior to an NFL game. Any club who cannot fully remove such markings before a game must contact the NFL Football Operations department with a detailed field painting plan to obscure such markings.

All club-specific logos for club celebrations must be located off the playing field (i.e., outside the broken yellow border on the sidelines). The guidelines surrounding temporary or season-long commemorative stencil locations near the playing surface are detailed below and subject to League approval.

- Club Anniversary

- » Club Anniversary logos will only be considered for 10- or 25-year incremental milestones
- » Permitted Location: Off Playing Field

- Commemorative Event

- » Commemorative Events are those that honor the legacy of a deceased owner, club executive, coach, or player
- » Permitted Location: Off Playing Field

- Club Initiative

- » Club Initiatives are any club celebrations that do not fit within the definitions of Club Anniversary or Commemorative Event
- » Permitted Location: Off Playing Field

- Throwback Game

- » Throwback Games are club-designated regular season games in which clubs are permitted to use historical club and/or League marks (e.g., the historical NFL shield, a former club logo, etc.).
- » Permitted Locations: Midfield, End Zone, approved NFL logo locations

Clubs that wish to use a club-specific field marking must submit a request for the club-specific field markings they wish to use. The request must include (1) a rendering of the logo and/or field marking, (2) the timing in which it will be used, and (3) the category it falls within. All requests for club-specific field markings remain subject to League approval and will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. Club-specific field markings must comply with League-issued creative and brand marketing guidance (e.g., sizing, font, styling), which limits the use of commercial and third-party marks.

PLAN OF THE PLAYING FIELD

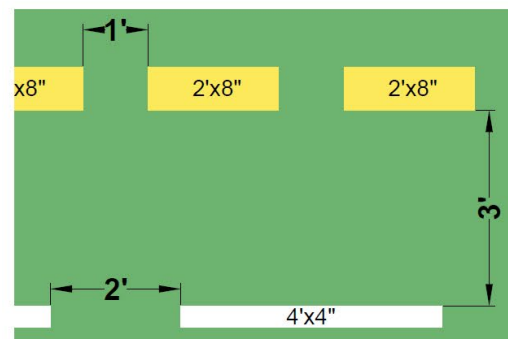

FIELD MARKINGS

1. The playing field will be rimmed by a solid white border six feet wide along the end lines and sidelines. There will be an additional broken yellow line nine feet four inches farther outside this border along each sideline in the non-bench areas, and such broken line will be continued at an angle from each 25-yard line and pass behind the bench area (all benches a minimum of 30 feet four inches back from the sidelines) at a distance of six feet. In each end zone this broken yellow line is six feet from the solid white border. These yellow broken lines are to be eight inches wide and two feet long with a space of one foot between them.

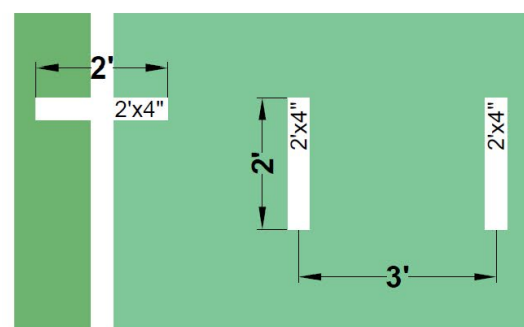

In addition, within each bench area, a solid yellow, 8-inch-wide line, six feet behind the solid border will delineate a special area for coaches, behind which all players, except one player who is charting the game, must remain. Furthermore, a broken white border, four inches wide and four feet long with a space of two-foot intervals will be marked three feet inside the nine-foot four inch broken yellow border on the sideline, extending to meet the existing yellow broken line six feet behind both end zones and at each television box outside the bench area.

2. All lines are to be four inches wide, with the exception of the goal line and yellow lines, which are to be eight inches wide. Tolerance of line widths is plus one-fourth inch.
3. All line work is to be laid out to dimensions shown on the plan with a tolerance of plus one-fourth inch. All lines are straight.
4. All boundary lines, goal lines, and marked yard lines are to be continuous lines.
5. The four intersections of goal lines and sidelines must be marked at inside corners of the end zone and the goal line by pylons. Pylons must be placed at inside edges of white lines and should not touch the surface of the actual playing field itself.
6. All lines are to be marked with a material that is not injurious to eyes or skin.
7. No benches or rigid fixtures should be nearer than 10 yards from the sidelines. If space permits, they may be further back.
8. Player benches can be situated anywhere between respective 30-yard lines. Where possible, a continuation of the dotted yellow line is to extend from the 25-yard lines to a point six feet behind the player benches, thereby enclosing this area.
9. A white arrow is to be placed on the ground adjacent to the top portion of each number (with the exception of the 50) with the point formed by the two longer sides pointing toward the goal line. The two longer sides measure 36 inches each, while the crossfield side measures 18 inches. The 18-inch crossfield side is to start 15 inches below the top, and 6 inches from the goalward edge of each outer number (except the 50).
10. The location of the inbounds hash marks is 70' 9" for professional football, 60' for college football, measured to the inbound edge of the hash. On fields used primarily by the NFL, the professional inbounds hash marks should be 4 inches wide by 2 feet long. Alternate college lines, if they are to be included, should be 4 inches wide by 1 foot long.
11. Care must be exercised in any end zone marking, decoration (logo), or club identification at the 50-yard line, that said marks or decorations do not in any way cause confusion as to delineation of goal lines, sidelines, and end lines. Such markings or decorations must be approved by the Commissioner.

F. FIELD SURFACE REPAIRS OR MODIFICATIONS

Clubs are required to inform the NFL Football Operations department at least two weeks in advance of any plans to repair or modify the playing field surface (re-sodding or changing artificial turf panels or similar turf surfaces) during the preseason, regular season, and postseason. Any repairs or modifications made to the playing surface that are over 400-square feet must be completed more than 48 hours prior to kickoff. Any request for deviation from this timing must be submitted in advance to the NFL Football Operations department for approval.

Clubs are required to receive approval from the NFL Football Operations department before any significant field renovations are made to their game field surface. Significant renovations include, but are not limited to, removal and replacement of 4 inches or more of rootzone material, changes to the drainage system, and/or changes to the field heating system. A Field Renovation Form must be submitted through the surface dashboard website immediately upon approval of the renovation plans, regardless of the time of renovation (e.g., during the offseason). A form is not required for routine maintenance, event preparation/repair, or activities associated with re-sodding.

G. MANDATORY GUIDELINES FOR FIELDS IN INCLEMENT WEATHER

Playing Field Covers — As per Article 19.16 of the NFL Constitution and Bylaws, all clubs must have a tarp or playing field cover available in a size that covers the entire playing area. Clubs are responsible for arranging for the use of the tarp whenever the playing condition of the field may be affected by weather conditions. This includes artificial turf fields as well as natural grass fields.

Fields must always be covered on the day and night before a game if there is any possibility of precipitation. After consulting with field experts, NFL Football Operations recognizes that covering the playing field may not always be necessary, and at times, may be counterproductive, due to the advanced composition and draining abilities of fields. NFL Football Operations recommends that fields be covered under the conditions described in this section but will communicate with a stadium's field manager to determine if alternate plans are more appropriate, depending on the field surface and how it reacts to environmental conditions. Field managers must seek advance approval from NFL Football Operations if they do not plan to cover the field in accordance with this section.

For preseason and regular season games, artificial turf fields do not need to be covered when rain is forecasted, provided (1) the drainage system has been certified using the recommended test methods for Athletic Field Permeability, and (2) the air and wind chill are above 32°F, and will remain above that temperature until 90 minutes before kickoff. Clubs with infill surface fields must submit a field certification to the NFL Football Operations department prior to September 1 of each season.

All fields must be covered on the day and night before a postseason game if there is any possibility of precipitation, regardless of the field surface or drainage certification, unless the NFL Football Operations department grants permission to remove the tarp. It is mandatory to have the field tarp fully removed 90 minutes prior to kickoff.

When precipitation is probable or is already occurring on game day, home clubs are prohibited from removing the field tarp without receiving prior approval from NFL Football Operations, unless it is an artificial turf surface that meets the above requirement for permeability and the temperature is above 32°F.

Clubs are responsible for covering the field during the week prior to a home game when the forecasted precipitation has the potential to impact the condition of the playing field for game day. Clubs must seek advance approval from NFL Football Operations prior to any deviation from this.

League Specifications for Playing Field Covers — It is mandatory that all clubs have playing field covers which meet the following League specifications:

- Covering the playing area is defined to mean that each club must have a tarp large enough to cover the playing field and the broken yellow borders (i.e., 190 feet wide by 384 feet long).

- It is recommended that when selecting a tarp for your field surface, environmental and climate factors be taken into consideration, as well as the recommendations from the turf manufacturer/sod provider.

Snow and Ice — The following are special guidelines for snow and ice conditions:

- Each home club is responsible for ensuring that its stadium has adequate snow removal equipment available: for artificial turf fields, a minimum of two large and one small brushing machines; for natural-surface fields, snow plows and trucks adequate to handle snow removal. Clubs should ensure that any displaced infill material will be remediated and the surface will be compliant with all Mandatory Practices.
- Each home club is responsible for having a snow removal plan in place and ensuring that its stadium has adequate snow removal equipment available. Snow and ice must be removed from the stadium before all games. This applies to the playing field, sidelines, seating bowl, aisles, pedestrian ramps, walkways, parking lots, etc.
- Each home club will be responsible for having available a sufficient amount of paint or dye in a color to contrast sharply with snow. If the conditions warrant, such paint should be used in addition to brushing and plowing procedures.
- The Referee (and the NFL Football Operations Representative) will have the authority to direct all corrective procedures used to combat snow and ice conditions.
- The Game Officials will review all ice and snow procedures prior to the game with both head coaches and a representative of the stadium maintenance crew.
- Emergency procedures may include an agreement to brush yard lines on one end of the field while play progresses toward the other end zone; an extension of the time between periods and at halftime; and the use of all available time, including timeouts, to brush each 10-yard line.
- No clearance procedures during the course of the game will be employed without prior approval of the Game Officials.

The following rules apply:

- Where possible, brushes or other appropriate clearing devices should be used to keep sidelines, goal lines, and end lines as clear as possible.
- Under no circumstances will the Game Officials permit clearing by the grounds crew, or other club/stadium personnel, of a spot for a kicking play, including PATs, field goal attempts, kickoffs, punts, etc. Only players are permitted to clear such spots by hand or foot. The use of foreign objects is prohibited.
- Coaches from opposing clubs cannot agree to have a spot cleared.
- It is permissible to clear the 10-yard intervals, hash marks, sidelines, goal lines, and end lines away from the direction of an offensive team during play, subject to the bullet below.
- If an offensive team is inside its opponent's 20-yard line, it is not permissible to clear any 10-yard intervals or hash marks behind such team that would give it a potential open spot for placement of a field goal or PAT attempt.
- If an offensive team is going in for a possible score, the goal line can be cleared only if there is doubt on the part of the Game Officials as to the location of the goal line. If it is visible, no clearing will be permitted.

If snow/ice conditions are severe, the NFL Football Operations Representative will arrive at the stadium early in order to review procedures with the appropriate representatives from the stadium maintenance crew.

Rain – The following are special guidelines for rain conditions:

- Each section of the playing field cover should be placed in such a manner that there is an overlap sufficiently large enough to allow a “roll” to prevent water seepage or leaks underneath the sections.
- On natural turf fields, field markings (particularly sidelines, goal lines, and end lines) should be touched up at halftime.
- No other re-marking procedures during the course of a game will be employed without prior approval of the Game Officials.

H. MANDATORY PRACTICES FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF SURFACES FOR NFL GAMES

For a complete description of the mandatory practices, please refer to the 2024 Mandatory Practices for the Maintenance of Natural Surfaces for NFL Games and Mandatory Practices for the Maintenance of Infill Surfaces for NFL Games, found on the NFL Football Operations intranet site.

GAME PRESENTATION

A. STANDARD OF PROFESSIONALISM

NFL Football Operations retains the authority to deem the actions of any club/stadium personnel as below the standards of professionalism and sportsmanship and may impose discipline on the club and/or individuals responsible for such conduct. Additionally, these policies will be reviewed periodically throughout the season and can be updated in the event that competitive issues arise.

B. NOTICE OF GAME PRESENTATION ELEMENTS

If a club plans to implement any game presentation elements that have the potential to affect game timing and/or the playing field surface (e.g., parachuters, rappellers, large on-field staging with wheels or lighting, etc.), the club must notify NFL Football Operations by 12:00pm ET two days prior to such game. Clubs must have a plan in place in the event of an equipment and/or activation malfunction. NFL Football Operations retains the authority to request additional information about these elements, and to prohibit such elements if it is determined that it poses unnecessary risk.

During the 100-minute Security Meeting, clubs must discuss their plan in the event of an equipment and/or activation malfunction. Additionally, clubs must provide notice of the pregame and halftime game presentation elements during the 90-minute Broadcast Meeting.

C. CLUB-CONTROLLED SOUND AND IN-STADIUM ENTERTAINMENT

While the League does not place restrictions on spontaneous crowd noise, it is each club's responsibility to exert proper control over the use of scoreboards, message boards, drum lines, PA system, etc. The League's policy on club-controlled sound does not restrict how loud a crowd can be, but it does restrict how and when the home club is permitted to use its influence to encourage noise.

- Club-Controlled Sound — The home club is permitted to play audio or use a live microphone to prompt the fans while the visiting team is on offense and the play clock is running. The audio or live prompting must cease by the time the play clock reaches 20 seconds, or when the visiting team's offense reaches the line of scrimmage (determined as when the center places his hand on the ball), whichever occurs first. Audio can be played until the ball is kicked on a kickoff.

At no point during the game may artificial or amplified crowd noise be played in the stadium.

All clubs must provide the video board feed paired with the PA system audio into the League-provided AWS Elemental link device no later than 2 hours prior to kickoff. Failure to configure the device properly and/or provide the appropriate feed will be considered a violation of this policy.

- Public Address System
 - » Penalties and Game Information — The stadium public address system must be utilized to provide key information in a timely manner regarding penalties, rules clarifications, injuries, key blocks, tackles, and defensive plays.

The public address announcer must state the visiting team's down and distance prior to the visiting team reaching the line of scrimmage or the play clock reaching 15 seconds, whichever occurs first, in the manner described below.
 - » Prompting the Fans — The public address announcer, DJ, stadium host, or similar stadium personnel using a live mic is permitted to prompt the fans and emphasize down and distance calls prior to the visiting team reaching the line of scrimmage (determined as when the center places his hand on the ball) or the play clock reaching 20 seconds, whichever occurs first. Prerecorded videos of players, fans, or mascots that constitute prompting the fans are also permitted, but any accompanying audio must cease once the visiting team reaches the line of scrimmage or the play clock reaches 20 seconds when the visiting team is on offense, whichever occurs first.

Prior to the play clock reaching 15 seconds or the visiting team reaching the line of scrimmage, whichever occurs first, the down and distance may be announced solely for informational purposes. There may be no emphasizing the down and distance after the play clock reaches 20 seconds.

- » Music During Injury Timeout — Music and video during an injury timeout should be sensitive to the serious situation on the field.
- » Stadium PA Audio Levels — The home team must make reasonable audio adjustments if the stadium PA volume is impacting the operation of the televising network or standard game operations as determined by NFL Football Operations.

Reasonable adjustments should be made to in-stadium audio including, but not limited to, adjusting the audio levels or placement of field-level speakers so that they are not pointing directly at and/or positioned next to a televising network or set in a way that interferes with the network production.

- Field-Level Speakers — Clubs may use up to four field-level speakers, which must be placed between the goal lines and the 20-yard lines, and must be pointed away from the bench area and the playing field. All sound from such speakers falls under the club-controlled sound policy specifying when audio is permitted. During the pregame period, speakers are prohibited from being in the visiting team's end zone area.
- Noise-Making Devices — Klaxons, bullhorns, whistles, thunder sticks, and other noisemakers of any kind are not permitted in the stadium. Items of this nature should be confiscated by stadium security.
- On-Field Stadium Entertainment — Cheerleaders, team mascots, flag runners, and other similar on-field stadium entertainers ("Stadium Entertainment Staff") are permitted to encourage crowd noise. This may include the use of signs to lead cheers (e.g., "Make Noise," "12th Man," "Defense") and/or the use of non-amplifying megaphones. Megaphones must be directed towards the crowd when in use and are subject to the policy on club-controlled sound above. Club-controlled efforts to start the "Wave" cheer are permitted.

Stadium Entertainment Staff must stay behind the broken yellow border at all times during the game. They may stand behind the end zone so long as they are behind the broken yellow border, and are not jumping up and down, waving their arms or doing anything else that can be considered distracting or derogatory to the opposing team. Cheerleaders are not permitted to cheer behind the opposing team's bench and must remain outside the bench areas (outside the 25-yard lines toward the end zones), and must not interfere with kickers, punters, and long snappers warming up on the sideline. The home team's cheerleaders are prohibited from warming up, stretching, or congregating outside the visiting team's locker room or in the visiting tunnel prior to player introductions or during halftime. Further, all on-field stadium entertainment staff and individuals assisting in the set-up, production, or teardown of an activation are prohibited from entering or exiting the playing surface through the visiting team bench area.

Stadium Entertainment Staff may be in the stands or on the field at appropriate times during pregame, halftime, quarter breaks, television breaks when players are not on the field, following a score by the home team, and postgame, provided they do not interfere with game timing or general game operations and are in good taste, as determined by NFL Football Operations. Stadium Entertainment Staff are prohibited from taunting opposing players, coaches, and Game Officials, or conducting themselves in a distracting manner (e.g., jumping up and down behind the goal post during a field goal attempt or a try kick attempt, etc.).

Clubs are responsible for the conduct of all Stadium Entertainment Staff.

- In-Stadium Giveaways — Guidelines for in-stadium giveaways are as follows:
 - » Giveaway items must be fan related, with souvenir take-home value (e.g., pom-poms, team photo, team or cheerleader poster, calendar, etc.). Artificial noise makers including but not limited to thunderstix, cardboard fans, vuvuzelas, and hand clappers are prohibited.

- » The League office must approve the giveaway items. Advertising and promotional artwork and copy must be approved in advance by the League office.
- » Giveaways must be manufactured by NFL-approved licensees, subject to a Master Premium License Agreement between NFLP and the manufacturer.
- » Corporate sponsorship of giveaways is encouraged, but any involvement must be controlled by the Club and licensed with Local Trademark Rights Agreement (fee waived) by the League office.
- » Clubs must not encourage items or in-stadium giveaways to be used as noise making devices or distractions to play on the field, as determined by NFL Football Operations.
- » Clubs must submit any in-stadium giveaways producing lighting effects to NFL Football Operations for approval.

D. ON-FIELD PYROTECHNICS

On-field flame effects and pyrotechnics devices at League and club events are prohibited. This applies to all flame effects and pyrotechnic devices, and any other device that uses a flammable or combustible liquid or gas, that are used on the field or sideline areas at game or at any other NFL or Member Club event. This includes, without limitation, all fireworks, gerbs (i.e., spark effects), and flame effects, whether utilizing propane, alcohol-based fuels, isopars, aerosols or the like.

This prohibition does not apply to any non-pyrotechnic or non-flame effect special effects device not utilizing a flammable or combustible liquid or gas. For example, lasers, CO2 cryo smoke effects, and liquid nitrogen-based effects are not subject to the moratorium. The moratorium also does not apply to pyrotechnics used off the field at safe separation distances from spectators and others in accordance with applicable laws, safety codes and regulations; for example, on scoreboards, light towers and roofs. If you have any questions regarding the moratorium and whether or not a particular device is subject to it, please contact Tim Tubito or the NFL Club Business Development Account Director assigned to your club.

E. SCOREBOARD/VIDEO BOARDS

Other NFL Scores – Scoreboard and ribbon board space should be utilized to provide updates of other NFL game developments.

Down and Distance – Down and distance must be displayed on a video and/or ribbon board near a game clock for use of displaying critical game information. Clubs are required to staff two individuals in the press box to support this operation: an operator for entry and a spotter to communicate information to the operator. Both the operator and spotter must be cross-trained on the operation and technology in advance of working in these roles.

The down and distance operator must change the down, distance, and field position as soon as possible as club videographers are required to film the scoreboard prior to each play. Whenever any part of the ball touches a yard line, it is considered to be on that yard line; whenever the entire ball is beyond a yard line, the ball is considered to be at the next yard line. Down and distance operators can determine the location of the ball for the next play more quickly by keying on the actions of the Game Official who covers the play. The Game Official(s) will indicate forward progress on a play by assuming a stationary position with right or left foot forward on the ground, even while the runner/receiver is being tackled. This signal is given very quickly and can be of assistance to the scoreboard operator concerning where the ball will be spotted for the next play. Further, the covering Game Official will place the football that had been used during a play on the ground in the side zone and will secure a substitute football from the ball crew member, which will be thrown in from the sideline to be spotted at the hash mark. The down and distance operator must make the changes as soon as the spot is determined, whether or not a timeout or end of the quarter has occurred.

Replays — Specific types of plays require mandatory replays. The home club is required to show at least one replay on the primary stadium video board(s) after all fumbles recovered by the offense, plays under review (booth reviews and coaches' challenges), first downs (including first downs as a result of a penalty), and potential receptions along the sideline or back of the end zone (regardless of whether ruled complete or incomplete on the field). The mandatory replay must include the relevant play action and must be shown prior to the next snap.

If the game is stopped for an Instant Replay review (either as the result of a booth review or a coaches' challenge), the home club may only show the network broadcast feed or the live instant replay "under the hood" feed during the review. If the broadcasting network goes to break during a review, the home club is permitted to show a previously recorded version of the play, provided the play was recorded from the network feed. In addition, at any time during the stoppage, until the Referee has announced the result of the review, a recorded version of the "under the hood" feed can be shown, provided the "under the hood" feed is not manipulated. Once a decision is announced on a review, no replays may be shown of the play that was under review. Replays of plays that were reviewed can be used later in the game for highlight packages, but not immediately following a review.

Timeouts Remaining — At each of the two-minute warnings, the number of timeouts remaining should be visible to the coaches, players, and fans or be announced over the PA system. Timeouts should be visible at all times for all personnel throughout the game, including halftime.

Injury Updates — The home club is required to post injury updates in a timely manner on the stadium video boards, scoreboards, or ribbon boards in conjunction with the broadcast and press box injury updates reported through the club Communications representative in the press box.

Video During Kicks — All video and ribbon boards must show either a static image (e.g., no flashing images, blinking effects, moving text/images, etc.) or an All-22 view (e.g., high sideline, high end zone, etc.) during field goal attempts and extra point attempts. Any flashing, moving, or blinking text/images displayed on video boards or ribbon boards during field goal attempts and extra points are considered a violation of this policy. The prohibition will begin when the kicking team reaches the line of scrimmage and continues through the signal by the game officials following the kick.

Locker Room Video — The home club is permitted to show their live or pre-recorded locker room footage throughout game day. In order to provide locker room footage, all home clubs are required to either install a camera or allow a handheld camera in their locker room prior to the team leaving their locker room for introductions. Clubs may also record locker room footage during halftime and/or post-game. The home club shall have control over collection, editing, and distribution within their stadium of all home locker room footage. Locker room cameras are required in both home and visiting locker rooms for all League-run games. The League will partner with the participating clubs to oversee the collection, editing, and distribution of all locker room content captured via these cameras at League-run games. This footage is only to be displayed on the stadium video boards or via an in-stadium wireless application.

F. CLUB-CONTROLLED VIDEO

The use of scoreboards, video boards, ribbon boards, or message boards for cheers is permitted. Television clips, movie clips, club-produced video (such as highlight packages), video of fans, video of cheerleaders, and video of mascots can be shown in order to encourage crowd noise provided the video is not in poor taste, as determined by the NFL Football Operations department. Audio may accompany the video until the play clock reaches 20 seconds or the visiting team reaches the line of scrimmage, whichever occurs first. Flashing images on the video board and ribbon boards are permitted, subject to the video during kicks policy outlined above; however, the NFL Football Operations department will retain authority to notify clubs during the season that certain video or ribbon feeds will be prohibited going forward.

Invasive video of the visiting team's huddle, strategic conferences in its bench area, or the face of the quarterback at the line of scrimmage are forbidden at any time. Video of the visiting team quarterback must be from the waist up or include the two offensive guards in the shot. Close-up video from behind the quarterback is permitted.

G. MUSIC IN STADIUM

Radio-edit versions of music must be played in stadiums, including during the pregame period. Explicit lyrics or other potentially offensive content is not permitted. Each NFL stadium must possess four Public Performance Licenses. These licenses allow for the public playing of music (live or recorded). A public performance license must be obtained from each Performing Rights Organizations (PRO) that controls the rights for music played in a stadium. Each PRO represents different songwriters, composers, publishers, and copyright holders, and each organization licenses only the copyrighted works of its own respective affiliated copyright holders. Currently, the four major PROs are GMR, ASCAP, BMI, and SESAC.

H. LIGHTING EFFECTS

The use of lighting effects during a game must be approved by NFL Football Operations, and must adhere to the following guidelines:

- Lighting effects are permitted during the pregame period up until the coin toss (provided the effects do not interfere with broadcast coverage).
 - » If stadium lights are being turned off as part of pregame player introductions, the lights cannot be turned off until both teams have cleared the field following the conclusion of the official team pregame warm-ups.
- Lighting effects are permitted during TV timeouts and halftime but must return to full illumination at least 30 seconds prior to the broadcast network returning from break, and consideration should be given to keeping the bench area and sidelines sufficiently illuminated during TV timeouts, as approved by NFL Football Operations. If the implementation of lighting effects impacts standard field operations, NFL Football Operations reserves the right to require that a club adjust the lighting effects plan for future games.
- Lighting effects are not permitted during game play or during broadcast game coverage, including but not limited to after significant events (e.g., touchdowns, turnovers, sacks).
- Lighting effects used postgame may not start until after the broadcast window concludes, unless preapproved in advance by the broadcast network.
- Unauthorized use of lighting effects will be considered a violation of this policy.

Prior to using lighting effects during a game, clubs must submit a plan to NFL Football Operations for approval. Plans must be submitted prior to each season and be approved prior to use. Plans must include the following information:

- The type of lighting effects being used and the timing of use (e.g., pregame, TV timeouts, halftime).
- The club's plan to keep the bench area and sidelines adequately illuminated during its use of lighting effects.
- The club's plan for returning lights back to an acceptable game play level in the event of a malfunction, including the reset process and the estimated amount of time it would take to return the lights to an acceptable level to continue play.

GAME PROCEDURES

A. VISITING TEAM ARRIVALS

Visiting teams must submit their travel itinerary (departure and arrival flight information, hotel, anticipated stadium arrival times) to NFL Football Operations for all preseason, regular season and postseason games. For preseason and regular season, visiting team travel itineraries must be submitted no later than 72 hours in advance of their scheduled departure. Visiting teams must notify NFL Football Operations of any changes to their travel itinerary as soon as that information is available. For postseason games, submission requirements will be outlined in the Postseason Manual.

- Preseason Games – When traveling to preseason games, visiting teams (or both teams if a neutral site game) must depart from their cities at least the day before the scheduled game, unless prior approval is received from the NFL Football Operations department.
- Regular Season Games – Visiting teams traveling by air must be scheduled to arrive at the game city at least 18 hours prior to kickoff unless arrangements have been made to make the trip by alternate means of transportation. Advance arrangements for alternate transportation to the game site are recommended.
- Wild Card and Divisional Playoff Games – Visiting teams must be scheduled to arrive at the game city at least 18 hours prior to kickoff.
- Conference Championship Games – Visiting teams must leave their city no later than 12:00 p.m. local time, on the day prior to the game.
- Pro Bowl – Players must attend a mandatory meeting on a date to be determined by the League office.
- Super Bowl – Both teams must arrive at the game city by a time and date determined by the League office.

B. TIME SCHEDULE

Procedure – It is essential that coaches and appropriate administrative personnel are aware of and strictly adhere to the game time schedule and notification procedures. Non-adherence may subject a club to accountability measures. To ensure compliance with the time schedule, the following procedures must take place:

- The home club will determine the amount of time that it will take for both the home team and the visiting team to leave its locker room and be properly located at the designated area for both pregame player introductions and return to the bench area at halftime for the second half kickoff.
- The home club will prepare a time schedule for all games. It will be distributed to applicable parties, including the two head coaches and the television network, by the Friday before a Sunday or Monday game, or the day before games scheduled on other days. Ten copies of the game time schedule should be delivered to the Officials' locker room no later than 3 hours before game time.
- Kickoff for NFL daytime games for 1:00 p.m. ET start will be 2 minutes after the hour (:02); for 4:00 p.m. ET, kickoff will be either (:05) or (:25), whichever is applicable. Kickoff for primetime games on NBC will be at 8:22 p.m. ET, and for Monday on ESPN kickoff will be at 8:15 p.m. ET. Kickoff for Amazon Thursday night games will be 8:15 p.m. ET. Pregame timing for scheduled 1:02 p.m. games, 4:05 p.m. games, 4:25 p.m. games, and prime time games will be as follows:

100-Min Security Meeting	6:35:00	6:40:00	6:35:00

- 100-Minute Meeting – 1 hour and 40 minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff, there will be a Security meeting. The Referee, NFL Football Operations Representative, Teal Hat, League and club security representatives, club Communications director (or designee), stadium security, and the local senior public safety official in charge of the field must meet to discuss procedures for responding to emergency situations that may occur before, during, or after the game. Subject to the approval of the club and League security representative, other individuals with a legitimate working function may attend; however, the meeting is closed to the media given the potential disclosure and discussion of law enforcement or operationally sensitive information.

- No later than 1 hour and 30 minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff, each club Communications representative will submit their club's electronic Game Day Administration Report through Game Management System (GMS), which will include the club's inactive list, the players designated to have C2P components in their helmets, any players and/or coaches wearing microphones, and the roof and/or wall designation, if applicable.
- 90-Minute Meeting – 1 hour and 30 minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff, there will be an Officiating/Broadcast meeting. The home club Communications representative, visiting club Communications representative, on-field Communications representatives, NFL Sideline TV Coordinator (Green Hat), a representative of the applicable television network, the network's on-field commercial coordinator (Orange Sleeves), the League's Broadcast representative (if applicable), and the NFL Football Operations Representative will meet with the Referee and the other Game Officials to do the following:
 - » Establish the exact time and synchronize watches.
 - » Confirm kickoff time.
 - » Review the time schedule.
 - » Confirm the exact time of day of the two-minute warning that will be given to each team two minutes in advance of the time that the team will be told to leave its locker room for the pregame player introductions. The two-minute warning time will be fixed to include the time that it will take the team to reach the designated area for the pregame introductions.
 - » Review standard broadcasting policies and procedures, including reminders to the television representative that there will be no deviation from the pregame time schedule or the 13:00 halftime (unless the League office has informed the clubs and Referee in advance that there will be a longer halftime).
- At the conclusion of the 90-minute meeting, and not later than 1 hour and 15 minutes prior to the kickoff, two Game Officials and the home club Communications Representative will meet with the home team head coach in his locker room, and two Game Officials and the visiting club Communications Representative will meet with the visiting team head coach in his locker room.
 - » The head coach will be informed of the exact time of the two-minute warning.
 - » The club Communications Representative will have a copy of the time schedule and will remind the coach of the time of his team's player introductions.
 - » The Game Officials will review the two-minute warning procedures with the coach.
- Field Emergency Preparedness Meeting – 1 hour and 30 minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff, there will be a meeting of the on-field emergency medical services (EMS) crews, the airway management physician (AMP), and the Emergency Response Physician (ERP). The purpose of this meeting is to:
 - » Perform checks on all emergency supplies and equipment to ensure all are present and in working order
 - » Confirm that all life-saving equipment and medication is present
 - » Review roles, responsibilities, and procedures for responding to an on-field emergency
 - » Review egress routes for hospital transport
 - » Review designated trauma center/specialty hospitals that will be used for different types of emergencies (e.g., medical emergency/resuscitation, c-spine injury/neurological emergency, truncal trauma with hypotension, ortho trauma, etc.)

This meeting will take place at a predetermined location, preferably at the on-field emergency medical cart.

- Network Sideline Security Meeting – Approximately 120-minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff, the NFL Security Representative, Field Security Representative of the stadium, NFL Football Operations Representative, Broadcast Representative, home and visiting club Communications representatives, and the television networks will meet on the field to go over the sideline restriction rules for network crew(s).
- Pregame Field Security Meeting – Prior to the official team warmup period, a meeting must take place at a pre-identified location to discuss field security. Required attendees include: sideline security personnel, Field Incursion Team members, field security supervisors and managers, NFL Security Representative(s), law enforcement personnel assigned to field security, stadium security representative(s), and NFL Football Operations representative(s). These individuals must meet to discuss:
 - » Responsibilities of the field incursion team, sideline security personnel, and law enforcement personnel
 - » Sideline incursion response protocol
 - » Field of Play incursion response protocol
 - » Any known areas of risk or concern around the perimeter of the playing field (as identified and communicated by stadium personnel)

Clubs are required to assemble a Field Incursion Team whose primary responsibility is to respond to and manage any field incursion attempt(s) on game day. Field Incursion Team members must be different than sideline security personnel. A minimum of eight security personnel with access to radio communications must be designated to the Field Incursion Team.

- NFL Medical Meeting – 60 minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff, there will be a medical meeting at a designated location, preferably in an enclosed space to minimize disruptions. The Head Physicians, Head Athletic Trainers, AT Spotters, UNC's, EMTs/paramedics assigned to the field, Airway Management Physician, Emergency Response Physician, NFL Football Operations Representative, and the Referee will meet to review medical procedures and protocols, verify the location of medical equipment, and test communication equipment.
- Two-Minute Warning – Two Game Officials will announce the two-minute warning to the visiting team, and two Game Officials will announce the two-minute warning to the home team by knocking on the clubs' locker room doors and announcing: "Two-minute warning...two minutes until you leave the locker room."

Two minutes later, the Game Officials will direct the teams to leave the locker room by knocking on the doors and announcing: "Player introductions...team on the field." At this time, the door will be left open, and the Game Officials will remain until the teams leave.

On the field at the conclusion of the first half, the Game Officials will inform each head coach (or his designated representative) of the exact time that they will knock on the locker room door with the two-minute warning in connection with the team's return to the field for second half kickoff.

Determination of the time of the two-minute warning for the second half must include the time it will take each team to reach the field from its locker room. Coaches who wish to have their players warm up before the second half should inform the Game Officials of the additional field time needed. An additional minute should be allowed for the designation of the kicking-receiving teams, and for the teams to take the field.

At the appointed time, a Game Official will announce: “Two-minute warning...two minutes until you leave the locker room” to each locker room.

Two minutes later, a Game Official will knock again and announce: “Team on the field for second half kickoff.” At this time, the locker room door will be left open, and the Game Officials will remain until the teams leave.

- The home club is responsible for ensuring that the following scheduling elements take place:
 - » The public address announcer cues the player introductions and the National Anthem on schedule.
 - » The National Anthem begins on schedule and is no longer than two minutes in duration.
 - » The halftime show is structured so that personnel taking part in the halftime activities have cleared the field completely with two minutes of the halftime intermission still remaining.
 - » The halftime clock is set by the NFL game clock operator to “13:00” (unless an extension was granted by the League Office) as soon as the exact time for second half kickoff is fixed and is then allowed to run down during the 13-minute halftime intermission. The second half kickoff will take place on the Referee’s signal after the halftime clock expires.
- Penalty for Delaying Kickoff — If a team is not on the field in ample time prior to the scheduled kickoff, it will be penalized 15 yards for delay of game and lose its coin toss option. Additionally, non-adherence to the established time schedule at any game may subject the club to accountability measures.
- On-Field Ceremonies — Clubs are permitted to allow on-field ceremonies and/or sponsored contests or promotions during game breaks, but they must not interfere with game timing and/or team operational movements and must not be in poor taste, as determined by NFL Football Operations.

C. PREGAME WARM-UPS

Use of Field During Pregame — During the regular season and postseason, clubs are prohibited from conducting workouts (e.g., route running, conditioning, drills, etc.) on the game field, including end zones and sidelines, with practice squad players and those that will not be on the Active List (unless such workout is conducted for the purpose of determining a player’s availability for the game).

Use of Non-Uniformed Players — Use of non-uniformed players during the Official Team Warm-Up Period (the pregame period that begins at least 1 hour prior to the scheduled kickoff) is prohibited. During the Official Team Warm-Up Period, players who appear on the field for exercise must be in complete game uniforms (pads optional). No players on the Inactive List, Exempt List, Reserve/Injured, or any other Reserve List category, or the Practice Squad may engage in such activities. If a player is not a member of the game day Active List for the game, he is not permitted to participate in the Official Team Warm-Up Period.

Uniform Policy — All players appearing on the field during the Official Team Warm-Up Period shall wear their complete game uniforms, with the exception that pads may be at the club’s option.

Team Warm-Ups — The entire playing field must be clear of interference at least 120 minutes prior to kickoff unless the field is tarped in accordance with League rules. If the field is tarped, then the tarp must be fully removed 90 minutes prior to kickoff, and the visiting team must be allowed access at that time.

The pregame schedule must provide an Official Team Warm-Up Period of at least 40 minutes, which must start at least 60 minutes prior to the scheduled kickoff. For instance, if the game is scheduled to kick off at 1:00 p.m., ET, the Official Team Warm-Up Period must commence no later than 12:00 p.m. The home club is permitted to schedule an earlier start for the Official Team Warm-Up Period at its discretion.

Individual players will still be permitted to warm up on the field prior to the beginning of the Official Team Warm-Up Period, including kickers and punters, who will adjust their individual warm up time based on the scheduled Official Team Warm-Up Period. Kickers and punters will have priority on the field prior to the scheduled start time for the Official Team Warm-Up Period while practicing kickoffs, field goal attempts, and punts. When either team enters the field to begin its Official Team Warm-Up Period, the kickers and punters of both squads must move toward their team's sideline in order to continue kicking and punting. During the Official Team Warm-Up Period, except for kickers and punters, teams are restricted to practicing inside the 45-yard line on their side of the field. Kickers and punters are permitted to kick from the other side of the 50-yard line but must kick toward the end zone of their team's warm-up area (see the pregame warm-up chart).

Clubs must notify the League office by July 1 each year of its Official Team Warm-Up area. Clubs will be permitted to change this designation one time per season, by notification to NFL Football Operations at least ten days in advance.

Atlanta Falcons	Houston Texans	Arizona Cardinals	Miami Dolphins
Baltimore Ravens	Kansas City Chiefs	Buffalo Bills	Minnesota Vikings
Carolina Panthers	Los Angeles Chargers	Cincinnati Bengals	New England Patriots
Chicago Bears	New York Jets	Cleveland Browns	New Orleans Saints
Dallas Cowboys	Tennessee Titans	Denver Broncos	New York Giants
Detroit Lions	Washington Commanders	Green Bay Packers	Philadelphia Eagles
		Indianapolis Colts	Pittsburgh Steelers
		Jacksonville Jaguars	San Francisco 49ers
		Las Vegas Raiders	Seattle Seahawks
		Los Angeles Rams	Tampa Bay Buccaneers

Leaving the Field – No visiting club is required to leave the field more than 20 minutes prior to the published kickoff time as listed in the official League schedule, except in the case of a League-wide obligation or event being conducted on the field during the pregame period.

Safety – In order to avoid injury during pregame and halftime, clubs are urged to coordinate warm-ups with the Game Presentation Directors, including strict observance of the game time schedules.

Kickers and Punters – In consideration of player safety, kickers and punters must warm up near their own sidelines during team introductions and halftime, not in the middle of the field, and they must not interfere with pregame or halftime entertainment. Kickers, punters, and long snappers warming up in-game must do so within areas inside or just outside their bench area. Kickers, punters, and long snappers are not permitted to go on the playing field during any stoppage in play (including but not limited to, team timeouts, television commercial breaks, and end of quarter breaks) to practice with a practice or game football. Any activity by a specialist that causes a delay in the game will be penalized accordingly. In addition, they must kick in the direction of the end zone designated for their warm-ups. Kickers, punters, and long snappers are permitted to warm up outside the bench area; however, clubs are required to have a security member available to ensure that field credentialed media and staff do not interfere.

PREGAME WARM-UP CHART

D. PLAYER INTRODUCTIONS

Except when prevented by inclement weather, players and the head coach of each team are to be introduced in a manner decided by the home club, provided that the visiting team is introduced no earlier than 11 minutes prior to kickoff. Visiting teams will be introduced as a squad. If the visiting team does not adhere to the pregame (e.g., introductions) or halftime timeline, the home club should continue with the applicable timeline as scheduled. In either case, the NFL Football Operations department should be notified immediately following the game.

E. NATIONAL ANTHEM

The National Anthem will be played prior to every NFL game. All team (including players) and League personnel on the field shall stand and show respect for the flag and the Anthem. Players or other team personnel may choose to remain in the locker room or in a similar location off the field until after the Anthem has been performed. Players who are on the field but do not stand and show respect for the flag and Anthem subject their clubs to League-imposed fines.

Clubs are also permitted to further develop their own work rules governing the conduct of their personnel (including players) during the playing of the National Anthem. Clubs are not permitted to implement a rule inconsistent with this policy's provision that a player may choose to remain in the locker room or similar location off the field until after the Anthem has been performed.*

*Pursuant to the July 19, 2018 agreement between the NFL Management Council and the NFL Players Association implementation of this policy has been suspended until further notice. While the standstill agreement remains in effect, no Player may be disciplined under this policy. Should either party elect to terminate the standstill agreement, Clubs will be given an opportunity to publish their Club's policy regarding conduct during the performance of the National Anthem.

F. TEAM CAPTAINS GUIDELINES

Any participant in the coin toss must be a member of the game day Active List, Inactive List, or Reserve List. Other general rules for team captains, as stated in Playing Rule 18, include:

- Designation — At 1 hour and 30 minutes prior to kickoff, the respective coaches will designate a maximum of six captains per team.
- Coin Toss
 - » Limit of six captains per team; only one captain from the visiting team can declare choice of coin toss.
 - » The team that won the coin toss may only have one captain declare its option.
 - » The team that lost the coin toss may then have only one captain declare its option.
 - » Teams are permitted to have an honorary captain present at the coin toss, with a limit of one honorary captain per team, per game, unless permission is given by the NFL Football Operations department in writing prior to game day. An honorary captain will count against the team's allotment of six captains (Active, Inactive, Reserve).
 - » The inclusion of honorary captains is limited to non-commercial causes and observance of special events. Prior League office approval of honorary captains in coin toss ceremonies is required.
- Patches — For Team Captain jersey patch rules, refer to the Captains' Patch Rules section of this Manual.

G. SCOUTING

Attending Practice — Unless permission has previously been received, club personnel or their representatives are prohibited from attending another club's training session, including but not limited to, practices, scrimmages, or joint practices. Club personnel may only attend games in which another club is participating as part of the League preseason, regular season, or postseason schedules.

Preseason Scouting Requests — Preseason scouting requests are at the discretion of the home club, provided that it complies with the requirement for issuing credentials to an upcoming opponent for one of the two games immediately preceding a regular season game against that opponent.

Regular Season Scouting Requests — The home club is required to honor a request from an upcoming opponent (or an upcoming opponent of the visiting club) at one of the two games immediately preceding the game against that opponent, as designated by the opponent.

As an example, if Team A and Team B are scheduled to play in the third week of the season, a request must be honored for one of Team A's first two games, as designated by Team B. If B receives a credential for A's first game, either at home or on the road, and also requests a credential for A's second game, the request for the second game must be denied, unless it qualifies as one of the two games for B's opponent in game four. A similar procedure is applicable for late-season games involving any clubs that have not been mathematically eliminated from the playoffs. If a club that may qualify for the playoffs requests a credential for the 17th or 18th week for games involving any of its potential Wild Card or Divisional playoff game opponents, the requests must be honored by the club that is the home club in these games.

It is suggested that, where possible, requests for more than one credential should be accommodated as long as it does not create a seating problem in a working area. Visiting scouts should be limited to press-level locations provided by the Communications Director and should have no access to the field or locker rooms. Requests should be granted only to those club personnel authorized to request and receive credentials (listed in the Media and Communications Policy Manual).

Postseason Scouting Requests — Clubs hosting a Wild Card Playoff game must honor a request for at least two scouting credentials from the club in its conference that received a bye. A club hosting a Wild Card playoff game is not required to grant any scouting credentials to any other teams but may do so if it chooses.

Clubs hosting a Divisional Playoff game must honor a request for at least two scouting credentials from each club participating in the other Divisional Playoff game of its conference. A club hosting a Divisional Playoff game is not required to grant any scouting credentials to a club from the other conference but may do so if it chooses.

