

Sentrais | NFL Board Architecture Overview

This architecture is intentionally designed to protect intellectual property, reduce operational risk, and support scalable delivery across NFL initiatives. It separates intelligence and execution from experience and visibility.

Board-Level Architecture Overview

Clear separation of control: Sentrais owns intelligence and execution. NFL owns experience and visibility.

What the Board Should Know

- Sentrais controls orchestration, certification, and learning systems.
- The NFL controls the Innovation Hub and executive-facing experience.
- Integration is secure, auditable, and API-based.
- The model preserves long-term leverage and expansion optionality.

Strategic Outcome

This structure positions Sentra as the long-term operational intelligence partner to the NFL, while maintaining flexibility for future leagues, cities, and federal deployments.