For the two Conference Championship games, requests for two scouting credentials from each club participating in the Championship game of the other conference must be honored.

In each case, one of the two seats must be a standard working location (table top) within the press box.

H. FIELD ACCESS

Approved in-game field and bench access personnel is limited and governed by NFL Football Operations. The field access policy is intended to keep the sidelines clear of potential interferences, to maintain the efficiency of sideline operations, and to minimize safety hazards.

NFL Security or NFL Football Operations may question any credentialed field personnel, and if it is determined that they are not serving a legitimate working function where on-field access is necessary, they will be asked to leave the field. Clubs are prohibited from granting in-game field level access (including bench area access) to entertainers, athletes from other sports, player agents, politicians, other public figures, members of the NFLPA, and friends and relatives of current/former players, coaches, and club personnel. Clubs that invite former players to participate in pregame or in-game activities (e.g., halftime ceremonies, quarter break ceremonies, etc.) must ensure that they return to their ticketed seat/suite following the conclusion of their on-field activities.

Credential holders must comply with the Credential Use Policy and exit the field upon completion of their responsibilities. The NFL will closely monitor the activity of all on-field personnel during a game and have the authority to request information about the working function of any person. If it is determined that an individual is not serving an approved on-field working function, they will be asked to leave the field immediately, even if they are properly credentialed. Credentialed armbands may not be used by, lent to, or transferred to any individual or entity other than the person to which it is directly issued. Clubs that improperly issue credentials or otherwise permit unauthorized or non-approved personnel to access the field will be subject to League accountability measures. Inappropriate conduct by credentialed individuals may result in removal from the field or stadium and revocation of credentialed access. Additional personnel will not be given in-game field access without prior authorization from NFL Football Operations. Credential holders are also required to follow all policies and processes contained within the NFL Game Day Credential Manual, which is located on the Credential Modernization Resource Library.

Field Access — All personnel authorized by NFL Football Operations to have field access must be properly credentialed by the home club (or the League office, if applicable). Personnel with field access, but without a field access armband, must conduct their job to the extent possible, no later than kickoff.

- In-Game Field Access — An additional NFL-issued form of accreditation (Field Access Armband) is required and is the only permissible form of accreditation for granting in-game field access. Field access armbands are required for all approved field access personnel beginning at kickoff through the duration of the game. These armbands must be paired with an approved club- or NFL-issued photo credential with corresponding access, and both the armband and credential must be worn and visible at all times. Clubs are not permitted to establish an earlier time during the pregame period to require armbands.
- Emergency Field Access — Only in an emergency situation may an individual who does not have in-game field access be granted admittance to the field to address an unforeseen situation that could impact the safety or competition of the game. When emergency field access is required, the stadium command center must be notified to authorize access to the playing field. Any individual who is granted emergency field access must leave the field immediately upon completion of their responsibilities.

- Pregame Field Access — Clubs may issue credentials with pregame field access to working staff responsible for bench area setups, network connections, and other operational elements. These individuals must have a function directly related to setting up an operational element of game day, be properly credentialed, and may access the field during the pregame period until kickoff but will not receive a field access armband.

Clubs may also invite guests to the field during the pregame period for commercial purposes or fan experiences, provided they are in an area that does not interfere with pregame sideline setups and/or operations. All pregame guests must be escorted by club representatives at all times and must leave the field at the conclusion of pregame warmups.

- Game Day Field Access Personnel — The following are personnel limitations for in-game field access credentials and field access armbands:
 - » NFL Films — Maximum of 12 people. For games that include a club involved in Hard Knocks (home or visitor), the NFL Films allotment will increase to 22 people.
 - » Broadcast Network — Maximum of 69 people, managed by NFL Broadcasting
 - Preseason broadcast personnel should not exceed 40 people, of which 15 must be offered to the visiting club. Any club requests beyond this allotment must be submitted to NFL Broadcasting for approval.
 - » Club In-House Media and Radio — Maximum of 26 people, of which 11 must be offered to the visiting club. (If either club chooses to not use their full allotment, the remaining positions can be reallocated to the opposing club but cannot be reassigned to another Game Day Personnel group.)
 - » Club Local Media and TV Affiliates — Maximum of 30 people, of which 12 must be offered to the visiting club. (If either club chooses to not use their full allotment, the remaining positions can be reallocated to the opposing club but cannot be reassigned to another Game Day Personnel group.)
 - » Stadium Operations — Maximum of 20 people (must include one Referee Mic Operator). The remaining 19 field access personnel may be allocated at the club's/stadium's discretion but may not be shared with other Game Day Personnel Groups.
 - » Security — With the exception of the Field Incursion Team (FIT), the number of security and law enforcement personnel on the field will be left to the discretion of the home stadium. Each stadium must assign a minimum of eight (8) FIT members, whose primary responsibility is to respond to and manage any field incursion attempt(s) on game day. Security or law enforcement personnel who are positioned in field tunnels should not receive a field access armband. Field security must be in place once fans are permitted in the stadium and players are on the field. Stadiums must submit their field security staffing plan (including dot maps and number and placement of FIT members) to NFL Security prior to their first preseason game. This allotment does not include on-field security requests from the broadcast network.
 - » Field Crew — Maximum of 7 people and should include end zone net pullers.
 - » Game Presentation — Maximum of 55 people. Clubs must submit their proposed allotments for League approval. Any proposed changes to a club's list during the season must be submitted to, and approved by, the NFL.
 - Pregame, halftime or similar game break entertainment do not need to be included in the maximum of 55 but must be escorted onto the field during the applicable time(s) by personnel with in-game field access. League-approved field level seating locations (e.g., drum line, band, etc.) also do not need to be included in this allotment.
 - » Game Day Assistants (Home Club Provided) — Clubs are limited to 18 Game Day Assistants with field access. The League requires all of the following positions:

- 8 Clubhouse Attendants, of which four (4) must be allocated to support the visiting club
- 4 EMTs/Paramedics
- 4 Oxygen Attendants
- 1 Airway Management Physician (AMP)*
- 1 Emergency Response Physician (ERP)*

These positions will be provided an NFL-issued photo credential and may access the bench area for medical evaluations.*

» Game Day Assistants (League Provided) – The League requires the following 22 Game Day Assistant Positions to have field access:

- 2 C2P Technicians (Orange Hat)
- 1 Football Technology Representative (Gray Hat)
- 2 Event Frequency Coordinators (Orange EFC Hat)
- 3 Instant Replay Field Operators (Maroon Hat)
- 1 Network Technician (Royal Blue Hat)
- 3 NFL Security Representatives
- 1 Sideline Television Coordinator (Green Hat)
- 1 Instant Replay Field Communicator (Teal Hat)
- 2 Still Photo Technicians – SVS Technicians (Purple Hat)
- 2 Uniform Inspectors
- 2 Injury Video Review Operators (Blue Hat)
- 2 Unaffiliated Neurotrauma Consultants (UNCs)*

May access the bench area for medical evaluations*

» NFL Football Operations Support Staff – NFL Football Operations Support Staff will be limited to 12 people with field access. Personnel within this group will be managed by NFL Football Operations and includes NFL Broadcasting, Football Operations, IT/Football Technology, Player Health and Safety, and Security.

» GDA Support/Training – This group will be limited to six (6) people with field access. Personnel within this group will be managed by NFL Football Operations and is intended to support technology advancements, pilot programs, new GDA hires, etc.

» League Media and Content – League Media and Content will be limited to 16 people with field access. All non-network media must remain outside the 25-yard lines and may not capture content from behind the bench area. If any of the below Game Day Personnel groups are not utilized or used in their entirety, clubs are not permitted to use their allotments. These individuals must include:

- 5 NFL AP Photographers
- 3 League Content Correspondents (LCCs)
- 2 League Media Photographers
- 3 National Radio Sideline Reporters (when applicable)
- 3 National Spanish Language TV (when applicable)

Bench Access – Home clubs must issue bench area credentials for each individual with a game day responsibility within the bench area for both the home and visiting teams. Bench credentials must clearly be labeled with “Bench” and/or an easily identifiable indicator. Field access armbands will not be required for players and club-designated bench area personnel.

- Club-Designated Bench Access Personnel — The home club must provide bench area access credentials to the following personnel for each club:
 - » Maximum of 70 club-designated personnel with game day working functions
 - o Coaches that operate in the coaches booth during the game do not need to be included in the bench count
 - o Players not in uniform must be issued bench area credentials, but do not need to be included in the bench count
 - » In addition to the 70 club-designated personnel, the visiting club must allocate two (2) additional personnel with bench area access for the following positions:
 - o One (1) member of the Ball Crew*
 - o One (1) Coaches Communication (C2C) Tech (Yellow Hat)

Visiting clubs may assign an additional ball crew member, provided that ball crew member is included in the 70 club-designated bench access personnel.*
- Additional Personnel with Bench Area Access (Home Club Provided) — The following personnel must be issued a bench area access credential and a field access armband, but do not need to be included in the home club's bench count:
 - » 5 members of the Ball Crew
 - » 5 members of the Chain Crew
 - » 2 Coaches Communication Technicians (Yellow Hat) – 1 per team bench area

Bench Area Zone Restrictions — Club personnel in the bench area must observe the zone restrictions described below. Overcrowding in the bench and surrounding areas can be a safety hazard. Authorized personnel with in-game field access must stay within the appropriate zones (see Appendix G). Clubs that improperly issue credentials or otherwise permit unauthorized or non-approved personnel to access the bench area will be subject to League accountability measures.

- First Border — The only persons permitted in this solid white 6-foot (minimum) area on a continuous basis during the game are the Game Officials and the chain crew — no coaches or players.
- Second Border — This area is defined by a solid yellow line 6 feet further from the first border (solid white 6-foot border). The only persons allowed within this second border within the bench area on a continuous basis during the game are the head coach, assistant coaches involved in calling signals, assistant coaches in charge of substitutions, and small groups of situation substitution players ready to be sent into the game immediately. No other players are allowed in the second border. Each coaching staff should designate a “get-back” coach to ensure that the rules governing the borders are observed by all players and coaches during the game. The Game Officials will issue warnings during the game regarding first and second border violations and work with the team’s “get-back” coach to prevent problems and will call unsportsmanlike conduct penalties after issuing warnings or in cases of flagrant violations. Clubs and/or individuals who are within the white border and make contact with a Game Official will be subject to League discipline.
- Bench Area — This is defined by the trapezoidal area between the 25-yard lines and is surrounded by the broken yellow border.
 - » Players and Bench Personnel — Except for those persons allowed in the first and second borders, all other persons with bench credentials and all players not in the game at the time shall remain in the bench area behind the second border. Occasionally, persons with game-services credentials (e.g., oxygen attendant, EMT, etc.) may be in a bench area for a brief period without bench credentials. Clubs are prohibited from allowing into their bench area individuals who are not officially affiliated with the club or otherwise serving a necessary game day function.

- » Reserve/Injured, Inactive List, Practice Squad, and Exempt List Players — Players on Reserve/Injured, the Inactive List, the Practice Squad, and the Exempt List may be in the bench area during the game, provided they dress in clothing issued by the club and display appropriate bench area credentials, and provided that players on crutches, wearing casts, or otherwise limited in mobility are not on the sidelines near game action, both for their own protection and that of the game's participants.
- Media and Other Personnel — All persons authorized to be on the field other than in the bench area shall be limited to photographers, TV field reporters, camera operators, authorized social media personnel, stadium employees, utility maintenance personnel, and police. These individuals must have appropriate credentials and must remain behind the broken yellow border.
 - » Camera persons from the televising network and NFL Films are permitted beyond the broken yellow border and up to the broken white border on either side of the bench areas. The televising network and NFL Films are permitted to film from behind the bench areas but must remain outside of the broken yellow bench border. Clubs that seat entertainment personnel on the field immediately prior to a performance must keep them well behind this broken yellow border. Strict observance of the end line restrictions is equally important, as Game Officials must position themselves to judge field goal and try-kick attempts.
 - » The corners of the bench areas are marked with priority diamonds that are designated for use by NFL Films and network cameras. Other media or team personnel must make these priority diamonds available for NFL Films and network cameras when present.
 - » The home club has the authority to regulate the method and manner by which filming and video for coaches' shows or other club programming occurs in its stadium, including regulation of the visiting club. This includes the right to determine the number of cameras that may be used, the number of personnel, and camera locations. The visiting club can be required to film from behind the home team's quarterback and from the home sideline but must be granted access for the use of at least two cameras.
 - » The Green Hat and Orange Sleeves are responsible for coordinating television commercial breaks with the Referee. The Green Hat and Orange Sleeves must be visible to the Referee at all times and will regularly operate in front of the broken yellow and broken white field borders. They may step onto the 6-foot white border or playing field when requesting a commercial break and subsequently meeting with members of the officiating crew during commercial breaks.

I. SIDELINE COMMUNICATIONS

Each home club must have direct telephone lines between the benches and press box to relay injury, penalty, and other pertinent information. Each head coach should designate a staff member to provide necessary injury information to the on-field media coordinator. These sideline contacts also shall promptly transmit all penalty information to the press box.

J. CLEARING THE FIELD

The playing field should be cleared as quickly as possible after games. The League encourages displays of good sportsmanship between teams. Players will not be prevented from shaking hands or meeting briefly on the field after the game.

K. CHAIN CREW

The home club must appoint a five-person chain crew, subject to approval by the League office. Personnel appointed to the chain crew should have strong football acumen and be capable of performing the physical requirements of their respective position. The chain crew will consist of the following members:

- Official Down Indicator Operator (scarlet vest) — holds the official down marker and moves at the direction of the Down Judge; indicates the proper down and marks the location of the line of scrimmage; places a clip at the appropriate line as a reference if the chain needs to be removed.

- Auxiliary Down Indicator Operator (black and gold vest) – holds the down marker on the opposite side from the official chains and moves at the direction of the Line Judge, delaying until the ball is placed at the next spot of the snap.
- Auxiliary Line-To-Gain Operator (black and gold vest) – on the opposite side from the official chains, holds the upright marker that will indicate the line-to-gain; stands opposite from the Front Chain Operator.
- Front Chain Operator (black and gold vest) – holds the upright marker attached to the chains that indicates the line-to-gain when a new series is awarded.
- Back Chain Operator (black and gold vest) – holds the upright marker attached to the chains that is placed where the ball is spotted when a new series is awarded.

Each member of the chain crew must wear solid white shirts (long or short sleeves) and Officials' black pants.

L. BALL CREW

The home club will provide five ball crew members for the game. The visiting club must provide at least one ball crew member but cannot exceed two. One ball crew member from each club will be responsible for their K-Balls and should be positioned on their club's sideline for the entirety of the game, remaining approximately 5 yards behind the line of scrimmage. They must follow the Down Judge/Line Judge approximately 5 yards in the offensive backfield in case a kicking situation comes into play requiring a K-Ball. Ball crew members may not enter the field of play or white border (sideline) to retrieve a live kick or punt until the play is blown dead. Ball crew members may be in the bench area of either team depending on the location of the line of scrimmage. The ball crew members may not linger in the opposing team's bench area when the line of scrimmage does not fall within the bench area while that ball crew member's team is on offense. When a ball crew member's team is on defense, he/she may not enter the opposing team's bench area.

Ball crews may utilize League-approved ball bags. The ball bags may not have any visible branding or heating/cooling functionality and must be approved by NFL Football Operations prior to use.

Prior to the start of the regular season, each club will be required to provide the NFL Football Operations department with the names of their ball crew members for home and away games. In the event that additional ball crew members are added during the season, the club must immediately notify the NFL Football Operations department.

M. ELECTRONIC DEVICES

Unless specifically permitted by League rules, the possession of any electronic communication devices or video recording/viewing devices, including but not limited to a cell phone, smart watch or similar wearable device, Bluetooth device, tablet device, or any type of computer, whether online or stand-alone, in the coaches booths, on the sidelines, in the locker rooms, or in any other club-controlled area during a game is prohibited. This also includes any use of Machine Learning (ML) and Artificial Intelligence (AI) software or hardware tools, or other similar non-League approved technology. Such devices are prohibited in the coaches booths, in the bench areas, in the locker rooms, or in any other club-controlled area beginning at kickoff and continuing through the end of the game, including halftime. This policy applies to all individuals with access to club-controlled areas, including but not limited to clubhouse attendants, ball crew members, and chain crew members.

Doctors and members of the athletic training staff are permitted to use cell phones outside of the bench area, locker rooms, and other club-controlled areas to communicate player injury information but may not communicate competitive or strategic information.

Club football operations staff members are permitted to use cell phones outside the coaches booths, bench areas, and locker rooms only when handling non-competitive and/or non-strategic communication. At no time are football operations staff, doctors and members of the athletic training staff permitted to possess or use wearable and/or Bluetooth devices (e.g., smart watch, wireless headphones, etc.).

Individuals that require the use of an electronic device to support an existing medical condition may request permission to use that device on game day. The request must be submitted by a club physician to the League office for approval prior to any game day use and must be renewed on an annual basis.

Independent medical personnel are permitted to use NFL-issued or personal devices to review Injury Video content in the locker room or other areas where players are treated, in conjunction with a medical examination. Football personnel are not permitted to view the Injury Video content.

N. USE OF SOCIAL MEDIA

The use of social media or networking sites (including Twitter/X, Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat, TikTok and similar platforms) by coaches, players, and staff is prohibited on game day (including halftime) beginning 90 minutes before kickoff until after the postgame locker room is open to the media.

No updates are permitted during this prohibited time on a player or coach's personal Twitter/X, Facebook, or any other social media account. This includes social media posts made by anyone representing a player, coach, or staff member.

O. FIELD LEVEL MISCONDUCT

Non-Player Personnel and Non-Participant Player Conduct — Non-player personnel of a club (e.g., management personnel, coaches, trainers, equipment staff, security personnel) and non-participant players (e.g., inactive players, practice squad players) are prohibited from making unnecessary physical contact with, or taunting or directing abusive, threatening, or insulting language or gestures at opponents, Game Officials, or representatives of the League. Clubs are responsible for the conduct of their players and other club personnel throughout the game day period. Clubs whose players and/or personnel violate this policy will be subject to accountability measures.

Profanity — Use of unbecoming language by coaches, players, and club personnel during a game will be viewed most seriously. Coaches, players, and club personnel should keep in mind that every NFL game is broadcast on radio and television, and that there are open microphones near the playing field as well as close-up camera shots that permit easy lip-reading by viewers. The League and its participants are severely criticized whenever obscene and other profane language is broadcasted on air. The same restrictions apply to coaches and other personnel in the working press box and spotting areas.

Football into Stands — If a player or club personnel unnecessarily delivers a football into the stands (by throwing, kicking, etc.) there is a potential for crowd-control or safety issues due to the fans' eagerness to claim the souvenir. However, if the ball is handed to a fan, or lightly tossed to someone in the stands near the perimeter of the field, and no crowd-control or safety issues exist, the involved player or personnel may not be subject to a fine.

All instances of a football being delivered into the stands by a player or club personnel — pregame, in game, or postgame — will be reviewed by the League office.

Clubs must ensure that stadium security is prepared to retrieve kicking balls that enter the stands as a result of play and should return the ball to a member of the ball crew.

Field Distractions — Non-player personnel in the proximity of the field may not conduct themselves in a distracting manner, e.g., a mascot or other similar stadium entertainer jumping up and down behind the goal post during a field goal attempt or a try kick attempt, taunting of the opposing team, etc.

Disqualified Player/Club Personnel — If a coach, player, or club personnel is disqualified from a game, he or she must immediately leave the playing field and return to the locker room. The individual should be escorted off the field by club security and may not return to the field or appear in his team uniform for the remainder of the game.

Unnecessary Acts to Delay the Game — Unnecessary acts that delay the game negatively impact the integrity of and/or confidence in the NFL and our competition. Any act by a club (players or staff) to stop play unnecessarily, including but not limited to faking an injury, signaling a player to go down, and/or influencing the Referee to call a timeout, is considered an “unfair act.”

P. HALFTIME

Length — Halftime intermission for all games will be 13 minutes unless a longer period is approved in advance by the Commissioner. Such period will include any warm-up period used by the clubs before the third quarter. Clubs are urged to coordinate halftime length with their Game Presentation directors and coaching staffs (and with visiting clubs) to avoid injury during the overlap between halftime shows/ceremonies and team warm-ups. With two minutes of halftime intermission remaining, all personnel taking part in halftime activities and all equipment used for halftime must be completely cleared from the field. Any on-field ceremonies that interfere with general game timing and/or team operational movements will subject a club to accountability measures.

Warm-Up Period — Clubs that utilize part of the halftime period to warm up should use their same area as during the pregame period. Kickers and punters must warm up near their own sidelines during halftime, not in the middle of the field. Warm-ups must not interfere with halftime entertainment. In addition, they must kick in the direction of the end zone designated for their warm-ups.

Notification — Game Officials shall notify each head coach when two minutes remain before the team is to take the field and again when it is time for the team to take the field.

Penalty for Delaying Kickoff — If a team is not on the field in ample time prior to the scheduled second half kickoff, it will be penalized 15 yards for delay of game and lose its coin toss option. Additionally, a delay may subject the club to accountability measures.

Coin Toss Option — Immediately upon re-entering the field for the start of the second half, the captains of both teams must inform the Game Officials of their respective kickoff choices.

Q. OVERTIME PROCEDURES

If the score is tied at the end of the regulation playing time of any regular season or postseason NFL game, a system of modified sudden-death overtime shall be in effect.

At the end of regulation playing time, the Referee shall immediately toss a coin at the center of the field, in accordance with rules pertaining to a usual pregame toss. The visiting team captain is to again call the toss. Following an intermission of no more than 3 minutes after the end of regulation, the extra period shall commence.

If the score is tied at the end of a 10-minute overtime period in the regular season, the game shall result in a tie.

If the score is tied at the end of a 15-minute overtime period during the postseason, or if the second team's initial possession has not ended, another overtime period will begin, and play will continue, regardless of how many 15-minute periods are necessary. Between each overtime period, there shall be a two-minute intermission, but there shall be no halftime intermission after the second period.

R. OFFICIATING CONFERENCE OR REVIEW

No player, coach, or other club personnel is permitted to interfere in any way with an on-field officiating crew conference or other administrative process (e.g., first down measurement). Additionally, when the Referee is conducting an official review on the field, players and club personnel are not permitted to stand behind the Referee to view the video feed on the Instant Replay tablet. Under no circumstances may coaches, players, or club personnel approach Game Officials with the NFL-issued tablets to show still images on the device.

S. OFFICIATING CRITICISM AND OTHER RELATED OFFENSES

Sportsmanship and respect are at the core of our game. Showing genuine respect to teammates, opposing players, coaches, fans, and others involved in the game are important values and support our commitment to game integrity. This commitment to respect is particularly important in the context of our Game Officials. Public criticism of our Game Officials has long been unacceptable in any forum. Such public criticism is prohibited because it calls into question the integrity of, and public confidence in, our game. Public criticism of officiating or Game Officials by players or club employees is prohibited.

Criticism may include, but is not limited to, comments that are negative in nature (e.g., "It was a terrible call," "NFL Game Officials are horrible," etc.); assign blame or make accusations (e.g., "We lost the game because of officiating," "The Game Officials' calls are inconsistent," etc.); and/or are derogatory or demeaning in language, tone, or gestures. Public airing of such matters, whether directly or indirectly; during or after a game; verbally or by use of film, videotape, print, social media, etc.; on or off the record, is prohibited by the NFL Constitution and Bylaws. This also includes abusive language and profanity aimed at Game Officials during games. A direct, personal attack on a specific Game Official(s) or statements that serve to impugn the integrity of a Game Official or officiating as a whole will result in more significant accountability measures.

Criticism of Game Officials or complaints about opponents' tactics outside the rules must be made only to the League office in a written report following each game. The League office encourages NFL Officiating to respond candidly to questions regarding officiating raised by head coaches and other club employees following review of each game. After reviewing the plays in question, NFL Officiating is obligated to give its factual opinion of each call (or non-call) to the appropriate club executive. All such conversations are confidential and are not to be discussed publicly and League discipline may be imposed on club personnel for breaching that confidentiality. Clubs are prohibited from contacting (via telephone, email, text message, etc.) NFL Officiating or other League office personnel about officiating matters from a game until 9:00 a.m. ET the following day.

Additionally, players, coaches, and other club/stadium personnel must maintain proper respect for Game Officials at all times. Offenses against Game Officials include: (1) attempted or actual physical contact with Game Officials, including, but not limited to, punching, shoving, grabbing, or other intimidating or interfering contact; and (2) verbal or other non-physical abuse of Game Officials. This policy applies at all game day locations, including but not limited to, on the playing field, in the bench area, in tunnels, parking lots, and in other stadium passageways, before, during, and after a game. Club personnel are also prohibited from approaching League or Instant Replay personnel within the press box or other areas to criticize or question an on-field or replay decision. In addition to League discipline, such offenses may result in a 15-yard penalty or disqualification.

T. PLAYER PERSONNEL CHANGES

Except for the designation of its Inactive List and Third Quarterback, clubs are reminded that no changes in player personnel will be allowed at the game site during the pregame period.

During the regular season and postseason, a club's Active/Inactive List shall not exceed 53 players unless the club has chosen to elevate either one or two players from its Practice Squad to its Active/Inactive List. In such instances, a club's Active/Inactive List shall not exceed 54 or 55 players, as may be applicable, during the period beginning with the player's elevation to the club's Active/Inactive List, and ending with the player's automatic revision to the club's Practice Squad on the first business day following the club's game.

Any elevation of a player from a club's Practice Squad to its Active/Inactive List must occur no earlier in the week than the final day for such player personnel transactions prior to the game for which the player is being elevated, but not later than the applicable player personnel transaction deadline for that day, as set forth below. Any player who is elevated to a club's Active/Inactive List in this manner must be listed on the club's game day Active List or Inactive List, as applicable.

All additions to or deletions from the 53-player Active/Inactive List must be completed prior to 4:00 p.m., New York time, on the last day preceding a game and must appear on that day's Personnel Notice (4:00 p.m., New York time, on Saturday for Sunday games; 4:00 p.m., New York time, on Monday for Monday night games; 4:00 p.m., New York time, on Wednesday for Thanksgiving Day afternoon games; 4:00 p.m., New York time, on Thursday for Thursday night games; 4:00 p.m., New York time, on Friday for Friday night games and Saturday afternoon games; 4:00 p.m., New York time, on Saturday for Saturday night games; and during the postseason, 4:00 p.m. Friday for Saturday afternoon games; 4:00 p.m. Saturday for Saturday night games; and 4:00 p.m. Saturday for all Sunday games. Night games are defined as games that are scheduled to start at 7:00 p.m. or later, New York time).

Following the applicable deadline for additions or deletions to its Active/Inactive List, each club will have an Active List limit of 47 players, which must be established no later than 1 hour and 30 minutes prior to kickoff. However, a club's Active List may be increased to 48 players if it includes at least eight players whose primary playing position is on the offensive line (Center, Guard, or Tackle). Clubs may carry fewer than 48 players on their Active List during the regular season or postseason, but no fewer than 44 players. In addition, a club may dress a Third Quarterback for the game, provided that it has two (and only two) bona fide quarterbacks on its Active List.

U. SECURITY

A complete and thorough inspection of the facility is to be conducted using explosive detection canines, which will include team and officials' locker rooms. Club representatives may be present during the inspection of their respective locker rooms. All fans, vendors, event day staff, media, NFL personnel, officiating crews, club staff, coaches, players, and all others must undergo a security screening of their person and belongings for the presence of weapons. The home club needs to accommodate the visiting club in an equitable fashion pursuant to the standards set forth by the NFL Security department.

All bags, containers, and packages brought into the stadium must be thoroughly inspected for the presence of weapons or other prohibited items, including those of players, coaches, team personnel, Game Officials, media, cheerleaders, stadium employees, and League personnel. Upon completion, the items shall receive a color-coded tag to indicate that they have been properly inspected. Only the current week's color-coded tag shall be displayed on the item searched. All tags from previous weeks must be removed.

All visiting team buses and all visiting team player, staff, and traveling party carry-on bags and luggage must be screened for explosives prior to arrival to the stadium. The bag and luggage inspection should occur in close proximity to the team buses.

Club security shall ensure that only authorized persons are permitted to board team buses prior to departing.

The equipment manager and his staff should supervise the loading of the equipment truck, which is to be locked or secured with a tamper proof seal. The identity of the truck and any bus driver should be confirmed.

Game day credentials are to be issued to club staff and worn at all times upon arrival to the stadium. Players, officials, and cheerleaders in uniform are the only exception. A security guard or person representing the home club and visiting club should be posted at their respective locker room doors to visually identify club staff and players entering the locker room.

The home club must strive to ensure that both inside and outside of the stadium, before, during and after games, adequate security measures are implemented to avoid physical or verbal threats or hostilities between fans and club personnel (players, coaches, and other club employees), or between fans and Game Officials.

The home club must, with appropriate security staff, do the following:

- Provide appropriate security for team buses during arrival, the game period, and departure, and for teams while going to and from buses and while riding in them on stadium property. In addition, the holding areas for visiting team's buses plus the home team's parking lot must be adequately secured. Similar security must be provided for Game Officials and their vehicles.
- Provide protected access for club personnel and Game Officials going to and from the playing field. Security staff assigned to the field and exposed passageways that club personnel and Game Officials use on game day must be in place from the time spectator gates are opened until the crowd leaves the stadium, and must be appropriately concentrated in those areas, including uniformed security presence in the adjacent stands, at times of traffic involving club personnel and Game Officials. During these times, fans should not be allowed to congregate in the stands near such passageways unless they hold tickets for that section.
- Ensure that no fan enters the playing field at any time on game day unless such entry is properly credentialed or authorized (e.g., during pregame or halftime as part of a club-approved promotion in which the fan is escorted by club personnel). If any unauthorized fan does enter the playing field, security staff must remove that person immediately. At least once a game, the club should advise fans through the public address system of the prohibition against entering the field and the potential for prosecution. Players will be advised of this policy and will be instructed not to get involved in stopping or removing fans from the playing field. Players also will be instructed not to enter the stands or otherwise confront fans at any time on game day in response to abuse.
- Provide appropriate security around bench areas.
- Provide security for coaches of the visiting team who are stationed at a level above the playing field.
- Provide appropriate security at locker rooms of club personnel and Game Officials.
- Take appropriate measures, including removal from the stadium, if any fan engages in physical or extreme verbal abuse of club personnel, players, or Game Officials (e.g., racial taunts, profane signs or banners, and the throwing of dangerous objects).
- Provide support, when requested, to any game day investigation conducted by the NFL Security Representatives.

Physical or verbal hostilities involving only club personnel and Game Officials that occur on the field during the game are not the responsibility of stadium or club security unless their assistance is requested by a Game Official. Ordinarily, such on-field matters will be handled by the Game Officials and/or result in discipline.

V. AIR QUALITY INDEX

Air quality is an important aspect of a safe game day environment. The most significant health risk occurs when levels of particulate matter (PM) rise to a level that can irritate the airways and cause breathing problems, especially during exercise.

The most widely accepted scientific measure for air quality is the Air Quality Index (AQI). Medical experts have generally agreed that an AQI that consistently measures over 200 in the immediate vicinity of the stadium signifies very unhealthy conditions in which vigorous exercise is not recommended. In instances of wildfires or other natural/industrial disasters, specific measurement of PM2.5 with subsequent conversion to AQI may prove useful and most accurately reflect health risk.

The NFL Football Operations department will initiate contingency planning when smoke from an extensive fire or other pollutants present a significant health risk to an area in, or in close proximity of an NFL stadium hosting a game. In addition to official EPA and other federal and state agency sources, the NFL Football Operations department may consult with their contracted weather service and agencies within the affected area and will obtain AQI measurements. NFL Football Operations will also consult with the NFL Chief Medical Officer and other medical experts as may be deemed necessary in order to gain medical input on the air conditions and potential medical implications.

NFL Football Operations will work closely with the home club and local authorities and will be prepared to relocate a game if there is definitive evidence that the AQI will remain consistently above 200 for a significant period of time, including on the day of the game. It is recommended that clubs use AQI monitoring devices in their stadiums.

W. NEUTRAL SITE GAME LOCATIONS

For any games played at a neutral site location, other than League-sponsored games, the designated club has the responsibility to ensure and provide that all game operations requirements are met. If a club elects to host a game at an alternate site location, all associated costs will be the responsibility of the home club.

The League office will have the responsibility of coordinating and assigning Game Officials and all other League-employed Game Day Assistants.

The designated club must work closely with the NFL Football Operations department to ensure that all required services, supplies, facilities, etc. are provided and available for such games.

EMERGENCIES AND UNFAIR ACTS

EMERGENCIES

A. POLICY

The National Football League requires all League personnel, including Game Officials, Commissioner's Office employees, players, coaches, and other club employees to use best efforts to see that each game—preseason, regular season, and postseason—is played as scheduled to its conclusion. The League recognizes, however, that emergencies may arise that make a game's completion impossible or inadvisable. Such circumstances may include, but are not limited to, severely inclement weather, natural or man-made disaster, power failure, and spectator interference.

Games should be suspended, cancelled, postponed, or terminated (see definitions below) when circumstances exist such that commencement or continuation of play would pose a threat to the safety of participants or spectators, or would unduly affect the ability of a community to deal with the effects of a local catastrophe, or similarly disruptive event.

In determining whether a game should be rescheduled or relocated, public safety, community relations, and competitive integrity should be key determining factors. Resources should not be diverted from a community that may need them for recovery and relief efforts.

B. AUTHORITY OF THE COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE

The authority to cancel, postpone, or terminate games is vested solely in the Commissioner. Any decision to suspend or terminate a game may not be made by the players, coaches, medical or other personnel, executives, or owners of the participating teams. If a game is suspended, postponed or terminated without following the appropriate procedures, the clubs and individual(s) involved will be subject to accountability measures, including fines, suspensions and/or draft choice forfeiture.

- The following definitions apply:
 - » Cancel. To cancel a game is to nullify it either before or after it begins and to make no provision for rescheduling it or for including its score or other performance statistics in League records.
 - » Postpone. To postpone a game is to (a) defer its starting time to a later time or date, or (b) suspend it after play has begun and make provision to resume it at a later date/time with all scores and other performance statistics up to the point of postponement added to those achieved in the resumed portion of the game.
 - » Relocate. To relocate a game is to play a game at a different location than where it was originally scheduled to be played.
 - » Terminate. To terminate a game is to end it short of a full 60 minutes of play, officially record it as a completed game, and make no provision to resume it at a later date. The Commissioner may terminate a game in an emergency if, in his opinion, it is reasonable to project that its resumption (a) would not change its ultimate result or (b) would not adversely affect any other inter-team competitive issue.
 - » Forfeit. The Commissioner (except in cases of disciplinary action; see section on Removing Team from Field), and his representatives, including Referees, are not authorized to unilaterally declare forfeits. A forfeit occurs only when a game is not played because of the failure or refusal of one team to participate. In that event, the other team, if ready and willing to play, is the winner by a score of 2-0.
- If an emergency arises that may require cancellation, postponement, or termination (see above), the highest-ranking representative from the Commissioner's Office working the game in a "control" capacity will consult with the Commissioner, or the designated NFL Football Operations Executive (by telephone, if that person is not in attendance) concerning such decision. If circumstances warrant, the Commissioner's-office representative should also attempt to consult with the weather bureau or appropriate security personnel of the League, club, stadium, and local authorities. If no representative from the Commissioner's Office is working the game in a "control" capacity, the Referee will be in charge (see Authority of Referee).

- In circumstances where safety is of immediate concern, the Commissioner's-office representative may, after consulting with the Referee, authorize a temporary suspension in play and, if warranted, removal of the participants from the playing field. The representative should be mindful of the safety of spectators, players, Game Officials, non-player personnel in the bench areas, and other field-level personnel such as photographers and cheerleaders.
- If possible, the Commissioner's-office representative should consult with authorized representatives of the two participating clubs before any decision involving cancellation, postponement, or termination is made by the Commissioner.
- If the Commissioner decides to cancel, postpone, or terminate a game, his representative at the game or the designated NFL Football Operations Executive will then determine the method(s) for announcing such decision – for example, public address announcement over Referee's wireless microphone; public address announcement by home club; communication to radio, television, and other news media.
- Unless determined otherwise by the Commissioner, in the event of an incident that causes an NFL game to be cancelled or postponed, all other games that week will be played as scheduled.
- If there is an incident at a non-NFL domestic facility or one that affects the community in which a game is scheduled to be played, all efforts will be made to play the game as scheduled, unless the Commissioner, after consulting with the affected club's community leaders, law enforcement, and stadium operators, as well as other relevant parties, determines that a game cannot be played. In such event, the game will be played at its scheduled location as close as possible to the originally scheduled time. If that is not possible, the game will either be (a) played at a later date at the original location, or (b) moved to another location in the affected club's home territory or as close to the affected club's home territory as possible.
- The Commissioner has sole authority to determine when and where a game will be played, and will consider several factors including: (a) issues of competitive integrity (scheduling considerations, including the swap of divisional games, alternate site advantages and disadvantages, NFL-quality venue); (b) community and fan relations for affected clubs and local governments; (c) broadcast and network issues; (d) economic projections for alternate sites from ticket sales, concessions, sponsorships, etc.; (e) insurance coverage for game cancellation, responsibility for deductibles, potential litigation; and (f) expenses and revenues to be shared and/or allocated between the affected clubs (travel, lodging, ticket sales, sponsorships, etc.).
- In the event of an incident that creates a national emergency, as defined by federal authorities, the League will consider postponement of all games that week.

C. AUTHORITY OF THE REFEREE

- If the Referee determines that an emergency warrants immediate removal of participants from the playing field for safety reasons, the Referee may do so on his own authority. If, however, circumstances allow the Referee the time, the Referee must reach the highest-ranking Commissioner's Office representative working at the game in a "control" capacity or the designated NFL Football Operations Executive (by telephone, if that person is not in attendance) and discuss the actual or potential emergency with such representative. That representative will then make the final decision on removal of participants from the field or obtain a decision from the Commissioner.
- If a Referee removes participants from the playing field due to an emergency, the Referee may order them to their respective bench areas or locker rooms, whichever is appropriate in the circumstances.

- After appropriate consultation, the Referee must advise the two participating head coaches of the nature of the emergency and the action contemplated (if the decision has not yet been reached) or of the final decision.
- The Referee must not, before a decision is reached, make an announcement on the microphone concerning the possibility of a cancellation, postponement, or termination unless instructed to do so by an appropriate representative of the Commissioner's Office.
- The Referee must not discuss a forfeit with head coaches or club personnel and must not use that term over the Referee's microphone (see definition of Forfeit under "Authority of Commissioner's Office" above).
- The Referee must not assess an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty on the home team for actions of fans that cause or contribute to an emergency.
- The Referee should be mindful of the safety of players, Game Officials, spectators, and other non-participants.
- If an emergency involves spectator interference (e.g., non-participants on the field or thrown objects), the Referee should immediately request from the appropriate club or Commissioner's Office representative additional security assistance, including, if applicable, involvement of the League's Security Representative(s) assigned to the game.
- The Referee may order the resumption of play when the Referee deems conditions safe for all concerned and, if circumstances warrant, after consultation with appropriate representatives of the Commissioner's Office. This may include starting or resuming a game with limited or unmanned network cameras only, after consultation with the NFL Football Operations department.
- Under no circumstances is the Referee authorized to unilaterally cancel, postpone, terminate, or declare forfeiture of a game.

D. PROCEDURES FOR STARTING AND RESUMING GAMES

Subject to the points of authority listed above, League personnel and Referees will be guided by the following procedures for starting and resuming games that are affected by emergencies:

- If, because of an emergency, a regular season or postseason game is not started at its scheduled time and cannot be played at any later time that same day, the game nevertheless must be played on a subsequent date to be determined by the Commissioner.
- If an emergency threatens to occur during the playing of a game (e.g., an incoming tropical storm), the starting time of the game will not be moved to an earlier time unless there clearly is sufficient time to make an orderly change.
- All games that are temporarily suspended and resumed on the same day, and all suspended games that are postponed to a later date, will be resumed at the point of suspension. On suspension, the Referee will call timeout and make a record of the following: team possessing the ball; direction in which its offense was headed; position of the ball on the field; down and distance; period; time remaining in the period; and any other pertinent information required for an orderly and equitable resumption of play. The Referee will confer with the head coaches to determine the length of time for warm-ups prior to resuming the game, with a maximum time of 10 minutes allotted for warm-ups. If suspension of play exceeds 30 minutes, however, the warm-up period may be extended to a maximum of 15 minutes. A discretionary ten-minute period, as determined by NFL Football Operations, may be included in the resumption of play timeline if it would allow for additional network personnel to return to their camera positions and provide greater coverage for broadcast and instant replay purposes.
- For regular season postponements, the Commissioner will make every effort to set the game for no later than two days after its originally scheduled date and at the same site. If unable to schedule at the same site, the Commissioner will select an appropriate alternative site (See Procedures for Rescheduling or Relocating a Game).

- For postseason postponements, the Commissioner will make every effort to set the game as soon as possible after its originally scheduled date and at the same site. If unable to schedule at the same site, the Commissioner will select an appropriate alternative site.
- Whenever postponement is attributable to negligence by a club, the negligent club is responsible for all home club or visiting club costs and expenses, including, subject to approval by the Commissioner, gate receipts and television-contract income. [See Section 19.11(C) of the NFL Constitution and Bylaws.]
- If a game is postponed and resumed at a later time or date, it is the home club's responsibility to ensure the playing surface of its stadium is well maintained and in compliance with NFL Mandatory Practices for the Maintenance of Infill and Natural Surfaces for NFL Games.

E. PROCEDURES FOR RESCHEDULING OR RELOCATING A GAME

Please note that these guidelines apply specifically to regular and postseason games, and generally to preseason games.

- Each season, within two weeks after the release of the NFL schedule, each NFL team will identify potential stadium conflicts in the 24–48 hours immediately preceding or following its scheduled contests. In addition, the League office, in conjunction with each NFL team, will identify alternative facilities.
- If it is not possible to start or complete a game at its scheduled location and time, the game will be played at its scheduled location as close as possible to the originally scheduled time. If that is not possible, the game will either be (a) played at a later date at the original location; or (b) moved to another location in the affected club's home territory or as close to the affected club's home territory as possible, as determined by the Commissioner.
- If the game cannot be concluded within a reasonable time frame that same week, the Commissioner will have the discretion to determine whether:
 - » it should be concluded at a later date;
 - » a winner should be declared based on the score at the time the game was called; or
 - » the game should be suspended without a winner.

If the game is suspended without a winner, the Commissioner has discretion to either treat the game as a tie or determine the clubs' records based on a modified game schedule (e.g., 16-game schedule, etc.).

Every effort will be made to complete the game. If the game cannot be scheduled within 48 hours after its original date, the Commissioner will attempt to schedule it on the Wednesday of the next calendar week. The Commissioner will keep in mind the potential for competitive inequities if one or both of the involved clubs has already been scheduled for a game close to the Wednesday of that week (for example, a Monday or Thursday game).

- If the stadium will be unavailable for an extended period of time that is less than the remainder of the season, a home-and-home series may be "swapped," when feasible. Alternatively, the game may be relocated to another facility in the affected club's home territory or as close to the affected club's home territory as possible. At the Commissioner's election, the game may be played in the stadium of the road team or at a neutral site.
- If the stadium will be unavailable for the balance of the season, scheduled home games will be played at another facility in the affected club's home territory or as close to the affected club's home territory as possible. At the Commissioner's election, one or more games may be played in the stadium of the road team or at a neutral site.

- If an incident requires that a determination to postpone or relocate a game be made prior to game day, every effort shall be made to make such determination no later than the third day prior to the scheduled game.

F. FINANCIAL POLICY FOR RESCHEDULED, RELOCATED, OR CANCELLED GAMES

- If a game is rescheduled, the visiting club share will be calculated according to customary operating procedures.
- If one or more games for a club has to be relocated to another facility, the Commissioner, in consultation with the Finance Committee, will review and adjust visiting club shares as warranted.
- If practicable and appropriate given the circumstances, the displaced home club will be expected to sell tickets for any relocated game. The club is permitted to conduct a presale for individuals in its ticketing database, provided that the presale is limited in time to ensure a reasonable amount of time to sell any remaining tickets to other groups and the general public. The displaced home club should expect the opposing club and the League to market tickets to their respective databases, as necessary, to maximize ticket sales. The displaced home club is not permitted to prohibit or otherwise curtail the sale of tickets based on a fan allegiance or geographic location.
- If a relocated game is hosted by another club (or club affiliate), then the Finance Committee expects the stadium host to agree to terms with the displaced home club that would result in neither profit nor loss for the stadium host.
- If one or more games are cancelled, the Commissioner, in consultation with the Finance Committee, will determine based on the circumstances whether any visiting club share amount is warranted for the game.

The League, on behalf of itself and the member clubs, purchases game cancellation/interruption insurance when commercially available to respond to lost revenues and expenses incurred as the result of regular and postseason games not played as originally scheduled. The amount of insurance, annual deductible, ability to extend coverage to the member clubs, and other terms and conditions are difficult to predict from season to season and depend on market conditions and claim history. Please be aware that the League's game cancellation/interruption insurance does not cover any losses due to COVID-19 or any other communicable disease that is declared as a public health emergency, and any losses due to a cyber incident. This is a new exclusion on the 2022 insurance policy.

In addition, the primary intent of this insurance program is to cover national revenues and expenses. Therefore, clubs should not assume coverage will be available through this program to respond to individual club losses. Clubs are encouraged to evaluate their own financial risk that would result from cancelled or rescheduled games and consider obtaining adequate coverage.

Nevertheless, clubs may have certain obligations under the League insurance program, including but not limited to taking all reasonable and practicable steps to mitigate financial losses, and therefore should discuss guidance with the League in the event of any rescheduled, relocated, or cancelled game.

G. COMPETITIVE POLICY FOR CANCELLED GAMES

If a game is cancelled, a team's standing in its division or in its conference (e.g., qualification as a Wild Card in the playoffs or position in playoff seeding) shall be determined on the basis of its final record. When necessary, playoff tiebreakers shall be calculated according to per game average for all teams.

H. UNFAIR ACTS

Commissioner's Authority — The Commissioner has sole authority to investigate and take appropriate disciplinary or corrective measures if any club action, non-participant interference, or emergency occurs in an NFL game which he deems so unfair or outside the accepted tactics encountered in professional football that such action has a major effect on the result of the game.

No Club Protests — The authority and measures provided for in this section do not constitute a protest mechanism for NFL clubs to dispute the result of a game. The Commissioner will conduct an investigation under this section only to review an act or occurrence that he deems so unfair that the result of the game in question may be inequitable to one of the participating teams. The Commissioner will not apply his authority under this section when a club registers a complaint concerning a judgmental error or routine error of omission by Game Officials. Games involving such complaints will continue to stand as completed.

Penalties for Unfair Acts — The Commissioner's authority under this section includes the imposition of monetary fines and draft choice forfeitures, suspension of persons involved, and, if appropriate, the reversal of a game's result or the rescheduling of a game, either from the beginning or from the point at which the extraordinary act occurred. In the event of rescheduling a game, the Commissioner will be guided by the procedures specified above ("Procedures for Starting and Resuming Games" under Emergencies). In all cases, the Commissioner will conduct a full investigation, including the opportunity for hearings, use of game video, and any other procedures and materials he deems appropriate.

Removing Team from Field — No player, coach, or other person affiliated with a club may remove that club's team from the field during the playing of any game, including preseason, except at the direction of the Referee. Any club violating this rule will be subject to disciplinary action by the Commissioner, including possible game forfeiture and sole liability for financial losses suffered by the opposing club and any other affected member clubs of the League. [See Section 9.1(E) of the NFL Constitution and Bylaws.]

I. ON-FIELD EMERGENCY COMMUNICATIONS PROCEDURES

If an on-field emergency arises as described in the previous section, the following individuals will be involved in assessing the nature of the emergency and implementing proper communications procedures:

- Home Club Communications Director — The home club Communications Director will serve as the central communication point for all internal communication, including communication with stadium command posts and incident rooms.
- On-Site League Representative — An NFL Football Operations Representative will serve as the League representative and is located in the press box. This person will also serve as the Commissioner's designee and is responsible for relaying information to the Commissioner or the League's Game Day Operations Center in New York.
- On-Site League Security Representative(s) — A League office Security Representative(s) and/or security representative under contract to the League from the home city is on site at each game to facilitate communication with local emergency and law enforcement agencies and to assist, verify, and assess as necessary.
- Referee — The Referee maintains authority to remove teams from the field in cases of obvious and imminent danger (e.g., pertaining to weather, unruly fan behavior, etc.). The Referee will coordinate with the League, clubs, and emergency/law enforcement officials on site to determine subsequent steps relating to the game and procedures for the participating teams.
- Instant Replay Field Communicator (Teal Hat) — The Teal Hat at each game is the communication link between the Instant Replay Booth and the on-field Game Officials. At every game, the Teal Hat moves with the line of scrimmage in order to maintain communication with the Game Officials and has radio communication from the field to the Instant Replay Booth, the NFL Football Operations Representative, and other League representatives in the press box. In an emergency situation, the Teal Hat is the communication link from the NFL Football Operations Representative or NFL Security Representative to the Referee.
- Local Emergency and Law Enforcement Agencies — As jurisdictions vary by stadium, it is important that local emergency and law enforcement agencies are aware of these procedures and are available to communicate with the home club Communications Director, the designated League office representatives, and the NFL Security Representatives as quickly as possible to facilitate proper communication.

Visiting clubs should note that every stadium has installed a ring-down phone from the visiting team bench to the home club Communications spot (where emergency operations will be centralized). Also, visiting club football personnel are urged to be aware that communication to the on-site League Representatives can be made via that phone or via the Teal Hat in emergency situations.

The individuals listed above must take part in the 100-minute security meeting.

J. GUIDELINES FOR SERIOUS ON-FIELD INJURIES OR MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

The below guidelines must be followed by Game Officials in the event of an on-field medical emergency. Players, coaches, and team personnel must adhere to all applicable guidelines and direction from the Game Officials.

- Game Officials should direct players and coaches to go to and remain in the bench area and must always ensure adequate lines of vision between the medical staff and all available emergency personnel. The Game Officials are authorized to penalize a team when players, coaches, or other non-medical personnel do not comply with this policy.
- Attempt to keep players a significant distance away from the seriously injured player or players.
- Do not allow a player to roll an injured player over.
- Do not allow players to assist a teammate who is lying on the field (e.g., removing the helmet or chin strap, or attempting to assist breathing by elevating the waist).
- Do not allow players to pull a teammate or opponent from a pile-up.
- Once the medical staff begins to work on an injured player, all members of the officiating crew should control the total playing field environment and team personnel to allow the medical staff to perform services without interruption or interference.
- Players and coaches should be appropriately controlled to avoid dictating medical services to the athletic trainers or team physicians or taking up their time to perform such service.
- In cases where a player appears unstable on his feet or shows other signs of a potential head or neck injury, the Game Officials should remove that player from the field. The player should be escorted to the sideline by a Game Official and that Game Official must alert the team's medical personnel of the potential head or neck injury.

Game Officials should be aware of the location of emergency personnel and equipment at all stadiums, as discussed in the NFL Medical Meeting (60 minutes prior to scheduled kickoff).

COMMUNICATIONS/BROADCASTING

A. PRESS BOX

Operation – The home club is responsible for the operation and staffing of the game-control area of the press box for the period beginning four hours prior to kickoff until the completion of responsibilities following the end of the game. It is required that a home club employee continue to staff the press box during the final minutes of the game and following the game to assist media and handle any security or stadium matters.

Credentials – Extreme discretion should be used in issuing press box credentials to non-media personnel. Prime seats should be used for media. Player agents and other unauthorized personnel who do not have a working function on game day are prohibited from receiving all-access or media credentials that grant access to the press box and/or other restricted areas during the game. Instead, clubs may offer them the opportunity to purchase a game ticket. Pregame access to the field and postgame access to the family area may be granted.

Recording Devices – Recording devices and cameras of any kind are not permitted in the press box, unless preapproved by NFL Football Operations.

Club Personnel – Member clubs should exert their best effort in limiting the number of club personnel seated in the press box.

League Personnel – Ten seats must be set aside in an appropriate location with a direct and unobstructed view of the entire playing field, video boards, and game and play clocks. These positions will be occupied by game and play clock operators, the coach-to-player cutoff operator, the officiating supervisor, the NFL Football Operations Representative, two uniform inspectors, two frequency coordinators, and Broadcast Representative. This location must have a television with the dirty program feed and the appropriate communication equipment, including an audio loop and direct phone lines. Each club should attempt to isolate these individuals from the media and, if possible, seat them in an enclosed booth. If seated in an enclosed booth, the booth is required to have a speaker that provides announcements by the Referee for penalties and other pertinent information.

If the 10 seats are not together, all above-mentioned requirements must be available in each location.

A ring down phone must be at the following locations: NFL Football Operations Representative, instant replay, and clock operators. These phones must include the following lines:

- NFL Football Operations Representative
- Instant Replay
- Clock operators
- Officials' locker room
- Home and Visitors benches
- Home and Visitors PR
- Game Presentation/In-Stadium Production
- TV truck
- Security Event Day Command Post or Stadium Operations Center

In addition to the ring downs, each club must provide a phone number extension card at the NFL Football Operations Representative's seat for the following locations:

- AT Spotter Booth
- Club Football Operations booths, if applicable

Television Monitors — The home club is responsible for ensuring that television monitors are provided at the home and visiting club Communications Directors' positions, as well as at the NFL Football Operations Representative's position. In addition, monitors will be provided, where possible, in press box areas where media can see replays. It is also mandatory to provide monitors in the home and visiting radio booths and for Westwood One. The home club Communications Director will use his/her monitor to check key plays and will provide such details promptly to media over press box PA and to stadium PA where applicable.

Statistics — It is prohibited to print game day statistics to any coaching or club location, including but not limited to coaches booths and club locker rooms. For further clarification, printing game statistics to printers located in a dedicated printing location and distributing copies in the press box will remain approved if a club chooses to do so. The home club is required to deliver hard copies of stats to the home and visitor coaches booths.

Cheering — Cheering is prohibited in the press box area. The home club Communications Director must ensure that anyone seated in the press box area (e.g., media member, staffer, club official, etc.) acts with professionalism at all times.

B. MEDIA ACCESS TO TEAM LOCKER ROOMS

Admittance — No persons except authorized club and League personnel are permitted in the locker rooms prior to the game, other than pre-arranged broadcasting network access. Only media personnel with proper accreditation are to be admitted after the game following the cooling off period. The home club is responsible for assigning security to each locker room to ensure such compliance.

Media Waiting Period — Clubs are entitled to a reasonable "cooling off" period after each game in which no media are permitted to access the locker room. This period is defined as no more than 10-15 minutes after the game ends and the players have entered the locker room. Following the 10-15 minutes, both locker room areas will be opened to properly accredited media with immediate access to all players. It should be stressed to players that the training room may not be used as an area to avoid members of the media. To relieve congestion in the locker room, each club must bring the head coach, the quarterback, and at least one additional player who had an impactful role in the game to an interview area as soon as possible. This interview area should be within close proximity of the locker room, if not within the locker room area itself. Each club is responsible for setting up interview areas in its home stadium for both the home and visiting team. The interview area must include a riser for the coach/players, microphones for the speakers and a camera platform in the back of the room. The home team must ensure that the visiting team interview area is of adequate size to conduct a professional news conference. Access to the area should be restricted to working media only.

Player Privacy — The home club must ensure that the shower area for both teams is screened from view and must supply players from both teams with wrap-around towels in addition to the standard supply of bath towels for postgame showers. Clubs are urged to take other measures for player privacy, such as placing shorts in each locker or building individual locker curtains. Prior to the locker room opening to media, a member of the club Communications staff will directly notify players and coaches that the locker room is about to open to accredited media for player interviews.

C. TELEPHONES/WIRELESS INTERNET ACCESS

There must be a direct, controlled phone line between the Officials' locker room and the press box to allow club or League officials to communicate with the Referee.

Clubs must provide wireless internet access to the media in the press box. Telephones must be provided near each bench area so that sideline personnel can promptly transmit all injury information from club personnel in the bench area to the club Communications Director in the press box. It is also mandatory to have a direct line from the home Communications Director's press box position to the network producer's position in the TV truck.

The visiting Communications Director should have at his/her seat in the press box a telephone(s) with dedicated lines to the following areas: the home Communications Director position, the visiting club bench, the NFL Football Operations Representative, the TV truck, and the national radio booth. He/she should also have access to an outside line.

The visitor's bench must have a direct phone to the stadium's event day command center should assistance be needed in the bench area.

D. POOL REPORTERS

The League's pool reporter procedure permits any or all of four pool reporters designated by the Professional Football Writers of America to question the Referee or an NFL Officiating staff member at the conclusion of the game. There will be only one interview session. If the subject matter involves instant replay, NFL Officiating staff, not the Referee, will speak with the pool reporter, since all replay reviews are conducted by a member of the Officiating department from the League office. Substitutes for the officially designated pool reporters must be approved by the home Communications Director.

Interviews will be conducted remotely with the Referee or NFL Officiating staff and recorded and transcribed for all media. When a request for a pool report is made, the home Communications Director should advise the NFL Game Day Operations Center (212.450.2087). The home Communications Director should also immediately advise Michael Signora of the request. It is not necessary for the home Communications Director to participate in the pool report interview session. Home club Communications personnel should be available, however, to assist in the postgame process should an issue arise.

Only an audio recording is permitted; videotaping the interview or broadcasting it live on social media is not permitted, nor is posting, sharing, or tweeting the audio file. The home club Communications staff should ensure that the transcript is distributed to media. In the interest of maintaining equal access for media covering the game, pool reporters must not blog about, post, or tweet on the content of the pool report until distribution of it begins by the home club Communications staff (either electronically or by hand).

The pool reporters, as assigned in each NFL city by the Pro Football Writers of America, are listed in the Directory of Club Contacts \(Section C\).

E. ATTENDANCE ANNOUNCEMENTS

Prior to the end of each game, the home club Communications Director should consult with the club ticket manager for the paid attendance figure to be announced on game day. The announcement over the stadium PA and the press box PA should be as follows: "Today's paid attendance is..." The game summary page of the play-by-play book includes a notation for "Paid Attendance—."

Although clubs are not required to announce the number of unused tickets (commonly referred to as "no-shows"), clubs should respond factually to inquiries from the media and provide at least an approximate number when no-shows are a significant factor.

Each week, clubs will report to the League office a detailed box office report, including the number of complimentary and unused tickets and appropriate financial information.

F. STATISTICS

Statistics crews are responsible for capturing all statistics and play-by-play information. The GSIS statistics crew at the NFL League office provides support and oversight to the in-stadium stats crew for all games. The GSIS statistics crew, along with Elias, the official statistician of the NFL, will make final statistical entry decisions.

The GSIS Real-Time Entry Operator(s) is responsible for capturing significant events (e.g., touchdown, turnover, etc.) in the GSIS system during a game, often before the statistics crew is able to enter the significant event as part of the complete play-by-play entry.

The GSIS Stadium Technician provides on-site technical support for the in-stadium statistics crew and the Real-Time Entry Operator.

Communications Directors are required to provide seating with an unobstructed view of the entire playing field (including both end zones), for the statistics crew and the GSIS Real-Time Entry Operator (must be provided two seats). Where possible, the Real-Time Entry Operator(s) must be seated with the statistics crew. If the Real-Time Entry Operator(s) cannot be seated with the statistics crew due to space limitations, this role may be seated separate from the statistics crew but must be provided with space for a laptop and a hardwire internet connection for up to two devices.

All GSIS equipment must be connected to the stadium network via a hardwire ethernet cable, rather than a Wi-Fi connection. The stat crew VLAN should not be subject to bandwidth constraints which are sometimes experienced when shared with the general press VLAN.

The GSIS Team at the NFL League office can be reached at 877.635.0171 or GSISupport@nfl.com.

G. ENDORSEMENTS OR ADVERTISING OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES OR TOBACCO PRODUCTS

Clubs occasionally get requests from players for permission to participate in advertising that amounts to a form of endorsement of a brand of alcoholic beverage, including beer. In addition to the information on alcohol in the NFL Substances of Abuse Policy, clubs should be aware of the following League policy:

Subject to the limited exception in the NFL Alcohol Sponsorship Policy for use of player imagery in advertisements for beer, NFL players, coaches, and other employees must not endorse or appear in advertisements for alcoholic beverages, tobacco, or cannabinoid products.

While fully recognizing that the use of alcohol and tobacco is legal, the NFL nevertheless has long been of the view that endorsement of such substances by its employees may have a detrimental effect on the great number of young fans who follow our game. In particular, such endorsements could convey the erroneous impression that the use of such products is conducive to the development of athletic prowess, has contributed to their success, or at least has not hindered them in their performance.

Players and other club and League employees (including Game Officials) must not use alcohol or tobacco products/devices while in the playing field area or while being interviewed on television or other media platforms.

H. MIC'D PERSONNEL

All coaches and players wearing microphones, including during the pregame period, must be listed as Mic'd Personnel on the Game Day Administration Report.

- Enhanced Audio — NFL Broadcasting administers an enhanced audio program in which microphones are embedded in the pads of two interior offensive linemen per team in every game in order to capture ambient sound on the field. Each team must choose between embedding microphones in the pads of either the starting and backup Centers, or both starting Guards. Microphones and transmitters are installed and operated by NFL Films-trained technicians. All audio captured by the microphones is encrypted by a system that works similarly to that used for Coach-to-Player communication and is not recorded other than as part of the live ambient audio mix of the network broadcast. Microphones are controlled by remote control and are activated only when players are on the field and only opened to capture sound from the break of the offensive huddle through the snap of the ball on any given play. Players, trainers, or other club personnel must not adjust or tamper with the microphones or transmitters including, but not limited to, removing, moving, or taping over the equipment.
- Club Audio — Clubs are permitted to have their players wear microphones during practices and games for use in club-produced broadcast shows (e.g., Coach's show); however, clubs are prohibited from placing microphones on defensive linemen or linebackers during regular season divisional game matchups. Further, if NFL Films or the network choose to mic players in these positions during regular season divisional matchups, clubs may not request that audio following the game. This prohibition does not apply to postseason divisional matchups. A club's football department may not use audio collected in a game for football purposes (e.g., game planning). Clubs are required to use digital encryption on game day microphones. NFL Films will audit the use of this technology. For any additional questions about compliant technology, NFL Films can be used a resource.

- Other Audio — NFL Films and the broadcast network are permitted to request that coaches or players from either team wear microphones during games.

I. SIDELINE PROCEDURES

On-Field Media Coordinators — Both clubs must provide an “on-field media coordinator” on the sidelines who will ensure that the Field Reporter is operating within the procedures listed below and will assist in information gathering for the Field Reporter, the network, and other media. The on-field media coordinator must also ensure that TV cameras have access to permissible areas from which to film/report.

Vests for On-Field Media Personnel — The home club's Communications department is responsible for the distribution and collection of sideline vests at each game for individuals capturing video or still photos on the sidelines. All personnel detailed below are required to wear the applicable vest beginning 60 minutes prior to kickoff.

- Light Gray — Club, club-affiliated (ownership production groups), or stadium personnel filming an in-house feed; club digital and social content; club programming or coaches' shows; and club still photographer personnel
- Royal Blue — NFL Films
- Red — Network Television
- Tan — Still photographers and local television
- Preseason Red — Local broadcasters receive from each club for both home and away preseason games; only permitted for non-nationally televised preseason games
- Black — NFL Media photographers, NFL Social Content personnel, and Broadcast Network Social Content personnel

Network television, NFL Films, NFL Media, and NFL Social Content will be responsible for providing their respective vests. Each club is responsible for providing their own gray vests. During the preseason, each club is responsible for providing red preseason network television vests to its local preseason broadcast partner for all home and away games.

Media Location — For all games, authorized members of the media and game day personnel will be positioned 15 feet from the playing field on either side of the bench areas behind the broken yellow border.

The only exception to the 15-foot border policy is a limited number of camera persons from the televising network and NFL Films to access the 3-foot operational space in front of the broken yellow border. End zone areas are not affected.

No media personnel are permitted to access the playing field at any time during the game (e.g., still photographers, club camera operators, network talent, etc.). However, one network wireless camera will be allowed to access the playing field under the following conditions:

- Camera must be a wireless handheld or steadicam. Only the camera operator may enter the playing field — no additional support personnel may accompany the camera.
- Camera operator may go onto the field only when both the game clock and the play clock are stopped (e.g., when the Network is going to a commercial break or immediately after a touchdown).

Following a touchdown, the wireless camera operator may enter and remain on the field until the kicking/offensive team approaches the line of scrimmage or the play clock reaches 25 seconds, whichever occurs first. The camera operator may not enter or exit the field through the bench areas.

- No audio may be captured from the camera while on the playing field.
- Camera may not be used for injury coverage.

The procedures for use of this camera must be reviewed with on-field security at the pregame network sideline security meeting, which should take place approximately 2 hours prior to kickoff behind the home team bench. Failure to comply with the above conditions may result in the League not allowing the camera on to the field for the remainder of the game or during future games. With specific League approval, networks are permitted to assign a second wireless camera for in-game field access, provided there is no more than one network wireless camera on the field at any given time.

NFL Films (blue vest) and the televising network (red vest), including preseason local networks, are permitted to film from behind and/or into the bench areas, but they must remain outside of the broken yellow border. Still photographers (tan vest) and NFL Social (black vest) are not permitted to operate from behind and/or into either bench area. Club or stadium personnel (gray vest) are permitted to film from behind and/or into their own bench area, at the club's discretion.

Network sideline camera carts are permitted on one or both sides of the field. These carts are permitted to operate along the full length of the field and must be padded. Where space allows, the network carts must remain at least 30 feet from the playing surface. Where space does not allow a 30-foot distance, carts should be as close to the field wall as operationally reasonable. Stadiums are required to provide security for network sideline camera carts.

Any field-level filming location within 30 feet from the playing surface must be padded and fully enclosed.

Additional Restrictions:

- Media operations must not interfere with the positioning or mechanics of the chain crew.
- The limited number of authorized persons in the 3-foot operational space must wear NFL-issued vests. The vests do not replace the need for game credentials and armbands.
- Individuals carrying parabolic microphones for TV crews and team radio stations are not permitted to be in the 3-foot operational space and must stay behind the broken yellow border. In addition, each flagship radio station is limited to one mono-audio parabolic microphone, or two if stereo, without identifying call letters.
- Stadium and club-sponsored camera crews (including boom mic handlers) are not permitted to be located in the 3-foot operational space and must stay behind the broken yellow border. Additionally, they are not permitted to access the playing field or bench area during the game for any reason.
- The use of tripods is not permitted anywhere on the field during the game.

J. TELEVISION NETWORK FIELD SETS

The televising network is permitted to use field sets during pregame, halftime, and postgame, provided the set and associated equipment meet the following requirements:

- When operational during the pregame, halftime, and postgame windows, the entire field set, and any other equipment and personnel associated with it must be behind the broken yellow border and allow for reasonable field operations around it.
- During game play, the field set and associated equipment must be collapsed against the field wall and be padded (with no less than 3-inch thickness).
- When collapsed and padded, the set padding must be at least 12 feet from the broken yellow border.

- » If the collapsed set is located 12-15 feet from the broken yellow border, the televising network is responsible for also using mobile padding in front of the sideline camera cart when the cart is operating in front of the collapsed set.
- » Mobile cart padding is not required when the set is more than 15 feet from the broken yellow border.
- All networks must submit a field set proposal to NFL Broadcasting at least ten days prior to game day, providing the following details for review:
 - » Stadium-specific field map with illustration of proposed field location (both pregame, halftime, postgame as well as collapsed during game play) including specific details on measurements from the broken yellow border.
 - » Proposed timing for when the set will be operational and on the air (e.g., pregame only, pregame and postgame, halftime only, postgame only, etc.).
 - » Operational schedule for set installation/build at the stadium.
 - » Summary of crew list that will be associated with set production.
- Unless a field set proposal has been approved by NFL Broadcasting in advance of a specific game, it will not be permitted on the field.

K. FIELD REPORTERS' PROCEDURES

Once the game begins, the Field Reporter may remain on the field behind the broken yellow border. The Field Reporter is not allowed to go into the bench area at any time.

The Field Reporter may do live reports at any time during the game. The designated on-field Communications representatives are there to facilitate information and suggest story ideas to the Field Reporter, as well as other media functions. The Field Reporter must be assisted by the designated Communications representative in gathering pertinent information regarding such topics as equipment changes, weather-related issues, and unique game happenings. Club Communications staffs are encouraged to develop strong story ideas for the Field Reporter. Accurate and timely injury information should be given directly to the Field Reporter by each team's on-field Communications representative after clearance from the team's Communications Director in the press box.

In accordance with the Broadcast Access Policies in this section, if requested by the televising network (no later than 48 hours prior to kickoff), the head coach or offensive/defensive coordinator from both clubs must conduct an on-camera interview at the end of quarter breaks or halftime with the Field Reporter (interviews to occur outside team bench areas). If requested by the televising network (no later than 48 hours prior to kickoff), the home team must provide a player for an on-camera pregame interview with the Field Reporter.

If previously agreed to by the network and club, inactive players may also be interviewed by the Field Reporter, provided interviews occur outside of the team bench areas. A "celebrity" may also be interviewed at any time provided interviews take place outside of the bench areas. A "celebrity" brought onto the field by the network can only be on the field during the period of the interview and must leave the field immediately following it. Any "celebrity" interview regarding network properties shall continue to count against the network's allotted promotion time. Additionally, a "celebrity" interview cannot include sponsors or their spokespersons. Coaches, active players, athletic trainers, doctors, equipment personnel (persons directly involved in the game), and suspended players cannot be interviewed on camera from the start of the game to the finish. (Exception: Pre-approved interviews with a head coach or offensive/defensive coordinator, at end of quarter breaks or halftime.) The Field Reporter may not comment on or report conversations overheard from the bench area. The reports shall be limited to what the reporter visually observes and not what he/she hears.

Field Reporter assignments must be provided to the League office by each Wednesday so they may be distributed to the member clubs.

L. BROADCAST PRESENTATION POLICIES

It is in the best interests of the member clubs to cooperate fully with their broadcast partners to ensure the presentation of NFL football in the most professional and high-quality manner. Clubs are required to cooperate with the television networks as follows:

- Clubs must make available key players, the head coach and, if requested, the offensive/defensive coordinators to the televising network at the weekly production meeting (to be scheduled for a minimum of 60 minutes).
- Clubs must allow the televising network unobstructed access to players on the field pregame (provided there is no interruption of pregame drills) and, at the club's option, to the team locker room for a taped piece to be used only until the game has concluded.
- Clubs must record and share at least twenty (20) seconds of team pregame locker room footage with the televising network. If preferred, clubs may permit a network camera into the locker room to collect pregame footage, with the clubs having final approval over footage allowed to be aired on the game broadcast.
- The home club must make one (1) of three (3) requested high profile starters/players available for a pre-kick interview (i.e., when player is in full uniform, prior to kickoff), when requested by the televising network.
- For all games, when requested by the televising network, both clubs must make available the head coach or either offensive or defensive coordinator, and, at club option, a "star" player for an in-game, on-camera interview at the end of quarter breaks or at halftime, as well as any inactive (but not suspended) player at any time during the game.
- When requested by the televising network, both clubs must make a minimum of two (2) or four (4) requested high-profile players available for an in-game interview during national preseason game broadcasts.
- Clubs must permit the televising network to install video-only (i.e., no audio) network cameras in coaches booths for each game, when requested.
- Clubs must give priority for postgame on-field interviews to the televising network first, followed by Westwood One (if applicable), the NFL Network and other national television partners.
- Clubs must ensure unobstructed views for network cameras in established camera positions, including fans holding signs, flags, towels, etc. Clubs must also ensure unobstructed views and access to bench areas and bench activity with TV crews using hand-held equipment from approved locations behind the broken yellow border; by limiting sideline boom microphones to one each for NFL Films and the two participating teams; and by exercising necessary crowd control to ensure clear shots of out of bounds lines.
- Clubs must allow NFL Films camera (or a club film crew, at the option of NFL Films) and a camera from the televising network into the winning team's locker room; and allow a network camera and reporter access outside team locker rooms (excluding athletic training and X-ray areas). This includes following a player from the field to the locker room, at a reasonable distance at any time on game day, including during the game.
- For games broadcast by Westwood One, providing it with priority in selecting a radio booth behind only the home and visiting team primary booths, and two close-in parking spaces.
- Clubs must provide all network partners access to a live feed of any club preseason telecast within the broadcast window of a live network preseason game for purposes of limited in-progress taped highlights.
- Clubs must provide necessary stadium services (as defined by the network agreements and the Broadcasting Committee) at club expense.

Beginning 2 hours before the scheduled start of a game until the game's conclusion, clubs shall not permit any media entity other than the broadcast network to televise live from a set located at any place with a field view in the stadium, except that the NFL and home club may permit (a) reporters from other NFL network partners and the participating clubs' local station partners to do live or taped stand-ups (without a set) until 1 hour before the scheduled start of the game; (b) reporters from local stations broadcasting in the local markets of the participating teams to do live or taped reports for regularly-scheduled local news programs (without a set) until 20 minutes before the scheduled start of the game; and (c) the NFL Network to have reporters providing live or taped reports (without a set) until kickoff; and shall remove all other television and other video media personnel from the field during the game.

Clubs must (and must require their local broadcasters to) honor provisions in national television contracts on scheduling local postgame shows and to comply with League policies implemented to enhance the value of telecasts to the League and NFL broadcast partners.

As per the Field Access Policy, club local media and TV affiliates will not exceed 30 people with in-game field access, of which 12 must be offered to the visiting club. If either club chooses to not use their full allotment, the remaining positions can be reallocated to the opposing club but cannot be reassigned to another game day personnel group.

Each club may accredit between one and five local television video cameras on the sidelines to serve as the pool feed. These individuals must be accounted for in the club's local media & TV affiliates allotment, adhering to the following guidelines:

- Sideline access pursuant to this policy is only available to local broadcast television stations for purposes of their news broadcasts. In addition, no audio equipment (e.g., boom mics) or video equipment other than hand-held cameras will be permitted.
- Cameras may film footage for use in their own newscasts. No online use is permitted.
- Pool feed footage must be made available upon request for other stations to use for television news in their game coverage and for NFL and club outlets to use.
- Local television station cameras may not film game action from any other location in the stadium bowl other than the sidelines.

Clubs must comply with the following Broadcast Access Policies:

- Offseason Headshots and Specialty Shoots
 - » Make available requested players for shoots by network partners over one to two consecutive days during May/June OTAs or at training camp in July/August.
 - » NFL Broadcasting will work with networks and clubs to streamline shoots and minimize player time commitment through sharing of established best practices.
- Sit-Down Interviews
 - » Ensure a sit-down interview once per regular season per network for any given player and head coach.
 - » Each player / head coach's availability resets for playoffs.
 - » NFL Broadcasting will work with network partners and Clubs to balance demands on highest-profile players and also to identify additional players and storylines to feature.
- Game Preparation
 - » Make previous game tapes available to TV announcers for viewing.
 - » Allow network personnel (defined as the producer, director, and game announcers) reasonable access at practice one or two days before a game, at the network's option.

- » Make players/coaches available, either the day before a game, or on game day, for interviews or other pre-taping when it does not interfere with standard club operations or practices.
- “Arrival” Interviews
 - » Make head coach or one player available each game for brief interview with broadcasting network or NFL Network as teams arrive at stadium.
- Pregame Locker Room Footage
 - » Clubs that already record pregame locker room and/or team tunnel footage must share at least 20 seconds of footage with the applicable network partner(s) no later than 15 minutes prior to kickoff, when requested by the televising network.
 - » Recording must occur between conclusion of pregame warmups and 15 minutes prior to kickoff.
 - » If preferred, clubs may permit a network camera into the locker room to collect pregame footage, with the clubs having final approval of footage to be aired on the broadcast.
 - » All footage will be video only (i.e., no audio).
 - » Networks are required to notify club Communications Directors of requests no later than 48 hours prior to kickoff.
 - » The network has the discretion to request pregame locker room footage from one club or both clubs. Networks may request pregame locker room footage for each game.
- Pregame Player Interviews
 - » When requested by the televising network, the home club must make 1 of 3 high-profile starters/players available for a pre-kick interview, for all games.
 - » Interviews will occur during the pregame period when the player is in full uniform, prior to kickoff.
 - » No player will be required to do more than one interview per network, per regular season if a network is scheduled to televise four or fewer home games for that team. If a network is scheduled to broadcast five or more home games for a team, a player can be required to do a pregame interview up to two times for that network.
 - » This policy will reset and apply for postseason and reset again for Super Bowl.
 - » Networks are required to notify Communications Directors of requests no later than 48 hours prior to kickoff.
 - » If requested, networks will provide clips of the interview to clubs after the game.
- In-Game Coach Interviews
 - » When requested by the televising network, both clubs must make the head coach or either offensive or defensive coordinator available for an in-game, on camera interview, for all games.
 - » In-game interview time slots will be agreed upon between each club and the televising network prior to game day. The home team will have the first choice of interview timing: end of Quarter 1, halftime, or end of Quarter 3.
 - » Interviews will occur outside the team bench area with a maximum of two (2) questions per coach.
 - » Networks are required to notify Communications Directors of requests no later than 48 hours prior to kickoff.
 - » Network has the discretion to request interviews from one club or both.
 - » If requested, networks will provide clips of the interview to clubs after the game.

- Preseason Player Interviews

- » When requested by the televising network, both clubs must make minimum of two (2) or four (4) high-profile players available for in-game interviews during national preseason game broadcasts (not required for local preseason games but strongly recommended).
- » Interviews can occur during game play, once players are no longer active in game.
- » Interviews will occur outside the team bench area.
- » Networks are required to notify club Communications Directors of requests no later than 48 hours prior to kickoff.
- » If requested by a club, networks will provide clips of the interview after the game.

- Coaches Booth Cameras

- » When requested by the televising network, clubs must permit the network to install video-only (i.e., no audio) network cameras into coaches booths each game.
- » Teams are not permitted to move or cover these cameras once installed.
- » Networks are required to notify Communications Directors of requests no later than 48 hours prior to kickoff.
- » Network has the discretion to request coaches booth cameras be placed in the coaches booth of one or both clubs.
- » These cameras are separate from any coaches booth compliance cameras operated by NFL Football Operations.

- Player Wires

- » Networks may request four potential players to wear a wire during any primetime or other national telecast (e.g., Monday Night Football) and Sunday afternoon "A" broadcasts.
- » Clubs will make one of the four requested players available to wear a wire in any of these games.
- » No player will be obligated to wear a wire for a game broadcast more than once per regular season; count resets for playoffs.
- » Any audio will be reviewed and approved by an NFL Films producer prior to being aired in broadcast.

- Postgame Locker Room Access

- » Networks will be given access to the winning team's postgame locker room to capture the head coach's address to the team and the team celebration.
- » Clubs will have the opportunity to review this material soon after it is captured and prior to usage. Clubs must have a designated representative available to review clips and provide approvals in a timely manner to facilitate usage in network postgame shows.
- » Networks will provide the technical means for clubs to review clips promptly.

- Game Coverage

- » Make available, if asked, a key player from the winning team for a brief interview with the televising network immediately following the game.
- » Strictly adhere to League policy regarding the 6-foot white border and the broken yellow border, and agreeing to an expanded secondary border area that will allow special access for network television.
- » Make available accurate injury information as quickly as possible to the network during a game.

- » Strictly adhere to game time schedules.
 - » Allow the use of a sideline camera cart or carts on both sides of the field.
 - » Provide acceptable low end zone camera locations relative to number, alignment, height, and size.
 - » Allow hand-held crews to film from approved locations outside of the broken yellow border, including behind bench areas.
 - » Provide two individuals on the sidelines whose primary assignment will be TV liaison. One person, which both the home team (every home game) and visiting team (optional) should supply, will assure that the network's field camera crews and field reporter(s) have access to primary allowable areas from which to film and/or report. The second individual (the NFL Sideline Coordinator), hired by the League office, will wear a Green Hat and will serve as direct liaison with the network's sideline coordinator (Orange Sleeves). These two individuals will serve as representatives of each club's Communications Director and the League on applicable matters. They must be present at the pregame 90-minute meeting.
- Scheduling
 - » Make every effort to maximize stadium availability for scheduling purposes.
 - » Agree, with proper notice, to switch regular season games from 1:02 to 4:05/4:25 p.m., 8:15p.m. or 8:22 p.m. (Eastern Time) to accommodate television broadcasting patterns.
 - » Agree to cooperate fully with League office on finalization of the network preseason game packages.
- New/Renovated Stadiums
 - » Provide minimum broadcasting requirements in new or remodeled stadiums, including:
 - Locating the TV Booth at 50-yard line between 40 and 80 feet above field with minimum width of 24 feet. There must be no obstructions inside the Booth.
 - Positioning primary elevated coverage cameras on TV Booth side between 19 and 25 degrees (to near sideline) with standing positions and unobstructed views.
 - Locating high end zone camera positions between 24 degrees and 36 degrees to back of each end zone.
 - Providing acceptable low end zone camera locations relative to number, alignment, height, and size.
 - Having available at least five radio/preseason TV booths.
 - » All broadcast camera positions in new stadiums and all changes to existing broadcast camera positions in renovated stadiums must be approved by NFL Broadcasting.
 - » Guarantee NFL Films two elevated camera locations at approximately the 50-yard line.
 - » All broadcast cameras and their field of view must not be obstructed or impeded by any existing or newly-built structures (e.g., added seating).

M. GAMBLING ADVERTISING POLICY

For information regarding permissible and prohibited types of gambling-related commercial activities including advertising in club-controlled media, please refer to the NFL Commercial Gambling Advertising Policy.

N. BROADCAST OUTAGE

In the event there is a power outage or some other issue that impacts a televising networks' ability to broadcast the game, kickoff may be delayed depending on the circumstances, as determined by the League. If the outage occurs during the game, a television break will be taken at the next natural break opportunity. Based on the evaluation of the outage, the League will decide whether to suspend or continue play.

If a game is being played without being broadcast, the Referee will notify both head coaches that no aspect of instant replay (coaches challenge, NY replay decisions, etc.) and no monitors in the coaches booth will be available until the issue is resolved and the instant replay system is functional.

In the event one of the head coaches throws their challenge flag while instant replay is inoperative, the officiating crew will remind the head coach that challenges are not available.

Once power is established and the network is able to broadcast the game, the Referee will notify both head coaches at the next natural break that the instant replay system is operable, and all replay rules will be in effect. The Referee will make a similar announcement over the PA system.

O. PYLON AND AERIAL CAMERAS

Clubs are permitted to install and operate their own pylon camera and/or cable-based aerial camera systems for use during in-stadium productions. The systems must be installed and maintained by vendors approved by both the NFL Football Operations and Broadcasting departments. Pilots operating the cable-based aerial camera systems must attend manufacturer's training and log 24 hours of flight time under said supervision. For both pylon and aerial camera systems, the televising network takes priority. Networks are permitted to install a system provided by their vendor of choice and control the operation of that system for any specific game. Likewise, the televising network is permitted to operate an existing club camera system(s) for any specific game. In such cases, if the televising network chooses to operate the club-owned pylon or aerial camera systems, they are responsible for the costs of operating the systems for that game. In instances where the televising network is not operating a pylon or aerial camera system, the home club is permitted to operate its own system, provided it does not interfere with the televising network's production, as determined by the NFL Broadcasting department. If the televising network is operating a pylon or aerial camera system, the club is not permitted to operate a duplicate system in such game.

Clubs may use a feed or feeds from a pylon and/or aerial camera system operated by the televising network if provided by the network for in-stadium game presentation elements. Additionally, clubs are permitted to provide the televising network with a feed(s) from a club-operated pylon and/or aerial camera system. Any video content used for in-stadium production purposes is prohibited for use as a coaching aid in-game or for game planning outside of game day.

For aerial camera systems, whether operated by the televising network or the club, the following policies must be adhered to:

- Any camera system used must be approved in advance by NFL Broadcasting and NFL Football Operations, and the vendor must file an indemnification agreement with the League and Club.
- During game coverage, the camera must remain behind the offense and the line of scrimmage before the snap unless otherwise specifically noted below. The camera must maintain an appropriate distance from the offensive huddle. Except as specifically noted below, the camera must fly at least 12 feet above the field at all times (i.e., the lowest physical part of the system, which must remain at least 12 feet above the field).
 - » When the offense is in the red zone, an aerial camera may be positioned behind the defense, provided it is placed behind the goal line at a minimum height of at least 20 feet off the ground.
 - » At any point on the field, an aerial camera may be positioned at the line of scrimmage, provided it is placed off the field of play and at a minimum height of at least 22 feet off the ground.
- Aerial camera systems are permitted to fly below the established 12-foot floor under the following specific conditions:

- » Prior to the snap of the ball, aerial cameras may lower to the height of 6 feet above the field, provided the system is positioned at least 20 yards behind the deepest player in the offensive backfield. The camera must reset to the standard 12-foot floor when the center puts his hand on the ball. For clarity, this lower floor is applicable only in this situation and at the set specific distance. In all other circumstances, including dead ball and commercial break periods – filming the huddles, benches, etc. – the system must remain at least 12 feet above the field.

Camera system operators must maintain the proper height and distance at all times. Clubs may be asked to submit documentation of the proper calibration of flight zones and configuration if ceiling limits have been applied. A copy of the calibration and configuration files need to be archived and available upon request by the League office.

If the camera is below the set limits or too close to players or the ball, the network production team or club may be subject to the system being grounded by the NFL Broadcasting or NFL Football Operations departments in the current game and/or subsequent games.

Drones may be used to provide scenic coverage from outside of the stadium. Every drone execution must be specifically reviewed and approved by NFL Broadcasting and NFL Security.

If weather forecasts include the possibility of severe weather, procedures for grounding the camera for safety reasons at any time during the game should be discussed with the Game Officials at the 90-minute meeting.

Any other camera equipment, other than a standard handheld camera, requested to be used by the home club and/or stadium during pregame or in-game must be submitted to NFL Football Operations for review prior to use.

P. COMMERCIAL SIGNAGE IN STADIUMS

Clubs must allow the applicable television networks to place appropriate signs/banners on end zone walls or on field-level walls across the field from camera locations so that they may be shown on the telecast that has been purchased by the network. Conversely, clubs will not allow local radio/television stations or other commercial entities to position signs/banners on end zone walls or on field level walls across from network camera locations or on the field surface, including sideline areas, so that television networks will be forced to show such signs as part of their telecasts and therefore provide free television time. Stadium names with commercial tie-ins also are prohibited from being placed in these restricted areas.

If a network is obliged to tender “make good” time to a sponsor(s) because of low level commercial stadium signage located in a manner that forces the network to provide free television time for competitive entities, the home club will be responsible in full for reimbursing the network for those payments to sponsors.

Commercial signage is prohibited in three areas of the stadium:

- Field-level walls across from network camera locations
- The field, including sideline areas
- End zone walls

End Zone Walls are defined as:

- Any wall or fence that begins at ground or field level
- Any wall or surface that is part of the vomitory or tunnel to the field between the goal posts in the end zone area

- Any wall or surface that is located at or below the height (top) of the goal posts (45 feet) in the end zone area, within a width that extends 10 feet outside of each upright or any end zone wall or surface that is routinely visible on television coverage of extra points and field goal attempts

If any part of a sign falls within the established parameters, the sign will be in violation of League policy.

In addition, the painting or placement of commercial identification, including but not limited to logos, trademarks, and names, is not permitted on the entire playing surface, including sideline areas. This includes stadium names with commercial tie-ins and charitable signage that incorporates a third-party brand or logo.

The networks continue to object to being forced to pick up commercial signage. They properly consider this free advertising. In some cases, it is ambush marketing by a competitive product. While they do not object to high signage, even though it often gets some identification on television, the network finds it impossible to properly cover field goal attempts or PATs without “sitting on” commercial signage for an extended period.

Accordingly, the policies outlined above will be strictly enforced. Any new end zone signage must be approved in advance by the League office.

UNIFORM POLICY

The following Policy language is also provided in the League Policies for Players.

A. NFL UNIFORM POLICY

NFL players are required to dress to the highest levels of professionalism. A player's appearance on the field conveys a message regarding the image of the League and directly affects the League's reputation and success. Accordingly, the NFL's Uniform Policy was implemented primarily for player safety and to ensure that the game and its players are presented in a professional manner.

- Players are not permitted to wear bandanas, or other unapproved headwear anywhere on the field, even if such items are worn under the helmets. In addition, players may not wear undergarments with an exposed hood hanging outside the collar of the jersey.
- Headwear is part of the NFL Uniform Policy. No commercial endorsement agreement entered into by a player can alter his obligations under the NFL Uniform Policy. The only headwear (e.g., caps) that the players are permitted to wear on the field is headwear provided by an NFL authorized on-field supplier, currently New Era.
- Players' pants must not be altered or cut in any way and must cover the entire knee. Players are prohibited from shortening or rolling up their pant legs.
- Game socks and/or leg coverings must cover the entire area from the shoe to the bottom of the pants and must meet the pants below the knee. The exterior must be either a: (a) one-piece game sock and/or leg covering that includes solid white from the top of the shoe to the mid-point of the lower leg, and approved team color or colors (non-white) from that point to the top of the game sock and/or leg covering; or (b) solid color game sock and/or leg covering (i.e., entire covering from bottom of pant leg to top of shoe), but all players must be in the same covering style and color in any particular game. Solid game socks and/or leg coverings must be a consistent color from the bottom of the pant leg to the top of the shoe.
- Skin exposure of the lower leg and ankle area due to improper wear of game socks and/or leg coverings, is prohibited at all times throughout the game.
- Tape used on shoes and socks must match the selected dominant shoe choice of the player.
- The team jersey is permitted to be hemmed, but the length must be long enough to cover the waist area. Skin exposure due to improper wear of the team jersey is prohibited at all times throughout the game.
- Towels must be white, or the player's team's primary colors (other than yellow or red), licensed towels that have been approved by the League office. Such towels also must be tucked into the front waist of the pants and are limited to a maximum of 6 inches wide and 8 inches long.
- Shoulder, thigh, and knee pads are mandatory equipment and must be worn by all players, except that punters and kickers are not required to wear thigh and knee pads. Shoulder pads, like any piece of mandatory equipment, must include all components designed and recommended by the professional manufacturer. Shoulder pads must not be cut, reduced in size, or otherwise altered unless for medical reasons approved in advance by the League office. The League office will enforce Rule 5, Section 4, Article 3 of the 2024 Official Playing Rules if a violation is discovered during pregame warm-ups or at other times prior to the game. Consequently, the player will be advised to make the appropriate correction; if the violation is not corrected, the player will not be permitted to enter the game. If a violation is discovered during the game, the player will be removed from the game until he has complied with the rule.
- Players are permitted to wear only visors provided by an NFL authorized supplier, currently Oakley. The Oakley Prizm Clear shield is approved for all players. Prior to wearing a tinted eye shield, players must be examined by a Board-Certified Ophthalmologist with a report and application submitted to the League-designated panel for approval, and approval must be granted before use. Please note that beginning with the 2024 season, the only approved tinted eye shields are the 60% (Light) and the 45% (Medium). The 20% (Dark) tinted eye shields will no longer be approved for any player. Players may only wear customized facemasks that have been certified to NOCSAE standards, approved for use by the helmet's manufacturer, and approved by the League office.

- All points of a chin strap, whether there are two points or four points, must be fastened to the helmet prior to the snap.
- All new helmet models must be certified in accordance with the National Operating Committee on Standards for Athletic Equipment (NOCSAE) test standards.
- NOCSAE licenses the National Athletic Equipment Reconditioners Association (NAERA) to recertify helmets according to the NOCSAE standard. Helmets must also meet recertification requirements set forth by the manufacturer of the helmet. NAERA will not recertify or recondition football helmets older than ten years old; accordingly, all helmets older than ten years must be removed from circulation and are not permitted to be worn by players in any NFL practice or game.
- Players are also only permitted to wear helmet models that have been evaluated and permitted for use by the NFL-NFLPA helmet testing program. Results from the NFL-NFLPA helmet testing program and a list of permitted helmets can be found here. Players are encouraged to consult with their equipment managers and club medical personnel to review the annual helmet performance results.
- Players are permitted to wear a Guardian Cap over the helmet in-game on game day, provided that the approved Guardian Cap pinnie is worn over and affixed to the Guardian Cap and contains all required helmet decals and markings. The NFL Football Operations department must approve any new product before it can be used by players or club personnel on the playing field or on the sidelines. The use of any product by a player or club personnel during a game without prior League approval may subject the player and/or the club to accountability measures.
- Facemasks may be replaced, provided the facemask used is approved by the applicable helmet manufacturer for use on the applicable helmet model, and that the replacement of the facemask follows any manufacturer standards or guidelines.

B. FOREIGN SUBSTANCES ON PLAYER UNIFORMS ON GAME DAY

If during the game a player is determined to have an unauthorized foreign substance on his uniform (body), the player must be removed from the game to change into a backup jersey. The confiscated jersey will be given to the League Security Representative, who will coordinate shipment to the League office. Contingent upon the outcome of an investigation of the confiscated jersey, the involved player and his team may be subject to League accountability measures.

C. ON FIELD POLICY

The On Field Policy is intended to ensure (1) the integrity and quality of apparel and related items (e.g., footwear, gloves, hats) worn on the field and sidelines on game day and at all Clubs' official mandatory minicamps, official preseason training camps, and all Club practice sessions (collectively, "On Field Apparel"), and (2) compliance with the commercial arrangements the National Football League has entered into with specific licensees. The On Field Policy ultimately benefits all players and Club Football staff in the League, and any attempts by players and Club Football staff to violate or circumvent this policy may be subject to discipline.

General Policy

- All On Field Apparel worn by NFL Players and club football staff on game day (defined as the period beginning prior to the game and continuing until 90 minutes after the whistle ending each game (preseason, regular season, and postseason) must be licensed and authorized for such use by the NFL. Additionally, with respect to official club entertainers (e.g., club cheerleaders, mascots, team bands) present on the field and its environs (e.g., sidelines) on game day, the apparel, related items and/or equipment worn and/or used by such individuals (specifically excluding any (x) licensed apparel authorized for use by the NFL; or (y) musical instrument that depicts, in an ancillary and traditional manner, the instrument's manufacturer's logo (e.g., the PEARL logo on a drum) may not bear or otherwise depict any visible third party (e.g., manufacturer) names, logos, brands, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs).

- Use of unauthorized or non-licensed On Field Apparel products on the field and its environs (e.g., locker room, sidelines) on game day is strictly prohibited.
- At all clubs' official mandatory minicamps, official preseason training camps, and all club practice sessions including post-practice interviews (collectively, "Club Events"), players are required (except where otherwise expressly provided below) to wear On Field Apparel that is officially licensed and authorized for such use by the NFL. Players that elect to wear On Field Apparel at Club Events that is not licensed and authorized for such use by the NFL (where permissible) are required to remove or cover any visible third party (e.g., manufacturer) name, logo, brand, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs) appearing on such products, in a manner acceptable to the NFL.
- Use of unauthorized or non-licensed On Field Apparel products bearing visible third-party (e.g., manufacturer) names, logos, brands, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs) at Club Events is strictly prohibited.
- Removal or mutilation of manufacturer's logos or authorized patches from any NFL licensed and authorized On Field Apparel by any player or team personnel for use on game day or at any Club Event is strictly prohibited and is subject to disciplinary action by the NFL.
- Any questions regarding authorized On Field Apparel should be directed to the team equipment manager or the following NFL personnel:

NFL Football Operations:	Akil Coad	212.450.2328
NFL On Field:	Jonathan Wright	212.450.2585

D. ON-FIELD APPAREL CATEGORIES/RULES

Outerwear

- Game Day – All players are required to wear the outerwear provided by Nike.
- Club Events – All players are encouraged to wear outerwear provided by Nike. Outerwear other than Nike must have all visible third party (e.g., manufacturer) names, logos, brands, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs) removed or covered, in a manner acceptable to the NFL.

Headwear

- Game Day and Club Events – All players that choose to wear headwear are required to wear their team-designated headwear provided by New Era.

Uniforms

- Game Day – All players must wear the game uniform provided by Nike.
- Club Events – All players must wear authorized On Field Apparel.

Footwear

- Game Day and Club Events:
 - » All footwear must conform to the NFL's Uniform Policy. Adidas and Nike are the only NFL authorized footwear suppliers.

- » All players may wear shoes identified with the NFL-approved primary logo of Adidas or Nike.
- » Players that choose to wear footwear other than Adidas or Nike must be solid black or solid white (no team color) and have all visible third-party (e.g., manufacturer) names, logos, brands, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs) removed or covered, in a manner according to the NFL Uniform Policy.
- » No manufacturer's logo may be applied to any brand of shoes once they have been spatted.
- » Players will be allowed to cut windows in a spat to expose the NFL-approved Adidas or Nike manufacturers' logos only, in a manner according to the NFL's Uniform Policy.
- » A limited number of NFL players are permitted to wear, during the 2024 NFL season, footwear bearing the Nike Jordan brand (the "Exempt Players"). Nike shall provide to the NFL a list of the Exempt Players and the NFL shall communicate the names of such Exempt Players to the applicable Clubs. Other than the Exempt Players, any player wearing game day footwear bearing the Nike Jordan brand shall be subject to standard game day brand exposure violation fines.

For competitive purposes, Kickers and Punters may wear their shoe of choice, but all footwear must meet NFL standards.

Helmets

- Game Day and Club Events:

- » No manufacturer is authorized to display exterior branding on helmets.
- » All brand identification on helmets must be removed or covered at all times. This includes chin straps and front and rear panels.
- » Chin straps and front and rear bumpers must be only white in color.

Player Gloves

- Game Day and Club Events:

- » All player gloves must conform to the NFL Uniform Policy.
- » Adidas and Nike are the only manufacturers authorized to display their NFL-approved primary logo on the exterior of player gloves.
- » Players who choose to wear gloves other than gloves bearing the NFL-approved primary logo of Adidas or Nike must be solid black or solid white (no team color) and have all visible third-party (e.g., manufacturer) names, logos, brands, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs) removed or covered.
- » A limited number of NFL players are permitted to wear, during the 2024 NFL season, gloves bearing the Nike Jordan brand (the "Exempt Players"). Nike shall provide to the NFL a list of the Exempt Players and the NFL shall communicate the names of such Exempt Players to the applicable Clubs. Other than the Exempt Players, any player wearing game day gloves bearing the Nike Jordan brand shall be subject to standard game day brand exposure violation fines.

Wristbands

- Game Day and Club Events:

- » All player wristbands must not bear any visible third party (e.g., manufacturer) names, logos, brands, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs). Any wristbands worn must be only white, black, or the official uniform color of the team.

Thermal Wear/Compression Wear/Undershirts

- Game Day and Club Events:

- » Nike is the only manufacturer authorized to display exterior branding on thermal wear/compression wear/undershirts.
- » Players who choose to wear thermal wear/compression wear/undershirts other than Nike must have all visible third party (e.g., manufacturer) names, logos, brands, or other commercial identification (e.g., proprietary designs) removed or covered.

Each team equipment manager will receive a full list of approved On Field Apparel prior to August 1, 2024.

Miscellaneous Uniform Areas

- Jersey Colors — Before July 1 each year, home clubs are required to report to the League office their choice of jersey color (either white or official team color) for their home games this season, and the visiting club must wear white or an NFL approved non-conflicting color. Teams may also designate (by July 1) an alternate option in the event their game time is changed due to flex scheduling. As a fail-safe procedure to guard against jersey color conflicts, home clubs, on the Monday preceding games, should notify the visiting club with their jersey information.
- Optional Uniforms — Each club is permitted to have two “Optional Uniforms” to be selected from the following three optional categories: (1) Alternate; (2) Classic; (3) Color Rush. Clubs may wear a League-approved Optional Uniform for up to three regular season games (home or away) and must submit its selection(s) to the NFL Football Operations department by July 1, along with all other jersey color designations for the upcoming season.

An alternate helmet is permitted subject to the below requirements. This alternate helmet must only be worn together with one of the club's authorized optional uniforms (Classic, Alternate, and/or Color Rush). If the alternate helmet is paired with a Classic uniform, the alternate helmet colors and designs must be historically accurate (consistent with the historically accurate uniform). If the alternate helmet is paired with an Alternate or Color Rush uniform, it must use a logo from some point in the club's history, but the shell/facemask/logo may be colorized according to the club's existing logo guidelines.

All use of alternate helmets will be subject to the following requirements:

- » Clubs must obtain an entire new set of alternate helmets for all players.
- » Alternate helmets must be the same make, model, and size as the applicable player's primary helmet.
- » Alternate helmets must be made available to all players at the start of training camp and should be fit at the same time as the primary helmet.
- » Alternate helmets must be worn in practice at a minimum during the week leading up to the game in which they will be used.

A visiting team may only wear an Optional Uniform if the jersey color is of sufficient contrast to the home team's jersey color, as determined by the NFL Football Operations department.

Optional Uniforms may be worn up to three times during the regular season and an unlimited number of times during the preseason. Optional Uniforms may not be worn in the postseason.

See On Field Policy for details on the Optional Uniform policy.

- Helmet Labels — Clubs should make sure that clear (not white) use-of-the-helmet warning labels are attached to the right rear of all football helmets. Each team must designate the color of the helmet label font prior to the season. Equipment managers should make sure they are attached, and players are instructed through playbook insertions and locker room signs not to remove the labels under any circumstances.

The NFL shield logo must be placed on the left rear of all helmets. Please contact the NFL Football Operations department if you need additional shield labels or helmet warning labels.

Jersey Numbering System — All players must wear numerals on their jerseys in accordance with Rule 5, Section 1, Article 2 of the 2024 Official Playing Rules, and such numerals must be by playing position, as follows:

Quarterbacks:	0–19
Punters and Placekickers:	0-49 and 90-99
Defensive Backs:	0–49
Running Backs, Full Backs, Tight Ends, H-Backs, Wide Receivers:	0-49 and 80-89
Offensive Linemen:	50–79
Defensive Linemen:	50–79 and 90–99
Linebackers:	0–59 and 90–99

If a player changes his position during his playing career in the NFL and such change moves him from a position as an ineligible pass receiver to that of an eligible pass receiver, or from a position as an eligible pass receiver to that of an ineligible pass receiver, he must be issued an appropriate new jersey number. A change in jersey numeral is not required if the change is from an ineligible position to another ineligible position, or from an eligible position to another eligible position, provided that the player has participated at least one season at his position prior to the change. Any request to wear a number for a special position not specified above must be made to the Commissioner.

During the preseason period when playing rosters are larger, the League will allow duplication and other temporary deviations from the numbering scheme. During the preseason, duplicate numbers are not permitted to be worn by two players playing on the same side of the ball (e.g., two offensive players cannot wear the same number). However, players wearing the same jersey number may be on the field at the same time for special teams plays. The rule prohibiting duplicate numbers must be adhered to by all players during the regular season and postseason. Clubs must make uniform numbers available to adhere to the rule, even if it requires putting back into circulation a uniform number that has been retired or withheld for other reasons.

Clubs are required to submit their rosters, including final jersey numbers, to the League office three days prior to their first regular season game. This does not limit a club from adding players to its 53-player roster at any point during or after the three-day period; however, the club must immediately identify the player's jersey number. For competitive reasons, no player may change his uniform number once the regular season begins. Players on the practice squad that have not been on the Active List for a regular season game are permitted to change jersey numbers in order to make an approved number available for a new player on the Active List. Special exceptions to this rule may be considered by the NFL Football Operations department depending on the circumstances (e.g., player traded to another team).

For marketing reasons, no player may change his uniform name or number without prior written authorization from the League office. This may include a requirement that the player (or club, if appropriate under the circumstances) purchase from the NFL's consumer products licensees any existing jersey inventory made obsolete by such change.

Please note that during the preseason, regular season, and postseason, clubs must request any deviation from the Jersey Numbering System necessitated by any unforeseen or unusual circumstances.

Jersey Nameplates — Only the player surname (last name) and generational suffix (e.g., Sr., Jr., III, etc.) are permitted on jersey nameplates. The League office may require supporting documentation in certain circumstances. A nickname, first name, first initial, middle name, or middle initial is not permitted.

- Changes in Club Uniform Design — If a club desires to make any changes in club colors, uniform appearance, designs of team helmets, designs of team uniforms, trademarks, or trade names, please contact the NFL Consumer Products department.

Captains' Patch Rules

- » The Captains' Patch ("C") may only be worn during regular and postseason games.
- » Players designated to wear the "C" must be reported to the NFL League office prior to their first regular season game:
 - The Monday prior to Thursday games
 - The Wednesday prior to Sunday/Monday Games
- » No more than eight players may be designated to wear the "C" in any given season.
- » The "C" must be worn on the wearer's right chest.
- » If a season-long Captain is placed on Reserve/Injured, a replacement may be selected, with the NFL League Office being notified of such change.
- » Players who wear the "C" will accumulate stars/status at a specific club.
 - At a player's request, and with Head Coach approval, stars/status may be transferred to another club.
- » Clubs not wearing the "C" in the regular season may request to do so in the postseason.

E. ENFORCEMENT OF UNIFORM AND ON-FIELD POLICIES

The League will strictly enforce the Uniform and Equipment Rules and On Field Policies. The following procedures will apply:

- Each team will designate one staff member (preferably a member of the equipment staff or assistant coach) to be its contact with uniform inspectors on policies governing uniforms and On Field Apparel. Teams must notify Akil Coad in the NFL Football Operations department who their designee will be no later than July 30.
- Thirty minutes prior to kickoff, each team designee must meet with a designated uniform inspector at a mutually agreed upon location. The designated uniform inspector will inform the team designee of any equipment, uniform, or On Field Apparel violations.
- Team designees are responsible for reporting violations to their respective head coaches. The team then must inform involved players of equipment, uniform, and On Field Apparel violations.
- If a player enters the game without correcting a violation, he must be removed from the game due to a refusal to comply with the Uniform Policy. The following procedures will take place: (1) At a TV break, a League representative will provide notification to the Referee (2) The Referee will notify the player's head coach that the player is still in violation of the Uniform Policy after receiving a prior warning and is being removed from the game until the violation is corrected.
- Players who violate the On Field Policy in view of the stadium audience after the game has started may be subject to discipline.
- Players whose equipment or uniform violations are not detected by uniform inspectors, who repeat violations on the same game day after having been corrected earlier, or who participate in the game despite not having corrected a violation when instructed to do so, may be subject to discipline.

- All points of a chin strap, whether there are two points or four points, must be fastened to the helmet prior to the snap. Though it is recognized that a strap may unfasten during the play, players who do not have their chin straps fastened prior to the snap may be subject to discipline. In order to ensure that players are in compliance with this rule, on field Game Officials, uniform inspectors on the sidelines, and League representatives in the press box will record instances in which players are observed participating in game action with their chin straps not fastened or improperly fastened. In addition, individuals who monitor telecasts of NFL games at the League's headquarters in New York will log instances of violations.
- Players who violate the On Field Policy at their Club's official mandatory minicamps, official preseason training camps, or practice sessions may be subject to discipline.
- As part of the continued focus on uniform compliance, game pant length has been identified as an area for improvement. Please be advised that clubs will be held accountable for players with multiple game pant violations. For the first game pant length violation, the player will receive a fine and the club will receive a warning. If the player receives a subsequent violation for game pant length and it is partially or fully upheld, the club will be fined an amount double that of what the player was fined.

A complete list of uniform and equipment rules can be found in Rule 5, Section 4 of the 2024 Official Playing Rules of the National Football League.

TICKET POLICIES

A. COMPLIMENTARY TICKETS

The following rules govern the complimentary ticket policy for preseason and regular season games. For policies governing complimentary tickets for postseason games, please consult the Postseason Games section of this Manual.

- Amount — The home club may deduct complimentary tickets of any price category listed on its ticket manifest provided the home club does not exceed the Complimentary Ticket Allowance. Complimentary tickets distributed in excess of the Complimentary Ticket Allowance must be shared as if they were sold at the season ticket price. The club must itemize the number of complimentary tickets issued by category of recipient. Tickets required to seat pregame and halftime entertainment personnel must be included in the home club's complimentary ticket total.
- Complimentary Ticket Allowance
 - » Clubs will each receive a complimentary ticket allowance for VTS purposes of 10,000 complimentary tickets for each home preseason game.
 - » For home regular season games, each Club with eight regular season home games will receive a total complimentary ticket allowance for VTS purposes of 17,000 tickets, which may be allocated at the Club's discretion over the course of the eight games. Each Club with nine regular season home games will receive a total complimentary ticket allowance for VTS purposes of 19,125 tickets, which may be allocated at the Club's discretion over the course of the nine games.
- Visiting Owners — Pursuant to the NFL Constitution and Bylaws, the home club must reserve a total of 25 seats for the visiting club within the 40-yard lines. However, League practice is to accept "comparable" tickets, which can mean seats in a private box, booth, or similarly private area, outside the 40s. If the visiting club consents, the home club may instead provide controlled-access seating (e.g., a private box) in another location. Locations of visiting owners' booths at all NFL stadiums are stated in the Directory of Club Contacts, Section C.
- Player Tickets — Each player is entitled to two complimentary tickets to each home game; visiting team players may each buy two tickets to the game from the best tickets available for public sale.
- NFL Players Association Comps — If an authorized NFL Players Association representative makes a request five days before a game, the home club will supply two complimentary tickets. Clubs will make their best efforts to make available four additional tickets to the NFLPA for purchase.
- Game Officials' Comps — Prior to the season, each club must provide to the NFL Officiating department, 16 complimentary season tickets for use by the Game Officials working each game, including preseason games. In certain instances, additional tickets may be needed as each assigned Game Official and Replay Official is entitled to two tickets.
- Visiting Team Tickets — The home club must provide the visiting club with a minimum of 500 tickets for purchase, in addition to the 25 owner-type tickets. These tickets should be sent well in advance of the scheduled game.
- Ticket Return Policy — The visiting club must inform the home club of the number of tickets it plans to return 120 hours before the game. These remaining tickets should be returned by the advance person or by other means as soon as possible. There should be club-to-club communication prior to each of the above steps, including ten days prior to game day. The visiting club should take the initiative. This initiative shifts to the home club whenever it can clearly project the game as a sellout. Ticket managers from the two clubs should communicate early on the arrangements. Up to 250 visiting team return tickets per game may be used as comp tickets in excess of the Complimentary Ticket Allowance.

- TV-Radio Tickets — During the term of the national media contracts, member clubs shall make a reasonable number of game tickets available for purchase by the League's broadcast partners to be used for the Network Advertiser/Sponsor Support, as follows:
 - » If requested, FOX and CBS will be allowed to purchase ten season tickets per club, and 24 tickets to any specific game telecast by the requesting network.
 - » If requested, each club will also make 50 tickets available for purchase to FOX and CBS for at least one game per season (game or games selected by the network).
 - » For each primetime game (regardless of the network or night), if requested, the home club will make available to the telecasting network for purchase not less than 175 tickets per game, as specified by the telecasting network.
 - » With respect to individual game ticket allocations other than season tickets, at least 20 tickets will be located between the 30-yard lines (with reasonable elevation) and with at least half of the remaining allocation between the goal lines, and all such tickets will be in groups of two or more.
 - » If requested, a minimum of 30 tickets per game will be provided for purchase to our national radio partner (currently Westwood One) for games it broadcasts.
 - » If requested, up to 50 tickets per regular season game will be provided for purchase to Google.
 - » All tickets made available to broadcast partners for purchase will be offered at face value and will be subject only to those handling charges generally applicable to tickets purchased directly from the club.

B. TICKET MANIFEST

Any ticket handling or ticket service charge in excess of $4.00 per regular season ticket account or order constitutes gross receipts and is to be shared in accordance with established procedures.

The home club should inform the League office of any changes in the ticket manifest after the July 15 due date.

C. GAME FINANCIAL SETTLEMENT

Final settlement of visiting club shares shall be made no later than the close of business on the Wednesday immediately following each regular season and preseason game. The home club shall make settlement by wiring Federal Funds to the League-directed bank account.

CLUB VIDEO POLICY

This section is intended to outline the policies around coaches video, which includes sideline (SL), end zone (EZ1) and second end zone (EZ2).

SL, EZ1, and EZ2 filming locations must be available for the purpose of filming each club's coaches video that can accommodate the required video personnel and camera equipment. Each location must have equal vantage points, be enclosed (including in indoor stadiums), separated from fans, and protected from inclement weather. It is recommended that clubs arrange for security in these locations. Club filming locations cannot be changed without League approval.

To ensure the protection of equipment and employees of the clubs' video departments, clubs must follow the below requirements for the video filming locations at its stadium:

- Any locations with doors entering the filming locations within the public seating areas of the stadium are required to be locked from both the inside and outside of the location to prevent unauthorized access. If a filming location cannot be locked, stadium security should be present to prevent any unauthorized access.
- All locations must have climate control (heat and/or fans). Any heaters and/or fans must be completely operational and produce the intended effect. Heaters that do not produce adequate heat should be replaced.
- All locations must supply adequate power for each club's technology use (at least two outlets per club). Clubs should use best efforts to have power located in front of the camera. The home club is responsible for providing extension cords and power strips, if requested.
- The sideline filming location requires adequate working/operational space for a minimum of four club video staff members (two per club) and their equipment. This filming location may also require additional space for a network camera. It is suggested that all filming locations provide either countertop space or tables for both clubs.
- Each end zone filming location requires adequate working/operational space for a minimum of two club video staff members (one per club) and their equipment. These filming locations may also require additional space for a network camera. It is suggested that all filming locations provide either countertop space or tables for both clubs.
- The video director, stadium operations, and NFL Football Operations must be notified if filming locations will be used for any other purpose.

A. CAMERA AND HARDWARE SPECIFICATIONS

- Video Files must be recorded with cameras and lenses that meet NFL standards as directed by the Competition Committee. Rules as to quality, standards, and procedures for intercut files have been agreed upon by the club video directors. Cameras used to film EZ2 are not subject to the specifications set by the Competition Committee for the 2024 season but must be recorded on a UMR20. Cameras used to film SL and EZ1 must meet the following criteria:
 - » Shoulder mount ENG style
 - » Interchangeable "broadcast style" lenses with servo zoom and remote-control capabilities
 - » Lenses must be specifically designed for use with HD cameras
 - » 3 image sensors (CCD or MOS/CMOS) 2/3" minimum size or 1 image sensor (MOS/CMOS only) 4/3" minimum size
 - » Camera must natively generate 720p 60fps format without the aid of external processing (i.e., cross/down conversion)
 - Internal derivation of 720p from higher resolution acceptable

- » Camera must output video in “broadcast ready,” “screen ready” state in REC709 color space

The following camera options and filming techniques are not permissible:

- » Handheld style cameras
- » Lenses designed for SD cameras
- » Log C color space or Raw state requiring additional processing before use
- » Monitoring quality output (HD-SDI Output, conforming to SMPTE 292M, must be at full broadcast quality)
- » “Up-resolution” from resolutions less than 720p

Camera maintenance is encouraged to create a cleaner and more saturated picture for challenging game conditions. Additional video enhancement can be achieved by aligning colors, gamma, white clip, etc. through means of charts and test equipment.

- The required acquisition format is AVCHD 720P/60fps at 8Mbps with a mp4 wrapper. This acquisition format can be captured only by the mandated Panasonic AG-UMR20 recorder.
- PTZ cameras are approved for use in coaching video acquisition. Clubs that use PTZ cameras must account for duplicative systems to support home and visiting club in any or each filming location. PTZ components should be accessible and not impact standard ENG filming for the visiting team. Clubs using PTZ cameras for game day video acquisition must coordinate operational plans with the League office prior to purchase and implementation and before the beginning of the first home preseason game.

Clubs acquiring new PTZ technology must use the following camera specifications:

- » AWUR-100 outdoor camera
- » AWRP 150

Clubs that were approved to use PTZ cameras (previously specific to end zone 2) prior to the 2024 season may continue to use cameras that were previously approved; however, these clubs must develop replacement options to meet the current PTZ video specifications by the start of the 2025 season.

- Use of PTZ cameras and the filming arrangements and controls must be documented and shared in advance to all visiting teams. For the 2024 season, home clubs must have all PTZs in either in one of the three filming locations and or place the controllers in each individual location. Both of these scenarios require a sight line to the field located in the traditional club filming location. All options must account for connection to the Leagues SVS solution.
- All stadiums must be equipped with the appropriate HD conversion equipment (supplied by the League) at all filming locations and are required to feed the sideline viewing system (SVS). Clubs must notify NFL Football Operations and NFL Football Technology if any HD conversion equipment needs to be repaired and/or replaced. All repairs and/or replacements of HD conversion equipment will be a team cost.

B. GAME FOOTAGE

- Acquisition of Game Footage

Clubs must adhere to the following requirements when acquiring game footage:

- » Clubs are prohibited from filming pregame warm-ups, including individual warm-ups, from the established team filming locations.

- » Each club may only operate one camera from each of the designated camera positions (SL, EZ1, and EZ2).
- » In the EZ1 filming position, each club will film an EZ1 tight view and their respective video signal will be used for SVS.
- » In the EZ2 filming position, the home team will film EZ tight view and must send that video signal to SVS for both teams.
 - The home team filming EZ2 tight must make that video available to the visiting club.
 - In the EZ2 filming position, the visiting team must film EZ wide view and must provide the EZ wide video file to the home club. The EZ wide view is not to be exchanged and is only for internal self-scout.
- » Preceding each sideline play, a two second shot of the scoreboard showing the correct down, distance, and field position must be shown. The game clock should be shown whenever possible but must be included at the start of each series on offense, defense, and preceding every kick on the special teams file. In a hurry up offense, clubs must not miss the pre-snap formation. There will be no scoreboard shot between the sideline and end zone plays. If the game clock is separate from the Down and Distance board, the Down and Distance board must be captured before the game clock.
- » Special teams plays should be filmed in accordance to the agreed upon manner by NFL Video Directors:
 - When filming kickoffs, begin with the two front lines in the frame and then zoom to a wide shot with the receiver in the picture prior to him catching the ball.
 - On FG/FGB, tilt to the Game Officials under the goal post for the Good or No Good officiating signal from the end zone camera. If the Game Official is included in the sideline view, zoom to the Game Official to the side of the kicker. Before zooming in on the Game Official, the angle must include all the pertinent game action.
 - If filming wide on EZ2, the Wide EZ Off, Def, P, and PR will all be wide. KO, KOR, FG, and FGB will be filmed like a normal tight view (like CGE exchange file).
 - If video directors are unclear if a specific play type should be associated as an offensive or special teams play, video directors should confer with the visiting team video director. NFL GSIS support can also be contacted for additional support.

• Editing of Game Footage

Clubs must adhere to the following requirements when editing game footage:

- » Coaches video filmed from the SL, EZ1, and EZ2 filming locations cannot be moved from those locations until the end of the first quarter. At the end of the first quarter, video files can be moved only by a club-appointed runner carrying the video card between club filming locations. Use of technology, including but not limited to wireless, digital, network, or other similar connections are prohibited to be used to transfer coaches video until the game is over, notwithstanding the below.

Clubs are permitted to submit a plan for the movement of video using fiber for approval by NFL Football Operations, and NFL Football Technology.

- In order to submit a plan, clubs must have acquired Icron Technologies and must ensure that dedicated stadium fiber infrastructure is available (NFL League fiber may not be used as its only approved use is for League technologies). Video directors must vet this solution with their club and provide a detailed plan with signatures for club and stadium executives. NFL Football Operations, with support from NFL Football Technology must approve club submissions before implementing.

- For clubs that receive approval to utilize this solution, all opponents must be made aware and offered use of this solution, to include receiving an outline of how the process works in pregame/in-game/postgame. The permissible timing of the movement of video remains unchanged, and no cards (either by runner or the abovementioned method) may be moved until the conclusion of the 1st quarter. Additionally, the home club must move visitors' video files first.

Clubs using this solution must still provide card runners to support on game day should the system become unavailable at any time. All other technologies available to move video are strictly prohibited. Any use of such technology is considered an integrity of the game violation.

- » Club video may only be ingested and edited at the shared club filming locations (SL, EZ1, or EZ2), where each club is able to ingest and edit video in front of one another. In cases where clubs do not share filming locations, or space does not allow for both clubs to ingest and edit video at a shared filming location, the home club must designate an alternate location for video to be ingested and edited. All alternate ingestion and editing locations must be approved by NFL Football Operations prior to the start of the preseason and will be permitted only when shared filming locations are not a viable option.
- » All video files must be marked in the following manner: Mark In beginning of the scoreboard and Mark Out at end of the scoreboard; Mark In at the beginning of the sideline angle, Mark Out at the end of the sideline angle; Mark In four seconds prior to snap or at the start of motion/shift from both end zones and Mark Out at the end of both end zones.
- » Every play of video is required to be edited in an intercut form. Plays should follow a video order of scoreboard, sideline, EZ1 and EZ2. End zone video used for intercuts must be EZ1 followed by EZ2.
- » Every sideline view on the intercut is required to show all pre-snap shifting and motion that occurs. The shifts and motions must be included on the end zone view. When there are no shifts or motions, it is required that the end zone view begin at least a full four seconds prior to the snap.
- » Offense, Defense, and Special Teams plays will be separated into individual files. Files should be intercut so that the plays are trimmed in the same manner as in the past to ensure that they do not run longer than needed and do not use up unnecessary storage on in-house systems.
- » Special Teams files must be edited to appear in game sequence. All Kickoffs, Kickoff Returns, Punts, Punt Returns, Field Goals/PATs, and Field Goal/PAT Blocks must appear in chronological order, regardless of which type of kicking play it is. Kicking plays may not be grouped by type. If the kicker is in the game on a PAT, the play goes in the special teams file regardless of whether or not it is a fake kick or two-point try. If the kicker is not in the game, the play goes on Offense or Defense file.
- » All penalties must be included in the intercut.
- » Excessive footage should not be included in intercut video (e.g., celebrations).

• Miscellaneous

- » Access to a club's "coaches' network" (e.g., Catapult/DVSPORT) during the game, including halftime, is prohibited.
- » The League office will continue to use a Makito X4 encoder to deliver SL, EZ1 and EZ2 video to the League office in real time for evaluation.
- » The home club is required to provide the All-22 feed to the broadcasting network. If the broadcasting network uses the home club's All-22 feed, the home club will designate how that feed is provided, assuming the method for providing the feed meets the broadcasting network's standard needs for in-game use. The broadcasting network is not permitted to tap into the home club's All-22 feed at any point other than that designated by the home club in order to avoid impacting the sideline viewing system of the home club. The broadcasting network is responsible for providing all equipment necessary for using the home club's All-22 feed from the location designated by the home club. The broadcasting network must notify the home club's video director how it intends to capture the All-22 feed at least three days prior to game day. If the broadcasting network does not choose to use the home club's All-22 feed, the home club must provide sufficient and safe space for the broadcasting network to film its own All-22 feed. The home club is not required to provide an end zone feed to the broadcasting network but is encouraged to do so when requested.

C. EXCHANGE OF GAME FOOTAGE

• Club Submission to Club Game Exchange (CGE):

- » Clubs must exchange their scoreboard, SL, EZ1 (EZ home backs tight), and EZ2 (EZ visitor backs tight) views.
- » Video directors must send only intercut files to the NFL Club Game Exchange (CGE). Intercut means each file – Offense (O), Defense (D), and Special Teams (K) – displays the scoreboard, then the sideline angle of the play immediately followed by the EZHBT (End Zone Home Back Tight) view and the EZVBT (End Zone Visitor Back Tight) view.
- » The home club is required to upload a copy of their game to the CGE network no later than 3 hours postgame. The visiting club is required to upload their ODK copy after returning to their facility to support League redundancy. This includes all preseason, regular season, and postseason games. Scrimmages and intrasquad practices with other clubs do not apply.
- » It is mandatory that all teams follow the naming structure.

For example, the Houston Texans at the Chicago Bears game on August 1, 2024, will be labeled as:

24 P001 08-01-24 HST O @ CHI from CHI.mp4
24 P001 08-01-24 HST O @ CHI from CHI.exchange
24 P001 08-01-24 HST D @ CHI from CHI.mp4
24 P001 08-01-24 HST D @ CHI from CHI.exchange
24 P001 08-01-24 HST K @ CHI from CHI.mp4
24 P001 08-01-24 HST K @ CHI from CHI.exchange

Use the team abbreviations included on your NFL block schedule. The CGE will provide a list of the games with the naming structure of each game prior to the season and during the week of the game. Please refer to this if there are any questions.

- » If a club is away from its facility (e.g., training camp, extended road trips, international games, etc.) and cannot access its CGE network to acquire an opponent's game, video directors should contact the CGE administrator and the opponent(s)' video director if necessary.
 - Clubs are to use the NFL CGE Media Exchange website (ICE) for exchanging files away from the facility.

• Club Game Exchange Distribution to Clubs:

NFL All-22 Coaching Footage

- » Distribution of NFL footage will begin after a game(s) is received by the CGE. Games submitted by AFC clubs are directed to a Virtual Dub Center (VDC) located at the NFL Network. NFC clubs are directed to NFL Films. Upon receipt, these files are automatically synced to the opposite VDC, providing a redundant storage repository in the event of a technical failure at either site. Upon sync, games will be distributed to the NFL clubs in two stages: (1) Officiating, the visiting team, and a club's next two opponents receive the files; and (2) the remaining clubs for general distribution. As games are received throughout the night, this process is repeated until each club receives all games played in a week.

- » CGE is governed by the embargo rule, an equal and fair access concept that ensures each game is delivered to all clubs at the same time. Aside from the exchange of each club's next two opponents, a game is not made available to any club until it has been delivered to every club. If an equipment or connectivity problem prevents delivery of a game to one or more clubs, the embargo process prevents that game from becoming available to the rest of the clubs until the equipment or connectivity problem is resolved, allowing all clubs to access the game at the same time. The embargo is lifted if the equipment or connectivity problem is unresolved after six hours, since it is likely that significant intervention will be required (replacement equipment, on-site service call) to resolve. If connectivity problems persist, the CGE will work with the affected club to provide it with their game files via an alternate method in the quickest manner possible.

College All-22 Coaching Footage

- » College game distribution from the CGE to the clubs occurs after NFL game distribution has been completed each week and finishes prior to the start of games on Sunday. For games received via Signiant Media Exchange, Hudl, hard drive, or any other acceptable means of delivery, files are checked for quality control, play marked if necessary, water marked with the NFL shield, and then converted, if necessary, to the 720p 8mb format in an .mp4 wrapper for distribution. Once a file is deemed ready by the CGE, it is delivered simultaneously via the CGE Network to all 32 NFL clubs in one run. This process is repeated throughout the college regular, bowl, and playoff seasons.
- » College coaching video received for scouting purposes may not be used for any other business purpose. Clubs should remind all personnel traveling to college campuses that college video is prohibited from being shared with anyone outside the NFL.

CFL and UFL All-22 Coaching Footage

- » Distribution from the CFL and UFL to the clubs through the CGE occurs after NFL game distribution has been completed each week and finishes prior to the start of games on Sunday. Games are received from these leagues via Signiant Media Exchange. Upon arrival, files are checked for quality control, and renamed, if necessary, to a 720p 8mb format in an .mp4 wrapper for distribution. Once a file is deemed ready by the CGE, it is delivered simultaneously via the CGE Network to all 32 NFL clubs & Officiating in one run. For all of these leagues, this process is repeated throughout the preseason, regular season, and postseason.
- » Coaching video received from these leagues for scouting purposes may not be used for any other business purpose. Clubs should remind all personnel that video from these leagues is prohibited from being shared with anyone outside the NFL.

D. DISTRIBUTION OF GAME FOOTAGE TO CLUB PERSONNEL

• NFL All-22 Coaching Footage:

- » All NFL game coaching video must be obtained from the CGE. The Network Broadcast game video can be obtained from the CGE, NFL Films Internet Content Exchange (ICE) system, or be recorded by the club.
- » All NFL coaching video, game broadcast video, cut-ups, and practice video may be downloaded over the internet or uploaded to laptops or tablets by clubs for distribution to their football staff and players. Furthermore, each club may develop a cloud-based network to allow for streaming of such video over the internet to such club-owned or privately-owned devices.
- » Clubs are strictly prohibited from distributing another club's video to a college or any other entity. NFL All-22 video will be posted on the CGE Signiant Media Exchange site. Colleges that participate in the game exchange program will receive secure accounts and password information to log in and download the material.

- » Clubs that are away from their facility and are unable to access their CGE network at any time during the season may also contact the CGE to establish alternate delivery and/or receipt of game files via the Signiant CGE Media Exchange or Internet Content Exchange (ICE) system.

- College All-22 Coaching Footage:

- » If a college is scheduled to submit its coaching video to the CGE, clubs may only receive that video from the CGE. If a college is not scheduled to submit its coaching video to the CGE, clubs may receive the video directly from the college.
- » College coaching video received for scouting purposes may not be used for any other business purpose. Clubs should remind all personnel traveling to college campuses that college video is prohibited from being shared with anyone outside the NFL.
- » Clubs are permitted to stream and/or download college coaching video to their employees' laptops or tablets. However, clubs are required to implement all necessary security measures to ensure that the content is protected as determined by NFL Security.
- » The CGE will also distribute Combine workouts and interviews to all clubs, as well as college Pro Day workouts to clubs that have agreements with schools to receive them.

- Network Broadcast Footage:

- » Each week, each club will receive all network games over the CGE Network. These games will be delivered after the completion of each game. The games will be delivered as AVCHD 720P/60fps at 8Mbps .mp4 files. Clubs will be able to import these files into Catapult or DVSport editing systems.
- » Clubs are only permitted to review network footage that is part of the televised broadcast of a game and NFL Football Operations-distributed camera angles. Clubs are not permitted to request or review any additional game footage from the League's broadcast partners or any other network that was not part of the televised broadcast.
- » Upon receipt of the television broadcast version of a home game from NFL Films via the CGE Network, the home club should import the media into their Sports InterOp Group approved software solution. Each play must be marked as an individual play.

The following details outline correct procedures for video directors to create consistent marks for importing into their club editors:

- The Mark In must be at the first frame of video that is broadcasted of the current play. This frame of video could be, but is not limited to, any of the following: Offense/Defense in the huddle, breaking the huddle, approaching the line of scrimmage, snapping the ball, late after snap of ball, lining up for a Kickoff, Punt, or Field Goal.
- The Mark Out should be on the last frame of video of the current play and one frame before the beginning of the next play. This frame of video could be, but is not limited to, the final frame of the current play live or final frame of a replay. All replays that are shown prior to any frames of the Offense/Defense huddling, breaking the huddle, or approaching the line of scrimmage for the next play should be included within the Mark Out of the current play.
- Once a new Mark In is logged designating a new current play, any replays from previous plays that are shown will be considered part of the current play for the purposes of these rules.
- If, during the process of the current play, either team chooses to call a timeout, any commercials shown will be included in the current play (this includes a timeout at the end of the first and third quarters).

- If the current play is reviewed by Instant Replay, the Mark Out for the current play will be on the last frame after the decision of the review is announced and prior to the first frame of video for the next play. The current play may include multiple replays and television commercials.
- The only television commercials that should be included within the framework of any Mark In/Mark Out is a television commercial included within a Timeout or Instant Replay Review. All other commercials that occur at the End of a Series, Quarter, or Half should be excluded from any Mark In/Mark Outs.
- Once all MP4s associated with a club's home game have been marked completely, the home club must ensure that each play has the correct ODK information, based upon the home club's side of ball perspective. The home club is responsible for confirming that the television broadcast marks match correctly with the Coaches' ODK media that is sent to the CGE distribution network. This is an important step as the ODK information will be passed along in the .exchange file and can be used by the other clubs to quickly create ODK edits of the television broadcast media.
- Once all MP4s associated with a game have been properly marked and audited, the home club should follow the proper method established within their software solution to generate the .exchange file. The home club should generate two separate .exchange files, one for the first half and one for the second half, to match the original television broadcast MP4s distributed by CGE. Overtime will generate a third MP4 and .exchange file.

The .exchange files that are generated by the home club must be sent to the CGE network for distribution to all other clubs.

All marked versions of the television broadcast should be submitted to CGE by the home club. The home club must submit the marked versions of the television broadcast by noon the next day through CGE. Clubs that fail to edit and submit marked television broadcast footage from their home games will not be permitted access to any other television broadcast footage that has been marked by other clubs.

• Security

If a club allows NFL video files to be downloaded over the internet or uploaded onto club-owned or privately-owned devices, it must adhere to the following standards:

- » Club-owned laptops and tablets must have MDM software installed (i.e., MobileIron or AirWatch) that enables the club to remotely wipe the content of the device.
- » Club-owned devices must be password enabled.
- » AES Encryption standard is required.

If a club develops a cloud-based network for the purpose of streaming video to club-owned or privately-owned devices, it must adhere to the following standards:

- » The cloud-server can be at the club's facility or at an outside storage provider (see "Vendors" below).
- » Club-owned devices must be password enabled.
- » AES Encryption standard is required.

In both of the above scenarios, clubs are required to keep a log of video usage that must be monitored by the club and provided to the League office if requested.

A club may use the vendor of its choice to establish digital distribution provided the vendor signs a confidentiality agreement and agrees to follow all procedures and security standards set by the League. A vendor is prohibited from acting as a distribution center of NFL All-22 coaching video or college All-22 coaching video to NFL clubs or any college.

E. MISCELLANEOUS RULES AND REGULATIONS

- Team personnel, including coaches and players, are permitted to use laptops or tablets to view video of previous weeks' game footage in the locker room prior to kickoff. Once the game has begun, such devices are prohibited from being used in the locker room until the conclusion of the game.
- A projector may be used to display diagrams, photos, drawings, and written documents in the locker room, including during halftime. However, a projector may never be used to display video in any club-controlled area. A document camera, defined as a device that captures visual images by using a camera mounted vertically on a base, is permitted to be attached to a projector. Devices connected to the internet, an intranet, or that store information, including, but not limited to, a personal computer, laptop, tablet, e-board, hard drive, flash drive, or thumb drive may not be used in conjunction with a document camera or a projector, unless it is an NFL-issued Microsoft Surface tablet used for coaches' still photos.
 - » Questions regarding the type of device that can be attached to a projector or the type of item that can be displayed via a projector should be directed to NFL Football Operations prior to the club using such device or displaying such item.
- The League office will provide four additional broadcast angles to clubs from the following specified camera locations: Right 20, Left 20, High EZ, and All-22 to clubs no earlier than 24 hours postgame. These League-provided angles are permitted to be used by both Football and Business staffs. This video will be distributed via NFL Media Exchange, and clubs will only receive angles from their games. Clubs are strictly prohibited from accessing these angles from any other source or entity.

PRESEASON GAMES

A. PRESEASON GAME POLICY

For preseason games, it is each club's responsibility to ensure that it upholds competitive integrity on the field and avoids negative public comments about such games.

- Preseason — Preseason games must be presented in a professional manner that emphasizes the high-quality athletic entertainment of NFL contests. While it is recognized and expected that coaches will use such games to give more playing time to rookies and back-up veterans in order to improve the team's regular season potential, a primary goal should be to win the game at hand.

The Competition Committee believes that the preseason can be conducted appropriately in terms of player selection, squad development, and avoidance of injuries to key veterans, without denigrating these games with thoughtless and unnecessary statements and acts. In light of this, the Competition Committee recommends that any public comments or significant actions by clubs that are counterproductive to the spirit of competition during NFL preseason games may be subject to accountability measures.

- Playing to Win — Other than permissible lineup changes for player-evaluating purposes, any action that indicates a team is not giving its best effort to win a preseason game is unacceptable. For example, pregame agreements of any type, such as playing certain personnel at agreed-upon times in the game, or "going easy" on the opposing team's starting quarterback or other specific players, are not permitted.
- Public Comments — Public comments by management, coaches, or any other person in an organization must not denigrate preseason games. Constructive comments that emphasize the importance of preseason games for individual player development and team depth should be used by coaches and others in an organization when dealing with the media. Rather than being critical, coaches and other club spokespersons should stress the many positive and important aspects of the preseason. These include the opportunities that these games afford to build stronger teams, to hone the skills of veterans, to showcase younger talent, and to have all players compete vigorously for starting and roster spots with their clubs.
- Public Displays — There shall be no public displays of indifference toward preseason games — for example, players "dressing down" by removing their jerseys in the bench area after participating in a preseason game or conducting themselves on or around the playing field in a manner which implies that the players are disinterested and that the contests are unimportant. The same uniform standards and sideline decorum of regular season games must be displayed at all times during preseason games for those players who will play in the game.
- Handling of Players — Non-injured players must travel to the game site for preseason games. Any player who will not play in the game must wear team-issued apparel with team marks if they are not in uniform. Those players are not required to wear protective equipment, game pants, or jerseys.
- Network Broadcast — For the 2024 season, all preseason home games are on club season-ticket packages, and all 49 games will be broadcast by our television partners; five games will be nationally televised live by either CBS, FOX, NBC, ESPN, or Prime Video and select games will be televised live by NFL Network.

B. HALL OF FAME GAME

Schedule of Games — The Commissioner has the authority to designate the participants in the Hall of Fame game on an annual basis. The game is always played one week prior to start of the preseason schedule.

- 2024 — Houston Texans vs. Chicago Bears (Home team is bold faced.)

Participating Clubs

- Financial/Expenses

- » Each participating club is reimbursed by the Pro Football Hall of Fame a maximum of $15,000 for miscellaneous expenses in Canton.
- » The Pro Football Hall of Fame is responsible for reimbursing the participating clubs for air transportation, up to a certain amount. Participating clubs are responsible for per diem.

- Player Compensation

For the 2024 game, the compensation is:

» Players with four or more pension credited NFL seasons	$2,533.00
» Players with three pension credited NFL seasons	$1,924.00
» Players with two pension credited NFL seasons	$1,355.00
» Players with one pension credited NFL season	$720.00

Players without a pension credit receive no compensation. The per diem they receive for time spent in camp before the first preseason game and per diem for veterans are expenses borne by the participating clubs and not by the Hall of Fame.

- Schedule for Participating Clubs

- » Thursday – Deadline for updating team rosters, depth charts, and starting lineups for programs. Kickoff time is 8:00 p.m. ET.

- 2024 Enshrinees

- » The 2024 class to be inducted is Dwight Freeney, Randy Gradishar, Devin Hester, Andre Johnson, Steve McMichael, Julius Peppers, and Patrick Willis.

- Television/Radio

- » The game will be telecast nationally by ESPN. Each club will receive $50,000. Westwood One will provide national network radio coverage.

INTERNATIONAL GAMES

International Games are conducted under the authority of the League office. For any International Game, the League has the responsibility to ensure and provide that all game operations requirements are met. As the International Games expands into new stadiums, there may be certain football-areas in stadiums that do not meet the strict requirements (size, location, configuration, etc.) set forth in this Manual. While these areas may not meet those specific requirements, the League will use its best efforts to ensure that these areas are functional by NFL standards, and do not create a competitive advantage for any of the participating clubs. Game arrangements, including broadcast rights and playing sites, are under the control of the Commissioner. All competitive aspects of the International Games will be considered, and if necessary, approved by the Competition Committee.

2024 NFL SÃO PAULO GAME

The NFL São Paulo Game for the 2024 NFL season will consist of the following game:

GAME DATE	DESIGNATED CLUB	OPPONENT CLUB	GAME SITE
Friday, September 6	Philadelphia Eagles	Green Bay Packers	Corinthians Arena

A. BACK-UP VENUE

The Designated Club is required to secure the availability of its stadium for the scheduled game day in the event that the game needs to be relocated. No other events may be scheduled at the Designated Club's home stadium for the scheduled game day, or before or after the scheduled game day if such events might interfere with the Designated Club's ability to host the game at its home stadium.

B. PARTICIPATING CLUB OPERATIONAL MATTERS

Air Travel and Club Equipment Shipment

- The NFL will pay for travel costs for a 140-person traveling party for each participating club (inclusive of players, coaches, executives, working staff and game day operations staff, but excluding cheerleaders and mascots (if required)).
- Participating clubs must make arrangements with their own air travel supplier to fly their team traveling party to and from Brazil for the game. The NFL will reimburse to the participating clubs (a) the cost to the participating club of these flights for the team traveling party (provided that the costs are pre-approved by the NFL), and (b) the passenger taxes incurred for the team traveling party. Clubs may include additional passengers on the aircraft, but the club will be responsible for associated passenger taxes for additional passengers. Travel on the chartered aircraft may not be sold, bartered, or offered in connection with contests or similar promotions. Clubs must make two seats on the charter available for NFL vendors (airline and cargo rep).
- The NFL will pay for business class travel for any players added to the roster after the participating club's game immediately prior to traveling to Brazil. Added players must travel back on the charter (subject to space availability). If a player added to the roster causes the team traveling party to exceed 140, the participating club will be responsible for the hotel and meal costs for the added players.
- The NFL will pay for up to 40 passports for members of the team traveling party. The NFL is monitoring potential visa requirements for travel to Brazil. The NFL will work with the participating clubs to expedite any visa requirements based on regulations at the time of travel.
- The NFL will ship club equipment by ocean freight (fully insured). Any club equipment not included in the ocean freight shipment must be placed on the club's charter or shipped separately at the club's expense.

- For clubs departing Friday following the game, club equipment will be shipped separately as soon as possible after the game, ideally on Saturday, at the NFL's cost (fully insured).

Hotel, Transportation, Meals and Other Accommodations

- The NFL will pay for a maximum 3-night stay in São Paulo for the team traveling party (136 standard rooms and 4 suites). Participating clubs will stay at an NFL-designated property. Any additional rooms requested by the participating club must be contracted for separately by the club and will be at the participating club's cost (and may not be offered at the NFL rate) and subject to availability. Incidentals are the responsibility of the club or individual guests.
- The NFL will provide the following ground transportation for each participating club in São Paulo: 6 buses (44-passenger) for club arrival, game day transport and club departure, 4 buses on standby for transportation to practice, 2 minivans for Football Operations staff, 1 minibus for equipment and training staff, and two 24-ft trucks for club equipment and luggage. Ground transportation is provided on an as-needed and scheduled basis only (not on 24-hour standby).
- The NFL will provide the participating clubs 3 meals (breakfast, lunch, and dinner) per day while in São Paulo (including meals provided at practice facilities, the stadium or on the airplane). The participating clubs may elect to provide per diems in lieu of an organized meal or for members of the team traveling party who are unable to attend group meals, but the participating club will be responsible for providing the cash per diem in those instances (subject to reimbursement by the NFL). Per diems are subject to the maximum amounts set forth in Article 34, Section of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.
- All security for the 2024 NFL São Paulo Game and the team traveling party will be coordinated and controlled by the NFL, including all communications with the local law enforcement and the U.S. Embassy. Security staffing levels for all NFL games, activities and venues will be dedicated by threat assessments performed on behalf of the NFL. This includes hotels, events, and practice facilities. The selection of security personnel for the team hotel, as well as for all practice facilities and other venues, will be made at the sole discretion of the NFL. Participating clubs may bring additional security personnel, but all travel, accommodations and other expenses for such personnel will be the club's sole responsibility.
- Reasonable meeting space at the participating club's hotel will be provided by the NFL.
- The NFL will coordinate, at its cost, Med-Jet Assist coverage for the team traveling party. Additional personnel to be included in the Med-Jet Assist coverage at the request of the participating club will be at its cost.

Travel Expense Reimbursement

- The Opponent Club will be required to reimburse the NFL for an amount equal to (x) the average travel costs (e.g. hotel costs, ground transportation, per diems/food, but excluding flights) for the Opponent Club's other 2024 regular season away games plus (y) the value of a round-trip charter flight from the Opponent Club's home city to the Designated Club's city (e.g., from New Orleans to Miami).

Practice Facilities

- The NFL will cover the cost of 1 practice facility for each participating club.
- The NFL will provide strength and conditioning facilities (consistent with previous international games) either on-site at the practice facility or at an alternative location (in necessary).
- Subject to approval by NFL Football Operations, clubs may request a one-hour walkthrough at the stadium during designated times on the Thursday prior to game day, consistent with the stadium walkthrough policy.

Discretionary Fund

- The NFL will provide a $60,000 discretionary fund for each participating club to use to pay travel costs for additional personnel or for other approved operational costs. All costs designated for payment from the discretionary fund must be pre-approved by the NFL.

Planning and Promotional Trips; Community Engagements

- The NFL will provide 12 round-trip airline tickets for NFL-designated planning trips for each participating club, subject to the following guidelines: (1) class of service will be consistent with the participating club's travel policy, (2) tickets must be booked 14 days prior to travel, (3) business class tickets shall not exceed $8,000 per ticket, and (4) the NFL must approve all suggested travelers. The NFL will also provide ground transportation (on an as-needed and scheduled basis), hotel accommodations and reimbursement of expenses incurred (in accordance with NFL Travel and Expense Policy) for the NFL-designated planning trips for each participating club. Participating clubs must have at least 1 member of their football operations department with the authority to review and approve facilities among those attending the first planning trip. The 12 tickets described above shall be a total amount to be divided among the various planning trips at the participating club's discretion, and not a per trip amount. The NFL requires that one of the planning trips includes representation from security, team operations, medical, field management, and IT departments.
- The NFL will pay for 3 one-way airline tickets, hotel accommodations, meal per diem (consistent with NFL Travel and Expense Policies), and 2 minivans with drivers (on an as needed and scheduled basis) for participating club advance staff to travel to São Paulo in advance of the team. Advance staff must return on the club charter. Advance staff may arrive in São Paulo no earlier than 3 days prior to the team's arrival.
- During the NFL offseason, participating clubs may participate in promotional trips to São Paulo, at its own expense. Where the participating club chooses to participate in such promotional trips, the NFL will work with the participating club to schedule media appearances, content capture opportunities and other relevant promotional opportunities.
- Participating clubs may be required to make select players (a total of 6, including the starting quarterback and other high-profile/starting players) available for a content capture commitment or personal appearance on the Wednesday or Thursday before the game, dependent on travel schedule and plans in the market. The type of event will be determined by the NFL no later than June 15.

C. GAME COORDINATION

Stadium Operations

- The NFL will coordinate all stadium operations for the game, including, without limitation, all stadium and environmental décor. The in-bowl décor will be both Designated Club and NFL-branded. All other décor may include NFL, NFL São Paulo Game 2024, Designated Club and Opponent Club branding, at the sole discretion of the NFL. On-field décor, if any, will be at the sole discretion of the NFL.

Entertainment

- All pregame, halftime and postgame entertainment will be coordinated by, and at the discretion of, the NFL. Programming during player warm-ups and introduction, and following the game will promote the Designated Club only. The NFL may request that the clubs provide individual player introductions for use at the game.

Cheerleaders and Mascots

- If the NFL requests that either club bring cheerleaders or mascots to São Paulo, the specifics of such requests will be mutually agreed upon by the club and the NFL.

Game Operations Staff

- Generally, the NFL will provide game operations staff for the game. If the NFL requests that the Designated Club provide any specific game operations staff that would otherwise not have traveled with the team to the game, such staff will be included in the Designated Club traveling party and the NFL will pay the travel expenses (airfare, hotel, and ground transportation, but excluding or other compensation) in the same manner as other members.

Field Access

- In-game field access allotments remain consistent with 2024 regular season policies.

Pregame Field Passes

- The NFL will provide the participating clubs with pregame passes for special guests. The Designated Club will receive 200 pregame passes and the Opponent Club will receive 125.

D. GAME BROADCAST AND MEDIA REQUIREMENTS

Game Broadcast

- The NFL reserves all rights for broadcast of the game in the United States and internationally. The clubs may have their regular radio broadcast network partner make the game available via free terrestrial radio. The NFL will provide press box space, ISDN lines and 2 sets of dry pairs for each club's English and Spanish language radio broadcast partners. All other costs are the responsibility of the club or its radio broadcast partners.

Media Requirements

- The minimum standards for media access during the regular season practice week will apply to clubs taking part in the 2024 São Paulo Game. Due to the global interest in the event, however, there will be important additional media opportunities and reasonable club cooperation is expected.
- Some aspects of the Media Access Policy will differ during a club's time in São Paulo. For example, all practices in São Paulo must be open to all Brazil-based media as well as the club's local media for at least the first 30 minutes or until the start of "team" work.
- During the game week in São Paulo, each club must provide a prominent player to participate in a mandatory 15-minute, one-on-one interview with any Brazilian broadcast partner airing the game live during (TV and radio).
- On game day, both clubs must use an NFL-supplied NFL São Paulo Game 2024 backdrop in their postgame press conference rooms. Other postgame media requirements are the same as for a traditional regular season game in the United States, including opening the locker room no later than 10-15 minutes following the conclusion of the game.

E. GAME CREDENTIALS

Game credentials for clubs and their local media will be issued by the League office. Credentials do not provide access to hospitality areas other than for staff with working functions in such areas.

F. PARTICIPATING CLUB GAME TICKETS

Designated Club Game Tickets

- General Admission
 - » The NFL will reserve 1,550 general admission game tickets across various price categories for the Designated Club's use. All price categories and locations will be determined by the NFL and shared with the Designated Club's preschedule release. Where distribution allows, most seats will be located on the Designated Club's side of the stadium. Tickets should be allocated as follows.
 - 800 to be sold to Season Ticket Members (STM)
 - 750 complimentary for internal use

The NFL will allocate tickets to the Designated Club via Ticketmaster Brazil's Allocation Manager. The club will be given access to, and sufficient training on, Allocation Manager.

- Season Ticket Member Sale

- » The Designated Club is free to allocate all STM tickets as they see fit; however, all bookings should be entered into the Allocation Manager and paid for by fans no later than 14 days prior to the public general admission sale. For reference, the public general admission sale will take place in June/July (TBD). All STM tickets purchased will be subject to Ticketmaster fees per ticket and per booking. All tickets will be issued as digital or mobile tickets only. Any tickets unsold from the STM allotment after the sales window closes will be returned to the NFL for sale to the public or other distribution, at the NFL's sole discretion.

- Internal Allotment

- » Up to 750 internal tickets can be issued as complimentary. Any complimentary tickets used will not count toward the club's regular season Complimentary Ticket Allowance for VTS purposes. However, please note, the club is not obliged to issue any tickets as complimentary. Any number may instead be sold by the club at face value. The club will be required to manage any payments on their own ticketing platform. While there's no restriction on who tickets can be sold to, the club is reminded that this allocation is intended to cover all internal requirements including players, coaches, staff, F&F, corporate partners, etc. Any sales outside of club personnel should first be discussed with the NFL ticketing team. The NFL will invoice the Designated Club for all sold tickets as part of the postgame settlement. All tickets will be issued as digital/mobile tickets only. Any tickets likely to be forwarded by the initial named ticket holder (e.g., groups/coaches/players) will need to be managed by the club ticketing representative. The NFL will retain all revenue from the tickets sold or otherwise not used as part of the complimentary allocation and the club must provide a reconciliation of all tickets issued.
- » If the Designated Club does not require the full internal allocation of 750 tickets, any surplus tickets must be returned to the NFL no later than 14 days prior to the general public sale. For any tickets that remain under club control, the club must provide a report on July 15, and weekly thereafter (by close of business on Friday of each week), that details every remaining seat in the allocation, showing whether it is allocated as complimentary, or sold, or is unallocated. Clubs must adhere to the mandatory return timeframes and permitted holds as stipulated below for any seats that go unallocated:
 - 14 days prior to Public GA Sale – Club confirms how many of the 750 internal allotment is accounted for or they are deciding to keep for future allocation.
 - July 15 – Detailed report of total allocation showing complimentary/sold/remaining unallocated.
 - 1 month prior to game day – Max Unallocated Holds – 200
 - 2 weeks prior to game day – Max Unallocated Holds – 50
 - Game week – No more than 30 unallocated tickets can be held.

All unallocated tickets, above the number detailed, must be returned to the NFL prior to the respective deadlines for sale to the public or other distribution at the NFL's sole discretion. Postgame, the NFL will review all no-shows/unscanned tickets from club allocations and may query them with the club to understand how they can be mitigated for future games.

Opponent Club Game Tickets

- General Admission

- » The NFL will reserve 1,350 general admission game tickets across various price categories for the Opponent Club's use. All price categories and locations will be determined by the NFL and shared with the Opponent Club's prescheduled release. Where distribution allows, most seats will be located on the Opponent Club's side of the stadium. Tickets should be allocated as follows.
 - 600 to be sold to Season Ticket Members (STM)
 - 750 for internal use

The NFL will allocate tickets to the Opponent club via Ticketmaster Brazil's Allocation Manager. The club will be given access to, and sufficient training on, Allocation Manager.

- Season Ticket Member Sale

- » The Opponent Club is free to allocate all STM tickets as they see fit; however, all bookings should be entered into the Allocation Manager and paid for by fans no later than 14 days prior to the public general admission sale. For reference, the public general admission sale will take place in June/July (TBD). All STM tickets purchased will be subject to Ticketmaster fees per ticket and per booking. All tickets will be issued as digital or mobile tickets only. Any tickets unsold from the STM allotment after the sales window closes will be returned to the NFL for sale to the public or other distribution at the NFL's sole discretion.

- Internal Allotment

- » The Opponent club will be allocated 750 tickets for internal use. All tickets allocated will be charged at face value. The club will be required to manage any payments on their own ticketing platform. While there is no restriction on who tickets can be sold to, the club is reminded that this allocation is intended to cover all internal requirements, including players, coaches, staff, F&F, corporate partners, etc. Any sales outside of club personnel should first be discussed with the NFL ticketing team. The NFL will invoice the Opponent Club for all sold tickets as part of the postgame settlement. All tickets will be issued as digital/mobile tickets only. Any tickets likely to be forwarded by the initial named ticket holder (e.g., groups/coaches/players) will need to be managed by the club ticketing representative. The NFL will retain all revenue from the tickets sold. The club must provide a reconciliation of all tickets issued.
- » If the Opponent club does not require the full internal allocation of 750 tickets, any surplus tickets must be returned to the NFL no later than 14 days prior to the general public sale. For any tickets that remain under club control, the club must provide a report on July 15, and weekly thereafter (by close of business on Friday each week), that details every remaining seat in the allocation, showing whether it is sold or unallocated. Clubs must adhere to the mandatory return timeframe and permitted holds as stipulated below for any seats that go unallocated.
 - 14 days prior to Public GA Sale – Club confirms how many of the 750 internal allotment is accounted for or they are deciding to keep for future allocation.
 - July 15 – Detailed report of total allocation showing sold/remaining unallocated.
 - 1 month prior to game day – Max Unallocated Holds – 200
 - 2 weeks prior to game day – Max Unallocated Holds – 50
 - Game week – No more than 30 unallocated tickets can be held.

All unallocated tickets, above the numbers detailed, must be returned to the NFL prior to the respective deadlines for sale to the public or other distributions at the NFL's sole discretion. Postgame, the NFL will review all no-shows/unsold tickets from club allocations and may query them with the club to understand how they can be mitigated for future games.

Global Markets Program Teams – Additional GA Tickets to Purchase

- Designated Clubs with local GMP rights may request to purchase up to 100 additional GA tickets. Requests should be made via your Club Account Director no later than May 30.
- Opponent Clubs with local GMP rights may request to purchase up to 50 additional GA tickets. Requests should be made via your Club Account Director no later than May 30.

Premium/Hospitality

- The NFL will reserve the following premium/hospitality for the participating clubs (locations to be determined by the NFL).
 - » 1 complimentary suite intended for ownership (maximum of 12 seats)
 - » 1 suite for purchase (maximum of 12 seats)

Please note, premium/hospitality offerings may vary between stadiums.

Additional Hospitality to Purchase

- The NFL cannot guarantee any further additional premium/hospitality to purchase. However, participating clubs may request to purchase additional retail hospitality, including suites, subject to availability. Premium/Hospitality packages cannot be held or reserved without payment. All additional hospitality packages must be confirmed and paid for/invoiced immediately.
- The NFL will offer first refusal to the participating clubs, with the Designated Club having priority, on any suites or hospitality packages that are returned to the inventory throughout the sales period.

On Location

- On Location has an existing ticketing deal with the NFL, therefore clubs will not be required to provide any tickets to On Location from their internal allocation. Any tickets allocated to On Location from the NFL will be managed directly between On Location and the NFL. On Location may liaise directly with clubs regarding marketing rights relating to the game.

Game Day

- On game day, participating clubs must ensure that a member of the ticketing team is available either by phone/email or in person to assist with STM or internal ticket queries.

G. PROMOTIONAL RIGHTS AND MERCHANDISING

Promotional Rights

- Participating clubs may create their own logos (not incorporating any NFL logos or the 2024 NFL São Paulo Game name or logo) for use only in their home marketing areas. Any such marks are subject to approval by the NFL. All other national and international promotional and sponsorship rights are retained by the NFL. Designated Club local sponsors will not be provided any rights, branding or other presence in São Paulo, or in connection with the 2024 NFL São Paulo Game. The participating clubs may conduct sponsorship activities in São Paulo and any promotional media activities in line with the commercial parameters outlined in the appendix. All activity must be shared with NFLI and is subject to approval by, and in coordination with, the NFL.

Merchandise

- The NFL retains all merchandising rights for the international games. Participating clubs may partner with NFL Consumer Products to create game-specific apparel for sale in their domestic or international home marketing areas or on their team website. All such apparel must be developed and manufactured with an NFL licensee and be approved by the NFL. In the event that a new licensee needs to be identified or onboarded, participating clubs may bring the NFL Consumer Products team for evaluation.

H. DAMAGE TO FACILITIES AND TAXATION

Damage to Facilities

- Each club will be responsible for any out-of-pocket costs incurred by the NFL for any damage caused by club personnel to any facilities or equipment utilized by the club for the game (e.g., hotels, practice facilities, and charter aircraft), excluding ordinary wear and tear and damage customarily related to football games and practices.

Taxation

- The NFL will provide the participating clubs assistance regarding any applicable player BZ taxation matters. The clubs will be responsible for deducting and remitting the appropriate tax withholdings to the NFL for transmittal to the BZ tax authorities. Evidence of appropriate tax withholdings will be provided to the clubs as applicable.

I. DISPUTES

In the event of any questions or disputes covering expenses for the NFL São Paulo Game, the Commissioner's decision will be final and binding.

2024 NFL LONDON GAMES

The NFL London Games for the 2024 NFL season will consist of the following two games:

GAME DATE	DESIGNATED CLUB	OPPONENT CLUB	GAME SITE
Sunday, October 6	Minnesota Vikings	New York Jets	Tottenham Hotspur Stadium
Sunday, October 13	Chicago Bears	Jacksonville Jaguars	Tottenham Hotspur Stadium

A. BACK-UP VENUE

Each Designated Club is required to secure the availability of its stadium for the scheduled game day in the event that the game needs to be relocated. No other events may be scheduled at the Designated Club's home stadium for the scheduled game day, or before or after the scheduled game day if such events might interfere with the Designated Club's ability to host the game at its home stadium.

B. PARTICIPATING CLUB OPERATIONAL MATTERSAir Travel and Team Equipment Shipment

- The NFL will pay for travel costs for a 140-person traveling party for each participating club (inclusive of players, coaches, executives, working staff and game day operations staff, but excluding cheerleaders and mascots (if requested)).
- The NFL will charter one aircraft for each participating club. Participating clubs may include additional passengers on the aircraft, but club will be responsible for associated passenger taxes for additional passengers. Travel on the chartered aircraft may not be sold, bartered, or offered in connection with contests or similar promotions. Participating clubs must make two seats on the charter available for NFL vendors (airline and cargo rep).
- The NFL will pay for business class travel for any players added to the roster after the participating club's game immediately prior to traveling to London. Added players must travel back on the charter (subject to space availability). If a player added to the roster causes the team traveling party to exceed 140, the participating club will be responsible for the hotel and meal costs for the added players.
- Visas for travel to the United Kingdom are required only for passport holders from certain restricted countries. The NFL will assist in securing and will pay the out-of-pocket costs for visas for any members of the team traveling party requiring a visa. The NFL will pay for up to 40 passports for members of the team traveling party.
- The NFL will ship club equipment by ocean freight (fully insured) approximately eight weeks prior to the game. Any club equipment not included in the ocean freight shipment must be placed on the club's charter or shipped separately at the club's expense.
- For clubs departing Sunday following the game, club equipment will be shipped separately as soon as possible after the game, ideally on Monday, at the NFL's cost (fully insured).

Hotel, Transportation, Meals, and Other Accommodations

- The NFL will pay for a maximum three-night stay in London for the team traveling party (136 standard rooms and four suites). Participating clubs will stay in an NFL-designated property. Any additional rooms requested by the club must be contracted for separately by the club and will be at the participating club's cost (and may not be offered at the NFL rate) and subject to availability. Incidentals are the responsibility of the club or individual guests.
- The NFL will provide the following ground transportation for participating club in London: six buses (49-passenger) for club arrival, game day transport and club departure, four buses on standby for transportation to practice, two minivans for Football Operations staff, one mini-bus for equipment and training staff and two 24-ft. trucks for team equipment and luggage. Ground transportation for sponsors and invited guests is at the participating club's expense. Ground transportation is provided on an as-needed and scheduled basis only (not on 24-hour standby).

- The NFL will provide the participating clubs three meals (breakfast, lunch and dinner) per day while in London (including meals provided at practice facilities, the stadium or on the airplane). The participating clubs may elect to provide per diems in lieu of an organized meal for members of the team traveling party who are unable to attend group meals, but the participating club will be responsible for providing the cash per diem in those instances (subject to reimbursement by the NFL). Per diems are subject to the maximum amounts set forth in Article 34, Section of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.
- All security for the NFL London Games 2024 and the participating clubs will be coordinated and controlled by the NFL, including all communications with the Metropolitan Police, British Security Service, Scotland Yard, and the U.S. Embassy. Security staffing levels for all NFL games, activities and venues will be dictated by threat assessments performed on behalf of the NFL. This includes hotels, events, and practice facilities. The selection of security personnel for the team hotel, as well as for all practice facilities and other venues, will be made in the sole discretion of the NFL. Participating clubs may bring additional security personnel, but all travel, accommodations and other expenses for such personnel will be the club's sole responsibility.
- Reasonable meeting space at the participating club's hotel will be provided by the NFL.
- The NFL will coordinate, at its cost, Med-Jet Assist coverage for the team traveling party. Additional personnel to be included in Med-Jet Assist coverage at the request of the participating club will be at its cost.

Travel Expense Reimbursement

- The Opponent Club will be required to reimburse the NFL for an amount equal to (x) the average travel costs (e.g., hotel costs, ground transportation, per diems/food, but excluding flights) for the Opponent Club's other 2024 regular season away games plus (y) the value of a round-trip charter flight from the Opponent Club's home city to the Designated Club's city (e.g., from New Orleans to Miami).

Practice Facilities

- The NFL will cover the cost of 1 practice facility for each participating club.
- The NFL will provide strength and conditioning facilities (consistent with previous international games) either on-site at the practice facility or at an alternative location (if necessary).
- Subject to approval by NFL Football Operations, clubs may request a one-hour walkthrough at the stadium during designated times on the Saturday prior to game day, consistent with the Stadium Walkthrough policy.

Discretionary Fund

- The NFL will provide a $60,000 discretionary fund for each participating club to use to pay travel costs for additional personnel or for other approved operational costs. All costs designated for payment from the discretionary fund must be pre-approved by the NFL.

Planning and Promotional Trips; Community Engagement

- The NFL will provide 12 round-trip airline tickets for NFL-designated planning trips for each participating club, subject to the following guidelines: (1) class of service will be consistent with the participating club's travel policy, (2) tickets must be booked 14 days prior to travel, (3) business class

tickets shall not exceed $8,000 per ticket, and (4) the NFL must approve all suggested travelers. The NFL will also provide ground transportation (on an as-needed and scheduled basis), hotel accommodations and reimbursement of expenses incurred (in accordance with NFL Travel and Expense Policy) for the NFL-designated planning trips for each participating club. Participating clubs must have at least one member of its football operations department with the authority to review and approve facilities among those attending the first planning trip. The 12 tickets described above shall be a total amount to be divided among the various planning trips at the participating club's discretion, and not a per trip amount. The NFL requires that one of the planning trips includes representation from security, team operations, medical, field management, and IT departments.

- The NFL will pay for three one-way airline tickets, hotel accommodations, meal per diem (consistent with NFL Travel and Expense Policies), and two minivans with drivers (on an as needed and scheduled basis) for participating club advance staff to travel to London in advance of the team. Advance staff must return on the club charter. Advance staff may arrive in London no earlier than three days prior to the team's arrival.
- During the NFL offseason, the participating clubs may participate in promotional trips to London, at its own expense. Where the participating club chooses to participate in such promotional trips, the NFL will work with the participating club to schedule media appearances, content capture opportunities, and other relevant promotional opportunities.
- Participating clubs must participate in an NFL-organized community engagement event during its stay in London for the game. The date and time of the event will be mutually agreed upon by the NFL and the participating club.

C. GAME COORDINATION

Stadium Operations

- The NFL will coordinate all stadium operations for the games, including, without limitation, all stadium and environmental décor. The in-bowl décor will be both Designated Club and NFL-branded. All other décor may include NFL, NFL London Games 2024, Designated Club and Opponent Club branding, at the sole discretion of the NFL. On-field décor, if any, will be at the sole discretion of the NFL.

Entertainment

- All pregame, halftime and postgame entertainment will be coordinated by, and at the discretion, of the NFL. Programming during player warm-ups and introductions and following the game will promote the Designated Club only. The NFL may request that the clubs provide individual player introductions for use at the game.

Cheerleaders and Mascots

- If the NFL requests that either club bring cheerleaders or mascots to London, the specifics of such requests will be mutually agreed upon by the club and the NFL.

Game Operations Staff

- Generally, the NFL will provide game operations staff for the games. If the NFL requests that the Designated Club provide any specific game operations staff that would otherwise not have traveled with the team to the game, such staff will be included in the Designated Club traveling party and the NFL will pay the travel expenses (airfare, hotel, and ground transportation, but excluding salary or other compensation) in the same manner as other members of the Designated Club traveling party.

Field Access

- In-game field access allotments remain consistent with 2024 regular season policies.

Pregame Field Passes

- The NFL will provide the participating clubs with pregame field passes for special guests. The Designated Club will receive 200 pregame passes and the Opponent club will receive 125.

D. GAME BROADCAST AND MEDIA REQUIREMENTS

Game Broadcast

- The NFL reserves all rights for broadcast of the games in the United States and internationally. The clubs may have their regular radio broadcast network partner make the game available via free terrestrial radio. The NFL will provide press box space, ISDN lines and two sets of dry pairs for each club's English and Spanish language radio broadcast partners. All other costs are the responsibility of the club, or its radio broadcast partners.

Media Requirements

- The minimum standards for media access during the regular season practice week will apply to clubs taking part in the NFL London Games 2024. Due to the global interest in the event, however, there will be important additional media opportunities and reasonable club cooperation is expected.
- Some aspects of the Media Access Policy will differ during a club's time in London. For example, all practices in London must be open to all UK-based media as well as the club's local media for at least the first 30 minutes or until the start of "team" work.
- Each club must provide a prominent player to participate in a mandatory 15-minute, one-on-one interview with any UK broadcast partner airing the game live during game week in London (TV and radio).
- On game day, both clubs must use an NFL-supplied NFL London Games 2024 backdrop in their postgame press conference rooms. Other postgame media requirements are the same as for a traditional regular season game in the United States, including opening the locker room no later than 10-15 minutes following the conclusion of the game.
- Selected players (a total of six, including the starting quarterback and other high-profile/starting players) from both participating teams are required for a content capture commitment of no more than 60 minutes (excluding travel time) during the week before the game. This may be substituted for a mutually agreed personal appearance at an NFL fan event. The type of event will be determined by the NFL in partnership with the club at least eight weeks prior. Details about this appearance, as well as the full media schedule, will be provided at a later date.

E. GAME CREDENTIALS

Game credentials for clubs and their local media will be issued by the League office. Credentials do not provide access to hospitality areas other than for staff with working functions in such areas.

F. PARTICIPATING CLUB GAME TICKETS

Designated Club Game Tickets

- General Admission
 - » The NFL will reserve 3,000 general admission game tickets across various price categories for the Designated Club's use.  - 2 weeks prior to Gameday – Max Unallocated Holds - 50
 - Game week – No more than 30 unallocated tickets can be held

All unallocated tickets above the numbers detailed, must be returned to the NFL prior to the respective deadlines, for sale to the public or other distribution at the NFL's sole discretion. Postgame, the NFL will review all no-shows/unscanned tickets from club allocations and may query them with the club to understand how they can be mitigated for future games.

Opponent Club Game Tickets

- General Admission

- » The NFL will reserve 2,000 general admission game tickets across various price categories for the Opponent Club's use. All price categories and locations will be determined by the NFL and shared with the Opponent Club's preschedule release. Where distribution allows, most seats will be located on the Opponent Club's side of the stadium.

Tickets should be allocated as follows:

- 1,000 to be sold to Season Ticket Members
- 1,000 for internal use

The NFL will allocate tickets to the Opponent Club via Ticketmaster UK's Allocation Manager. The club will be given access to, and sufficient training on Allocation Manager.

- Season Ticket Member Sale

- » The Opponent Club is free to allocate all STM tickets as they see fit, however, all bookings should be entered into the Allocation Manager and paid for by fans no later than 14 days prior to the public general admission sale. For reference, the public general admission sale will take place in June/July (TBD). All STM tickets purchased will be subject to Ticketmaster fees per ticket and per booking. All tickets will be issued as digital or mobile tickets only. Any tickets unsold from the STM allotment after the sales window closes will be returned to the NFL for sale to the public or other distribution at the NFL's sole discretion.

- Internal Allotment

- » The Opponent Club will be allocated 1,000 tickets for internal use. All tickets allocated will be charged at face value. The club will be required to manage any payments on their own ticketing platform. Whilst there's no restriction on who tickets can be sold to, the club is reminded that this allocation is intended to cover all internal requirements including players, coaches, staff, F&F, corporate partners etc. Any sales outside of club personnel should first be discussed with the NFL ticketing team. The NFL will invoice the Opponent Club for all sold tickets as part of the postgame settlement. All tickets will be issued as digital/mobile tickets only. Any tickets likely to be forwarded on by the initial named ticket holder, e.g. Groups/Coaches/Players, will need to be managed by the club ticketing representative. NFL will retain all revenue from the tickets sold. The club must provide a reconciliation of all tickets issued.
- » If the Opponent Club does not require the full internal allocation of 1,000 tickets, any surplus tickets must be returned to the NFL no later than 14 days prior to the general public sale. For any tickets that remain under club control, the club must provide a report on September 1, and weekly thereafter (by close of business on Friday each week), that details every remaining seat in the allocation, showing whether it is sold or unallocated. Clubs must adhere to the mandatory return timeframes and permitted holds as stipulated below for any seats that go unallocated:
 - 14 days prior to the Public GA Sale – Club confirms how many of the 1,000 internal allotment is accounted for or they are deciding to keep for future allocation.
 - September 1 – Detailed report of total allocation showing sold/remaining unallocated.
 - 1 month prior to Gameday – Max Unallocated Holds – 200
 - 2 weeks prior to Gameday – Max Unallocated Holds – 50
 - Game week – No more than 30 unallocated tickets can be held.

Global Markets Program Teams – Additional GA Tickets to Purchase

- Designated Clubs with local GMP rights may request to purchase up to 100 additional GA tickets. Requests should be made via your Club Account Director no later than May 30.
- Opponent Clubs with local GMP rights may request to purchase up to 50 additional GA tickets. Requests should be made via your Club's Account Director no later than May 30.

Premium Hospitality

- The NFL will reserve the following premium/hospitality for the Participating Clubs (locations to be determined by the NFL).
 - » 1 Complimentary suite intended for ownership (18 Seats)
 - » 1 Suite for purchase (Seats TBC)

- » 30 Restaurant packages for purchase (Seated 3 course menu, inclusive of drinks and halftime snacks)
- » 50 Premium Lounge* (Premium Seat, pre-game light bites and halftime drink)

Exclusive to Tottenham Hotspur Stadium only*

Please note, Premium/Hospitality offerings may vary between stadiums.

Additional Hospitality to Purchase

- The NFL cannot guarantee any further additional Premium/Hospitality to purchase. Following the contractual Stadium Hospitality Members presale, which is typically the first sale post-schedule release, the participating clubs may request to purchase additional retail hospitality including suites, subject to availability. Premium/Hospitality Packages cannot be held or reserved without payment. All additional allocated hospitality packages must be confirmed and paid for/invoiced immediately.
- The NFL will offer first refusal to participating clubs, with the Designated Club having priority, on any suites or hospitality packages that are returned to the inventory throughout the sales period.

On Location

- On Location has an existing ticketing deal with the NFL, therefore clubs will not be required to provide any tickets to On Location from their internal allocation. Any tickets allocated to On Location from the NFL will be managed directly between On Location and the NFL. On Location may liaise directly with clubs regarding marketing rights relating to the game.

Game Day

- On game day, participating clubs must ensure that a member of the ticketing team is available either by phone/email or in person to assist with STM or internal ticket queries.

G. PROMOTIONAL RIGHTS AND MERCHANDISING

Promotional Rights

- If a participating team desires to use, or allow sponsors to use, the NFL London Games 2024 logo in the club's home marketing area, such use must be approved by and coordinated with the NFL and must be limited to the club's home marketing area. Participating clubs may create their own logos (not incorporating any NFL logos or the NFL London Games 2024 name or logo) for use only in their home marketing areas. Any such marks are subject to approval by the NFL. All other national and international promotional and sponsorship rights are retained by the NFL. Designated Club local sponsors will not be provided any rights, branding or other presence in London or in connection with the NFL London Games 2024. The participating teams may not conduct sponsorship activities in the United Kingdom and any promotional or media activities are subject to approval by, and coordination with, the NFL.

Merchandise

- The NFL retains all merchandising rights for the international games. Participating clubs may partner with NFL Consumer Products to create game-specific apparel for sale in their domestic or international home marketing areas or on their team website. All such apparel must be developed and manufactured with an NFL licensee and approved by the NFL. In the event that a new licensee needs to be identified or onboarded, participating clubs may bring to the NFL Consumer Products team for evaluation.

H. DAMAGE TO FACILITIES AND TAXATION

Damage to Facilities

- Each club will be responsible for any out-of-pocket costs incurred by the NFL for any damage caused by club personnel to any facilities or equipment utilized by the club for the games (e.g., hotels, practice facilities, and charter aircraft), excluding ordinary wear and tear and damage customarily related to football games and practices.

Taxation

- The NFL will provide the participating clubs assistance regarding player UK taxation matters. The teams will be responsible for deducting and remitting the appropriate tax withholdings to the NFL for transmittal to the UK tax authorities. Evidence of appropriate tax withholdings will be provided to the clubs as applicable.

I. DISPUTES

In the event of any questions or disputes covering expenses for the NFL London Games 2024, the Commissioner's decision will be final and binding.

2024 NFL GERMANY GAME

The NFL Germany Games for the 2024 NFL season will consist of the following games:

GAME DATE	DESIGNATED CLUB	OPPONENT CLUB	GAME SITE
Sunday, November 10	Carolina Panthers	New York Giants	Allianz Arena

A. BACK-UP VENUE

The Designated Club is required to secure the availability of its home stadium for the scheduled game day in the event that the game needs to be relocated. No other events may be scheduled at the Designated Club's home stadium for the scheduled game day, or before or after the scheduled game day if such events might interfere with the Designated Club's ability to host the game at its home stadium.

B. PARTICIPATING CLUB OPERATIONAL MATTERSAir Travel and Team Equipment Shipment

- The NFL will pay for travel costs for a 140 person traveling party for each participating club (inclusive of players, coaches, executives, working staff and game-day operations staff, but excluding cheerleaders and mascots (if requested)).
- The NFL will charter one aircraft for the participating club. Participating clubs may include additional passengers on the aircraft, but the clubs will be responsible for associated passenger taxes for additional passengers. Travel on the chartered aircraft may not be sold, bartered, or offered in connection with contests or similar promotions. Participating clubs must make two seats on the charter available for NFL vendors (airline and cargo rep).
- The NFL will pay for business class travel for any players added to the roster after the participating club's game immediately prior to traveling to Germany. Added players must travel back on the charter (subject to space availability). If a player added to the roster causes the team traveling party to exceed 140, the participating club will be responsible for the hotel and meal costs for the added players.
- Visas for travel to Germany are required only for passport holders from certain restricted countries. The NFL will assist in securing and will pay the out-of-pocket costs for visas for any members of the team traveling party requiring a visa. The NFL will pay for up to 40 passports for members of the team traveling party.
- The NFL will ship club equipment by ocean freight (fully insured) approximately eight weeks prior to the game. Any club equipment not included in the ocean freight shipment must be placed on the club's charter or shipped separately at the club's expense.
- For clubs departing Sunday following the game, club equipment will be shipped separately as soon as possible after the game, ideally on Monday, at the NFL's cost (fully insured).

Hotel, Transportation, Meals, and Other Accommodations

- The NFL will pay for a maximum three-night stay in Germany for the team traveling party (136 standard rooms and four suites). Participating clubs will stay in an NFL-designated property. Any additional rooms requested by the participating club must be contracted for separately by the club and will be at the participating club's cost (and may not be offered at the NFL rate) and subject to availability. Incidentals are the responsibility of the club or individual guests.
- The NFL will provide the following ground transportation for the participating club in Germany: six buses (49-passenger) for club arrival, game day transport and club departure, four buses on standby for transportation to practice, two minivans for Football Operations staff, one mini-bus for equipment and training staff and two 24-ft. trucks for club equipment and luggage. Ground transportation for sponsors and invited guests is at the participating club's expense. Ground transportation is provided on an as-needed and scheduled basis only (not on 24-hour standby).

- The NFL will provide the team traveling party three meals (breakfast, lunch and dinner) per day (including meals provided at practice facilities, the stadium or on the airplane). Participating clubs may elect to provide per diems in lieu of an organized meal or for members of the team traveling party who are unable to attend group meals, but the participating club will be responsible for providing the cash per diem in those instances (subject to reimbursement by the NFL). Per diems are subject to the maximum amounts set forth in Article 34, Section of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.
- All security for the NFL Germany Game 2024 and the team traveling party will be coordinated and controlled by the NFL, including all communications with the Bavaria State Police (ADD), Munich Police, German Federal Police (BKA), Regional Police (LKA), and the U.S. Embassy. Security staffing levels for all NFL games, activities and venues will be dictated by threat assessments performed on behalf of the NFL. This includes hotels, events, and practice facilities. The selection of security personnel for the team hotel, as well as for all practice facilities and other venues, will be made in the sole discretion of the NFL. Participating clubs may bring additional security personnel, but all travel, accommodations and other expenses for such personnel will be the club's sole responsibility.
- Reasonable meeting space at the participating club's hotel will be provided by the NFL.
- The NFL will coordinate, at its cost, Med-Jet Assist coverage for the team traveling party. Additional personnel to be included in Med-Jet Assist coverage at the request of the participating club will be at its cost.

Travel Expense Reimbursement

- The Opponent club will be required to reimburse the NFL for an amount equal to (x) the average travel costs (e.g., hotel costs, ground transportation, per diems/food, but excluding flights) for the Opponent Club's other 2024 regular season away games plus (y) the value of a round-trip charter flight from the Opponent Club's home city to the Designated Club's city (e.g., from New Orleans to Miami).

Practice Facilities

- The NFL will cover the cost of one practice facility for each participating club.
- The NFL will provide strength and conditioning facilities (consistent with previous international games) either on-site at the practice facility or at an alternative location (if necessary).
- Subject to approval by NFL Football Operations, clubs may request a one-hour walkthrough at the stadium during designated times on the Saturday prior to game day, consistent with the Stadium Walkthrough policy.

Discretionary Fund

- The NFL will provide a $60,000 discretionary fund for the Designated Club to use to pay travel costs for additional personnel or for other approved operational costs. All costs designated for payment from the discretionary fund must be pre-approved by the NFL.

Planning and Promotional Trips; Community Engagement

- The NFL will provide 12 round-trip airline tickets for NFL-designated planning trips for each participating club, subject to the following guidelines: (1) class of service will be consistent with the participating club's travel policy, (2) tickets must be booked 14 days prior to travel, (3) business class tickets shall not exceed $8,000 per ticket, and (4) the NFL must approve all suggested travelers. The NFL will also provide ground transportation (on an as-needed and scheduled basis), hotel accommodations and reimbursement of expenses incurred (in accordance with NFL Travel and Expense Policy) for the NFL- designated planning trips for each participating club. Participating clubs must have at least one member of its football operations department with the authority to review and approve facilities among those attending the first planning trip. The 12 tickets described above shall be a total amount to be divided among the various planning trips at the participating club's discretion, and not a per trip amount. The NFL advises that one of the planning trips includes representation from security, team operations, medical, field management, and IT departments.

- The NFL will pay for three one-way airline tickets, hotel accommodations, meal per diem (consistent with NFL Travel and Expense Policies), and two minivans with drivers (on an as-needed and scheduled basis) for participating club advance staff to travel to Germany in advance of the team. Advance staff must return on the club charter. Advance staff may arrive in Germany no earlier than three days prior to the team's arrival.
- During the NFL offseason, the participating clubs may participate in promotional trips to Germany, at its own expense. Where the participating club chooses to participate in such promotional trips, the NFL will work with the participating club to schedule media appearances, content capture opportunities, and other relevant promotional opportunities.
- Participating clubs must participate in an NFL-organized community engagement event during its stay in Germany. The date and time of the event will be mutually agreed upon by the NFL and the Designated Club.

C. GAME COORDINATION

Stadium Operations

- The NFL will coordinate all stadium operations for the games, including, without limitation, all stadium and environmental décor. The in-bowl décor will be both Designated Club and NFL-branded. All other décor may include NFL, NFL Germany Game 2024, Designated Club and Opponent Club branding, at the sole discretion of the NFL. On-field décor, if any, will be at the sole discretion of the NFL.

Entertainment

- All pregame, halftime and postgame entertainment will be coordinated by, and at the discretion of, the NFL. Programming during player warm-ups and introductions and following the game will promote the Designated Club only. The NFL may request that the club provide individual player introductions for use at the game.

Cheerleaders and Mascots

- If the NFL requests that either club bring cheerleaders or mascots to Germany, the specifics of such requests will be mutually agreed upon by the club and the NFL.

Game Operations Staff

- Generally, the NFL will provide game operations staff for the games. If the NFL requests that the Designated Club provide any specific game operations staff that would otherwise not have traveled with the club to the game, such staff will be included in the Designated Club Traveling Party and the NFL will pay the travel expenses (airfare, hotel and ground transportation, but excluding salary or other compensation) in the same manner as other members of the Designated Club Traveling Party.

Field Access

- In-game field access allotments remain consistent with 2024 regular season policies.

Pregame Field Passes

- The NFL will provide the participating clubs with pregame passes for special guests. The Designated Club will receive 200 pregame passes and the Opponent Club will receive 125.

D. GAME BROADCAST AND MEDIA REQUIREMENTS

Game Broadcast

- The NFL reserves all rights for broadcast of the games in the United States and internationally. The clubs may have their regular radio broadcast network partner make the game available via free terrestrial radio. The NFL will provide press box space, ISDN lines and two sets of dry pairs for each club's English and Spanish language radio broadcast partners. All other costs are the responsibility of the club or its radio broadcast partners.

Media Requirements

- The minimum standards for media access during the regular season practice week will apply to clubs taking part in the NFL Germany Game. Due to the global interest in the event, however, there will be important additional media opportunities and reasonable club cooperation is expected.
- Some aspects of the Media Access Policy will differ during a club's time in Germany. For example, all practices in Germany must be open to all German-based media as well as the club's local media for at least the first 30 minutes or until the start of "team" work.
- Each club must provide a prominent player to participate in a mandatory 15-minute, one-on-one interview with any German broadcast partner airing the game live during game week in Germany.
- On game day, both clubs must use an NFL-supplied NFL Germany Game 2024 backdrop in their postgame press conference rooms. Other postgame media requirements are the same as for a traditional regular season game in the United States, including opening the locker room no later than 10-15 minutes following the conclusion of the game.
- Selected players (a total of six, including the starting quarterback and other high-profile/starting players) from both participating clubs are required for a content capture commitment of no more than 60 minutes (excluding travel time) during the week before the game. This may be substituted for a mutually agreed upon personal appearance at an NFL fan event. The type of event will be determined by the NFL in partnership with the club at least 8 weeks prior. Details about this appearance, as well as the full media schedule, will be provided at a later date.

E. GAME CREDENTIALS

Game credentials for clubs and their local media will be issued by the League office. Credentials do not provide access to hospitality areas other than for staff with working functions in such areas

F. PARTICIPATING CLUB GAME TICKETS

- General Admission
 - » The NFL will reserve 3,000 general admission game tickets across various price categories for the Designated Club's use. All price categories and locations will be determined by the NFL and shared with the Designated Club's preschedule release. Where distribution allows, most seats will be located on the Designated Club's side of the stadium. Tickets should be allocated as follows.
 - 1,500 to be sold to Season Ticket Members
 - 1,500 for internal use
 - Maximum of 750 complimentary
 - All others to be purchased

The NFL will allocate tickets to the Designated Club via Ticketmaster DE's Allocation Manager. The club will be given access to, and sufficient training on Allocation Manager.

- Season Ticket Member Sale
 - » The Designated Club is free to allocate all STM tickets as they see fit, however, all bookings should be entered into the Allocation Manager and paid for by fans no later than 14 days prior to the public general admission sale. For reference, the public general admission sale will take place in June/July (TBD). All STM tickets purchased will be subject to Ticketmaster fees per ticket and per booking. All tickets will be issued as digital or mobile tickets only. Any tickets unsold from the STM allotment after the sales window closes will be returned to the NFL for sale to the public or other distribution at the NFL's sole discretion.

- Internal Allotment

- » A maximum of up to 750 internal tickets can be issued as complimentary, of the 1,500 for internal use. Any complimentary tickets used will not count toward the club's regular season Complimentary Ticket Allowance for VTS purposes. However, please note, the club is not obliged to issue any tickets as complimentary. Any number may instead be sold by the club at face value. The club will be required to manage any payments on their own ticketing platform. Whilst there's no restriction on who tickets can be sold to, the club is reminded that this allocation is intended to cover all internal requirements including players, coaches, staff, F&F, corporate partners etc. Any sales outside of club personnel should first be discussed with the NFL ticketing team. The NFL will invoice the Designated Club for all sold tickets as part of the postgame settlement. All tickets will be issued as digital/mobile tickets only. Any tickets likely to be forwarded on by the initial named ticket holder, e.g. Groups/Coaches/Players, will need to be managed by the club ticketing representative. NFL will retain all revenue from the tickets sold or otherwise not used as part of the complimentary allocation and the club must provide a reconciliation of all tickets issued.
- » If the Designated Club does not require the full internal allocation of 1,500 tickets, any surplus tickets must be returned to the NFL no later than 14 days prior to the general public sale. For any tickets that remain under club control, the club must provide a report on September 1, and weekly thereafter (by close of business on Friday each week), that details every remaining seat in the allocation, showing whether it is allocated as complimentary or sold, or is unallocated. Clubs must adhere to the mandatory return timeframes and permitted holds as stipulated below for any seats that go unallocated:
 - 14 days prior to Public GA Sale – Club confirms how many of the 1,500 internal allotment is accounted for or they are deciding to keep for future allocation.
 - September 1 – Detailed report of total allocation showing complimentary/sold/remaining unallocated.
 - 1 month prior to Game Day – Max Unallocated Holds – 200
 - 2 weeks prior to Game Day – Max Unallocated Holds – 50
 - Game week – No more than 30 unallocated tickets can be held.

All unallocated tickets above the numbers detailed must be returned to the NFL prior to the respective deadlines, for sale to the public or other distribution at the NFL's sole discretion. Postgame, the NFL will review all no-shows/unsold tickets from club allocations and may query them with the club to understand how they can be mitigated for future games.

Opponent Club Game Tickets

- General Admission

- » The NFL will reserve 2,000 general admission game tickets across various price categories for the Opponent Club's use. All price categories and locations will be determined by the NFL and shared with the Opponent Club's preschedule release. Where distribution allows, most seats will be located on the Opponent Club's side of the stadium. Tickets should be allocated as follows:
 - 1,000 to be sold to Season Ticket Members

All unallocated tickets above the numbers detailed must be returned to the NFL prior to the respective deadlines for sale to the public or other distribution at the NFL's sole discretion. Postgame, the NFL will review the no-shows/unscanned tickets from club allocations and may query them with the club to understand how they can be mitigated for future games.

Global Markets Program Teams – Additional GA Tickets to Purchase

- Designated Club's with local GMP rights may request to purchase up to 100 additional GA tickets. Requests should be made via your Club Account Director no later than May 30.
- Opponent Clubs with local GMP rights may request to purchase up to 50 additional GA tickets. Requests should be made via your Club Account Director no later than May 30.

Premium Hospitality

- The NFL will reserve the following premium/hospitality for the Participating Clubs (locations to be determined by the NFL).
 - » 1 complimentary suite intended for ownership (18 seats)
 - » 1 suite for purchase (Seats TBC)
 - » 30 restaurant packages for purchase (Seated 3 course menu, inclusive of drinks and halftime snacks)

- » 50 Premium Lounge* (Premium Seat, pre-game light bites and halftime drink)

Exclusive to Tottenham Hotspur Stadium only*

Please note, Premium/Hospitality offerings may vary between stadiums.

- On Location has an existing ticketing deal with the NFL, therefore clubs will not be required to provide any tickets to On Location from their internal allocation. Any tickets allocated to On Location from the NFL will be managed directly between On Location and the NFL. On Location may liaise directly with clubs regarding marketing rights relating to the game.

Game Day

- On game day, participating clubs must ensure that a member of the ticketing team is available either by phone/email or in person to assist with STM or internal ticket requests.

G. PROMOTIONAL RIGHTS AND MERCHANDISING

Promotional Rights

- If a participating club desires to use, or allow sponsors to use, the NFL Germany Game 2024 logo in the club's designated marketing area, such use must be approved by and coordinated with the NFL and must be limited to the club's home marketing area. Participating clubs may create their own logos (not incorporating any NFL logos or the NFL Germany Game 2024 name or logo) for use only in their designated marketing areas. Any such marks are subject to approval by the NFL. All other national and international promotional and sponsorship rights are retained by the NFL. Designated Club local sponsors will not be provided any rights, branding, or other presence in Germany or in connection with the NFL Germany Game 2024. The participating clubs may not conduct sponsorship activities in the Germany and any promotional or media activities are subject to approval by, and coordination with, the NFL.

Merchandise

- The NFL retains all merchandising rights for the International Games. Participating clubs may partner with NFL Consumer Products to create game-specific apparel for sale in their domestic or international home marketing areas or on their team website. APPENDIX A: INTEGRITY OF THE GAME CERTIFICATION

Pursuant to Section 8.13(A) of the NFL Constitution and Bylaws, each of the undersigned certifies that on best information and belief, and after having made appropriate inquiries of persons likely to have knowledge of these matters, the _____ (“Club”) complied with all League competitive _____ (Name of Club) policies for the 2023 season, and each of the undersigned further certifies that the Club has not engaged in any of the following prohibited acts:

*violations of the equity rule relating to game-day facilities or tampering with the use of any equipment properly available to an opposing team, or unauthorized use of computers or electronic equipment on game day; interference with a team’s or stadium’s game day communication systems, or unauthorized use of game-day frequencies; unauthorized videotaping on game day or of practices, meetings, or other organized team activities; unauthorized and/or unreported game day use of mic on players or other forms of electronic eavesdropping; unauthorized entry into locker rooms, coaches’ booths, meeting rooms or other private areas; violations of the anti-tampering policies; violations of player personnel or eligibility rules; tampering with any game day clocks or timing equipment; tampering with other game related equipment; or artificially increasing crowd or other noise levels in a stadium during the reporting period.

Further, each signatory hereby certifies that he or she has no knowledge of any NFL player, club personnel, or personnel who are working on behalf of or direction of the club:

- betting on NFL games; or any aspect of an NFL game; betting on NFL players; improperly influencing or attempting to influence any aspect of a game; failing to give best effort in a game; sharing non-public information without authorization; accepting a bribe or other offer to manipulate or influence a game or share non-public information; failing to report a bribe, offer or request for non-public information; failing to report incurring gambling debt greater than $10,000 to any person or gambling-related enterprise; failing to report a violation of the Gambling Policy for NFL Players or the Gambling Policy for NFL Personnel; or associating with known or problem gamblers in a manner that discredits the NFL.
- violating the bounty rule, including but not limited to: the offer, payment or acceptance of a bonus of any sort for on-field misconduct; play that incentivizes or may result in injury to opposing players; or “pay for performance” or for team performance against a particular player, position group, or team.
- promising, announcing, or providing any form of non-contract consideration to a player in violation of the Constitution & Bylaws or Collective Bargaining Agreement.
- gaining or attempting to gain unauthorized electronic access to another club’s intellectual property, such as playbooks, signals, game plans, personnel files, databases, etc.
- being involved in an arrest or other incident that was not reported to the League as required under the Personal Conduct Policy.
- failing to share promptly with the League material information concerning a matter being investigated under the Personal Conduct Policy.
- being involved in the sale, use, or distribution of substances prohibited by the NFL Policy on Performance-Enhancing Substances. (No club will be deemed to have violated this aspect of the certification merely because a player violates the Policy.)
- making any agreement or understanding with another club or club personnel that affects, or attempts to affect, the competitive aspects or integrity of a game. This includes, but is not limited to: agreements regarding players (e.g., which players will play in a game, when they will play, or for how long they will play); play calling on offense, defense, or special teams (e.g., mix of runs or passes, one or two-point try, punts vs. fourth down tries, defensive alignment); scoring (e.g., margin of victory, tie in regulation or overtime); or any other competitive matter. (This does not prohibit independent decisions on any competitive issue, provided that such decisions are made in accordance with existing rules.)

- engaging in any other action or inaction that could affect the integrity of the game or be considered conduct detrimental.

Each signatory hereby certifies that the Club has complied with its obligations to conduct mandatory training concerning the Gambling Policy for NFL Players and the Gambling Policy for NFL Personnel.

Finally, each signatory further certifies that the Club has reported all actual or suspected violations that it became aware of, including actual or suspected violations committed by the Club, any club employee, or third parties.

Any exceptions to the above representations are set forth on the attached page(s).

PREGAME ONLY
TV Monitors in Coaches Booth	Prior to Kickoff: Both coaches' booths must have operating TV monitors. If one club's monitors are not operating as confirmed by NFL Football Operations, the opposing club may not operate monitors until the problem is solved. After Kickoff: Equity does not apply. Club may continue to utilize monitors even if opposing club's monitors malfunction at any point after kickoff. Each club's use is independent of one another.
PREGAME AND IN GAME
Sideline Viewing System (SVS)	Prior to Kickoff: If devices are not functional at kickoff, equity will be enforced relative to the number of operational devices (if less than 20 are available in the bench area or less than 12 are available in the coaches booth) until the affected club confirms that all additional devices are operational. At any point before or during the game: • If there is a total system failure of the entire still photo system, the opposing club may not use its tablets until operation is restored to the affected club. • If there is a total system failure of all tablets on the sidelines, the opposing club may not use its tablets on the sidelines until operation is restored to the affected club, but use of tablets in the coaches booth will remain. • If there is a total system failure of the SL angle, the opposing club may not use the SL angle, but use of the EZ angles will remain, and vice versa.
Coach-to-Player (C2P)	At any point before or during the game, if there is a total system failure of a club's C2P system, the opposing club may not use C2P until the problem is resolved. Note: If equity is enforced under the C2C system, teams are permitted to use a handheld transmit radio provided by the C2P tech, only after the tech has ensured that the C2P cutoff is operating properly.
Coach-to-Coach (C2C)	At any point before or during the game, if there is a total system failure of the C2C system, meaning that both the wireless and wired communications systems are inoperable between the coaches booth and bench area, the opposing club may not use its system until communication is restored to the affected club.

This information is intended to be a summary of the equity rule and does not include all information and workflow processes. Please refer to the policy language in Section A for complete information. As a reminder, all equity enforcement will come directly from NFL Football Operations.

APPENDIX I: PERSONNEL (INJURY) REPORT POLICY

The Personnel (Injury) Report Policy has been a cornerstone of public confidence in the NFL for many decades. The credibility of the NFL, its teams, and team personnel requires full compliance with and uniform enforcement of the Policy.

The legalization of sports betting has resulted in an increased awareness of the need to strike a careful balance between potential competitive interests and the preservation of public confidence in the integrity of the game, which requires the prompt disclosure of information, that may influence on-field performance or the outcome of a game, including the availability of coaches and players. Complete transparency with respect to such information is of the utmost importance in ensuring the integrity of our game, preventing someone from gaining an advantage from perceived “inside information,” and preventing the perception that “insiders” are misusing the information.

Although commonly referred to as the “Injury Report,” the Policy itself is officially a personnel report, with the objective of providing full and complete information on player availability. It is imperative that information for dissemination to the public on all injured players, and non-injured players whose game status is in question, is reported by clubs in a manner that is credible, accurate, timely, and specific within the guidelines of the Policy, which is of paramount importance in maintaining the integrity of the game.

It is NFL policy that information for dissemination to the public on all injured players be reported in a satisfactory manner by clubs to the League office, the opposing team, local and national media, and broadcast partners each game week of the regular season and postseason (including for the two Super Bowl teams during the bye week between the Championship Games and Super Bowl).

Each Public Relations Director is responsible for ensuring that all required injury and practice/game participation information is reported to the NFL Communications department and issued to the opposing team, local and national media, broadcast partners, etc., via the NFL Intranet site as provided hereinbelow.

It is the responsibility of the clubs to review unusual situations on a proactive basis with Michael Signora of the NFL Communications department or Ken Fiore of the NFL Player Personnel department in order to determine whether and to what extent the Policy’s reporting requirements apply to such situations. When in doubt, it is best to include a player on the applicable report or update.

The Personnel (Injury) Report Policy is comprised of four sections: (1) Practice Report; (2) Game Status Report; (3) In-Game Injury Report; and (4) Enforcement.

Additionally, there are two Appendices to the Policy: (A) Receiving and Reporting Player Injury Information; and (B) Receiving and Reporting Information regarding Availability of Coaching Staff on Game Day.

1. PRACTICE REPORT

The Practice Report is expected to provide clubs and the public with an accurate description of a player’s injury status and his level of participation during the practice week. It applies to players who began the day or will finish the day on the club’s Active roster, or any player who is on a club’s Exempt List or Reserve List and who has returned to practice. Any such player who has a reportable injury must be listed on the Practice Report, even if the player takes all the reps in practice, and even if the team is certain that he will play in the upcoming game. This is especially true of quarterbacks, kickers, and punters and those players whose injuries have been the subject of local or national media coverage.

Reportable Injuries. Some injuries are automatically reportable because they result in the player’s unavailability or limited availability to the club. These include any injury that:

- (a) causes the player to miss a game;
- (b) prevents the player from finishing a game;
- (c) causes the player to miss a practice (Did Not Participate);

- (d) limits the player's participation in practice (Limited Participation); or
- (e) prevents the player from finishing a practice (Limited Participation).

Other injuries may be reportable because of their effect upon the player's performance despite his continuing availability to the club.

As one example, assume a club's quarterback suffers an injury to a finger of his right (throwing) hand during the club's first game of the season. After treatment, he is able to finish the game despite his injury. Given the injury's effect upon the player's performance, and the fact that he is a quarterback, the injury must be listed on the club's Practice Report each day of the following week, even if the player takes all the reps in practice, and even if the club is certain that he will play in the club's next game. In such a case, the player must be listed as "Full Participation (right finger)" in the Practice Report but would not be listed in the club's Game Status Report for Week 2 because the player is certain to play in the club's upcoming game. See Section 2 (Game Status Report) on page 5. The club must continue to list the player on its weekly Practice Reports until the player's injury no longer affects the player's performance.

Reporting Schedule and Procedures. Clubs are required to report their players' practice participation according to the following schedule:

THURSDAY GAME	FRIDAY GAME	SATURDAY GAME	SUNDAY GAME	MONDAY GAME
Monday	Tuesday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday
Tuesday	Wednesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
Wednesday	Thursday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday

A list of players who did not participate or fully participate in practice, either due to injury or for any other reason, must be submitted to the NFL Communications department via the NFL Intranet site and issued to the opposing team, local and national media, broadcast partners, etc., on the designated reporting days no later than 4:00 p.m., New York time, or as soon as possible after the completion of practice. If a team is scheduled to play an opponent from another time zone, the team is not required to report its information until after the completion of its opponent's practice.

Specificity. Injuries must be identified with a reasonable degree of specificity in terms that are meaningful to coaches, other club officials, the media, and the public. For example, leg injuries must be specified as ankle, knee, thigh, calf, etc. Arm injuries must be identified as shoulder, elbow, wrist, hand, specific muscle, etc. Listing an injury simply as "leg," "arm," "upper body," or other equally vague description, is not acceptable. Particular attention must be paid to the submission of Practice Reports for quarterbacks, kickers and punters. The report must indicate "left" or "right" if the injury is to the shoulder, any part of the arm or any part of the hand of a quarterback, or if the injury is to the groin, any part of the leg or foot of a kicker or punter. Please use the designation on the NFL Intranet site to enter this information.

Multiple Injuries. If a player has sustained multiple reportable injuries, all such injuries must be noted on the club's Practice Report. In other words, under the Policy, the club's obligation is not satisfied by reporting only the most acute injury sustained by the player. The club is not entitled to unilaterally determine which of the player's reportable injuries might preclude his participation or affect his performance on game day.

Categories. The Practice Report's player participation categories are defined as follows:

Did Not Participate: means zero percent of a player's normal repetitions.

Limited Participation: means less than 100 percent of a player's normal repetitions.

Full Participation: means 100 percent of a player's normal repetitions. In general, this category should be used for players who missed or could not complete the prior game due to injury but have returned to participate fully in practice the following week. It should also be used for a player who (i) sustained an injury in the prior game that affects his performance, but was able to finish the game, and (ii) participates fully in practice the following week, as in the example on page 2 (injured quarterback).

The term “normal repetitions” applies to a player’s participation in both individual drills and the team portion of practice. Consequently, a player who participates in less than 100 percent of his normal repetitions during either the individual or team portion of practice should be listed as “Limited Participation.”

- a. A player who participated in individual drills but does not participate in the team portion of practice should be listed as “Limited Participation” for that day.
- b. A healthy player who is injured during practice and, as the result, is unable to complete the practice should also be listed as “Limited Participation,” with an accompanying description of the player’s new injury or aggravation of a prior injury.
- c. A player who participates in individual drills, but for medical reasons does not take his normal repetitions during the team portion of practice and is assigned to the scout team should be listed as “Limited Participation.” Participation on the scout team, no matter how extensive, by a player whose normal repetitions would be with the starters but for his medical condition, would not alter the player’s proper designation as “Limited Participation.”

Walk-through. A team that conducts a walk-through or any similar rehearsal or instruction session less than a regular practice is still required to submit a list of injured players in its Practice Report if the walk-through or other similar session occurs on a normal reporting day. The same requirement applies to Practice Report days on which players have a day off. A player should be placed in the appropriate practice participation category based on the level of participation he would have had in a regular practice. The report should indicate that the selected category is an estimation because the team did not practice that day.

Use of “Not Injury Related.”¹ The supplemental entry “Not Injury Related” applies to situations in which a player is withheld from his normal repetitions for reasons other than injury. Examples include: resting veteran players, team discipline, jury duty, illness in family, personal matter, etc. In these cases, the club must explain specifically – on its own participation release issued to the media – why the player missed or was limited in practice. Use of this category is prohibited if the player in question has an injury that is otherwise reportable under the Policy. An injured player cannot be listed as a “resting veteran.”

A sample Practice Report is provided below:

Did Not Participate

RB Bill Jones (calf)
T Dave Johnson (wrist)
DE John Jackson (not injury related – personal matter)

Limited Participation

QB Moses Madison (right hand)
TE Aaron Monroe (ankle, shoulder)
S Bob Smith (not injury related – resting veteran)

Full Participation

G Andrew Pierce (hand)
K William Harrison (right ankle)

Concussion Protocol. Players who are in the Concussion Protocol must be listed on the Practice Report according to the phase of the protocol that the player is in. For example, if the player is not participating in practice, the club must list the player as “Did Not Participate (Concussion).” Conversely, if the player participates in practice as part of the Concussion Protocol’s “Return to Participation” procedures², the club must list the player as “Limited Participation (Concussion).” If during the practice week, the player

1. The proper use of the Not Injury Related category is a point of emphasis for the 2022 season. When a player is listed as Not Injury Related because of missed or limited practice participation, the club is required to list the reason for such designation, e.g., resting veteran or personal matter.

2. References to the Concussion Protocol’s “Return to Participation” procedures means that the player has been cleared by the club’s physician to return to full participation and that clearance has been confirmed by the Independent Neurological Consultant.

is cleared to return to full participation in practice under the Protocol's "Return to Participation" procedures, and the player participates in 100 percent of his normal repetitions without triggering a recurrence of symptoms, the player must be reported as "Full Participation (Concussion)" for the remainder of the practice week. (See page 6 for instructions regarding listing a player in Concussion Protocol on the Game Status Report.)

Please see Appendix A, for further details regarding the submission of Practice Reports.

2. GAME STATUS REPORT

The Game Status Report is expected to provide clubs and the public with an accurate description of a player's anticipated availability for the club's next game.

Reporting Schedule and Procedures. Regardless of whether a club's practice has concluded, clubs are required to indicate the status of their injured players on the NFL Intranet site by 4:00 p.m., New York time, and issue notice to the opposing team, local and national media, broadcast partners, etc., as follows:

THURSDAY GAME	FRIDAY GAME	SATURDAY GAME	SUNDAY GAME	MONDAY GAME
Wednesday	Thursday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday

All such reports must be submitted in a timely manner.

Specificity. As with Practice Reports, injuries must be identified with a reasonable degree of specificity in terms that are meaningful to coaches, other club officials, the media, and the public. For example, leg injuries must be specified as ankle, knee, thigh, calf, etc. Arm injuries must be identified as shoulder, elbow, wrist, hand, specific muscle, etc. Listing an injury simply as "leg," "arm," "upper body," or other equally vague description, is not acceptable. Also, as with Practice Reports, particular attention must be paid to the submission of Game Status Reports for quarterbacks, kickers, and punters. The report must indicate "left" or "right" if the injury is to the shoulder, any part of the arm or any part of the hand of a quarterback, or if the injury is to the groin, any part of the leg or any part of the foot of a kicker or punter. Again, please use the designation on the NFL Intranet site to enter this information.

Multiple Injuries. If a player has sustained multiple reportable injuries, all such injuries must be noted on the club's Game Status Report. In other words, under the Policy, the club's obligation is not satisfied by reporting only the most acute injury sustained by the player. The club is not entitled to unilaterally determine which of the player's reportable injuries might preclude his participation or affect his performance on game day.

Categories. The Game Status Report's player availability categories are defined as follows:

Out – Will not play

Doubtful – Unlikely to play

Questionable – Uncertain if player will play

Not Injury Related.³ If a player will not play – whether due to injury or non-injury reasons – that fact must be reported. If a player's game status is in question for non-injury reasons ("Not Injury Related"), that information must appear in the Game Status Report and must be explained publicly and included in the release issued by the club to the media.

Concussion Protocol. Players who are in the Concussion Protocol must be listed on the Game Status Report according to the phase of the Protocol that the player is in. For example, if the player has yet to participate in practice, the club must list the player as "Doubtful (Concussion)." If the player participates in practice as part of the Concussion Protocol's "Return to Participation" procedures, the club may list the player as "Questionable" or "Doubtful (Concussion)," as appropriate.

3. Use of the Not Injury Related category is a point of emphasis for the 2022 season. When a player is listed as Not Injury Related because of missed or limited practice participation, the club is required to list the reason for such designation, e.g., resting veteran or personal matter.

If the player has been returned to participation via the Protocol's "Return to Participation" procedures, the club is not required to list the player on the Game Status Report if the club is certain he will play. However, if the club is not certain that the player will play, he must be listed as "Questionable" or "Doubtful (Concussion)," as appropriate. The club's degree of certainty as to the player's availability may depend upon a number of factors, including the number of practices in which the player participated, on a full or limited basis, after having been cleared under the Protocol's "Return to Participation" procedures.

Notwithstanding the above, nothing precludes a club from listing a player as "Out" whether or not the player has returned to practice after having been cleared under the Protocol's "Return to Participation" procedures, subject to the "Use of 'Out' Category" section, below.

Use of "Out" Category. If a player is designated as "Out" on the club's Game Status Report, the club is prohibited from subsequently changing the player's status. If there is any possibility that the player might play, the club must list the player as "Doubtful" and issue a subsequent update if the player is ultimately declared "Out." A player who is listed as "Out" must be listed on the club's seven-player game day inactive list.

Subsequent Changes: Injuries or other events that occur after 4:00 p.m., New York time on the designated game status reporting day, but prior to the club's arrival at the stadium on game day, must be reported immediately if the injury or event could affect a player's ability to play in that week's game. The reporting of late-night and early-morning incidents, defined as those occurring between 11:00 p.m. and 6:00 a.m., local time, and corresponding updates to the League's injury reporting website may be delayed until 8:00 a.m., local time. At that time, the player's then-current condition must be reported and updated as required by the Policy.

Game Day Decisions. If, prior to the team's arrival at the stadium on game day, an event occurs (e.g., a player workout, disciplinary matter, illness or family issue) that causes the club to decide that a player will not start or will not play, the club must update its Game Status Report, as required by the Policy. If a team's headquarters is located in the team's stadium (e.g., Green Bay, Houston, or Jacksonville), or if players are permitted to arrange their own transportation to the stadium on game day (e.g., for a home game), the club is required to announce a change in a player's game status by updating its Game Status Report if that change occurs prior to the earliest time the team is instructed to report to the stadium. In this circumstance, the club cannot wait until the 90-minute meeting to list the player on its Inactive List. Nothing in this paragraph shall require a club to announce its potential inactive list prior to the 90-minute meeting.

For example, if the club conducts a workout for its previously injured starting quarterback (or any other starter) at any time after submitting its Game Status Report but prior to the team's arrival at the stadium on game day, and the club determines that the player will not start but may play, the club must update its Game Status Report by listing the player as "Questionable" (if not previously so listed). If, as the result of the workout, the club determines that the player will not play (i.e., he will be deactivated) the club must immediately update its Game Status Report by listing the player as "Out."

Conversely, if after the team arrives at the stadium on game day, a club conducts a workout for a player to determine if the player will be able to start or play in the game, the club is not required to update its Game Status Report if the club determines that the player will not start or will not play. In this situation, the club is permitted to wait until the 90-minute meeting to list the player on its Inactive List.

Players Who Do Not Travel with the Team. The following describes the required reporting procedures in the event one or more players do not travel with the team to an away game.

- a. If a player who is listed as "Questionable" or "Doubtful" on the Game Status Report does not travel to an away game due to injury, the club must report that fact immediately prior to departing the club's home city, and update its Game Status Report by listing the Player as "Out."
- b. If a player does not travel to an away game with his team for non-injury reasons, that fact must be reported immediately prior to departing the club's home city, and the club must indicate whether or not the player will be available for the game. If the player will not be available for the game the club must update its Game Status Report by listing the player as "Out."

- c. If the club is traveling prior to submitting its Game Status Report, any non-traveling players – whether due to injury or for a non-injury reason – must be reported as required by the Policy immediately and prior to the team's departure from its home city. Any further update must be made in accordance with normal Game Status Report procedures.

Please see Appendix A for further details regarding the procedures for submission of Game Status Reports.

3. REPORTING OF IN-GAME INJURIES

Club personnel are responsible for reporting in-game injury information factually and accurately as soon as possible for the benefit of the network television audience and the other media covering our games. To ensure fans in the stadium have access to the same information, these injury updates must also be posted on the stadium video boards, scoreboards or ribbon boards. The in-game injury updates must be disseminated simultaneously to all parties – the network television broadcaster, the media in the press box and the fans in the stadium.

In-game injury announcements to the media must be specific to a body part, accurate, and updated as warranted, including any changes to the player's status for the remainder of the game if his status changes after the initial report.

In situations where players have been involved in collisions in which a concussion is possible, an announcement will be made in the press box indicating that the player is being evaluated for a head injury. The club must then provide a further update as soon as practicable.

A player who is diagnosed with a concussion in a game will not be made available to the media after the game. The concussion-related medical exemption from mandatory media obligations extends until the player has been cleared under the Concussion Protocol's "Return to Participation" procedures.

4. ENFORCEMENT

Incorporation of NFL Constitution and Bylaws and NFL Policy on Integrity of the Game and Enforcement of Competitive Rules ("Integrity of the Game Policy"). The NFL Personnel (Injury) Report Policy expressly incorporates all relevant provisions of Articles VIII and IX of the NFL Constitution and Bylaws and the Integrity of the Game Policy.

Purpose and Intent of the Policy. As noted above, the Injury Report Policy serves a dual purpose. First, the Policy is intended to ensure that no team gains or attempts to gain an unfair competitive advantage against another team by failing to provide full and complete information concerning anticipated player availability.

Second, the Policy is intended to ensure public confidence in the integrity of the game itself. In that regard, the Integrity of the Game Policy prohibits NFL personnel from: betting on NFL games; facilitating any such bet, whether directly or through another person; improperly influencing or attempting to influence any aspect of a game; failing to give best effort in a game; sharing non-public information without authorization; soliciting or accepting a bribe or other offer to manipulate or influence a game or share non-public information; failing to report a bribe, offer or request for non-public information; or associating with known or problem gamblers in a manner that discredits the NFL.

The Injury Report Policy operates in tandem with the Integrity of the Game Policy by mandating transparency with respect to all required information pertaining to player availability, thereby eliminating the risk that the outcome of any NFL game will be influenced by the failure to disclose, or by the selective and prohibited disclosure of, such information.

With the expansion of legal sports betting, the League must maintain competitive fairness while ensuring that the public has full confidence that what occurs on the field is not improperly influenced by undisclosed information. Strict compliance with the Injury Report Policy is intended to prevent not only the actual misuse of information concerning player availability, but even the appearance that club personnel are misusing such information. Any violation of the Injury Report Policy will be addressed with these considerations in mind.

Specific Penalties. Any violation of this Injury Report Policy will subject the involved club and/or person to appropriate disciplinary action by the Commissioner. In such cases, in addition to all other penalties provided in the Constitution and Bylaws, the Commissioner may deprive the offending club of a selection choice or choices, and/or may fine the offending club and/or may fine or suspend with or without pay any involved individuals as appropriate. The League office will promulgate to all clubs the details of any penalties imposed for a violation of the Policy.

Duty to Investigation and Cooperate. Actual or suspected violations will be thoroughly and promptly investigated. Any club identifying a violation is required promptly to report the violation and give its full support and cooperation in any investigation. Failure to cooperate in an investigation shall be considered conduct detrimental to the League and will subject the offending club and responsible individual(s) to appropriate discipline.

Duty to Disclose. The Chief Executive, President, General Manager, and Head Coach shall have an affirmative duty to promptly report any actual or suspected violations of the Injury Report Policy to Ken Fiore of the NFL Player Personnel department. In a case involving self-reporting (i.e., where the violation was committed and is being reported by the same club), the report should include both a detailed explanation describing the violation and why it occurred, and a detailed statement of corrective action taken by the club to ensure that the violation does not occur again.

Standard of Proof. The standard of proof required to find that a violation of League rules has occurred shall be a Preponderance of the Evidence. This is the degree of evidence that is of greater weight or more convincing than the evidence that is offered in opposition to it. It means that, as a whole, the fact sought to be proved is more probable than not.

Disciplinary Considerations. Where a violation is established by a preponderance of the evidence, the Commissioner will impose discipline based upon all relevant facts and circumstances, including the nature and materiality of the violation, the prior record of the party committing the violation, prior treatment of similar violations, the extent to which the club and relevant individuals cooperated with the investigation, the actual competitive impact of the violation if ascertainable, and the extent to which public confidence in the NFL, its teams, owners and team personnel has been or may be affected.

Disciplinary matters, including hearings and appeals, shall be processed pursuant to Article 8 of the Constitution and Bylaws.

Willful Violations. In any case in which a preponderance of the evidence establishes that it is more likely than not that a club or any involved person deliberately set out to violate the Injury Report Policy or made a calculated decision to risk the possible penalties for such violation as an acceptable cost of attempting to gain an unfair competitive advantage (i.e., as a “cost of doing business”), or attempted to conceal evidence of the offense whether before, during, or after its commission, the club and any involved person will be subject to appropriate discipline under such aggravating circumstances.

If the Commissioner determines that such actions were undertaken in willful violation of the Gambling Policy for NFL Personnel, (e.g., for the purpose of betting on an NFL game or facilitating, directly or indirectly, any such bet) then, in addition to the specific penalties described above, any involved person will be subject to termination of employment and/or banishment from the League for life.

Doubtful or Unusual Situations. It is the responsibility of the club’s Public Relations Director to obtain and disseminate accurate and complete information concerning anticipated player availability. It is the responsibility of the clubs to review doubtful or unusual situations on a proactive basis with Michael Signora of the NFL Communications department in order to determine whether and to what extent the Policy's reporting requirements apply to such situations. A club's failure to do so will be taken into account in any enforcement proceeding. When in doubt, it is best to include a player on the applicable report or update.

APPENDIX A

RECEIVING AND REPORTING PLAYER INJURY INFORMATION

The following information assumes the club is playing a Sunday game. The daily schedule for reporting by game day can be found on page 2 for the Practice Report and on page 5 for the Game Status Report.

Wednesday – No later than 4:00 p.m., New York time, (or as soon as possible after the completion of practice), each club must submit, via the NFL intranet site, its Practice Report. Players must be listed, together with their injury or injuries, using one of the following categories: Did Not Participate, Limited Participation or Full Participation.

The League office will release a league-wide Practice Report to the media and clubs each Wednesday, beginning with the Wednesday preceding the first weekend of the regular season. Each club will issue its own Practice Report to its local media on Wednesday.

(Teams whose practice does not conclude by 4:00 p.m., New York time, must send their report to local media, their opponent's Public Relations Director, and the NFL Communications department as soon as possible after the completion of practice).

Thursday – No later than 4:00 p.m., New York time, (or as soon as possible after the completion of practice), each club must submit, via the NFL intranet site, its updated Practice Report that includes Thursday's practice participation and any new injuries.

The League office will distribute the updated Practice Report to media and clubs. Clubs will release their information to their local media.

(Teams whose practice does not conclude by 4:00 p.m., New York time, must send their report to local media, their opponent's Public Relations Director, and the NFL Communications department as soon as possible after the completion of practice).

Friday – No later than 4:00 p.m., New York time, each club must submit, via the NFL intranet site, its Practice Report and its Game Status Report. (Please note that the Practice Report and Game Status Report is due by 4:00 p.m. New York time or as soon as possible after the completion of practice).

Clubs must use one of the following categories for each of its players listed on the Game Status Report: Out, Doubtful, or Questionable.

The updated Practice Reports and Game Status Reports will be made available to the media by the League office, and each club will release that information to its local media.

To avoid confusion, the club's Practice Report and its Game Status Report must be clearly separated when disseminating the information to the media. For example, a veteran player who is not injured but has been rested in practice should not be listed on the Game Status Report with an injury status designation (Out, Doubtful, or Questionable). However, the Practice Report must list the player's practice participation as Did not Participate or Limited Participation, together with the notation

Not Injury Related. Conversely, a player who has missed practice time during the week because of an injury must be listed on the Game Status Report unless the club is certain that the player will play in the game.

If a player was listed on the club's Practice Report during the week but is not listed on the club's Game Status Report, it means that the club is certain the player will play. If the player is then deactivated for the game, the club will be required to provide an explanation. If the explanation is inadequate or unpersuasive, a compliance investigation or enforcement proceeding may be initiated.

Please see the Game Status Report section of the Policy (above) regarding the required procedures for updating the Game Status Report after its initial submission.

If a player is listed on the Game Status Report as "Out," the club cannot subsequently change his status, and the club must list the player as one of its seven inactive players on game day.

Players on an Exempt List or Reserve List. A player on a club's Exempt List or Reserve List who has returned to practice, but who has not been activated to the club's Active/Inactive List, must be listed on the Practice Report or the Game Status Report (e.g., a player who has been "designated for return," or who is practicing pursuant to the procedures of Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform or Reserve/Non-Football Injury/Illness).

Players Added to the Club's Active/Inactive List. For the sake of clarity, a club must add to its Game Status Report, any player with a reportable injury who is placed on the Active/Inactive List. This would include any player who is activated from the Exempt List or the Reserve List, any players signed as a free agent, any players signed from the club's own or another club's practice squad, and any player who is elevated to the Active/Inactive List pursuant to CBA Article 33, Section 5 (Standard Elevation Addendum) or Section 7 (Standard Contagious Disease Addendum).

Bye Week Procedures. During any regular season or postseason bye week, clubs are not required to submit Practice Reports or a Game Status Report, except for the period between the Conference Championship Games and the Super Bowl, when the teams participating in the Super Bowl are required to submit Practice Reports and a Game Status Report for the Super Bowl Game, subject to the foregoing injury reporting rules.

After a bye week, during the week preceding a club's next game the following rules apply:

1. If the player's injury was automatically reportable because it resulted in his unavailability or limited availability to the club as described in Sections 1(a) through 1(e) at page 2 above (e.g., the injury caused the player to miss a game), the player must be listed on the club's Practice Reports and must be listed on the Game Status Report unless the club is certain he will play in the game.
2. If the player's injury did not result in his unavailability or limited availability to the club as described in Sections 1(a) through 1(e), but the injury affected the player's performance as described in the injured quarterback example on page 2, the player must be listed on the club's Practice Reports and its Game Status Report (if so required) if, but only if, the injury continues to affect the player's performance or the player has sustained a different reportable injury.

APPENDIX B

RECEIVING AND REPORTING INFORMATION REGARDING AVAILABILITY OF COACHING STAFF ON GAME DAY

A public announcement is required for any coach who will miss a club's game for any reason, whether due to illness or some other reason. Furthermore, a club must announce the name and new responsibility assumed by any coach whose normal game day responsibilities have been adjusted in response to the absence of another coach.

Consistent with the Personnel (Injury) Report Policy for players, such an announcement must be made no later than the club's deadline to submit its Game Status report for players. If a coach becomes unavailable for the game after that time, the club must provide an immediate update.

Any initial announcement or subsequent update must include a general description of the reason for the absence of any coach (i.e., illness, personal, etc.) and must be made to the opposing team, local and national media, and broadcast partners. Notice must also be sent to Michael Signora of the NFL Communications department, and Ken Fiore of the NFL Player Personnel department.

APPENDIX J: EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT PLANNING FOR NFL CLUBS

Severe weather, natural disasters, war, civil commotion, and similar events can disrupt scheduled NFL games. Such disruptions are not limited to game days, and while such situations are rare, clubs should develop contingency plans, also known as Emergency Management Plans, for responding to an emergency, so that games are played with minimum disruption or inconvenience to participants and fans.

All clubs are familiar with the NFL Policy on Emergencies and Unfair Acts, which principally addresses authority and procedures to suspend, cancel, postpone, or terminate NFL games. A club's Emergency Management Plan represents its individualized effort to avoid the potential need to invoke this NFL Policy.

Many clubs have already put in place club-specific guidelines and procedures for anticipating emergency situations and minimizing their impact on NFL games. Especially in coastal cities vulnerable to tropical storms and northern cities with heavy snowfall, procedures have been established for responding swiftly and efficiently to avoid game disruption. Because an emergency situation can strike any club at any time, all clubs should have an Emergency Management Plan in place and should keep existing plans up-to-date.

A thorough Emergency Management Plan will take into consideration all those who rely on the staging of NFL games, including players, coaches, staff, and their families, as well as ticket holders, stadium personnel, broadcasters, government authorities, public safety organizations, vendors, and other third parties. An Emergency Management Plan should strive to ensure games are played as scheduled, in a safe and hospitable environment.

While there is no single Emergency Management Plan that will work for every possible situation, an excellent resource for NFL clubs is the FEMA Emergency Management Guide for Business and Industry. In addition, because the staging of NFL games is heavily reliant on third parties and has a unique public health and safety component, clubs should also refer to the attached Guide for All-Hazard Emergency Management Planning (Appendix A), adapted from FEMA directives to state and local municipalities.

Clubs should also encourage players and staff to have a home or family disaster plan. Clubs can obtain copies of family disaster planning guides from the American Red Cross and the Federal Emergency Management Agency. If you have any questions about this subject or need further assistance, please contact the NFL Football Operations department.

APPENDIX A GUIDE FOR ALL-HAZARD EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT PLANNING¹

While the causes of emergencies vary greatly, the potential effects of emergencies do not. Thus, this guide takes a functional approach to the structure of an Emergency Management Plan (EMP). Clubs should develop a plan and assign organizational responsibility for the task or function to be performed, whether that is adjusting team travel plans or evacuating a stadium. A critical aspect of planning for the response to emergency situations is to identify all common tasks or functions that must be performed, assign responsibility for performing each function, and ensure that the responsible individual or entity has prepared a standard operating procedure that details how to carry out critical tasks associated with the larger function.

In addition, when an emergency occurs during the NFL season, its impact on a particular club will differ depending on the team's immediate game schedule. As a starting point for Emergency Management Planning, clubs should consider organizing certain emergency response functions according to the following categories:

- Team is in home city, preparing for home game. Players, staff, coaches, and families are all home. Emergency situation arises at home affecting the status of the game or in the visiting team's city affecting their travel to the host city or their game preparation.

1. Adapted from the Federal Emergency Management Agency "State and Local Guide (SLG) 101: Guide for All-Hazard Emergency Operations Planning."

- Team is in home city, preparing for road game. Players, staff, coaches, and families are still at home, but about to travel to host city. Emergency situation arises at home affecting travel/game preparation or arises in host city affecting the status of the game.
- Visiting team is en route to or has arrived at host city for game. Emergency situation arises in host city affecting the status of the game or in the visiting team's city affecting family and staff left behind who may require some level of support.

Plans for performing each emergency response function should not be created in isolation. Since the club's goal is a coordinated response, task-based plans should follow from a Basic Plan that outlines the club's overall emergency organization and policies.

COMPONENTS OF THE EMP:

1. Basic Plan — an overview of the club's emergency response organization and policies, summarizing the situations addressed by the EMP, the general concept of operations, and division of responsibilities.
 - » Introductory Material — The EMP should be prefaced with information that enhances accountability and ease of use including the date of the EMP's most recent revision, the contact information of the principal authors, the record of distribution, and the table of contents.
 - » Purpose — The EMP should contain a general statement of what it is meant to do, with a brief synopsis of the overall plan and any functional annexes and emergency-specific appendices.
 - » Situation and Assumptions — The situation section explains exactly which hazards the EMP addresses and makes clear why Emergency Management Planning is necessary. The section should draw from existing hazard identification and analysis by government entities and other public service organizations, and may include relative probability and impact of the hazards, aspects of game operations likely to be affected by particular hazards, and critical resource dependencies on third parties including government entities. The assumption section simply describes the information used in preparing the EMP that must be treated as assumption rather than fact. Assumptions are included to show the limitations of the EMP, allowing EMP users to foresee that some improvisation or modification may become necessary.
 - » Concept of Operations — The audience for the EMP needs to picture the sequence and scope of the planned emergency response. The concept of operations section explains the club's overall approach to an emergency situation, i.e., what should happen, when, and at whose direction. Topics should include: division of club, League, stadium, local government, and third party responsibilities; activation of the EMP; "action levels" (depending on the nature and severity of the hazard) and their implications; and general sequence of actions before, during, and after the emergency situation. The concept of operations will touch on direction and control, alert and warning, or continuity of operations matters that may be dealt with more fully in annexes.
 - » Organization and Assignment of Responsibilities — This section establishes the emergency organization that will be relied on to respond to an emergency situation. It includes a listing by entity, department, and individual, and what kinds of tasks are to be performed, permitting a quick grasp of who does what without some of the procedural details included in functional annexes.
 - » For example, different tasks will fall within the purview of the football department, the travel office, the business operations staff, or stadium management. Specific tasks may be performed by different individuals depending on whether the team is home or away, and who travels with the team. When two or more people or entities perform the same kind of task, one should be given primary responsibility and the other(s) should be given a supporting role. For the sake of clarity, a matrix of individuals/departments and areas of responsibility (including functions) should be created to show at a glance who is to perform the primary and supporting roles for each function.

- 2. Functional Annexes — plans organized around the performance of a broad task. Each annex focuses on one of the critical emergency functions that needs to be performed in response to an emergency. The number and type of functional annexes included in the EMP may vary from club to club. Since functional annexes are oriented toward operations, their primary audience consists of those who perform the tasks. They do not repeat general information contained in the Basic Plan.

Example: Communications — A critical function during an emergency will be maintaining communications among members of the organization and critical third parties. Clubs should create a functional annex with relevant communications instructions and information such as contact lists with addresses, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of all club personnel and their families, League personnel, government and public safety officials, and other third-party personnel. The communications functional annex should detail the assignment of responsibility to specific staff members for maintaining contact with various individuals and entities. If a club has implemented toll free numbers for members of the organization and/or the public to call in an emergency, the annex should describe their operation.

Example: Assistance to Visiting Teams — If an emergency arises in the host city after the visiting club has arrived or is en route, the home club should provide assistance with contingency arrangements, for example, alternative lodging or return transportation.

- 3. Hazard-Specific Appendices — Additional detailed information applicable to the performance of a particular function in the face of a particular hazard. They are prepared when hazard characteristics warrant and are attached to the relevant functional annexes.

Example: Away Game Alternative Meeting Places — Certain types of emergencies might affect a team's ability to travel to an away game. Clubs should establish in advance an emergency meeting place from which to depart for away games, such as a team facility, so that personnel are not misinformed or misdirected in the event of certain types of emergencies (e.g., severe weather, air traffic control problems). In the event of such emergencies, personnel should be alerted to meet at the alternative departure point rather than, for example, at the airport. In the event an emergency affects its city while a team is already on the road, the club should designate a meeting place, e.g., a particular shelter where non-traveling personnel and family members could meet.

Example: Unavailability of Club's Primary Practice Facility — Since an emergency might affect the availability of a club's primary practice facility, alternate practice sites should be secured in advance.

- 4. Standard Operating Procedures and Checklists — Detailed instructions that an individual or entity will need to fulfill, including responsibilities and tasks assigned in the EMP. They may be attached to the EMP or referenced as deemed appropriate.

APPENDIX K: EXPOSURE CONTROL PLAN

The United States Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA) promulgated a standard regarding occupational exposure to bloodborne diseases, such as hepatitis B and HIV/AIDS. This standard applies to all employers whose employees face a meaningful risk of exposure to bloodborne diseases. A copy of the standard has been sent to each member club.

Under the standard, each affected employer is required to develop an exposure control plan. To assist member clubs in doing so, the League office developed a model plan and has distributed it to all clubs.

The plan — which focuses on team doctors, athletic trainers, equipment managers, and laundry personnel — is designed to comply with the OSHA standard and, more importantly, to minimize the risk of transmission of bloodborne diseases. It was prepared in conjunction with outside counsel and has been carefully reviewed both by a panel of the NFL Physicians Society and by Dr. Lawrence Brown, the NFL Drug Advisor and a nationally recognized authority on HIV/AIDS.

[NAME OF NFL CLUB]

EXPOSURE CONTROL PLAN: BLOODBORNE PATHOGENS

The Exposure Control Plan ("Plan") set forth below is aimed at minimizing the risk to those employees of [CLUB] ("Club") whose job-related exposure to blood and other potentially infectious materials presents a measurable danger of exposure to bloodborne pathogens, such as the hepatitis B virus ("HBV") which causes hepatitis B, a serious liver disease, and human immunodeficiency virus ("HIV"), which causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome or AIDS. The Plan is based on provisions in OSHA's bloodborne pathogens standard, 29 C.F.R. § 1910.1030, and requires the Club to institute or provide universal precautions, engineering and work practice controls, personal protective equipment, sanitary house-keeping, employee training, hepatitis B vaccinations, post-exposure evaluations and follow-up, and to keep certain records. The Club has identified those employees whose job-related responsibilities fall within the scope of the OSHA standard. Those employees are covered by and must comply with the Plan.

The Plan will be reviewed and updated at least annually and whenever necessary to reflect new or modified tasks and procedures which affect occupational exposure and to reflect new or revised employee positions with occupational exposure. The Plan shall document annually in Appendix H consideration and implementation of appropriate commercially available and effective safer medical devices designed to eliminate or minimize occupational exposure. The Plan shall also document in Appendix H the Club's solicitation of input from non-managerial employees responsible for direct patient care who are potentially exposed to injuries from contaminated sharps in the identification, evaluation, and selection of effective engineering and work practice controls.

DEFINITIONS

The following definitions shall apply to the Plan:

1. Assistant Secretary means the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health, or designated representative.
2. Blood means human blood, human blood components, and products made from human blood.
3. Bloodborne Pathogens means pathogenic microorganisms that are present in human blood and can cause disease in humans. These pathogens include, but are not limited to, hepatitis B virus (HBV) and human immunodeficiency virus (HIV).
4. Contaminated means the presence or the reasonably anticipated presence of blood or other potentially infectious materials on an item or surface.
5. Contaminated Laundry means laundry which has been soiled with blood or other potentially infectious materials or may contain sharp objects ("sharps").
6. Contaminated Sharps means any contaminated object that can penetrate the skin including, but not limited to, needles, scalpels, broken glass, broken capillary tubes, and exposed ends of dental wires.
7. Decontamination means the use of physical or chemical means to remove, inactivate, or destroy bloodborne pathogens on a surface or item to the point where they are no longer capable of transmitting infectious particles and the surface or item is rendered safe for handling, use, or disposal.
8. Director means the Director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, or designated representative.
9. Engineering Controls means controls (e.g., sharps disposal containers, self-sheathing needles, safer medical devices, such as sharps with engineered sharps injury protections and needleless systems) that isolate or remove the bloodborne pathogens hazard from the workplace.
10. Exposure Incident means a specific eye, mouth, other mucous membrane, non-intact skin, or parenteral contact with blood or other potentially infectious material that results from the performance of an employee's duties.
11. Handwashing Facilities means facilities providing an adequate supply of running potable water, soap, and single-use towels or air-drying machines.
12. Licensed Healthcare Professional is a person whose legally permitted scope of practice allows him or her to independently perform the activities required by the Hepatitis B Vaccination and Post-Exposure Evaluation and Follow-up section of this plan.
13. Needleless Systems means a device that does not use needles for collection of bodily fluids or withdrawal of body fluids after initial venous or arterial access is established; the administration of medication or fluids; or any other procedure involving the potential for occupational exposure to bloodborne pathogens due to percutaneous injuries from contaminated sharps.
14. Occupational Exposure means reasonably anticipated skin, eye, mucous membrane, or parenteral contact with blood or other potentially infectious materials that may result from the performance of an employee's duties.
15. Other Potentially Infectious Materials means: (1) the following human body fluids: semen, vaginal secretions, cerebrospinal fluid, synovial fluid, pleural fluid, pericardial fluid, peritoneal fluid, amniotic fluid, saliva in dental procedures, any body fluid that is visibly contaminated with blood, and all body fluids in situations where it is difficult or impossible to differentiate between body fluids; (2) any unfixed tissue or organ (other than intact skin) from a human (living or dead); and (3) HIV-containing cell or tissue cultures, organ cultures, and HIV- or HBV-containing culture medium or other solutions; and blood, organs, or other tissues from experimental animals infected with HIV or HBV.

16. Parenteral means piercing mucous membranes or the skin barrier through such events as needlesticks, human bites, cuts, and abrasions.
17. Personal Protective Equipment is specialized clothing or equipment worn by an employee for protection against a hazard. General work clothes (e.g., uniforms, pants, shirts, or blouses) not intended to function as protection against a hazard are not considered to be personal protective equipment.
18. Regulated Waste means liquid or semi-liquid blood or other potentially infectious materials; contaminated items that would release blood or other potentially infectious materials in a liquid or semi-liquid state if compressed; items that are caked with dried blood or other potentially infectious materials and are capable of releasing these materials during handling; contaminated sharps; and pathological and microbiological wastes containing blood or other potentially infectious materials.
19. Sharps With Engineered Sharps Injury Protections means a non-needle sharp or a needle device used for withdrawing body fluids, accessing a vein or artery, or administering medications or other fluids, with a built-in safety feature or mechanism that effectively reduces the risk of an exposure incident.
20. Source Individual means any individual, living or dead, whose blood or other potentially infectious materials may be a source of occupational exposure to the employee.
21. Sterilize means the use of a physical or chemical procedure to destroy all microbial life, including highly resistant bacterial endospores.
22. Universal Precautions is an approach to infection control. According to the concept of Universal Precautions, all human blood and certain human body fluids are treated as if known to be infectious for HIV, HBV, and other bloodborne pathogens.
23. Work Practice Controls means controls that reduce the likelihood of exposure by altering the manner in which a task is performed (e.g., prohibiting recapping of needles by a two-handed technique).

EMPLOYEES WITH OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE

The Club has determined that the following temporary and permanent employees face occupational exposure and are therefore covered by and must comply with the Exposure Control Plan:

1. Physicians
2. Athletic Trainers
3. Equipment Managers
4. Laundry personnel
5. Other employees, whether temporary or permanent, including part-time, contract, or per diem employees, who perform tasks similar to those performed by the employees listed above.

UNIVERSAL PRECAUTIONS

Universal precautions shall be observed to prevent contact with blood or other potentially infectious materials. Under circumstances in which differentiation between body fluid types is difficult or impossible, all body fluids shall be considered potentially infectious materials. These universal precautions have been developed by the Center for Disease Control and have been recommended to the clubs by the NFL Physicians Society.

ENGINEERING AND WORK PRACTICE CONTROLS

Engineering and work practice controls shall be used to eliminate or minimize employee exposure. Where occupational exposure remains after institution of these controls, personal protective equipment shall also be used. Engineering controls shall be examined and maintained or replaced on a regular schedule to ensure their effectiveness. The following engineering and work practice controls shall be used:

1. The Club shall provide handwashing facilities which are readily accessible to employees and visiting teams.
2. When provision of handwashing facilities is not feasible, the Club shall provide either an appropriate antiseptic hand cleanser in conjunction with clean cloth/paper towels or antiseptic towelettes. When antiseptic hand cleansers or towelettes are used, hands shall be washed with soap and running water as soon as feasible.
3. Employees shall wash their hands immediately or as soon as feasible after removal of gloves or other personal protective equipment.
4. Employees shall wash hands and any other skin with soap and water, or flush mucous membranes with water immediately or as soon as feasible following contact of such body areas with blood or other potentially infectious materials.
5. Contaminated needles and other contaminated sharps shall not be bent, recapped, or removed unless no alternative is feasible or such action is required by a specific medical procedure. Such bending, recapping, or needle removal must be accomplished through the use of a mechanical device or a one-handed technique. Shearing or breaking of contaminated needles is prohibited.
6. Immediately or as soon as possible after use, contaminated reusable sharps shall be placed in appropriate containers until properly reprocessed. These containers shall be:
 - a. Puncture resistant;
 - b. Labeled or color-coded in accordance with this Plan;
 - c. Leak-proof on the sides and bottom; and
 - d. In accordance with the requirements for reusable sharps set forth in paragraph (2)(E) of the Housekeeping section of this Plan.
7. Eating, drinking, smoking, applying cosmetics or lip balm, and handling contact lenses are prohibited in any area where there is a reasonable likelihood of occupational exposure.
8. Food and drink shall not be kept in refrigerators, freezers, shelves, cabinets or on countertops or benchtops in any area where medical procedures are performed or where specimens of blood or other potentially infectious materials are present.
9. All procedures involving blood or other potentially infectious materials shall be performed in such a manner as to minimize splashing, spraying, spattering, and generation of droplets of these substances.
10. Mouth pipetting/suctioning of blood or other potentially infectious materials is prohibited.
11. Specimens of blood or other potentially infectious materials shall be placed in a container which prevents leakage during collection, handling, processing, storage, transport, or shipping.
 - a. The container for storage, transport, or shipping shall be labeled or color-coded according to the Communication of Hazards to Employees section of this Plan and closed prior to being stored, transported, or shipped.
 - b. If outside contamination of the primary container occurs, the primary container shall be placed within a second container which prevents leakage during handling, processing, storage, transport, or shipping and is labeled or color-coded according to the requirements of this Plan.
 - c. If the specimen could puncture the primary container, the primary container shall be placed within a secondary container which is puncture-resistant in addition to the above characteristics.
12. Equipment which may become contaminated with blood or other potentially infectious materials shall be examined prior to servicing or shipping and shall be decontaminated as necessary, unless decontamination of such equipment or portions of such equipment is not feasible.

- a. A readily observable label in accordance with the Communication of Hazards to Employees section of this Plan shall be attached to the equipment stating which portions remain contaminated.
- b. The Club shall ensure that this information is conveyed to all affected employees, the servicing representative, and/or the manufacturer, as appropriate, prior to handling, servicing, or shipping so that appropriate precautions will be taken.

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

The following procedures regarding personal protective equipment shall be used:

1. For employees with occupational exposure, the Club shall provide, at no cost to the employee, appropriate personal protective equipment. See Appendix A for examples. The Club shall make this equipment available to visiting teams as well.
2. Employees shall use appropriate personal protective equipment, except under rare and extraordinary circumstances where in the employee's professional judgment the use of such equipment would prevent the delivery of health care or public safety services or would pose an increased hazard to the safety of the employee or co-employee. When the employee makes this judgment, the circumstances shall be investigated and documented in order to determine whether changes can be instituted to prevent such occurrences in the future.
3. The Club shall ensure that appropriate personal protective equipment in the appropriate sizes is readily accessible in its locker rooms, training rooms, practice facilities and at its game sites, including on the sidelines, or is issued to employees. Hypoallergenic gloves, glove liners, powderless gloves, or other similar alternatives shall be readily accessible to those employees who are allergic to the gloves normally provided.
4. The Club shall clean, launder, and dispose of personal protective equipment required under this Plan at no cost to the employee.
5. The Club shall repair or replace personal protective equipment as needed to maintain its effectiveness, at no cost to the employee.
6. If a garment(s) is penetrated by blood or other potentially infectious materials, the garment(s) shall be removed immediately or as soon as feasible.
7. All personal protective equipment shall be removed prior to leaving the work area.
8. When personal protective equipment is removed it shall be placed in an appropriately designated area or container for storage, washing, decontamination or disposal.
9. Gloves shall be worn when it can be reasonably anticipated that the employee may have hand contact with blood, other potentially infectious materials, mucous membranes, and non-intact skin; when performing vascular access procedures; and when handling or touching contaminated items or surfaces.
 - a. Disposable (single use) gloves, such as surgical or examination gloves, shall be replaced as soon as practical when contaminated or as soon as feasible if they are torn, punctured, or when their ability to function as a barrier is compromised.
 - b. Disposable (single use) gloves shall not be washed or decontaminated for re-use.
 - c. Utility gloves may be decontaminated for re-use if the integrity of the glove is not compromised. However, they must be discarded if they are cracked, peeling, torn, punctured, or exhibit other signs of deterioration or when their ability to function as a barrier is compromised.
10. Masks in combination with eye protection devices, such as goggles or glasses with solid side shields, or chin-length face shields, shall be worn whenever splashes, spray, spatter, or droplets of blood or other potentially infectious materials may be generated and eye, nose or mouth contamination can be reasonably anticipated.
11. Appropriate protective clothing such as, but not limited to, gowns, aprons, lab coats, clinic jackets, or similar outer garments shall be worn in occupational exposure situations. The type and characteristics will depend upon the task and degree of exposure anticipated.

HOUSEKEEPING

The following procedures regarding housekeeping shall be used:

1. The Club shall ensure that its locker rooms and training rooms, both at its practice facilities (including training camp) and its home game sites, are maintained in a clean and sanitary condition. The Club shall determine and implement an appropriate written schedule for cleaning and method of decontamination based upon the location within the facility, type of surface to be cleaned, type of soil present, and tasks or procedures being performed in the area. See Appendix B for the Club's schedule.
2. All equipment and environmental and working surfaces shall be cleaned and decontaminated after contact with blood or other potentially infectious materials.
 - a. Contaminated work surfaces shall be decontaminated with an appropriate disinfectant after completion of procedures; immediately or as soon as feasible when surfaces are overtly contaminated or after any spill of blood or other potentially infectious materials; and at the end of the work shift if the surface may have become contaminated since the last cleaning.
 - b. Protective coverings, such as plastic wrap, aluminum foil, or imperviously-backed absorbent paper used to cover equipment and environmental surfaces, shall be removed and replaced as soon as feasible when they become overtly contaminated or at the end of the work shift if they may have become contaminated during the shift.
 - c. All bins, pails, cans, and similar receptacles intended for re-use which have a reasonable likelihood for becoming contaminated with blood or other potentially infectious materials shall be inspected and decontaminated on a regularly scheduled basis and cleaned and decontaminated immediately or as soon as feasible upon visible contamination.
 - d. Broken glassware which may be contaminated shall not be picked up directly with the hands. It shall be cleaned up using mechanical means such as a brush and dust pan, tongs, or forceps.
 - e. Reusable sharps that are contaminated with blood or other potentially infectious materials shall not be stored or processed in a manner that requires employees to reach by hand into the containers where these sharps have been placed.
3. Contaminated sharps shall be discarded immediately or as soon as feasible in containers that are:
 - a. Closable;
 - b. Puncture resistant;
 - c. Leak-proof on sides and bottom; and
 - d. Labeled or color-coded in accordance with the Communication of Hazards to Employees section of this Plan.
4. During use, containers for contaminated sharps shall be:
 - a. Easily accessible to personnel and located as close as is feasible to the immediate area where sharps are used or can be reasonably anticipated to be found (e.g., laundry area);
 - b. Maintained upright throughout use; and
 - c. Replaced routinely and not be allowed to overfill.
5. When moving containers of contaminated sharps from the area of use, the containers shall be:
 - a. Closed immediately prior to removal or replacement to prevent spillage or protrusion of contents during handling, storage, transport, or shipping;
 - b. Placed in a secondary container if leakage is possible. The second container shall be:
 - i. Closable;
 - ii. Constructed to contain all contents and prevent leakage during handling, storage, transport, or shipping; and
 - iii. Labeled or color-coded according to the Communication of Hazards to Employees section of this Plan.

6. Reusable containers shall not be opened, emptied, or cleaned manually or in any other manner which would expose employees to the risk of percutaneous injury.
7. Regulated waste shall be placed in containers which are:
 - a. Closable;
 - b. Constructed to contain all contents and prevent leakage of fluids during handling, storage, transport or shipping;
 - c. Labeled or color-coded in accordance with the Communication of Hazards to Employees section of this Plan; and
 - d. Closed prior to removal to prevent spillage or protrusion of contents during handling, storage, transport, or shipping.
8. If outside contamination of the regulated waste container occurs, it shall be placed in a second container that meets the criteria listed in paragraph (7) above.
9. Disposal of all regulated waste shall be in accordance with applicable federal, state, and local laws and regulations.
10. Contaminated laundry shall be handled as little as possible with a minimum of agitation.
11. Contaminated laundry shall be bagged or containerized at the location where it was used and shall not be sorted or rinsed in the location of use.
12. Contaminated laundry shall be placed in bags or containers labeled or color-coded in accordance with the Communication of Hazards to Employees section of this Plan. These labeling requirements also apply when the Club ships contaminated laundry off-site to a second facility.
13. Whenever contaminated laundry is wet and presents a reasonable likelihood of soak-through or leakage from the bag or container, this laundry shall be placed and transported in bags or containers which prevent soak-through and/or leakage of fluids to the exterior.
14. The Club shall ensure that employees who have contact with contaminated laundry wear protective gloves and other appropriate personal protective equipment.
15. The Club shall supply necessary materials to visiting teams.

HEPATITIS B VACCINATION AND POST-EXPOSURE EVALUATION AND FOLLOW-UP

The following procedures regarding hepatitis B vaccinations and post-exposure evaluation and follow-up shall be used:

1. The Club shall make available the hepatitis B vaccine and vaccination series to all temporary and permanent employees who have occupational exposure, and post-exposure evaluation and follow-up to all employees who have had an exposure incident.
2. The Club shall ensure that all medical evaluations and procedures including the hepatitis B vaccine and vaccination series and post-exposure evaluation and follow-up, including prophylaxis, are:
 - a. Made available at no cost to the employee;
 - b. Made available to the employee at a reasonable time and place;
 - c. Performed by or under the supervision of a licensed physician or by or under the supervision of another licensed healthcare professional; and
 - d. Provided according to recommendations of the U.S. Public Health Service current at the time these evaluations and procedures take place, unless specified otherwise in this section.
3. The Club shall ensure that all laboratory tests are conducted by an accredited laboratory at no cost to the employee.

4. Hepatitis B vaccination shall be made available after the employee has received the training required by the Communication of Hazards to Employees section of this Plan and within 10 working days of initial assignment to all employees who have occupational exposure unless the employee has previously received the complete hepatitis B vaccination series, antibody testing has revealed that the employee is immune, or the vaccine is contraindicated for medical reasons.
5. The Club shall not make participation in a prescreening program a prerequisite for receiving hepatitis B vaccination.
6. If the employee initially declines hepatitis B vaccination but at a later date while still covered under this Plan decides to accept the vaccination, the Club shall make available hepatitis B vaccination at that time.
7. The Club shall assure that employees who decline to accept hepatitis B vaccination offered by the Club sign the statement in Appendix C.
8. If a routine booster dose(s) of hepatitis B vaccine is recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service at a future date, such booster dose(s) shall be made available in accordance with this section.
9. Following a report of an exposure incident, the Club shall make immediately available to the exposed employee a confidential medical evaluation and follow-up that includes at least the elements listed in Appendix D.
10. The Club shall ensure that the healthcare professional responsible for the employee's hepatitis B vaccination is provided a copy of OSHA's bloodborne pathogens standard, 29 C.F.R. § 1910.1030.
11. The Club shall ensure that the healthcare professional evaluating an employee after an exposure incident is provided the following information:
 - a. A copy of OSHA's bloodborne pathogens standard, 29 C.F.R. § 1910.1030;
 - b. A description of the exposed employee's duties as they relate to the exposure incident;
 - c. Documentation of the route(s) of exposure and circumstances under which exposure occurred;
 - d. Results of the source individual's blood testing, if available, and
 - e. All medical records relevant to the appropriate treatment of the employee including vaccination status which are the Club's responsibility to maintain.
12. The Club shall obtain and provide the employee with a copy of the evaluating healthcare professional's written opinion within 15 days of the completion of the evaluation.
13. The healthcare professional's written opinion for hepatitis B vaccination shall be limited to whether hepatitis B vaccination is indicated for an employee, and if the employee has received such vaccination.
14. The healthcare professional's written opinion for post-exposure evaluation and follow-up shall be limited to the following information:
 - a. That the employee has been informed of the results of the evaluation; and
 - b. That the employee has been told about any medical conditions resulting from exposure to blood or other potentially infectious materials which require further evaluation or treatment.
15. All other findings or diagnoses shall remain confidential and shall not be included in the written report.
16. Medical records shall be maintained in accordance with the Recordkeeping section of this Plan.

EXPOSURE INCIDENT EVALUATION

The following procedures for evaluating the circumstances surrounding exposure incidents shall be used

1. Exposure incidents should be reported to the team physician or head trainer immediately. The physician or trainer shall notify appropriate Club officials.
2. The Club shall investigate and document each exposure incident by interviewing the employees involved and preparing a factual record of the circumstances surrounding the exposure incident.
3. The Club shall use the factual record to evaluate:
 - a. The policies and failures of control at the time of the exposure incident;
 - b. The effectiveness of the engineering controls in place at the time of the exposure incident; and
 - c. The work practices and protective equipment or clothing used at the time of the exposure incident
4. The Club shall use its best efforts to correct the problems identified in its evaluation of the exposure incident.
5. The investigation and evaluation shall be conducted by a team physician not involved with the exposure incident. He may consult with other healthcare professionals as appropriate.

COMMUNICATION OF HAZARDS TO EMPLOYEES

The following procedures for communicating hazards to employees shall be used:

1. Warning labels shall be affixed to containers of regulated waste, contaminated equipment, refrigerators, and freezers containing blood or other potentially infectious materials, and other containers used to store, transport or ship blood or other potentially infectious materials. See Appendix E for label specifications.
2. The Club shall ensure that all employees with occupational exposure participate in a training program which shall be provided at no cost to the employee and during working hours. See Appendix F for a list of training program elements.
3. Training shall be provided as follows:
 - a. At the time of initial assignment to tasks where occupational exposure may take place; and
 - b. At least annually thereafter.
4. Annual training for all employees shall be provided within one year of their previous training.
5. The Club shall provide additional training when changes such as modification of tasks or procedures or institution of new tasks or procedures affect the employee's occupational exposure. The additional training may be limited to addressing the new exposures created.
6. Material appropriate in content and vocabulary to educational level, literacy, and language of employees shall be used.
7. The person conducting the training shall be knowledgeable in the subject matter required to be covered by the training program (see Appendix F) as it relates to professional football and the locker room environment.

RECORDKEEPING

The following procedures regarding recordkeeping shall be used:

1. The Club shall establish and maintain an accurate record for each employee with occupational exposure. See Appendix G for details.

2. The Club shall ensure that employee medical records required by paragraph (1) above are:
 - a. Kept confidential; and
 - b. Are not disclosed or reported without the employee's express written consent to any person within or outside the workplace except as required by this section or as may be required by law.
3. The Club shall maintain the records required by paragraph (1) above for at least the duration of employment plus thirty (30) years.
4. Training records shall include the following information:
 - a. The dates of the training sessions;
 - b. The contents or a summary of the training sessions;
 - c. The names and qualifications of persons conducting the training; and
 - d. The names and job titles of all persons attending the training sessions.
5. Training records shall be maintained for three (3) years from the date on which the training occurred.
6. The Club shall ensure that all records required to be maintained by this section shall be made available upon request to the Assistant Secretary and the Director for examination and copying.
7. Employee training records required by this section shall be provided upon request for examination and copying to employees, to employee representatives, to the Director, and to the Assistant Secretary.
8. Employee medical records required by this section shall be provided upon request for examination and copying to the subject employee, to anyone having written consent of the subject employee, to the Director, and to the Assistant Secretary in accordance with 29 C.F.R. § 1910.1020.
9. The Club shall comply with the requirements involving transfer of records set forth in 29 C.F.R. § 1910.1020(h).
10. The Club shall maintain a sharps injury log. See Appendix G for details.

APPENDIX A PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

Examples:

- Gloves
- Gowns
- Laboratory coats
- Clinic jackets
- Aprons
- Face shields
- Masks
- Goggles
- Glasses with solid side shields
- Mouthpieces
- Resuscitation bags
- Pocket masks
- Ventilation devices

"APPROPRIATE" EQUIPMENT

Personal protective equipment is "appropriate" if it does not permit blood or other potentially infectious materials to pass through to or reach the employee's work clothes, street clothes, undergarments, skin, eyes, mouth, or other mucous membranes under normal conditions of use and for the duration of time which the protective equipment is used. Personal protective equipment shall be furnished to visiting teams.

APPENDIX B CLEANING AND DECONTAMINATION SCHEDULE

[INSERT CLUB SCHEDULE]

APPENDIX C HEPATITIS B VACCINE DECLINATION (MANDATORY)

I understand that due to my occupational exposure to blood or other potentially infectious materials I may be at risk of acquiring hepatitis B virus (HBV) infection. I have been given the opportunity to be vaccinated with hepatitis B vaccine, at no charge to myself. However, I decline hepatitis B vaccination at this time. I understand that by declining this vaccine, I continue to be at risk of acquiring hepatitis B, a serious disease. If in the future I continue to have occupational exposure to blood or other potentially infectious materials and I want to be vaccinated with hepatitis B vaccine, I can receive the vaccination series at no charge to me.

Employee Signature

Date

APPENDIX D POST-EXPOSURE EVALUATION AND FOLLOW-UP

Each post-exposure medical evaluation and follow-up must contain the following elements:

1. Documentation of the route(s) of exposure, and the circumstances under which the exposure incident occurred;
2. Identification and documentation of the source individual, unless the Club can establish that identification is infeasible or prohibited by state or local law;
 - a. The source individual's blood shall be tested as soon as feasible and after consent is obtained in order to determine HBV and HIV infectivity. If consent is not obtained, the Club shall establish that legally required consent cannot be obtained. When the source individual's consent is not required by law, the source individual's blood, if available, shall be tested and the results documented.
 - b. When the source individual is already known to be infected with HBV or HIV, testing for the source individual's known HBV or HIV status need not be repeated.
 - c. Results of the source individual testing shall be made available to the exposed employee, and the employee shall be informed of applicable laws and regulations concerning disclosure of the identity and infectious status of the source individual.
3. Collection and testing of blood for HBV and HIV serological status;
 - a. The exposed employee's blood shall be collected as soon as feasible and tested after consent is obtained.
 - b. If the employee consents to baseline blood collection, but does not give consent at that time for HIV serologic testing, the sample shall be preserved for at least 90 days. If, within 90 days of the exposure incident, the employee elects to have the baseline sample tested, such testing shall be done as soon as feasible.
4. Post-exposure prophylaxis, when medically indicated, as recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service;

5. Counseling; and
6. Evaluation of reported illnesses.

APPENDIX E WARNING LABELS

1. Warning labels shall include the following legend:

2. Warning labels shall be fluorescent orange or orange-red or predominantly so, with lettering or symbols in a contrasting color.
3. Warning labels shall be affixed as close as feasible to the container by string, wire, adhesive, or other method that prevents their loss or unintentional removal.
4. Red bags or red containers may be substituted for labels.
5. Containers of blood, blood components, or blood products that are labeled as to their contents and have been released for transfusion or other clinical use are exempted from the labeling requirement.
6. Individual containers of blood or other potentially infectious materials that are placed in a labeled container during storage, transport, shipment or disposal are exempted from the labeling requirement.
7. Warning labels required for contaminated equipment shall also state which portions of the equipment remain contaminated.
8. Regulated waste that has been decontaminated need not be labeled or color-coded.

APPENDIX F TRAINING PROGRAM

The training program shall contain at a minimum the following elements:

1. An accessible copy of the regulatory text of OSHA's bloodborne pathogens standard, 29 C.F.R. § 1910.1030, and an explanation of its contents;
2. A general explanation of the epidemiology and symptoms of bloodborne diseases;
3. An explanation of the modes of transmission of bloodborne pathogens;
4. An explanation of the Club's Exposure Control Plan and the means by which the employee can obtain a copy of the written Plan;
5. An explanation of the appropriate methods for recognizing tasks and other activities that may involve exposure to blood and other potentially infectious materials;
6. An explanation of the use and limitations of methods that will prevent or reduce exposure including appropriate engineering controls, work practices, and personal protective equipment;
7. Information on the types, proper use, location, removal, handling, decontamination and disposal of personal protective equipment;
8. An explanation of the basis for selection of personal protective equipment;

9. Information on the hepatitis B vaccine, including information on its efficacy, safety, method of administration, the benefits of being vaccinated, and that the vaccine and vaccination will be offered free of charge;
10. Information on the appropriate actions to take and persons to contact in an emergency involving blood or other potentially infectious materials;
11. An explanation of the procedure to follow if an exposure incident occurs, including the method of reporting the incident and the medical follow-up that will be made available;
12. Information on the post-exposure evaluation and follow-up that the Club is required to provide for the employee following an exposure incident;
13. An explanation of the signs and labels and/or color coding required by this Plan; and
14. An opportunity for interactive questions and answers with the person conducting the training session.

APPENDIX G EMPLOYEE OCCUPATIONAL EXPOSURE RECORDS

Each employee occupational exposure record shall include:

1. The name of the employee;
2. A copy of the employee's hepatitis B vaccination status including the dates of all hepatitis B vaccinations and any medical records relative to the employee's ability to receive vaccination;
3. A copy of all results of examinations, medical testing, and follow-up procedures; and
4. The Club's copy of the healthcare professional's written opinion and the information provided to the healthcare professional as required by the Hepatitis B Vaccination and Post-Exposure Evaluation and Follow-up section of this Plan.

The Club shall maintain a sharps injury log for the recording of percutaneous injuries from contaminated sharps. The information in the sharps injury log shall be recorded and maintained in such a manner as to protect the confidentiality of the injured employee. The sharps injury log shall be maintained for five (5) years following the end of the calendar year that it covers and shall contain, at a minimum:

1. The type and brand of device involved in the incident;
2. The department or work area where the exposure incident occurred; and
3. An explanation of how the incident occurred.

The Club shall record all work-related needlestick injuries and cuts from sharp objects that are contaminated with another person's blood or other potentially infectious materials. Each case will be entered on the OSHA 300 Log as an injury. To protect the injured employee's privacy, the injured employee's name will not be entered on the OSHA 300 Log. If the employee is later diagnosed with an infectious bloodborne disease, the Club shall update the OSHA 300 Log to change the classification of the case from an injury to an illness.

When an employee is splashed or exposed to blood or other potentially infectious materials without being cut or scratched, the incident shall be recorded on the OSHA 300 Log as an illness if:

1. It results in the diagnosis of a bloodborne illness, such as HIV, hepatitis B, or hepatitis C; or
2. It results in any of the following: death, days away from work, restricted work or transfer to another job, medical treatment beyond first aid, or loss of consciousness.

APPENDIX H ANNUAL REVIEW

[Documentation of the Club's solicitation of input from non-managerial employees responsible for direct patient care who are potentially exposed to injuries from contaminated sharps in the identification, evaluation, and selection of effective engineering and work practice controls.]

[Documentation of the Club's annual consideration and implementation of appropriate commercially available and effective safer medical devices designed to eliminate or minimize occupational exposure.]

POSTSEASON GAMES

A. SELECTION OF PLAYOFF CLUBS

1. Four Division Champions from each Conference.
2. Three Wild Card teams (non-Division champions with best three records) from each Conference. All three Wild Card teams may come from the same Division.

B. PAIRINGS AND PRIORITY

The four Division Champions and three Wild Card teams (the three teams with the best records other than the Division Champions) from each conference will participate in the postseason. Tie games are calculated as one-half game won and one-half game lost. The Wild Card teams may come from the same Division. Teams eliminated in Divisional Championship tiebreakers are eligible to be Wild Cards if they qualify by their records.

The seven postseason participants from each Conference will be seeded as follows:

1. Division Champion with the best record.
2. Division Champion with the second-best record.
3. Division Champion with the third-best record.
4. Division Champion with the fourth-best record.
5. Wild Card team with the best record.
6. Wild Card team with the second-best record.
7. Wild Card team with the third-best record.

If two or more Division Champions finish with the same won-lost-tied percentage at the end of the regular season, the tie will be broken pursuant to section E below (Wild Card Ties).

Pairings and sites for the Wild Card and Divisional playoff games will be determined as follows:

- Wild Card

The Division Champion with the second-best record (#2 seed) will play the Wild Card team with the third-best record (the #7 seed); the Division Champion with the third-best record (#3 seed) will play the Wild Card team with the second-best record (#6 seed); and the Division Champion with the fourth-best record (#4 seed) will play the Wild Card team with the best record (#5 seed). The Division Champions will host the games.

- Divisional

The Division Champion with the best record (#1 seed) will play the lowest-seeded team that won its first game. The other two winning teams play each other in the other second round game. The two highest seeded will host games. For example, if in the first round the #7 seed defeats the #2 seed, the #3 seed defeats the #6 seed, and the #5 seed defeats the #4 seed, the #1 seed will host the #7 seed, and the #3 seed will host the #5 seed.

None of the above will be affected by the fact that a Wild Card team and Division Champion are from the same division.

Pairings and sites for the Conference Championship games will be determined as follows:

- Winners of the Divisional Playoff games will be the four participants; the home team in a Conference Championships game will be the Division Champions that was seeded highest in the playoffs, unless two Wild Card teams are in a Conference Championships, in which case, the Wild Card team that was seeded highest in the first round of the playoffs will be the home team in the Conference Championship game.

C. SUPER BOWL

Champions of the American Football Conference (AFC) and the National Football Conference (NFC) play to determine the National Football League Champion. The home team alternates between the Conference Champions. The NFC Champion will be the home team for Super Bowl LIX.

E. TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

1. Division Ties

If, at the end of the regular season, two or more clubs in the same Division finish with the best won-lost-tied percentage, the following steps will be taken until a champion is determined:

TWO CLUBS

- Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games between the clubs).
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the Division.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the Conference.
- Strength of victory in all games.
- Strength of schedule in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among Conference clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among all clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- Best net points in common games.
- Best net points in all games.
- Best net touchdowns in all games.
- Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

- Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games among the clubs).
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the Division.

- Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the Conference.
- Strength of victory in all games.
- Strength of schedule in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among Conference clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among all clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- Best net points in common games.
- Best net points in all games.
- Best net touchdowns in all games.
- Coin toss.

NOTE 1: If two clubs remain tied after one or more clubs are eliminated during any step, tiebreaker re-starts at step one of two-club format.

NOTE 2: If three clubs remain tied after a fourth club is eliminated during any step, tiebreaker re-starts at step one of three-club format.

*The combined ranking is derived by adding a club's position in the two categories, and the lowest score wins. If Club A is first in points scored and second in points allowed, its combined ranking is "three," and if Club B is third in points scored and first in points allowed, its combined ranking is "four," and Club A wins the tiebreaker. If two clubs are tied for a position, both clubs are awarded the ranking as if they held it solely. For example, if Club A and Club B are tied for first in points scored, each club is assigned a ranking of "one" in the category, and if Club C is third, its ranking will still be "three."

2. Wild Card Ties

If it is necessary to break ties to determine the three Wild Card clubs from each conference, the following steps will be taken:

- If all the tied clubs are from the same Division, apply Division tiebreaker.
- If the tied clubs are from different Divisions, apply the following steps:

TWO CLUBS

- Head-to-head, if applicable.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in the games played within the Conference.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
- Strength of victory in all games.
- Strength of schedule in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among Conference clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among all clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- Best net points in Conference games.
- Best net points in all games.
- Best net touchdowns in all games.
- Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

- Apply Division tiebreaker to eliminate all but highest ranked club in each Division prior to proceeding to step two. The original seeding within a Division upon application of the Division tiebreaker remains the same for all subsequent applications of the procedure that are necessary to identify the two Wild Card participants.

- Head-to-head sweep (apply only if one club has defeated each of the others or one club has lost to each of the others).
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the Conference.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
- Strength of victory in all games.
- Strength of schedule in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among conference clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- *Best combined ranking among all clubs in points scored and points allowed in all games.
- Best net points in Conference games.
- Best net points in all games.
- Best net touchdowns in all games.
- Coin toss.
- When the first Wild Card club has been identified, the procedure is repeated to name the second and third Wild Card clubs (i.e., eliminate all but the highest ranked club in each Division prior to proceeding to step two). In situations where three clubs from the same Division are involved in the procedure, the original seeding of the clubs remains the same for subsequent applications of the tiebreaker if the top-ranked team in the Division qualifies for a Wild Card berth.

NOTE 1: If two clubs remain tied after one or more clubs are eliminated during any step, tiebreaker re-starts at step one of two-club format.

NOTE 2: If three clubs remain tied after a fourth club is eliminated during any step, tiebreaker re-starts at step two of three-club format.

*The combined ranking is derived by adding a club's position in the two categories, and the lowest score wins. If Club A is first in points scored and second in points allowed, its combined ranking is "three," and if Club B is third in points scored and first in points allowed, its combined ranking is "four," and Club A wins the tiebreaker. If two clubs are tied for a position, both clubs are awarded the ranking as if they held it solely. For example, if Club A and Club B are tied for first in points scored, each club is assigned a ranking of "1" in the category, and if Club C is third, its ranking will still be "3."

3. Conference Ties

To determine home site priority for postseason games when non-Division teams are tied in won-lost records, the Wild Card tiebreakers are used.

WILD CARD, DIVISIONAL, AND CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

A. KICKOFF TIMES

Kickoff times will be established by the Commissioner.

B. HALFTIME ENTERTAINMENT

The home club will arrange for suitable pregame and halftime entertainment, coordinated through the NFL Events and NFL Football Operations departments, and subject to approval by the Commissioner.

C. JERSEY NOTIFICATION

By no later than the Tuesday preceding the game, the home club must advise the visiting club and declare to the NFL Football Operations department its choice of jersey color.

D. VIDEO EXCHANGE

All playoff participants must continue to follow the existing procedures for uploading game footage to the Club Game Exchange (CGE), as set forth in the Exchange of Game Footage section of this Manual.

E. TEAM TRAVEL

1. Visiting clubs must be scheduled to arrive in the home city at least 18 hours before kickoff. In making such arrangements, consideration must be given to adverse weather conditions that could cause travel delays.
2. Visiting clubs are responsible for making their own travel arrangements. The NFL Football Operations department is available to assist in coordinating hotel space, if requested.
3. Plans for early arrival, for weather or other reasons, should be coordinated through the NFL Football Operations department, which can assist in obtaining practice fields, etc.
4. Visiting clubs must submit their team's travel itinerary to the NFL Football Operations department by the Wednesday preceding the game.
5. Each visiting club shall receive reimbursement from the League office for airfare based on their actual charter cost after providing appropriate supporting documentation to the League.

F. STADIUM

1. Field markings must be in strict accordance with League policy and must include the NFL shield and the playoff logo. The League office will supply the home clubs with playoff stencils for these games.
2. The home club is responsible for providing the required items in all locker rooms, as in regular season play.
3. If the home club plans to use a climate control unit in the bench area, the visiting club must be offered an identical unit and quantity at the home club's expense.
4. Extra precautions may be required for field and stadium security.
5. Home clubs are responsible for providing a game operations booth, enclosed and separate from other booths, for League personnel to coordinate the game. This booth must seat at least five people with unobstructed sightlines of the playing field.

G. POSTSEASON SCOUTING CREDENTIALS

1. Wild Card

Clubs hosting a Wild Card Playoff game must honor a request for at least two scouting credentials from the club in its conference that received a bye. A club hosting a Wild Card Playoff game is not required to grant any scouting credentials to any other clubs but may do so if it chooses.

2. Divisional

Clubs hosting a Divisional Playoff game must honor a request for at least two scouting credentials from each club participating in the other Divisional Playoff game in its conference. A club hosting a Divisional Playoff game is not required to grant any scouting credentials to a club from the other conference but may do so if it chooses.

3. Conference Championship

For Conference Championship games, requests for two scouting credentials from each team participating in the Championship game of the other conference must be honored.

In each case, one of the two seats must be a standard working location (table top) within the press box.

H. COMMUNICATIONS AND MEDIA OPERATIONS

1. For all postseason games:

- The home club is responsible for the production and issuance of credentials for all postseason games, using access zones that are consistent with those used during the regular season.
- Depending on existing stadium facilities, clubs should be advised that it may be necessary to make auxiliary press arrangements. Please coordinate all arrangements through the NFL Football Operations department and the NFL Communications department.
- The home club should make suitable arrangements to service the visiting national media during the week. A media room should be operational by Tuesday prior to the game, including working Wi-Fi. Clubs should prepare a postseason media guide in electronic form. Both clubs must provide reasonable access to all broadcast partners (not just the televising network) for one-on-one interviews with the head coach and players during the week before each playoff game.
- An escort for media to the two locker rooms and interview areas should be provided in the closing minutes of the game because many writers may be unfamiliar with the stadium.
- The home club should arrange to have television sets available for media (pregame and postgame) for viewing other postseason games.

2. For Conference Championship games only:

- Credentials are produced, issued, and distributed by the home club. Press box seat assignments will be made by the home club. Accommodations should be made for any national or international media requests forwarded from the League office. Media Will Call must open at least four hours prior to kickoff on game day.
- The home club will handle reserved parking, as for a regular season game, but the League office will require space for up to 50 cars/buses.
- The four participating teams are required to adhere to media requirements established by the League office for Wednesday through Sunday of Championship game week. This will include a minimum of 45 minutes of open locker room periods on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday plus press conference and conference call availabilities on those days at the team facility with key club personnel. The head coach must be available in the press conferences at the team facility on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. The starting quarterback must be available in the press conferences at the team facility on Wednesday and also available on either Thursday or Friday at a minimum. The League will provide Championship game backdrops for use at the Wednesday press conferences. These League-issued backdrops will also be used for both the home and visitor Championship game postgame press conferences at the stadium.

- Arrangements must be made for live TV coverage in the winning team's locker room after the game.

I. RADIO

1. The competing clubs retain their standard radio broadcast rights. Income derived from these radio rights is retained by the clubs involved.
2. Westwood One will broadcast each game nationally in accordance with policies applied to regular season games.
3. Under Article X of the NFL Constitution and Bylaws, the Commissioner must approve all radio broadcasts. Please contact Michael North, Vice President of Broadcast Planning and Scheduling, for approval.
4. Rights to the Conference Championship games rest with the League, not the individual clubs. If a radio station that holds club local flagship rights desires to broadcast the game, it may do so (a) on a non-exclusive basis in the club's home market only (with no network), and (b) after obtaining permission from the National Football League and upon payment of a rights fee. All such requests should be referred to Michael North, Vice President of Broadcast Planning and Scheduling, at the League office.

J. TICKETS

1. Ticket prices are established by the Commissioner's office in consultation with the clubs. The Commissioner shall authorize clubs on an individual basis to produce tickets for the playoffs. All expenses related to the production, sale, and distribution of tickets will be borne by the clubs. Clubs are authorized to assess a maximum handling charge not to exceed the amount charged per season ticket account or order when season ticket holders were invoiced prior to the season. For example, if a club charged an $8 handling fee as part of the renewal process prior to the season, the club may charge an amount not to exceed $8 for the postseason. In addition to allowable ticket handling fees, clubs may elect to add surcharges for credit card purchases for postseason tickets, provided, (a) the surcharge does not exceed the club's credit card fees on the tickets, and (b) the club does not seek reimbursement from the NFL for credit card fees on tickets. If a club is authorized to incur ticket-related expenses, but does not host a postseason game, it may, upon appropriate documentation to the League office, receive reimbursement for the following amounts (reduced by actual handling charges collected): invoice, ticket, or credential printing – $10,000; mailing – actual cost (first-class postage only). Clubs will qualify for such reimbursement only once during the playoffs. All expenses must be submitted to the attention of William Dorrance, Vice President of Club Finance (212.450.2086), for consideration prior to March 1, 2025 in order to be eligible for reimbursement.
2. As soon as ticket prices are established, each club will forward to the League office a manifest at full capacity reflecting the gross receipts, taxes, and any other approved special charges. Clubs will also furnish a best estimate of what actual stadium rental/expenses will be. Send this data directly to William Dorrance.
3. The maximum number of complimentary tickets allotted to the home club is 1,000. If the home club exceeds 1,000 complimentary tickets, the incremental tickets will be reported on the box office statement at the club's cost. It is recommended that the issuance of complimentary tickets be as restrictive as possible.
4. 50 tickets should be set aside for purchase by Westwood One, 10 tickets for purchase by Google/YouTube, and up to 100 for purchase by the televising network for each game.
5. A minimum of 70 tickets for Wild Card and Divisional Playoffs and 150 tickets for Conference Championship games should be set aside for purchase by the League office. Additionally, a private suite is required for the Commissioner and/or senior League executives for each game.
6. Up to 32 tickets must be set aside for purchase by NFL Officiating to be used for Game Officials for each game. NFL Officiating will confirm the exact number of tickets as the game date approaches. Under the NFL-NFLRA CBA, Game Officials and alternates are entitled to two tickets for each game.

7. Two tickets should be set aside for purchase by NFL Security for each game.
8. For Conference Championship games, there will be no advertising messages on game tickets.
9. Prospective home and visiting clubs should have early conversations regarding ticket allotments for visitors. Generally, regular season policies should prevail, which include 500 tickets provided to the visiting club for purchase. Unsold tickets should be returned to the home club by 120 hours prior to kickoff.

For Conference Championship games, potential home clubs should contact all possible visiting clubs for advance determination of their ticket needs. If mutual agreement cannot be reached on the number of tickets to be provided, the Commissioner will determine the quantity within the provisions of Article 21.3 of the NFL Constitution and Bylaws. All unsold tickets must be returned to the home club 120 hours prior to kickoff.

K. FINANCES/EXPENSES

1. Home Club

Each home club shall deduct and pay from gross gate receipts: admission taxes, authorized special charges, actual stadium rental/expenses, and visiting club guarantees. After the foregoing deductions, each home club will retain the below guarantee amount from net gate receipts to pay all other home club game expenses, including non-player compensation, ticket expenses, public relations expenses, FICA, other payroll charges, and all insurance charges including Workers' Compensation, but excluding player shares and officials' expenses which shall be paid by the League office.

- Wild Card and Divisional: $1,962,000
- Conference Championship: $2,652,000

The Finance Committee will periodically review the adequacy of the guarantees. In the event an extraordinary expense (an expense related to something not expected to occur in the course of normal operation of a postseason game) is incurred, a home club may request reimbursement from the Commissioner for such extraordinary expense. Any requests for reimbursement must be made by March 1, 2025. In such event or on any other questions or disputes, the Commissioner's decision shall be final and binding. Revenues remaining from gross receipts (after deduction of admission taxes, authorized special charges, actual stadium rental/expenses, visiting club guarantee, home club guarantee (see amounts above), 50% club seat premiums retained by the home club, and any upside able to be retained by the home club pursuant to 2022 Resolution FC-3 and 2023 Resolution FC-1) shall be wired to the NFL Postseason Account by the Wednesday following the game.

Home clubs must share 50% of all suite license fees revenues in the postseason unless the same suite was sold for all preseason and regular season games.

2. Visiting Club

Each visiting club shall receive reimbursement from the League office for airfare based on their actual cost for one chartered airline after providing appropriate supporting documentation to the League. In addition, each visiting club shall receive the below from the home club to cover all other expenses, including non-player compensation, insurance, Workers' Compensation, FICA and other payroll charges, and excluding only actual player shares.

- Wild Card: $1,782,000
- Divisional: $1,962,000
- Conference Championship: $2,652,000

3. Player Shares

Within five days after each postseason game, participating clubs (including clubs that have earned a first-round bye) must forward a list of players (whom those clubs believe are eligible to receive shares of postseason pay under the CBA) to Eric Kerzner, Vice President, Labor Relations (212.450.2323). Upon approval by the Commissioner of player shares, a wire covering approved player shares shall be forwarded by the League office to the clubs for distribution. Distribution of player shares by the clubs shall be made within 15 days of the date of the game. No distribution is to be made by the clubs to any player not on the list approved by the Commissioner.

4. Non-Player Compensation

Recipients and amounts of non-player compensation for postseason games are club decisions.

L. LEAGUE AUTHORITY

The AFC and NFC Championship games shall be under the supervision, control, and direction of the Commissioner. All questions arising in connection with said games not specifically provided for in this Manual, the NFL Constitution and Bylaws, or the Official Playing Rules of the National Football League, shall be decided by the Commissioner.

M. HEADQUARTERS

The NFL Football Operations department will select a hotel in the home city to serve as the Conference Headquarters for the entire week prior to the Championship game. The Headquarters will serve as the temporary office to the Conference staff and will house the visiting media.

N. TRANSPORTATION

For Conference Championship games, the NFL Football Operations and Communications departments may arrange for necessary media buses on game day. Police escorts may be required for media and visiting team buses. The host club may be asked to assist in such arrangements.

O. HONORARY CAPTAIN

For Conference Championship games, each club will select an Honorary Captain to participate in the Coin Toss. The winning team's Honorary Captain will also present the Conference Championship Trophy during the postgame ceremony. All travel costs associated with the Honorary Captain will be covered by each team, respectively, from its game share.

P. TROPHY PRESENTATION

The Conference Championship trophy presentation will take place on the field (conditions permitting), regardless of which team wins the game. The host stadium will be required to provide support for the trophy presentation (e.g., in-house audio, etc.).

PRO BOWL

Additional information related to the Pro Bowl event will be distributed to clubs during the regular season. All Pro Bowl voting procedures will remain in place for the 2024 season.

A. EVENT DATE AND SITE

February 2, 2025 (Orlando, FL) – ESPN

B. LEAGUE CONTACTS

NFL Contacts: Lenny Bandy, Akil Coad, Laura Malfy, Matthew Reamer, Steve Farago

NFL Communications Contact: Sam Drexler

C. CLUB COOPERATION POLICY

Pursuant to League policy, clubs must use their best efforts to support the annual Pro Bowl event by:

1. Instructing coaching and management personnel to make positive comments about the event.
2. Promoting the event in club publications, local sections of the program, on the message board, and over the public address system.
3. Promptly following League directives that will be promulgated regarding the player voting and selection process.
4. Assuring that all players selected to the Pro Bowl fulfill their contractual obligation to report on time and participate in the events.

The Commissioner may determine that failure to cooperate constitutes conduct detrimental to the League under Article 8.13(A) of the Constitution and Bylaws.

D. RESPONSIBILITIES OF CLUBS

1. Voting

Clubs are responsible for coordinating voting by coaches and players. Clubs must submit completed ballots to the NFL Football Operations department via the Football Operations intranet site. Although player reps will conduct the player voting, club reps should be available to provide any necessary assistance.

2. Player Travel

Players will be required to make their travel arrangements through American Express travel in the League office. Unauthorized travel will not be paid for by the League.

3. Player Contact

A designated club executive should be assigned to gather information regarding each of the club's players' personal schedules during the period between the end of the season and the Pro Bowl reporting date. He or she will forward this information to the NFL Football Operations department.

4. Physical Clearance

Each club will have its club physician give Pro Bowl players a physical exam after its last regular season or postseason game, whichever is applicable. Player and club must inform the Pro Bowl/League office immediately if the player is not cleared for full participation in the events. Clubs should also notify the Pro Bowl office immediately if the player's medical status is in doubt in any way so that alternates can be alerted. A player who does not receive medical clearance following their final game may still be cleared for participation by Friday, January 24, 2025, at 5:00 p.m., ET. Any change in a player's medical status must immediately be submitted in writing to the Pro Bowl/League office by the club physician. The player bears the responsibility of communicating in writing to the Commissioner's office any injury or ailment following the season that would prevent him from participating in the events.

5. Player Equipment

If any equipment is required, each club must have its equipment department send the necessary items prior to January 24, 2025. Details will be provided at a later date under separate cover.

6. Communications

In addition to assisting in the club voting, Communications assistance is required to help maximize publicity of the announcement of the Pro Bowl squads.

E. VOTING PROCEDURES

1. Three Ballots

Fans will again participate in the selection of the Pro Bowl squads along with each member club's coaching staff and players. Clubs will vote only for players on opposing teams within their own conference. Details of the fan voting will be outlined to clubs early in the 2024 season.

2. Date of Players-Coaches Voting

All players-coaches voting must be completed and filed at a date to be announced. Head coaches must make time available for player voting during the days preceding the voting deadline.

3. Depth Charts, Ballots

The League office will communicate at a later date when position guides should be developed, and ballots will be sent to each club well in advance of the voting date. These are to be copied in sufficient quantities to complete the vote.

4. Voting Guidelines

Coaches and players follow the same guidelines in voting for the Pro Bowl players:

- Fill in all spaces on the ballot. Vote for players by position and be sure they have been selected in the correct position.
- Vote for a player only once unless he is additionally considered worthy of selection as a specialist. A player's total points are tallied by position total only; votes from different positions will not be combined. Players will only be able to receive votes at the position designated by their club (as shown in the voting position guide).

If a player is selected to the Pro Bowl at multiple positions, the player will participate as a member of the Pro Bowl squad at the position for which he received the most voting points. Once it is determined at which position the player received more voting points, the other position, or "secondary" position, will be treated as if the original selection were injured and unable to participate.

The player originally selected at multiple positions will be announced as an original selection at both positions. This player will only be eligible to receive a single Pro Bowl share if he participates in the event. The player that replaces the original selection at the "secondary" position will be recognized as a member of the Pro Bowl squad, but not recognized as an original selection, and will receive a Pro Bowl share for participating in the event. This mirrors the League's policy when replacing an injured original selection to the Pro Bowl squad.

If a player is an original selection at a position and a potential alternate at another position, that player will not be considered as a potential replacement player at that "secondary" position, regardless of how many voting points that player received at either position.

- Players and coaches cannot vote for players on their own team. They may vote for any opponent, whether or not the voter faced the player during the season. Also, it is not mandatory that each team have a player participate in the Pro Bowl, nor is there a limit on the number of players a team may have.

Players and coaches should vote based on this season's performance only and avoid selecting players who have been injured and would be unable to participate. Team PR Directors will be responsible for furnishing updated injury information to the League office.

Note: Players placed on Reserve/Injured prior to the distribution of the voting position guide will not be included. Players suspended for a violation of the Policy on Performance-Enhancing Substances will be ineligible for selection to the Pro Bowl.

- The ballot provides spaces for both strong and free safeties. The distinction should be made in the voting. A split vote could hurt the player's chances, since points are tallied by position total only.
- Space on the ballot will be provided to recognize outstanding special teams performers. These players must be regulars on any or all of their club's following units: punt return, punt coverage, kickoff return, or kickoff coverage. The special teamers may not be a club's placekicker, punter, or punt/kick return specialist.
- It is mandatory for the coaches' and players' ballot to include a fullback within the personnel named to the team.
- On each of the two sets of ballots, a first team vote is worth two points; the second team vote, one point.

5. Tie-Breakers

For the players' voting, the player rep will tabulate their results, reducing the results to a single ballot. Any position ties will be broken as follows:

- Player receiving the larger number of first place votes will be listed first.
- If still tied, the player from the team with the best record will be listed first.
- If still tied, and an offensive position is involved, player from the team which scored the most points will be listed first; if a defensive position is involved, player from the team giving up the fewest points will be listed first.
- In the event of a tie at the same position between members of the same NFL team, two additional tie breakers will be added to the current list:
 - First tie-breaker – number of years of service in the NFL (priority to senior player).
 - Second tie-breaker – number of years of Pro Bowl experience.

The NFL Football Operations department will follow these same tiebreakers in tabulating results.

6. Filing the Ballots

The coaches' and players' ballots should be submitted via the Football Operations intranet site immediately upon completion, at a date to be announced. In addition, the original ballots must be signed by the head coach and player rep respectively, countersigned by the working club executive, and mailed to the NFL Football Operations department.

7. Announcement of Selections

Clubs will be advised of their players selected, and public announcement plans will be coordinated with the NFL Communications department. Formal notice of selection will also be sent to the players and the NFLPA. The squad will be officially announced to the public on the NFL Network.

F. ALL-STAR TEAMS

Club administrative and non-playing personnel, including coaches and talent scouts, may not participate in the selection of All-Star, All-League, All-Opponent, or All-America teams, and related projects.

Players are exempt from the restriction. However, participation in such polls should be assessed solely on the merit of the request.

It is League policy that the home addresses of all players will not be provided to requesting media, but that ballots and questionnaires may be forwarded to the players by the clubs.

G. PLAYERS

1. Squads

Participating players are selected by fans, and by opposing players and coaches. Each squad will consist of 44 players, broken down by position as follows:

OFFENSE	DEFENSE	SPECIALISTS
4 Wide Receivers	3 Ends	1 Punter
2 Tight Ends	3 Interior Linemen	1 Placekicker
3 Tackles	3 Outside Linebackers	1 Special Teamer
3 Guards	2 Inside/Middle Linebackers	1 Long Snapper
2 Centers	4 Cornerbacks	1 Return Specialist
3 Quarterbacks	3 Safeties*
3 Running Backs
1 Fullback
21 Total	18 Total	5 Total
*One strong safety and one free safety will be voted to the starting lineup of each squad. If either a starting strong or free safety is injured, the next alternate at that designated position will be named to the squad.

2. Compensation

Players who qualify for participation in the Pro Bowl and who in fact participate in the events will be compensated.

The League Office will provide a lump-sum payment to the respective clubs for the Pro Bowl compensation for players on their team. These payments reflect appropriate adjustments for any unpaid expenses (hotel incidentals, ticket charges, airfare adjustments, etc.). Clubs will then pass on to each individual Pro Bowl player his compensation approximately 15 days after the event.

Super Bowl Players: A player who is selected to the Pro Bowl (either as an Original Pro Bowl Selection or as a Replacement) and is on his team's 46-player Active List for the Super Bowl, will receive compensation. A player who is not on his team's active game day roster for the Super Bowl will not receive a Pro Bowl share.

3. Pro Bowl Souvenirs

Players may keep their Pro Bowl apparel. Squad pictures will be made available to each player through his club.

4. Players' Physical Fitness

Each player selected to the Pro Bowl squad will be examined after his final game, and the club physician must certify him as capable of full participation in Pro Bowl events. It is the player's responsibility to notify the Commissioner's office in writing of any injury or ailment occurring or recurring after the final game of the season that would prevent the player from participating in any scheduled Pro Bowl events.

Such notification will be subject to review by the Commissioner's office. If adequate substantiation is not provided by the player, the Commissioner can require the player to be examined by an NFL-appointed physician. Such examination may take place on-site at the Pro Bowl.

If, after reporting to the Pro Bowl, a neutral physician determines that the player is not physically able for full participation, the player will be provided return transportation to his home city and will not receive a Pro Bowl share, and his club will be billed for transportation and housing costs incurred.

H. ALTERNATE PLAYERS AND REPLACEMENTS

It is the club's responsibility to notify alternates of their potential participation in the Pro Bowl event.

Should it be necessary to replace any members of the 44-person squads, the player who finished next in the voting at that position will be named to the squad. Clubs will be advised of which players are possible replacements; clubs should maintain the ability to immediately contact alternate players until Monday, January 27, 2025. Clubs should also be certain that alternate players' equipment (if any equipment is required) is ready for immediate shipment if necessary.

I. PLAYER EXPENSES

Participating players will be entitled to the following expenses:

1. Transportation

Participants will receive two first-class round-trip tickets or four coach-class round-trip tickets (if accompanied by spouse or guest) from their established off-season residence to the Pro Bowl city. All reservations must be made through the NFL American Express travel office. The NFL Football Operations department will provide clubs with the information necessary to make these arrangements. A spouse's or guest's fare is considered taxable wages and is subject to withholding tax. All other football staff members will receive one first-class round-trip ticket or two coach round-trip tickets (if accompanied by spouse or guest).

2. Hotel Room

Participants' hotel room charges will be paid by the Pro Bowl office for a maximum period of six nights – beginning Tuesday, January 28, 2025, through Monday, February 3, 2025. The participant is responsible for all telephone, meal, and incidental charges at the hotel during that period, and for all charges for any additional occupancy beyond the six-day allowable period.

3. Per Diem

Each participant and spouse will receive a daily per diem. In each case, the per diem payment is for those days the recipient is at the game site, up to a maximum of six days. A spouse's per diem is considered taxable wages and is subject to withholding tax.

4. Tickets

Each participant will receive two complimentary tickets for applicable event(s) and may purchase a limited number of additional tickets.

J. PRO BOWL FINE SCHEDULE

Pro Bowl players are subject to fines if they fail to attend required events and activities without receiving approval for the absence from the NFL Football Operations department.

The Pro Bowl fine schedule for unauthorized absences is as follows:

VIOLATION	FINE AMOUNT
Late for mandatory activities	$500.00
Missed mandatory activities	$2,000.00

SUPER BOWL

A. GAME DATES AND SITES

GAME	DATES	SITES
Super Bowl LIX	February 9, 2025	Caesars Superdome in New Orleans, LA – FOX
Super Bowl LX	February 8, 2026	Levi's Stadium in Santa Clara, CA – NBC
Super Bowl LX	February 14, 2027	SoFi Stadium in Inglewood, CA – ESPN

B. TICKETS

1. The Super Bowl game ticket allocation percentages are as follows:

TICKET ALLOCATION	PERCENTAGES
New Orleans Saints	5.00%
AFC Team	17.5%
NFC Team	17.5%
Other 29 Clubs	34.8% (1.2% each)
League office	25.2%

From the total ticket allocation, 2,500 tickets will be allotted to the League office and 750 tickets will be allotted to the New Orleans Super Bowl Host Committee.

NFL Properties will receive 310 tickets from the allocation given to the host club(s) plus 16 tickets from each other club's allocation.

Box suite tickets, necessary trade-outs to get the suite tickets, seat kills, staff tickets, etc., will be taken off the top before applying percentages.

2. Distribution

All clubs will receive their non-participating team ticket allotments prior to Divisional Playoff games. Participating Teams will receive their ticket allotments after the Divisional Playoff Games.

The League Office will audit and enforce, if necessary, the minimum requirement of Super Bowl tickets that are sold to fans (excluding club employees and business partners (e.g., brokers)), as follows:

- A minimum of 10% of the host club's ticket allocation will go to season ticket holders. All other local needs will be the responsibility of the host club(s).
- A minimum of 35% of the tickets allocated to the participating teams will go to season ticket holders. All other local needs will be the responsibility of the participating teams.
- It is recommended that all other clubs set aside a portion of no less than 10% of their Super Bowl tickets for season ticket holders.

All clubs must report their distribution of tickets to the Super Bowl game to the League office prior to game day. The report must include individuals, corporate affiliation, and number of tickets issued, and any other information requested by the League office.

Pursuant to 2016 Resolution BV-2, each participating club in Super Bowl LIX will receive $6,967,235.50 as a passthrough from On Location Experiences.

The sale of a ticket at a price higher than face value is commonly known as scalping. Scalping of tickets to any NFL game — preseason, regular season, postseason — or to any NFL event, by persons (or clubs) within the League including, but not limited to, League office and club employees, is conduct detrimental and may result in disciplinary action against the violator.

NFL policy prohibits scalping any ticket to an NFL game or event, or bartering or trading such tickets for personal gain or benefit, regardless of whether the ticket was provided free, has no face value, or was purchased at face value or for more than face value, and regardless of whether the transaction occurs in a district where scalping is otherwise permitted by law.

3. The following are requirements of the host club:

- The host club will be responsible for the ticket needs of its state and local politicians, including advertisers, clients, politicians, sponsors, and media, except for the limited number of tickets made available traditionally to local media in the host club's area by the League office.
- The host club's ticket manager must assist on game day in resolving ticket and will-call issues. Availability of lost ticket passes will be very limited.

4. The following guidelines are offered to non-participating clubs:

- Develop a method of season ticket holder participation in the ticket allotment. An example offered by one club is a season ticket holder drawing in which a designated number of tickets are set aside for sale to those winning a drawing (e.g., 100 winners of four tickets each or 200 winners of two each). The drawing could be conducted in the presence of local media who cover the club on a regular basis. Those eligible for the drawing are season ticket holders who clip an entry coupon from a late season edition of a game program.
- Establish a firm policy regarding number of tickets made available to players, coaches, and staff members, with four as a maximum number per individual. Per the current CBA, each club will provide players with the opportunity to purchase two tickets to the Super Bowl game each year subject to reasonable safeguards to avoid scalping of the tickets. Consider requiring that club personnel's tickets be picked up at the game site.
- Require club employees, players, and coaches to sign a form stating that they will not profit by resale of tickets provided them by the club and remind them of the seriousness with which the club and the League view ticket scalping.
- Each club should keep a detailed list of tickets assigned to each purchaser to prevent any problems with lost or stolen tickets. This list should be turned over to the Super Bowl ticket manager so he/she may better assist on game day. Without such lists, the League office cannot meaningfully help with lost or stolen tickets.

5. These guidelines are offered to participating clubs:

- Under current allocations, a maximum of 65% of the total number to each club can be used for purposes other than season ticket holders. Season ticket holder distribution should be limited to two to six tickets per account. A great deal of scalping appears to come from this source, so care should be taken to ensure that the recipient plans to attend the game.
- Set up your ticket distribution mechanism to discourage easy resale of tickets.
- Each club may distribute no more than 15 tickets to any player or assistant coach. This includes both tickets offered for purchase or complimentary tickets. The club must notify each recipient that the tickets provided are not for resale at a price above face value and make them aware of the consequences of ticket resale legally, ethically, and for tax reporting purposes. Per the current CBA, each club will provide players with the opportunity to purchase two tickets to the Super Bowl game each year subject to reasonable safeguards to avoid scalping of the tickets. Confining distribution to the game site and to a late date will maximize control and make scalping more difficult.

- Distribute a form to club employees, players, and coaches stating that they will not profit by resale of tickets provided by the club and remind them of the seriousness with which the club and the League view ticket scalping.
- Each participating club will be responsible for ticket needs of local and state figures, including advertisers, clients, politicians, sponsors, and media.

C. TELEVISION

FOX will televise Super Bowl LIX. Game time begins at approximately 6:30 p.m. ET / 5:30 p.m. local time.

D. RADIO

Westwood One will broadcast nationally, but the League will negotiate local coverage with the flagship stations of participating clubs. The same rules apply for a national Spanish radio broadcast.

E. SUPER BOWL EVENTS

Tickets for events planned by the League office and related entities will be allotted under a formula that will be communicated to ownership prior to the Super Bowl. This includes the Friday Night Party, Tailgate Party, NFL Honors, etc.

F. CLUB PACKETS

A packet will be prepared for each club the week of the game. It will contain party invitations, parking permits, game information, etc. More details regarding delivery of the packets will be provided to the clubs prior to the Super Bowl.

G. TRANSPORTATION

Each of the 32 clubs, upon request, will have reserved limousines accessible through the League office. Each participating Super Bowl club will receive one chauffeured vehicle (large SUV or smaller) at the League's expense. Additional vehicles and limousines will be available at the clubs' expense.

H. LEAGUE AND MEDIA HEADQUARTERS

The League Headquarters Hotel will be the Hyatt Regency New Orleans. The Super Bowl Media Center will be located at the New Orleans Ernest N. Morial Convention Center.

I. PARTICIPATING CLUB INFORMATION

The League will make the Guide for Participating Clubs available to the final four contending clubs electronically only. No printed copies will be provided.

1. Home Club

The NFC Champion will be the home team and will have its choice of jersey color. Jersey color must be designated by 12:00 p.m., ET on Monday, January 27, 2025. If the NFC does not exercise their choice by this deadline, the NFC team will wear its traditional home jersey.

2. Advance Planning Trip

It is required that staff members from each potential participating club meet with Super Bowl officials in New Orleans on Monday, January 20 and Tuesday, January 21, 2025, to review plans for game week. Representatives of the contending clubs should plan to arrive on Sunday evening or on Monday. The League will cover up to 40 room nights at the team's headquarters hotel, or a combination of hotels, for staff traveling to the Super Bowl city for the advance planning trip. Further information will be provided to contending clubs in December.

3. Broadcasting Network Requirements

Both participating teams must make their players and coaches available and provide time at their home facility during the week following the Conference Championship games with the Super Bowl televising network to shoot headshots, conduct interviews, and for other specialized shoots. Additional time should be allocated during the bye week for these obligations.

4. Club Hotels

A total of 700 rooms will be blocked for each participating club. The participating clubs are obligated to fill these rooms and should do so before pursuing additional hotel rooms in the New Orleans area. In order to properly secure these room blocks, contracts will be signed by the League office that are wholly assumed by the clubs. This includes the club's responsibility and obligation for payment of any unused rooms. Specific contracts will be provided to contending clubs in January. A four-night minimum commitment was required to secure all room blocks.

The New Orleans Super Bowl Host Committee will pay for 157 rooms for eight nights, and an additional block of rooms for advance staff (1,309 room nights) at the club's headquarters hotel, and the League will pay for 150 rooms for four nights (600 room nights) at a designated participating club Family & Friends hotel(s).

- NFC Headquarters Hotel – Hilton New Orleans Riverside will be the NFC Headquarters hotel. Room block details will be available prior to December.
- AFC Headquarters Hotel – New Orleans Marriott will be the AFC Headquarters hotel. Room block details will be available prior to December.
- Participating Club Family & Friends Hotels – Each participating club will be assigned additional rooms at the designated participating club's Family & Friends hotels.

Detailed information on all club hotels will be available in December.

5. Practice Sites

The NFC Champions will practice at Saints Headquarters and Ochsner Sports Performance Center. The AFC Champions will practice at the Tulane University, Yulman Stadium.

6. Time of Arrival

Teams must arrive in New Orleans by 12:00 p.m. local time on Monday, February 3, 2025. Teams are permitted to arrive on Sunday, February 2, 2025.

7. Game Footballs

54 Super Bowl LIX game footballs will be delivered to each club at their home facility no later than Wednesday, January 29. These footballs can be prepared and used during practice in accordance with established game football policies as outlined in the Game and Field Equipment section of this Manual. All game footballs must be returned to the League for inspection following the conclusion of practice on Friday, February 7. The onsite League liaisons will arrange to take possession of the game footballs at that time. An additional 54 practice footballs will be delivered to each participating club's home practice facility prior to departure for New Orleans.

Twelve kicking footballs will be delivered directly to the League. All regular season policies governing the preparation and use of kicking footballs will apply. For Super Bowl, the preparation time is extended to 90 minutes.

During the game, the non-kicking footballs will be rotated into the game at the Referee's discretion. In general, the ball will be replaced at every stoppage in play (incomplete pass, out of bounds, change of possession, etc.).

8. League Responsibilities

The League and/or New Orleans Super Bowl Host Committee will provide the following, which will be discussed in detail at the advance planning trip in January:

- 157 rooms for eight nights (Sunday to Monday), and an additional block of rooms for advance staff (1,309 total room nights), at the club headquarters hotel.
- 150 rooms for four nights (600 room nights) at the participating club Friends & Family hotel(s).
- Contribution of $100,000 towards food and beverage at the club headquarters hotel (paid directly to the hotel).

- Rental of practice site.
- Five buses for each club.
- Ten buses for each club's friends and family from Thursday through Monday.
- One chauffeured vehicle (large SUV or smaller) per club, 12 hours per day, Sunday through Monday (9 days).
- The equivalent of 100 first-class airfares from home city to be used for "club" charter and 100 first-class airfares from home city to be used for "family" charter.
- Contribution of $85,000 (paid post-Super Bowl) to each participating club that may be used however the club sees fit.

All other financial obligations are those of the participating clubs.

9. Media Schedule

Mandatory parts of the team media schedule include: (1) Opening Night, the one-hour photo and interview session on Monday with the head coach, assistant coaches, and all players; (2) Tuesday media availability (50 minutes) with the head coach, followed by 10 players, including the starting quarterback, at a venue identified and designated by the League; (3) Wednesday and Thursday media sessions with the head coach, assistant coaches, and all active players (one hour and 15 minutes) at a venue identified and designated by the League; and (4) winning head coach and MVP press conference at the Super Bowl Media Center on Monday following the game.

The tentative Super Bowl LIX club media schedule is listed below. The final version will be included in the Playoff Guide for Participating Clubs.

The NFC as the home club will have the choice of the League-designated media availability times for the Monday through Thursday media sessions. AFC playoff clubs must select their preferences from three league-designated times for Wednesday and Thursday media sessions, with the NFC club receiving priority in the case of duplicate selections. The League office will distribute a memo to all playoff clubs outlining media availability schedules. These choices are binding and are not subject to change upon securing a berth in Super Bowl LIX.

Notes:

- There will be a pool reporter in attendance during the entirety of each team practice from Wednesday through Saturday. An NFL Films crew, as well as wire service photographers, will be in attendance at the beginning of practice from Wednesday through Saturday.
- Additional information on media obligations will be provided as part of the Playoff Guide for Participating Clubs.

10. Buses, Cars, and Parking

- Buses — Buses have been reserved and contracted by the League for use by the participating clubs for the team and team friends and family. The League will pay for five buses for each team for the week and 10 buses for each team's friends and family from Thursday through Monday. The bus schedules will be coordinated by the clubs with the League's transportation vendor. The clubs are required to use these buses and will be financially responsible for any additional buses requested.
- Cars — Information regarding fleet cars, if available, and rental cars will be provided to participating clubs prior to Super Bowl.
- Parking — Each non-participating club will be provided two game day parking passes based on need. Buses and a limited number of additional vehicles used by the participating Super Bowl clubs will be parked in a special restricted access area on the stadium campus. More details regarding parking will be provided to participating clubs prior to Super Bowl.

11. Finances/Expenses

- Club Compensation — Each participating club shall be reimbursed by the League office for transportation expenses in an amount equal to 100 first-class round-trip airfares between the club's home city and the site of the game for the team and an additional 100 first-class round-trip airfares for the "family charter."
- Winning Club — The club shall receive $9,839,000 to cover all other expenses, excluding only payment of player shares pursuant to the CBA and including but not limited to: non-player compensation, meals and lodging, insurance, Workers' Compensation, FICA and other payroll expenses, local transportation, supplies and equipment, communications, medical expenses, and public relations.
- If the winning team is a home club of the region where the Super Bowl is played, that club shall receive $282,000 less to cover these expenses.
- Losing Club — The club shall receive $6,839,000 to cover all other expenses, excluding only payment of player shares pursuant to the CBA and including but not limited to: non-player compensation, meals and lodging, insurance, Workers' Compensation, FICA and other payroll expenses, local transportation, supplies and equipment, communications, medical expenses, and public relations.
- If the losing team is a home club of the region where the Super Bowl is played, that club shall receive $282,000 less to cover these expenses.
- Player Shares — Within five days after the Super Bowl game is played, participating clubs must forward a list of players (whom those clubs believe are eligible to receive shares of postseason pay under the CBA) to Eric Kerzner, Vice President, Labor Relations (212.450.2323). Upon approval by the Commissioner of player shares, a wire covering approved player shares shall be forwarded by the League office to the clubs for distribution. Distribution of player shares by the clubs shall be made within 15 days of the date of the game. No distribution is to be made by the clubs to any player not on the list approved by the Commissioner.

- Non-Player Compensation – Recipients and amounts of non-player compensation for the Super Bowl are club decisions.
- Super Bowl Rings – The following standards apply to winners' rings:
 - » Recipients – The winning club may award the Super Bowl ring to anyone it chooses. Clubs must pay for all rings ordered over the set amount of 150 which are to be paid for by the League.
 - » Practice Squad Players – Practice Squad players on a team at the time of the Super Bowl that wins the Super Bowl will be entitled to a ring similar in appearance to the one provided to players on the Active/Inactive List, but the club, in its sole discretion, may provide any Practice Squad player with a ring of lesser value.
 - » Design – The following maximum standards will apply to all rings:
 - Gold – The ring will consist of 10K plumb gold and no more than 30 pennyweight.
 - Bevel – The color of the diamonds will not exceed "SI" classification. The total valuation of the diamonds will be based on 150 points for a first-time winner of the Super Bowl within a 10-year period, with an additional 20 points allotted for subsequent Super Bowl victories within that period (the basis for evaluating the inflationary price of the rings will be from these maximum standards).
 - Shanks – One shank will be designated for depiction of the game itself. This includes the game logo, location, participants, score, etc. The other shank will be personalized. This would include recipient's name, club logo, season synopsis, etc.
- Financial – Beginning with the Super Bowl XXXIII winner's ring, a base price of $5,000 per ring (adjusted for increases in gold and diamonds only) will be approved by the Commissioner's office. If there is a sales (use) tax applicable to the particular state involved, the League will absorb this cost. A League representative will discuss this price with all ring companies selected to manufacture the ring. In no case shall the individual cost of any ring ordered exceed the established amount. If it does, no reimbursement in any amount including the original $5,000 will be made by the League. The company selected must sign a contract with the winning club as well as the League office, with the contract subject to review by the League office prior to any party signing the agreement, and the agreement must contain a clause that the company will receive no additional remuneration or incentives other than or in addition to the established price for each ring.

The League office, in its sole discretion and upon club request, may authorize the selected ring manufacturer to produce a "friends and family" line of periphery items for purchase by players, ownership, staff, and families on an exclusive, non-public basis. Such items, if approved by the League, will be subject to standard licensing royalty guidelines.

Payment for Super Bowl rings will be made directly by the League to the manufacturer, subject to the approved contract. This will not restrict any other purchases or orders for other items including additional rings by the club.

- » Inspection – The League office will be authorized to inspect three rings either immediately before delivery or immediately following delivery. The rings will be inspected for adherence to the established standards. One ring will be displayed in the League office, a second will be displayed onsite at fan events throughout the year, and a third will be sent to the Pro Football Hall of Fame.
- » Conference Champion Award – The team that loses the Super Bowl game will receive awards. At the club's option, the award will be a piece of jewelry such as a ring, a watch, a medal, etc., which in no event may cost more than one-half the established price set for the Super Bowl ring to the winning team. The League will pay for the set number of 150 pieces of the selected jewelry.
- » Replacement Rings – To grant approval for the reproduction of a Super Bowl or Conference Championship ring or pendant, the National Football League requires a signed letter of authorization from the Club addressed to Steve Farago, as well as a police report or an insurance claim to validate that the ring or pendant was lost or stolen.

In the absence of a police report and/or insurance claim, a sworn affidavit is required that details the circumstances under which the ring or pendant was lost and declares that it was not, to the owner's knowledge, sold for a profit and that the replacement ring or pendant will not be sold for a profit. This document must be notarized.

In the event that the lost/stolen ring is recovered, or a ring is remade, one of the rings must be returned to the ring company to be destroyed.

12. Vince Lombardi Trophy

The use of the Vince Lombardi Trophy's likeness in pictures or reproduced in miniature form will only be authorized through written permission by the League office. Additional guidelines regarding use of the Vince Lombardi Trophy image, procurement of replicas, and protocol for the actual trophy will be communicated to participating clubs prior to Super Bowl LIX.

13. Disputes

In the event of any questions or disputes covering expenses for the Super Bowl game, the Commissioner's decision will be final and binding.

J. VIDEO EXCHANGE

Participating teams must continue to follow the existing procedures for uploading game footage to the CGE, as set forth in the Exchange of Game Footage section of this Manual.

COLLEGE ALL-STAR GAMES

The NFL supports the East-West Shrine Bowl (“EWSB”) in Frisco, Texas (TBD), the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Alabama (February 1, 2025). All policies related to these college all-star games are subject to change, and clubs will be notified accordingly.

The following policies apply regarding participation in both games:

1. Clubs no longer participating in the playoffs will be considered for coaching opportunities for the EWSB and Senior Bowl games.
 - » Nominated Coaches – Both all-star games will receive coaching staffs from clubs that are not participating in the postseason. These coaches are nominated by the clubs and assigned by the League office with input from the General Managers Advisory Committee. As a development tool, coaches are assigned to positions that allow them to coach up a level or to coach a new position. NFL Football Operations will send a memo to all clubs requesting nominations immediately following the regular season.
 - » Nominated Staff – Each non-playoff club would be required to nominate its designated minority offensive assistant.
2. Each full-time coach under contract on the participating staffs will receive $1,000, paid from League funds.
3. Any other expenses incurred by the club staffs, including travel and lodging, will be paid by their respective clubs.
4. For any questions relating to the Senior Bowl, please contact Executive Director Jim Nagy (602.284.3116). For any questions relating to the East-West Shrine Bowl, please contact EWSB Director of Football Operations and Player Personnel Eric Galko (570.909.7989). Any general questions can be directed to Michael Cerullo of the NFL Football Operations department (212.450.2243).

NFL coaches are not permitted to coach in any college all-star game except the Senior Bowl and the EWSB, unless approved by the NFL Football Operations department.
